(2) For reductions in package contents. Any manufacturer of an item of snuff who desires to introduce a new size of a brand instead of taking a price increase on his old item of the same brand may sell a new size of the brand with the applicable amount of package contents listed in column 4 of Table A, above, at the old maximum list price for the old item.

(3) Notification to purchasers. On or before his first delivery of an item of snuff the maximum list price or contents of which has been adjusted in accordance with subparagraph (1) or (2) of this paragraph, the manufacturer shall give each purchaser the applicable notice set forth below. Such notice shall be attached to or stated on the invoice covering such first delivery. These notices may be varied to the extent necessary to give notices of increases on a multiple number of items in a single notice.

(Insert date)

The Office of Price Administration has authorized an increase in our maximum list price for our _____ (describe item by brand and container type and size) of _____ cents per dozen. Wholesalers and jobbers are authorized to increase their net selling prices for this item by the amount of the increase taken by the manufacturer plus their customary markup on the item, applied to the amount of the increase. Retailers may add _____ cents per package to their maximum prices legally in effect before receipt of notice from their supplier. The Office of Price Administration requires that you keep this notice for examination.

(Insert date)

The Office of Price Administration has authorized us to sell a new size package of our _____ brand containing _____ ounces of snuff. Your maximum price and the maximum prices of retailers for this new size are each the same as they were before May 11, 1946, for the item of this brand weighing _____ ounces (give weight in ounces of old item). The Office of Price Administration requires you to keep this notice for examination.

(b) Wholesalers' maximum prices; notice to purchasers. (1) Upon receipt of notification, pursuant to paragraph (a) (3) above, of an adjustment of his supplier's maximum list price allowed by paragraph (a) (1), above, for an item of snuff, a wholesaler's maximum net selling price is increased by the amount of the net increase in the price of his supplier plus the wholesaler's usual markup on the amount of the increase taken by his supplier. Such adjustment shall be applicable to floor stocks. Where a manufacturer has not adjusted his maximum list price pursuant to paragraph (a) (1) above, with respect to any item of snuff, no increase may be charged by the wholesaler with respect to that item.

(2) After receipt of notice from his supplier, any wholesaler may sell, and any person may buy from that wholesaler, a new size package of a brand of snuff the quantity contents of which was sold by its manufacturer at a maximum price determined pursuant to paragraph (a) (2), above, at the wholesaler's maximum price legally in effect before May 11, 1946 for the manufacturer's old item on which the new size of the brand was introduced pursuant to paragraph (a) (2), above.

(3) On or before his first delivery of an item of snuff the maximum list price of which has been increased as allowed by paragraph (a) (1), above, the wholesaler shall give the purchaser the following written notice. This notice and the notice in subparagraph (4) immediately following may be varied to the extent necessary to adapt them for giving notice on a multiple number of items in a single notice.

(Insert date)

The Office of Price Administration has authorized a price increase of _____ cents in the manufacturer's list price per dozen of _____ (identify item by brand and container type and size) and an increase in the wholesale price of _____ cents per dozen. Retailers are authorized to add _____ cents to their maximum prices for the item legally in effect before receipt of this notice. Where a retailer's new maximum price for a single package ends in a half cent for a particular item the retailer must give each purchaser the option of buying at least two packages of the item.[1] Retailers must maintain their customary price differentials allowed by them during March 1942. The Price Administrator requires that you keep this notice for examination.

(4) On or before his first delivery of a new size of snuff, the quantity contents of which have been reduced from the old item by the manufacturer pursuant to paragraph (a) (2), above, the wholesaler shall give the purchaser the following written notice;

The Office of Price Administration has authorized the manufacturer of _____ (identify brand) to introduce a new size of this brand weighing _____ ounces. Our maximum price for this new size is the same as our maximum price for the _____ size of this brand before May 11, 1946. Retailers are authorized to sell this new size for the same maximum price as they had legally in effect for the _____ size (give old size of package) before May 11, 1946. The Office of Price Administration requires you to keep this notice for examination.

(c) Retailers' maximum prices. (1) Upon receipt of notification pursuant to paragraph (a) (3) or (b) (3), above, from his supplier of an adjustment of the supplier's maximum price for an item of snuff pursuant to paragraph (a) (1) or (b) (1), above, a retailer is authorized to add to his maximum price per package legally in effect before receipt of such notice, the applicable amount listed in column 3 of Table A, above, in accordance with such notification. Such adjustment shall be applicable to floor stocks. When the allowed price increase results in a price ending in a half cent for a single package, the maximum retail price for a single package may be increased to the next highest full cent but the retailer must give each purchaser the option of buying at least two packages of the item of snuff at the multiple unit price. If a retailer's supplier has taken none of the price increase allowed on an item of snuff, no increase is allowed in the retailer's maximum price for that item. Retailers must maintain their customary price differentials allowed by them during March 1942.

(2) After receipt of notice from his supplier pursuant to paragraph (a) (3) or (b) (3), above, any retailer may sell and any person may buy from that retailer a new sized package of a brand of snuff, which has been sold by its manufacturer pursuant to paragraph (a) (2), above, at the particular retailer's maximum price legally in effect before May 11, 1946, for the manufacturer's old item, the old maximum list price of which applies to the new size package.

(d) Maintenance of customary discounts and allowances. A seller's customary discounts and allowances shall not be less than those allowed by him in March 1942 on his sales of snuff.

(e) State and local taxes. Maximum prices established by this section are exclusive of any increases in State and local taxes upon tobacco products which have been added since the General Maximum Price Regulation went into effect or which may be added, or are caused by the increases in maximum prices allowed by this section. Sellers may add to these prices the amount of such tax applicable to the item being priced and paid or payable by them to the taxing authorities or to a prior vendor.

(f) Units of sale. Maximum prices shall be stated in terms of the same general units (like dozens, packages, etc.) in which the seller has customarily quoted prices for the product.

(g) Geographical applicability. Provisions of this section shall be applicable to the forty-eight States of the United States and to the District of Columbia.

(h) Definitions. When used in this section, the term "Snuff" means the manufactured tobacco product customarily known to the trade as snuff and does not mean any item of manufactured tobacco the price of which has been increased under sections 2, 4, 5 or 6 of this supplementary regulation.

"List price" means the manufacturer's gross price before discounts and allowances.

"Item" means a particular brand (if any) container type and size of snuff.

"Old maximum list price" means a list price determined as a seller's maximum list price under the General Maximum Price Regulation.

"New maximum list price" means a seller's old maximum list price, plus the applicable increase allowed in Table A herein.

PAUL A. PORTER,
Administrator.

[3d Rev. MPR 313]

VENEER LOGS

Second Revised Maximum Price Regulation No. 313 is redesignated 3d Revised Maximum Price Regulation 313 and is revised and amended to read as set forth below:

In the judgment of the Price Administrator, the maximum prices established by this revised regulation are and will be generally fair and equitable and will effectuate the purposes of the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended, and Executive Orders 9250, 9328, 9697 and 9599, as amended. A statement of the considerations involved in the issuance of this regulation, issued simultaneously herewith, has been filed with the Division of the Federal Register.

Insofar as this regulation uses specifications and standards which were not, prior to such use, in general use in the trade or industry affected or insofar as their use was not lawfully required by another Government Agency, the Administrator has determined, with respect to such standardization, that no practicable alternative exists for securing effective price control with respect to the commodities subject to this regulation.

SECTION 1. Over-ceiling prices prohibited. (a) On and after May 11, 1946, regardless of any contract or obligation, no person shall sell or deliver and no person shall buy or receive any veneer logs, as defined below, at prices higher than the maximum prices fixed by this regulation; and no person shall offer or attempt to do any of these things.

(b) Prices lower than the maximum prices may, of course, be charged or paid.

SEC. 2. Scaling rules. All logs covered by this regulation must be scaled with the Doyle Log Rule or Doyle Scribner Rule. The diameter of the log shall be measured inside of bark at the small end (top) of the log at the smallest diameter. Fractions of an inch ½ or less shall be dropped; fractions of an inch greater than ½ inch may be raised to the next higher inch. The footage measurements on this rule must be shown on the invoice or bill as required in Section 10.

SEC. 3. Delivery provisions—(a) Where prices apply. The maximum prices for veneer logs set out below apply either:

(1) Loaded on railroad cars at rail siding of common carrier railroad;

(2) Delivered to a place at which water shipment is to begin, placed in good condition for loading; or

(3) Delivered by truck to the buyer's plant from within 25 miles of the mill. If delivery is made to the mill by truck from a distance greater than 25 miles, the buyer may add not to exceed 10 cents per M' log scale for each mile over 25.

This means that the seller cannot add to the maximum prices any charge for loading logs on rail cars except as specified in section 6 (b), or for trucking logs to a rail siding, to a place at which water shipment is to begin, or to buyer's plant from within 25 miles of the plant.

(b) Reduction for non-delivery. If the buyer takes delivery at some place other than on railroad cars, or at a place at which water shipment is to begin, or at his plant, the maximum price must be reduced by the following:

(1) The cost per thousand feet log scale to the buyer of trucking the logs to the nearest rail siding of a common carrier railroad and loading the logs on cars, if delivery of logs to mill is by rail; or

(2) The cost per thousand feet log scale of hauling logs to a place where water shipment is to begin, if delivery of logs to mill is made by barge, raft, or gunboat; or

(3) The cost per thousand feet log scale of hauling logs to the plant, if delivery of logs to plant is by truck.

SEC. 4. Coverage of veneer logs and blocks produced in Zone 1—(a) Products and persons covered. Any firm or person who sells veneer under one or all of the following maximum price regulations for veneers is eligible to purchase veneer logs under this regulation: Maximum Price Regulation 538, Commercial Veneers, Maximum Price Regulation 338, Aircraft Veneers, Maximum Price Regulation 176, Box Veneers and sawn and sliced veneers sold under the General Maximum Price Regulation. Manufacturers of veneers who do not sell the veneers but remanufacture them into plywood and plywood products or who manufacture containers from box grade veneers are eligible to buy under this section.

(b) Other persons. Firms or persons not automatically eligible under (a) but definable as: (1) Those who, because of the end product, other than lumber or staves and heading, to be manufactured, must buy logs equal to or better than these grades, or (2) buyers or sellers of veneer logs for export, may, upon direct application to the Lumber Branch, Office of Price Administration, Washington 25, D. C., secure permission to buy or sell logs, as the case may be, on this schedule. The application of the prospective purchaser, under (1) above, must contain sufficient proof that the purchase of logs of this quality is necessary in the manufacture of the end product.

(c) Geographical applicability. Zone 1 includes parts of Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina and Georgia, specifically described as follows:

(1) All of the counties in Georgia except Rabun, Habersham, White, Lumpkin, Union, Fannin, and Towns;

(2) All of the counties in South Carolina except Greenville, Pickens and Oconee;

(3) The counties in North Carolina east of and including the counties of Stokes, Yadkin, Iredell, Catawba, Lincoln and Gaston; and

SEC. 5. Specifications of veneer logs and blocks in Zone 1.—(a) General requirements. All veneer logs must have the heart well centered, must be reasonably straight and sound, and must be suitable for slicing or rotary cutting. A center rot, dote, or shake in the butt end of the log of up to four inches in diameter will be permitted in logs or blocks 24" and up in diameter, and up to 3" for logs or blocks less than 24" in diameter, without degrading the log.

All logs must be at least 8' in length and must be cut 4" over length to allow for trim. Any log which is not cut sufficiently over length to allow for trim shall be reduced in scale to the next lower standard length. Logs shorter than 8' in length shall be cut to lengths specified by the buyer and shall be graded as blocks or bolts.

(b) Zone I veneer log grades—(1) No. 1 grade. This grade will permit as a minimum those logs 12" and up in diameter, at the small ends which have either:

(i) 3 clear faces.

(ii) 75% of the length clear in one continuous section; or

(iii) 80% in clear sections in not more than 3 clear cuttings with no cutting or clear section less than 3'6" in length.

(2) No. 2 grade. This grade will permit as a minimum those logs 12" and up in diameter at the small end which have either:

(i) 2 clear faces.

(ii) 50% of the length clear in one continuous section; or

(iii) 66⅔% in clear sections in not more than 3 clear cuttings with no cutting or clear section less than 3'6" in length.

(3) Cull grade. This grade shall consist of all logs which do not meet the specifications of a No. 2 log, but which, after deductions have been made for defects, retain at least 50% of the gross scale. This grade includes clear 10'' and 11'' logs.

(c) Zone 1 veneer block grades—(1) No. 1 grade. This grade shall include those blocks 12'' and up in diameter which are clear of all visible defects.

(2) No. 2 grade. This grade shall include those blocks 12'' and up in diameter which have 3 clear faces or 80% of the length clear in one continuous section.

(3) Cull grade. This grade shall include those blocks 12'' and up in diameter which do not meet the specifications of a No. 2 grade bolt, but which after deductions have been made for defects, retain at least 50% of the gross scale. All clear 10'' and 11'' bolts are also included in this grade.

SEC. 6. Maximum veneer log and block prices in Zone 1. (a) The maximum prices below apply only to those buying plants which are eligible to purchase these logs under Sections 4 (a) or 4 (b) of this regulation.

NOTE: [1] At least 85% of the logs and blocks purchased from the seller under this price schedule must be grade 2 or better in a particular load being priced and of all logs purchased from a particular seller during a calendar month. If this requirement is not met, the buyer and seller must either: (a) buy and sell all of the logs at the woodsrun prices as already set forth in Maximum Price Regulation 533–4, or (b) cull out that volume of logs and blocks in the grades lower than the No. 2 grade which are in excess of the permissible 15%.

NOTE: [2] The Oak priced above is the ordinary Oak used in the manufacture of veneers. Purchasers of soft, even textured White Oak with a small tight heart, thin sap, straight grained and free from streaks and discoloration must apply to the Lumber Branch, Office of Price Administration, Washington 25, D. C., for maximum prices he may pay for this type of log.

(b) The above prices are for logs and blocks f. o. b. railroad cars or delivered to the mill by truck from within 25 miles. If there is a competing veneer plant in the same town in which the logs and blocks are to be loaded on railroad cars, the cost of loading may be added to the purchase price, or $2.00 per M board feet, whichever is lower.

SEC. 7. Coverage of veneer logs and blocks produced in Zone II—(a) Products and persons covered. Any firm or person who sells veneer under one or all of the following maximum price regulations for veneers is eligible to purchase veneer logs under this regulation: Maximum Price Regulation 538, Commercial Veneers, Maximum Price Regulation 338, Aircraft Veneers, and sawn and sliced veneers sold under the General Maximum Price Regulation. Manufacturers of those veneers named above who do not sell the veneers but remanufacture them into plywood and plywood products are eligible to buy under this section. Manufacturers who sell their veneers under Maximum Price Regulation 176, Box Veneers, are not eligible to purchase veneer logs in Zone II under this regulation.

(b) Other persons. Firms or persons not automatically eligible under (a) but definable as: (1) Those who, because of the end products, other than lumber or staves and heading, to be manufactured, must buy logs equal to or better than these grades, or (2) Buyers or sellers of veneer logs for export, may, upon direct application to the Lumber Branch, Office of Price Administration, Washington 25, D. C., secure permission to buy or sell logs, as the case may be, on this schedule. The application of the prospective purchaser, under (1) above, must contain sufficient proof that the purchase of logs of this quality is necessary in the manufacture of the end product.

(c) Geographical applicability. Zone II includes all that part of the United States east of the 100th Meridian, except the area defined in Zone 1, and except the states of Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts, Connecticut, Rhode Island, Minnesota, Wisconsin, the Upper Peninsula of Michigan, and all counties north of, but not including Oceana, Newaygo, Montcalm, Gratiot, and Saginaw in the Lower Peninsula of Michigan.

SEC. 8. Specifications of veneer logs and blocks in Zone II—(a) General requirements. All veneer logs must have the heart well centered, must be reasonably straight and sound, and must be suitable for slicing or rotary cutting. A center rot, dote, or shake in the butt end of the log of up to four inches in diameter will be permitted in logs or blocks 24'' and up in diameter and up to 3'' for logs or blocks less than 24'' in diameter, without degrading the log.

All logs must be at least 8' in length and must be cut 4'' over length to allow for trim. Any log which is not cut sufficiently over length to allow for trim will be reduced in scale to the next lower even length. Logs shorter than 8' in length shall be cut to lengths specified by the buyer and shall be graded as blocks or bolts.

(b) Zone II veneer log grades—(1) Prime grade. This grade will permit as a minimum those logs which are 90% usable in clear length. Defects are allowable in this grade if they are so spaced as to provide not more than two clear sections at least 4'6'' in length for those logs to be rotary cut; or, in case of logs to be sliced, the 90% in clear sections must be clear flitches, at least 8' long; one clear flitch, however, may be 6' long, but other flitches produced from the logs must be clear and at least 8' in length. This grade will not admit defects requiring length dockage in logs 8' in length but length dockage up to 2' is permissible in logs 10' and over.

(2) Select grade. This grade will permit as a minimum those logs which have either:

(i) 3 clear faces;

(ii) 75% of the length clear in one continuous section; or

(iii) 80% usable in clear sections in not more than 3 clear cuttings for those logs to be rotary cut, with no cutting or clear section less than 42'' in length. For those logs to be sliced, the 80% in clear sections must be clear flitches at least 6' long.

(c) Zone II veneer block grades—(1) No. 1 grade. This grade shall include those blocks 12'' and up in diameter which are clear of all visible defects.

(2) No. 2 grade. This grade shall include those blocks 12'' and up in diameter which have 3 clear faces or 80% of the length clear in one continuous section.

(3) Cull grade. This grade shall include those blocks 12'' and up in diameter which do not meet the specifications of a No. 2 grade bolt, but which after deductions have been made for defects, retain at least 50% of the gross scale. All clear 10'' and 11'' bolts are also included in this grade.

SEC. 9. Maximum prices for veneer logs and blocks in Zone II. (a) The maximum prices below apply only to those buying plants which are eligible to purchase these logs under Sections 7 (a) or (b) of this regulation.

SEC. 10. What the invoice or billing must contain. (a) All invoices and billings of veneer logs must contain a sufficiently complete description of the logs covered to show whether the price is proper or not, including the species, grade, diameter, gross and net length, net footage of each of the veneer logs purchased or sold, origin and point of delivery, date of sale, and name and address of buyer and seller.

(b) Any part of the information required on the invoice may be furnished in a tally sheet, attached to and made a part of the invoices.

(c) An invoice or billing may cover all logs delivered by the seller to a purchaser during a period of not more than two weeks.

(d) Either the buyer or seller may prepare the invoice or billing but both have the responsibility of correct invoicing or billing.

(e) Failure to invoice properly is just as much in violation of this regulation as charging an excessive price.

(f) Buying plants purchasing logs in Zone II must continue to file a copy of each invoice with the Office of Price Administration District Office nearest the point of production of the logs.

SEC. 11. Use of invoices as records. Each buyer and seller must keep as a record, one copy of all invoices and billings covering veneer logs purchased or sold. These must be kept, for inspection by the Office of Price Administration, for the duration of the Emergency Price Control Act, as amended.

SEC. 12. Prohibited practices—(a) General. Any practice which is a device to get the effect of a higher-than-ceiling price without actually raising the dollars-and-cents price is as much a violation of this regulation as an outright over-ceiling price. This applies to devices making use of commissions, services, transportation arrangements, premiums, special privileges, tying-agreements, trade understandings and the like.

(b) Specific prohibited practices. The following are among the specific practices prohibited:

(1) Up-grading, up-scaling, or allowing a greater net scale footage than actual scale content of the log.

(2) Selling logs on scale other than Doyle Rule (except that the Doyle Scribner Rule may be used).

(3) Charging purchasing or selling commission based on quantity or value of logs purchased, if the commission plus the purchase price is higher than the maximum price permitted by this regulation.

(4) Increasing the price of logs by not making a good faith effort to collect advances to loggers. An advance to a logger is to be considered part of the price of the logs.

(5) Purchasing logs or blocks when not qualified under sections 4 or 7 of this regulation to purchase logs in either Zones I or II under the regulation.

SEC. 13. Adjustable pricing. Any person may agree to sell at a price which can be increased up to the maximum price in effect at the time of shipment; but no person may, unless authorized by the Office of Price Administration, deliver or agree to deliver at prices to be adjusted upward in accordance with action taken by the Office of Price Administration after shipment. Such authorization may be given when a request for a change in the applicable maximum price is necessary to promote distribution or production and it will not interfere with the purposes of the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended. The authorization may be given by the Administrator or by any official of the Office of Price Administration having authority to act upon the pending request for a change in price or to give the authorization.

The authorization will be given by order, except that it may be given by letter or telegram when the contemplated revision will be the granting of an individual application for adjustment.

SEC. 14. Application for adjustment and petitions for amendment. (a) Government contracts. See Procedural Regulation No. 6 [1] for adjustment provisions on certain government contracts or subcontracts.

(b) Petitions for amendment. Any person seeking an amendment of any provision of this regulation may file a petition for amendment in accordance with the provisions of Revised Procedural Regulation No. 1 [2] issued by the Office of Price Administration.

SEC. 15. Enforcement. Persons violating any provision of this regulation are subject to the criminal penalties, civil enforcement actions, suits for treble damages and proceedings for suspension of licenses provided for by the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended.

SEC. 16. Licensing. The provisions of Licensing Order No. 1 [1] licensing all persons who make sales under price control, are applicable to all sellers subject to this regulation. All sellers' licenses may be suspended for violations of the license or of the applicable price regulations. A person whose license is suspended may not, during the period of suspension, make any sale for which his license has been suspended.

SEC. 17. Special pricing. For any species or specifications for which a maximum price is not provided, the maximum price shall be the price established by the Office of Price Administration, Washington 25, D. C., after full facts have been submitted in support of a request for the establishment of a maximum price. The application should be submitted to the Lumber Branch and must contain the names and addresses of the buyer and seller, the species and grade to be priced, the area from which the logs will be produced, and a statement from the buyer that the requested price will not be used as a basis for seeking adjustment of his end product ceiling price. It must also contain supporting data on the prior existence of a price differential where the price requested is higher than the price for the highest grade of the same species in the regulation. The maximum price will be established by order of the Administrator.

This regulation shall become effective May 11, 1946.

NOTE: All reporting and record-keeping requirements of this regulation have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

Issued this 6th day of May 1946.

(b) Resellers' maximum prices. (1) Each seller shall calculate his maximum resale prices for articles covered by this order by adding to his invoice cost, the same percentage markup which he has on the "most comparable article" for which he has a properly established maximum price. For the purposes of this order, the "most comparable article" is the one which meets all of the following tests:

(i) It belongs to the narrowest trade category which includes the article being priced.

(ii) Both it and the article being priced were purchased from the same class of supplier.

(iii) Both it and the article being priced belong to a class of articles to which, according to customary trade practices, an approximately uniform percentage markup is applied.

(iv) Its net replacement cost is nearest to the net cost of the article being priced.

The determination of a maximum price in this way need not be reported to the Office of Price Administration; however, each seller must keep complete records showing all the information called by OPA form 620–759 with regard to the determined price, for so long as the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended remains in effect.

If the maximum resale price cannot be determined under the above method the reseller shall apply to the Office of Price Administration for the establishment of a maximum price under Section 1499.3 (c) of the General Maximum Price Regulation. Maximum prices established under that section will reflect the suppliers prices as adjusted in accordance with this order.

(2) The provisions of Supplementary Order No. 163 shall not apply to sales of articles covered by this order.

(c) Terms of sales. Maximum prices adjusted by this order are subject to each seller's terms, discounts, allowances, and other price differentials, in effect during March, 1942, or which have been properly established under the applicable OPA regulation.

(d) Notification. At the time of, or prior to the first invoice to a purchaser for resale, showing a price adjusted in accordance with the terms of this order, the seller shall notify the purchaser in writing of the methods, established in paragraph (b) of this order for determining adjusted maximum prices for resale of the articles covered by this order. This notice may be given in any convenient form.

(e) Revocation of amendment. This order may be revoked or amended by the Price Administrator at any time.

(f) Effective date. This order shall become effective on the 4th day of May 1946.

Issued this 3d day of May 1946.

Administrator.

EASTERN TOOL AND MFG. CO.

ADJUSTMENT OF MAXIMUM PRICES

Order No. 186 under revised supplementary Order No. 119. Docket No. 6123—SO 119-95. Adjustment of maximum prices for sales of round wire and strip hardware manufactured by the Eastern Tool and Manufacturing Company of Bloomfield, New Jersey.

For the reasons set forth in an opinion issued simultaneously herewith and filed with the Division of the Federal Register and pursuant to section 13 of Revised Supplementary Order No. 119, it is ordered:

(a) Maximum prices for the Eastern Tool and Manufacturing Company of Bloomfield, N. J. (1) The above manufacturer may determine his maximum prices for his line of round wire and strip hardware by increasing by 16 percent his prices on these items in effect on October 1, 1941, to each class of purchaser.

(2) Since the provisions of this order are not intended to reduce properly established maximum prices, the manufacturer may continue to use as his maximum prices to each class of purchaser his properly established prices in effect under Maximum Price Regulation No. 591 in the event that such prices exceed the prices in effect to each class of purchaser on October 1, 1941 plus the increase provided for in (1) above.

(3) The maximum prices set forth above shall be subject to discounts and allowances including transportation allowances and price differentials which are at least as favorable as those the manufacturer extended or rendered or would have extended or rendered to each class of purchaser on commodities in the same general category during March 1942.

(b) Resellers' maximum prices. All resellers of the commodities covered by this order (but not manufacturers who purchase such items for use in the manufacture of other products) may add to their presently established maximum prices the actual dollars-and-cents increase in cost resulting from the adjustment granted the manufacturer by this order.

(c) Notification to all purchasers. The manufacturer shall send the following notice to every purchaser of the commodities covered by this order at or before the time of the first invoice after the adjustment granted by this order is put into effect:

Order No. 186 under Revised Supplementary Order No. 119 authorizes a 16 percent increase in October 1, 1941 net prices for sales of round wire and strip hardware manufactured by this company.

Resellers (but not manufacturers who purchase such items for use in the manufacture of other products) may add to their existing maximum prices the actual dollars-and-cents increase in cost resulting from the adjustment granted by Order No. 186.

(e) This order may be amended or revoked by the Price Administrator at any time.

ALLEN MFG. CO., INC.

ADJUSTMENT OF MAXIMUM PRICES

For the reasons set forth in an opinion issued simultaneously herewith and filed with the Division of the Federal Register, and pursuant to sections 15 and 16 of Revised Supplementary Order No. 119; It is ordered:

(a) Manufacturer's maximum prices. Allen Manufacturing Co., Inc., of 300 Tenth Avenue North, Nashville 1, Tennessee may compute its adjusted maximum prices for all articles of coal and wood and oil burning stoves and heaters which it manufactures, as follows:

(1) For an article in its line during October 1941, the adjusted maximum price is the highest price charged during that month to each class of purchaser increased by 9 percent.

(2) For an article not in its line during October 1941, but which has a properly established maximum price, in effect before the effective date of this order, the adjusted maximum price is the article's properly established maximum price for the particular sale (exclusive of all permitted increases or adjustment charges) increased by the percentage determined in accordance with "Note 3" in section 8 of Revised Supplementary Order No. 119.

(3) For an article which is first offered for sale after the effective date of this order, the adjusted maximum price is the maximum price hereafter properly determined or established in accordance with Maximum Price Regulation No. 64, (using the adjusted maximum price of the comparable article); and prices so fixed may not be increased under this order.

(4) The manufacturer's adjusted maximum price fixed in accordance with this order is his new maximum price if it is higher than his previously established maximum price including all increases and adjustments otherwise authorized for him individually or for his industry.

(5) The manufacturer shall furnish an invoice to each purchaser for resale which will comply with the requirements of Maximum Price Regulation No. 64. On that invoice, it must state and designate as its "OPA Industry Reconversion Increase" that part of its adjustment under this order which is equal to five percent of his maximum price (exclusive of all adjustments).

Example

Model A stove:
October, 1941 price	$42.59
Maximum price (exclusive of all adjustments)	44.03
Adjustment permitted by this order	3.83
Adjusted maximum price under this order	46.42
Model A Stove	44.22
OPA industry reconversion increase	2.20
Total	46.42

(The figure "$2.20" is five percent of $44.08, the maximum price exclusive of all adjustments).

(b) Resellers' maximum prices. A reseller shall determine his maximum prices for resales of any article which he has purchased at a maximum price adjusted under this order as follows:

(1) If he has maximum prices established for sales of comparable articles he shall calculate his maximum price under this order by adding to his invoice cost (not including his supplier's separately stated OPA Industry Reconversion Increase) the same percentage mark-up which he has on the "most comparable article" for which he has a properly established maximum price. For this purpose the "most comparable article" is the one which meets all of the following tests:

(i) It belongs to the narrowest trade category which includes the article being priced.

(ii) Both it and the article being priced were purchased from the same class of supplier.

(iii) Both it and the article being priced belong to a class of articles to which, according to customary trade practices, an approximately uniform percentage mark-up is applied.

(iv) Its net replacement cost is nearest to the net cost of the article being priced.

A wholesaler establishing his maximum prices under this paragraph may add to the price so determined an amount equal to three-fourth of the dollar-and-cent amount of the separately stated "OPA industry reconversion increase" appearing on the manufacturer's invoice to him.

The determination of a maximum price in this way need not be reported to the Office of Price Administration; however, each seller must keep complete records showing all the information called for by OPA Form 620–759 with regard to how he determined his maximum price, for so long as the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended remains in effect.

(2) If a reseller cannot otherwise find his maximum price for a particular sale he shall apply to the Office of Price Administration for the establishment of a maximum price under § 1499.3 (c) of the General Maximum Price Regulation or § 1372.101 (d) of Maximum Price Regulation No. 210, whichever is applicable. Maximum prices established under either of those sections will reflect the supplier's prices as adjusted in accordance with this order.

(3) A wholesaler establishing his maximum prices under this paragraph shall provide each purchaser for resale from him of articles covered by this order with a sales invoice which conforms to the provisions of Section 11c of Maximum Price Regulation No. 64 on which he must separately state and designate as his "OPA industry reconversion increase" an amount equal to three-fourths of the dollar-and-cent amount of the separately stated "OPA industry reconversion increase" appearing on the manufacturer's invoice to him (as required by Maximum Price Regulation No. 64).

(c) Notification. At the time of, or prior to the first invoice to each purchaser for resale of articles sold at maximum prices adjusted under this order, the seller shall notify the purchaser in writing of the method of establishing maximum prices set by this order for resales by the purchaser. This notice may be given in any convenient form.

(d) Relationship of this order to Maximum Price Regulation No. 64, Maximum Price Regulation No. 210 and the General Maximum Price Regulation. All the provisions of Maximum Price Regulation No. 64, Maximum Price Regulation No. 210 and the General Maximum Price Regulation continue to apply to sales of articles covered by this order except to the extent that they are modified by this order.

(e) This order may be revoked or amended by the Price Administrator at any time.

(f) This order shall become effective on the 4th day of May 1946.

ADJUSTMENT OF CEILING PRICES

For the reasons set forth in an opinion issued simultaneously herewith and filed with the Division of the Federal Register, and pursuant to sections 15 and 16 of Revised Supplementary Order No. 119; it is ordered:

(a) Manufacturer's ceiling prices. Earle S. Irwin Co., 534 Housemon Building, Grand Rapids, Michigan, may compute its adjusted ceiling prices for sales of School Furniture which it manufactures as follows:

(1) For an article in its line during October 1941, the adjusted ceiling prices is the highest price charged during that month to each class of purchaser increased by 17 percent.

(2) For an article not in its line during October 1941, but which has a properly established ceiling price, in effect before the effective date of this order, the adjusted ceiling price is the article's properly established ceiling price for the particular sale (exclusive of all permitted increases or adjustment charges) increased by the percentage determined in accordance with "Note 3" in section 8 of Revised Supplementary Order No. 119.

(3) For an article which is first offered for sale after the effective date of this order, the adjusted ceiling price is the maximum price hereafter properly determined or established in accordance with Maximum Price Regulation No. 188; and prices so fixed may not be increased under this order.

(4) The manufacturer's adjusted ceiling price fixed in accordance with this order is his new ceiling price if it is higher than his previously established ceiling price including all increases and adjustments otherwise authorized for him individually or for his industry.

The adjustment charge determined in accordance with this order must be separately stated by the manufacturer on each invoice to a purchaser for resale.

(b) Resellers' ceiling prices. Resellers of an article which the manufacturer has sold at an adjusted ceiling price determined under this order shall determine their maximum prices as follows:

A reseller who had a properly established maximum price in effect before this order was issued for an article covered by this order may add to that maximum price an adjustment charge in the same dollar-and-cents amount as the adjustment charge authorized by this order for, and which he paid to his supplier.

If the reseller did not have a properly established maximum price for the article in effect before this order was issued he shall first determine a maximum price (exclusive of adjustment charges), and to that price he may add an adjustment charge in the same dollar-and-cents amount as the adjustment authorized by this order for, and which he has paid to, his supplier. To find his maximum price (exclusive of adjustment charge) for this purpose the reseller shall add to his invoice cost, less the adjustment charge stated on that invoice, the same percentage mark-up which he has on the "most comparable article" for which he has properly established ceiling price. For this purpose the "most comparable article" is one which meets all of the following tests:

(1) It belongs to the narrowest trade category which includes the article being priced.

(2) Both it and the article being priced were purchased from the same class of supplier.

(3) Both it and the article being priced belong to a class of articles to which, according to customary trade practices, an approximately uniform percentage mark-up is applied.

(4) Its net replacement cost is nearest to the net cost of the article being priced.

The determination of a ceiling price in this way need not be reported to the Office of Price Administrator; however, each seller must keep complete records showing all the information called for by OPA Form 620–759 with regard to how he determined his ceiling price, for so long as the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended, remains in effect.

If the maximum resale price cannot be determined under the above method the reseller shall apply to the Office of Price Administration for the establishment of a ceiling price under § 1499.3 (c) of the General Maximum Price Regulation. Ceiling prices established under that section will reflect the supplier's prices as adjusted in accordance with this order.

The provisions of Supplementary Order No. 153 shall not apply to resale prices of articles covered by this order.

(c) Terms of sale. Maximum prices adjusted by this order are subject to each seller's terms, allowances and other price differentials in effect during March 1942, or which have been properly established under the applicable OPA regulation.

(d) Notification. At the time of or prior to the first invoice to a purchaser for resale, showing a price adjusted in accordance with the terms of this order, the seller shall notify the purchaser in writing of the methods established in paragraph (b) of this order for determining adjusted maximum prices for resales of the articles covered by this order. This notice may be given in any convenient form.

(e) Revocation or amendment. This order may be revoked or amended by the Price Administrator at any time.

(f) Effective date. This order shall become effective on the 4th day of May 1946.

ADJUSTMENT OF CEILING PRICES

Order No. 51 under Revised Supplementary Order 119 is revised and amended to read as follows:

For the reasons set forth in an opinion issued simultaneously herewith and filed with the Division of the Federal Register, and pursuant to sections 15 and 16 of Revised Supplementary Order No. 119, it is ordered:

(a) Manufacturer's ceiling prices. Durham Manufacturing Company, Muncie, Indiana may compute its adjusted ceiling prices for all articles of metal household furniture which it manufactures, as follows:

(1) For an article in its line during October 1941, the adjusted ceiling price is the highest price charged during that month to each class of purchaser increased by 19.4 percent.

(2) For an article not in its line during October 1941, but which has a properly established ceiling price, in effect before the effective date of this revised order, the adjusted ceiling price is the article's properly established ceiling price for the particular sale (exclusive of all permitted increases or adjustment charges) increased by the percentage determined in accordance with "Note 3" in section 8 of Revised Supplementary Order No. 119.

(3) For an article which is first offered for sale after the effective date of this revised order, the adjusted ceiling price is the maximum price hereafter properly determined or established in accordance with Maximum Price Regulation No. 188; and prices so fixed may not be increased under this revised order.

(4) The manufacturer's adjusted ceiling price fixed in accordance with this revised order is his new ceiling price if it is higher than his previously established ceiling price including all increases and adjustments otherwise authorized for him individually or for his industry.

(b) Resellers' ceiling prices. Resellers of an article which the manufacturer has sold at an adjusted ceiling price determined under this revised order shall determine their maximum prices as follows:

(1) A retailer who must determine his ceiling price under Maximum Price Regulation No. 580, and a wholesaler who must determine his ceiling price under Maximum Price Regulation No. 590, shall compute their ceiling prices in the manner provided by those regulations. However, if the supplier's invoice states both an "unadjusted maximum price" and a selling price, the reseller shall compute his ceiling prices under those regulations as they have been modified by Order No. 8 under § 1499.159e of Maximum Price Regulation No. 188.

(2) A reseller who determines his maximum resale price under the General Maximum Price Regulation, and whose supplier's invoice states both an "unadjusted maximum price" and a selling price, shall compute his ceiling prices under that regulation as modified by Order No. 8 under § 1499.159e of Maximum Price Regulation No. 188.

If his supplier's invoice does not state an "unadjusted maximum price" the reseller shall calculate his ceiling price by adding to his invoice cost the same percentage mark-up which he had on the "most comparable article" for which he has a properly established ceiling price. For this purpose, the "most comparable article" is the one which meets all of the following tests:

(i) It belongs to the narrowest trade category which includes the article being priced.

(ii) Both it and the article being priced belong to a class of article to which, according to customary trade practices, an approximately uniform percentage mark-up is applied.

(iii) Both it and the article being priced were purchased from the same class of supplier.

(iv) Its net replacement cost is nearest to the net cost of the article being priced.

The determination of a ceiling price in this way need not be reported to the Office of Price Administration; however, each seller must keep complete records showing all the information called for by OPA Form 620-759 with regard to how he determined his ceiling price, for so long as the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended, remains in effect.

If the maximum resale price cannot be determined under the above method, the reseller shall apply to the Office of Price Administration for the establishment of a ceiling price under § 1499.3 (c) of the General Maximum Price Regulation. Ceiling prices established under that section will reflect the supplier's prices as adjusted in accordance with this revised order.

(3) The provisions of Supplementary Order No. 153 shall not apply to the determination of ceiling prices for resales of articles covered by this revised order.

(c) Terms of sale. Ceiling prices adjusted by this revised order are subject to each seller's terms, discounts, and allowances on sales to each class of purchaser in effect during March 1942, or thereafter, properly established under OPA regulations.

(d) Notification. At the time of, or prior to the first invoice to a purchaser for resale on and after the effective date of this revised order, showing prices adjusted in accordance with this revised order, the seller shall notify the purchaser in writing of the method established in paragraph (b) of this revised order for determining adjusted maximum prices for resale of the articles. MACHINES, PARTS AND INDUSTRIAL EQUIPMENT

ADJUSTMENT OF MAXIMUM PRICES FOR SALES OF TIRE INFLATION STANDS

For the reasons set forth in an opinion, issued simultaneously herewith and filed with the Division of the Federal Register, and pursuant to section 30 of Revised Maximum Price Regulation 136, It is ordered:

(a) The maximum prices for sales of tire inflation stands, including accessories, repair and replacement parts, which are integral and functional parts thereof, by any manufacturer shall be established as follows:

(1) For any tire inflation stands, including accessories, repair and replacement parts, which are integral and functional parts thereof, for which the manufacturer had a published list price in effect on October 1, 1941, or an established price in effect on the base date, the maximum price shall be the price computed under section 7 of Revised Maximum Price Regulation 136, increased by 11% of that price. For the purpose of this order, the term "base date" shall mean October 1, 1941.

(2) For any tire inflation stands, including accessories, repair and replacement parts, which are integral and functional parts thereof, for which the manufacturer can compute a price under section 8 of Revised Maximum Price Regulation 136, the maximum price shall be computed under section 8, using the price computed under the preceding subparagraph (1) as the maximum price for the product before modification.

Section 8 has reference to the establishment of a maximum price for a product which either had a published list price or an established price in effect on the base date or a list price approved by the Office of Price Administration in which there has been a substantial change in design, specification or equipment. In using section 8, therefore, under the provisions of this paragraph, a manufacturer must first establish a price for the product under the preceding paragraph (a), and then establish the increase or decrease in that price on the basis of the modification in the manner provided in section 8.

(3) For any other tire inflation stands, including accessories, repair and replacement parts, which are integral and functional parts thereof, the maximum price shall be computed under sections 9 and 10 of Revised Maximum Price Regulation 136, without addition of the increase permitted by this order.

(b) The maximum prices for sales by resellers of the products described in paragraph (a) above, shall be determined as follows:

(1) The reseller shall increase the maximum net prices he had in effect to a purchaser of the same class just prior to the issuance of this order, by the same amount in percent by which his net invoiced cost has been increased by reason of this order.

(2) The manufacturer shall notify each purchaser who buys the products listed in paragraph (a) above for resale of the amount, in percent, by which this order permits the reseller to increase his maximum net prices. (A copy of each such notice shall be filed with the Machinery Branch, Office of Price Administration, Washington 25, D. C.)

(c) All prices established pursuant to this order shall be subject to the same discounts, credits and allowances in effect to any purchasers and classes of purchasers just prior to the issuance of this order.

(d) Notwithstanding any of the provisions of this order, any seller of tire inflation stands, including accessories, repair and replacement parts thereof, which are integral and functional parts thereof, may charge and collect the maximum prices for sales of his products which he had in effect just prior to the issuance of this order.

(e) This order may be revoked or amended by the Price Administrator at any time.

This order shall become effective May 11, 1946.

PAUL A. PORTER,
Administrator.

[Region II 2d Rev. Order G-15 Under RMPR 122]

SOLID FUELS IN BALTIMORE CITY, AND BALTIMORE AND ANNE ARUNDEL COUNTIES, MD.

For the reasons set forth in an opinion issued simultaneously herewith and under the authority vested in the Regional Administrator of the Office of Price Administration by §§ 1340.260 and 1340.259 (a) (1) of Revised Maximum Price Regulation No. 122, it is hereby ordered:

(a) What this order does—(1) Dealers' maximum prices; area covered. If you are a dealer in solid fuels, this order fixes the maximum prices which you may charge, and if you are a purchaser in the course of trade or business, this order fixes the maximum prices which you may pay, for certain sizes and quantities of "Pennsylvania anthracite" and "Virginia anthracite", and for certain sizes, quantities and types of bituminous coal and coke delivered to or at any point in State of Maryland—Coal Area 1. That area consists of Baltimore City and the following 1935 election districts in Baltimore County and Anne Arundel County, as shown on the Maryland Geological Survey Map, prepared in 1935 by the Maryland State Geologist: In Baltimore County: 1935 Election District Nos. 1, 2, 3, 9, 12, 13, 14 and 15. In Anne Arundel County: 1935 Election District No. 5.

(2) Schedules of prices, charges and discounts. The applicable prices, authorized charges, and required discounts, from which you shall determine the maximum prices for designated kinds, sizes and quantities of coal delivered within Coal Area 1 are set forth in Schedules I and II hereafter.

(3) To what sales this order applies. If you are a dealer in solid fuels, you are bound by the prices, charges and discounts, and by all other provisions of this order for all deliveries within Coal Area 1 whether or not you are located in Coal Area 1.

(b) What this order prohibits. Regardless of any contract or other obligations, you shall not:

(1) Sell or, in the course of trade or business, buy solid fuels of the kinds, sizes and in the quantities set forth in the schedules herein, at prices higher than the maximum prices computed as set forth in paragraph (c) of this order, although you may charge, pay or offer less than maximum prices.

(2) Obtain any price higher than the applicable maximum price by:

(i) Changing the discounts authorized herein, or

(ii) Charging for any service which is not expressly requested by the buyer, or

(iii) Charging for any service for which a charge is not specifically authorized by this order, or

(iv) Charging a price for any service higher than the schedule price for such service, or

(v) Using any tying agreement or requiring that the buyer purchase anything in addition to the fuel requested by him, except that a dealer may comply with requirements or standards with respect to deliveries which have been or may be issued by an agency of the United States Government.

(vi) Using any other device by which a higher price than the applicable maximum price is obtained, directly or indirectly.

(c) How to compute maximum prices. You must figure your maximum price as follows:

(1) Use the schedule which covers your sale. (Schedule I applies to sales on a "Direct-Delivery" basis. You will find Schedule I in paragraph (d). Schedule II applies to "Yard Sales". You will find Schedule II in paragraph (e).)

(2) Take the dollars-and-cents figure given in the applicable schedule, for the kind, size and quantity of solid fuel you are selling.

(3) Deduct from that figure the amount of the discount which you are required to give, as specified in each schedule. Where a discount is required, you must state it separately on your invoice.

(4) If, at your purchaser's request, you actually render him a service for which this order authorizes a charge, you may add to the figure obtained as above no more than the maximum authorized service charge. You must state that charge separately on your invoice. The only authorized service charges are those provided for in Schedule I.

(5) If you deliver a fraction of a net ton, but not less than one-half ton, and the applicable schedule provides a discount on the basis of one ton or one-half ton, you shall allow a proportionate discount, making your calculation to the nearest full cent. For example, if you are required to deduct 50¢ per ton for cash payment, you shall deduct 38¢ for three-quarters of a ton.

(6) If you deliver a fraction of a net ton, but not less than one-half ton, and the applicable schedule provides a service charge on the basis of one ton, you shall add no more than a proportionate service charge, making your calculation to the nearest full cent. For example, if the transaction permits a service charge of 75¢ per ton, you shall not add more than 56¢ for performance of that service in connection with the delivery of three-quarters of a ton.

(d) Schedule I—Sales on a "direct-delivery" basis. Schedule I establishes a specific maximum price for certain kinds, sizes and quantities of solid fuel, delivered to or at any point within Coal Area 1. Prices in the following table are credit prices—applicable to payment made after 30 days from the date of delivery—and are subject to the discounts enumerated below.

(f) Addition by dealers of charges for oil or chemical treatment of bituminous coal. Notwithstanding other provisions of this order, if you are a dealer charged a price for oil or chemical treatment of bituminous coal from Districts 2, 3, 7 and 8, you may, on sales of such treated coal, add to the maximum prices set by this order the treatment charge made by your supplier, provided that it does not exceed 10¢ per net ton. This treatment charge may be added only if the treated coal is kept separate and is not mixed with other untreated coal. You need not separately state the amount of this treatment charge if you clearly indicate on the invoice that the coal is so treated. Provisions of this paragraph shall not apply to sales of solid fuels in less than ¼ ton lots, unless requested by the purchaser.

(g) Commingling. If one size or kind of coal is sold commingled with another size or kind of coal, the maximum price for the combination shall be the maximum price established in this order for the smallest of the sizes or for the least expensive kind of coal so commingled, whichever is lower, whether the sale be a "delivered sale" or "yard sale", except in the following situation: Where a purchaser requests that two or more sizes or kinds of fuels be commingled in one delivery, then, and in that event, if these sizes and kinds are separately weighed at the point of loading, the dealer may commingle those sizes and kinds in the truck or other vehicle, in which the delivery is made. The price for coal so commingled shall be calculated on the basis of the applicable per net ton price for each size and kind in the combination, and the invoice shall separately state the price, so determined, for the quantity of each size and kind in the combination.

(h) Ex Parte 148, Freight Rate Increase. Since the Ex Parte 148 Freight Rate Increase has been rescinded by the Interstate Commerce Commission, dealers' freight rates are the same as those of December 1941. Therefore, you may not increase any schedule price on account of freight rates.

(i) Addition of increase in supplier's maximum prices prohibited. You may not increase the specific maximum prices established by this order to reflect in whole or in part, any subsequent increase to you in your supplier's maximum price for the same fuel. The specific maximum prices already reflect increases to you in your supplier's maximum prices occurring up to the effective date of this order. If increases in your supplier's maximum prices should occur after such date, as the result of any amendment to or revision of a maximum price regulation issued by the Office of Price Administration governing sales and deliveries made by such suppliers, the Regional Administrator will, if he then deems it to be warranted, take appropriate action to amend this order to reflect such increases.

(j) Taxes. If you are a dealer subject to this order you may collect, in addition to the specific maximum prices established herein, provided you state it separately, the amount of the Federal tax upon the transportation of property imposed by section 620 of the Revenue Act of 1942 actually paid or incurred by you, or any amount equal to the amount of such tax paid by any of your prior suppliers and separately stated and collected from you by the supplier from whom you purchased. On sales to the United States or any agency thereof, you need not state this tax separately.

(k) Adjustable pricing. You may not make a price adjustable to a maximum price which will be in effect at some time after delivery of the anthracite has been completed; but the price may be adjustable to the maximum price in effect at the time of delivery.

(l) Petitions for amendment. Any person seeking an amendment of any provision of this order may file a petition for amendment in accordance with the provisions of Revised Procedural Regulation No. 1, except that the petition shall be filed with the Regional Administrator and acted upon by him.

(m) Right of amendment or revocation. The Regional Administrator or the Price Administrator may amend, revoke or rescind this order, or any provision thereof, at any time.

(n) Applicability of other regulations. If you are a dealer subject to this order, you are governed by the licensing provisions of Licensing Order 1. Licensing Order 1 provides, in brief, that a license is required of all persons making sales for which maximum prices are established. A license is automatically granted. It is not necessary to apply for the license. The license may be suspended for violations in connection with the sale of any commodity for which maximum prices are established. If your license is suspended, you may not sell any such commodity during the period of suspension.

(o) Records. If you are a dealer subject to this order, you shall preserve, keep, and make available for examination by the Office of Price Administration, a record of every sale of solid fuels covered by this order, showing the date, the name and address of the buyer, if known, the per net ton price charged, and the solid fuel sold. The solid fuel shall be identified in the manner in which it is described in the order. The record shall also state separately each service rendered and the charge made for it.

(p) Posting of maximum prices; sales slips and receipts. (1) If you are a dealer subject to this order, you shall post all your maximum prices (as set forth in the applicable schedule or schedules of this order) in your place of business in a manner plainly visible to and understandable by the purchasing public.

(2) If you are a dealer subject to this order, you shall, except for a sale of less than one-half ton, give each purchaser a sales slip or receipt showing your name and address, the kind, size, and quantity of coal sold to him, the date of the sale or delivery and the price charged, separately stating the amount, if any, of the required discounts which must be deducted from, and the authorized service charges and the taxes, which may be added to the specific maximum prices prescribed herein.

In the case of all other sales, you shall give each purchaser a sales slip or receipt containing the information described in the foregoing paragraph, if requested by such purchaser or if, during December 1941, you customarily gave purchasers such sales slips or receipts.

(q) Enforcement. (1) Persons violating any provisions of this order are subject to civil and criminal penalties, including suits for treble damages, provided for by the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended.

(2) Persons who have any evidence of any violation of this order are urged to communicate with the Maryland District Office of the Office of Price Administration, or with the Price Panel of the appropriate War Price and Rationing Board.

(r) Definitions and explanations. When used in this Second Revised Order No. G–15, the term: (1) "Person" includes an individual, corporation, partnership, association, or any other organized group of persons, or legal successor or representative of the foregoing, and includes the United States or any agency thereof, or any other government, or any of its political sub-divisions, or any agency of the foregoing.

(2) "Sell" includes sell, supply, dispose, barter, exchange, lease, transfer, and deliver, and contracts and offers to do any of the foregoing. The terms "sale", "selling", "sold", "seller", "buy", "purchase" and "purchaser" shall be construed accordingly.

(3) "Dealer" means any person selling coal of the kinds and sizes set forth in the schedules herein, and does not include a producer or distributor making sales at or from a mine, a preparation plant operated as an adjunct of any mine, or a briquette plant.

(4) "Direct delivery", except with respect to sales in 100 lb. lots, means delivery to the buyer's bin or storage space by dumping or chuting directly from the seller's truck or other vehicle or, where such delivery to the buyer's bin or storage space is physically impossible, by discharging at the point nearest and most accessible to the buyer's bin or storage space and at which the coal can be discharged directly from the seller's truck. "Direct delivery" in 100 lb. lots shall mean depositing in buyer's bin or other storage space designated by buyer.

(5) "Carry" and "wheel" refer to the movement of coal to buyer's bin or storage space, in baskets or other containers, or by wheelbarrow or barrel, from the seller's truck or other vehicle, or from the point nearest and most accessible to the buyer's bin or storage space at which coal is discharged from the seller's truck in the course of "direct delivery".

(6) "Yard sales" means sales accompanied by physical transfer to the buyer's truck or vehicle at the yard, dock, barge, car, or at a place of business of the seller other than at seller's truck or vehicle.

(7) "Pennsylvania Anthracite" means all coal produced in the Lehigh, Schuylkill and Wyoming regions in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

(8) The sizes of Pennsylvania anthracite described as broken, egg, stove, nut, pea, buckwheat, rice, barley and screenings shall refer to the same sizes of the same fuel as were sold and delivered in the State of Maryland—Coal Area 1 with such designation during December 1941.

(9) "Virginia anthracite" means nonbituminous coal produced in the State of Virginia.

(10) "Egg, stove, nut and pea" sizes of Virginia anthracite refer to the sizes of such coal as prepared by the producer during the period December 15–31, 1941.

(11) "District No." refers to the geographical coal-producing districts as defined in the Bituminous Coal Act of 1937, as amended, and as they have been modified as of midnight, August 23, 1943.

(12) "Low volatile bituminous coal" is produced in the low volatile sections of the producing districts specified herein.

(13) "High volatile bituminous coal" is produced in the high volatile sections of the producing districts specified herein.

(14) "Underground mine coal" means coal that is taken entirely from underground seams from which the overburden is not removed, and does not include coal from a mine which takes coal from the ground by the stripping method.

(15) All designations in this order of sizes, classifications, seams, etc., applicable to bituminous coal, refer to the sizes, classifications, seams, etc., as set forth in the minimum price schedules for the various producing districts issued by the Bituminous Coal Division of the United States Department of Interior, as in effect midnight, August 23, 1943. "Where the minimum price schedules do not make specific mention of any size designated in this order, such size designations shall refer to the sizes of bituminous coal sold as such in the State of Maryland—Coal Area 1, during December, 1941."

(16) Except as otherwise provided herein or as the context may otherwise require, the definitions set forth in §§ 1340.255 and 1340.266 of Revised Maximum Pice Regulation No. 122 shall apply to terms used herein.

(s) Effect of order on Revised Maximum Price Regulation No. 122. To the extent applicable this order supersedes Revised Maximum Price Regulation No. 122.

(t) Effect of order on Revised Order No. G–15 as originally issued. Revised order No. G–15 under Revised Maximum Price Regulation No. 122, as issued on December 6, 1943, is hereby revoked in full as of the effective date of this order.

NOTE: The record keeping requirements of this order have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

This Second Revised Order No. G–15 shall become effective April 11, 1946.

SECURITIES AND EXCHANGE COMMISSION.

[File Nos. 70-1266 and 70-965]

COLUMBIA GAS & ELECTRIC CORP. ET AL.

NOTICE OF FILING AND ORDER FOR CONSOLIDATION AND HEARING

At a regular session of the Securities and Exchange Commission, held at its office in the City of Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, on the 2d day of May, 1946.

In the matters of Columbia Gas & Electric Corporation, Central Kentucky Natural Gas Company, Cincinnati Gas Transportation Company, File No. 70-1266; Columbia Gas & Electric Corporation, United Fuel Gas Company, Warfield Natural Gas Company, Huntington Development and Gas Company, Point Pleasant Natural Gas Company, Central Kentucky Natural Gas Company, Cincinnati Gas Transportation Company, File No. 70-965.

Notice is hereby given that an amendment to a joint declaration-application has been filed with this Commission pursuant to the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 by Columbia Gas & Electric Corporation (Columbia), a registered holding company, and its subsidiaries, United Fuel Gas Company (United Fuel), Warfield Natural Gas Company (Warfield), Huntington Development and Gas Company (Huntington Development), and Point Pleasant, Natural Gas Company (Point Pleasant). The amendment modifies the previous filing (Holding Company Act Release No. 5748), proposing the merger of said subsidiary companies and Central Kentucky Natural Gas Company (Central Kentucky) and Cincinnati Gas Transportation Company (Cincinnati Transportation), also subsidiaries of Columbia, in that it excludes the latter two companies from such merger.

Notice is also given that a separate joint application-declaration has been filed with this Commission pursuant to the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 by Columbia, Central Kentucky and Cincinnati Transportation with respect to a merger of these latter two companies.

All interested persons are referred to said documents, which are on file in the offices of the Commission, for a statement of the transactions now proposed, which may be summarized as follows:

United Fuel proposes to merge with and to acquire the businesses and properties of Warfield, Huntington Development and Point Pleasant, and in consideration for such acquisitions it will assume all the liabilities, obligations and indebtedness of those companies and will issue to them shares of its common stock of a par value of $1 per share, in the following respective amounts:

To:	No. of shares
Warfield	24,068
Huntington Development	62,668
Point Pleasant	500
Total	87,236

Prior to the merger Warfield, Point Pleasant and Huntington Development propose to pay cash dividends on their outstanding stocks, substantially all of which are owned by Columbia, in an amount approximating the earned surplus since December 31, 1937 of the respective companies. After the merger these companies will disolve and distribute to their stockholders the above shares of United Fuel common stock as a liquidating dividend. Thereafter United Fuel will exchange its then outstanding 387,230 shares of $1 par value common stock for a like number of shares of new common stock of a par value of $25 per share, United Fuel will then have outstanding 387,236 shares of common stock having an aggregate par value of $9,680,900, all of which, except 25 1/10 shares, will be held by Columbia, and 6% demand indebtedness in the aggregate principal amount of $24,025,000 payable to Columbia.

United Fuel requests the Commission to modify its order of January 31, 1940 (S.E.C. 732) so as to permit it to resume the payment of interest and principal on the 6% demand indebtedness payable to Columbia.

Central Kentucky proposes to merge with and to acquire the businesses and properties of Cincinnati Transportation and in consideration for such acquisition it will assume all the liabilities, obligations and indebtedness of that company and will issue 128,139 shares of its common stock, of a par value of $25 per share, to Cincinnati Transportation.

Prior to the merger, Central Kentucky and Cincinnati Transportation propose to pay cash dividends on their outstanding common stock, substantially all of which is owned by Columbia, in an amount approximating the earned surplus since December 31, 1945 of the respective companies. After the merger, Cincinnati Transportation will dissolve and distribute the Central Kentucky common stock to its stockholders as a liquidating dividend. Upon consummation of these transactions, Central Kentucky will have outstanding 188,139 shares of common stock having an aggregate par value of $4 703,475, of which 187,563 shares will be held by Columbia and 576 shares by others.

The Public Service Commission of West Virginia has approved the acquisition by United Fuel of the assets of Point Pleasant, Warfield, and Huntington Development, and the approval of the Public Service Commission of Kentucky and the Federal Power Commission is also being sought in respect of certain aspects of such matters. The approval of these latter two Commissions is also being sought in respect of certain aspects of the proposed transactions between Central Kentucky and Cincinnati Transportation.

It appearing to the Commission that the above matters are related and involve common questions of law and fact and should be consolidated, and that it is appropriate in the public interest that a hearing be held for the purpose of considering such consolidated matters:

It is hereby ordered, That the proceedings with respect to the matters under the Commission's File No. 70-965 be, and the same hereby are, consolidated with the proceedings in respect of the matters under the Commission's File No. 70-1266, and that a hearing be held with respect to such matters at the offices of the Securities and Exchange Commission, 18th and Locust Streets, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, on May 21, 1946 at 10 a. m., E. D. S. T., in such room as the hearing room clerk in Room 318 will at that time advise.

It is further ordered, That the Secretary of the Commission shall serve notice of the aforesaid hearing by mailing copies of this order by registered mail to Columbia, United Fuel, Warfield, Central Kentucky, Cincinnati Transportation, Huntington Development, Point Pleasant, the Public Service Commissions of the States of West Virginia and Kentucky, and the Federal Power Commission; and that notice of said hearing be given to all other persons by publication of this order in the FEDERAL REGISTER. Any person desiring to be heard or otherwise wishing to participate in these proceedings shall file with the Secretary of this Commission, or on before May 20, 1946, his request or application as provided by Rule XVII of the rules of practice of the Commission.

It is further ordered, That Willis E. Monty, or any other officer or officers of the Commission designated by it for that purpose, shall preside at such hearing. The officer so designated is hereby authorized to exercise all powers granted to the Commission under section 18 (c) of the act and to a trial examiner under the Commission's rules of practice.

It is further ordered, That, without limiting the scope of the issues presented by said applications-declarations, particular attention will be directed at the hearing to the following matters and questions:

(a) Whether the request of United Fuel to be permitted to resume the payments of interest and principal on the 6% demand note indebtedness payable to Columbia is appropriate and in the public interest and in the interests of investors and consumers;

(b) Whether the fees and expenses to be paid in connection with the proposed transactions are reasonable;

(c) Whether the accounting treatment proposed in connection with the contemplated transactions is proper and in accordance with sound accounting practices;

(d) Whether, if the proposed transactions are authorized, it is necessary or appropriate that terms or conditions be imposed in the public interest or for the protection of investors and consumers;

(e) Generally, whether the proposed transactions comply with the applicable provisions of the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 and the rules and regulations promulgated thereunder.

By the Commission.

TITLE 30—MINERAL RESOURCES

Chapter VI—Solid Fuels Administration for War

PART 602—GENERAL ORDERS AND DIRECTIVES

STATEMENT CONCERNING LIMITED AVAILABILITY OF BITUMINOUS COAL FOR BUNKERING OF VESSELS AT TIDEWATER

The rapidly diminishing supplies of bituminous coal make it necessary to limit to minimum quantities the distribution of bituminous coal for bunkering use at tidewater. Accordingly, it is the policy of the Solid Fuels Administration for War in releasing any such coal for such purpose that the vessel be engaged in the movement of coal or other relief materials abroad or in similar coastwise traffic. In addition, the amount of coal made available to vessels engaged in foreign trade is limited to that necessary to enable the vessel to reach the first foreign bunkering station which is practicable. Generally speaking, bunkering for round trip movements abroad will not be permitted.

Issued this 3d day of May 1946.

DAN H. WHEELER,
Deputy Solid Fuels Administrator for War.

STATEMENT CONCERNING LIMITED AVAILABILITY OF BITUMINOUS COAL FOR BUNKERING OF VESSELS ON GREAT LAKES

The rapidly diminishing supply of bituminous coal makes it necessary to limit to minimum quantities the distribution of bituminous coal for bunker use on the Great Lakes. Accordingly, it is the policy of the Solid Fuels Administration for War in releasing any such coal for such purpose that the vessel be engaged in the movement of coal or grain. It is therefore important that requests for release of coal for vessel fuel use on the Lakes should contain a clear statement of the activities in which the vessel is engaged.

Issued this 3d day of May 1946.

DAN H. WHEELER,

DIRECTION CONCERNING DELIVERIES OF BITUMINOUS COAL BY RETAIL DEALERS, AND COMMERCIAL DOCK OPERATORS AT LAKE AND TIDEWATER

In order to conserve further the diminishing supply of bituminous coal for the most essential uses, the revised notice of direction concerning deliveries of bituminous coal by retail dealers, lake and tidewater dock operators, issued April 5, 1946, is hereby revoked and superseded by this direction.

1. Retail dealers and lake and tidewater dock operators engaged in the commercial distribution of bituminous coal are hereby prohibited from delivering such coal except to:

(a) The following consumers provided they certify in writing to the retail dealer, lake or tidewater dock operator that they have less than a 10-days' supply: public utilities which render public service by supplying electricity, water, gas, sewage disposal service or street railway transportation to any community, railroads, laundries, hospitals, food processing plants (including milk plants, dairies and commercial bakeries) and refrigeration plants;

(b) Steamships or tugboats for bunker or galley fuel: Provided, however, That the steamship or tugboat, if operating on the Great Lakes, is engaged in the transportation of grain or coal or the movement of another boat so engaged: And provided, That, if operating at tidewater, the steamship or tugboat is engaged in the movement of coal or other relief material abroad or in similar coastwise traffic, or the movement of another boat so engaged;

(c) Domestic consumers for use in a dwelling, apartment or hotel: Provided, The consumer has less than 5 days' supply based on his actual needs for the next succeding 5 days;

(d) Retail dealers for delivery to an eligible consumer described in subparagraphs (a), (b) or (c) hereof: Provided, That the dealer certifies in writing that he needs the coal in order to supply such eligible consumer and that if the consumer is eligible under subparagraph (a) hereof the dealer has in his possession the written certificate of the consumer that he has less than a 10-days' supply; and

(e) Any person upon written direction or authorization of the appropriate SFAW Area Distribution Manager or Regional Representative.

2. Retail dealers, and lake and tidewater dock operators making deliveries of bituminous coal to an eligible consumer in accordance with paragraph 1 are prohibited from delivering an amount of bituminous coal which exceeds the consumer's minimum requirements for a period of five days: Provided, however, (a) That this restriction shall not apply to deliveries to steamships or tugboats, and (b) That the amount delivered to eligible domestic consumers may be a minimum truck or wagon load.

3. All persons are prohibited from receiving any bituminous coal which a retail dealer, lake or tidewater dock operator is not permitted to deliver to him pursuant to paragraphs 1 and 2 above.

4. SFAW Area Distribution Managers and Regional Representatives are authorized to modify the limitations imposed by this direction within the area of their jurisdiction. Such modifications will be strictly limited (a) to cases in which the failure to supply coal will endanger the health or safety of the community and (b) to permit the nonwasteful and orderly close-down of any industrial plant that has goods in the process of manufacture that would be lost if coal were not supplied, including such continuous operation plants as glass plants, rayon plants, brick kilns, tanneries and breweries: Provided, That such plant did not have a sufficient coal supply on May 1, 1946, to close down in an orderly manner.

5. No person shall be held liable for damages or penalties under any contract for any default which shall result directly or indirectly from compliance with the provisions of this direction.

6. This notice of direction supersedes prevous notices of direction and orders, or revisions or modifications thereof, to the extent inconsistent herewith.

7. This direction shall take effect immediately and remain in effect until further notice.

§ 208.0 Introductory. The following statutory provisions are published for the information and guidance of all concerned.

United States Code, Title 31, Section 492: Duty of disbursing officers. Except as otherwise provided by law it shall be the duty of every disbursing officer having any public money intrusted to him for disbursement, to deposit the same with the Treasurer or with one of the depositaries of the United States mentioned in section 476 of this title, and to draw for the same only as it may be required for payments to be made by him in pursuance of law and draw for the same only in favor of the persons to whom payment is made; and all transfers from the Treasurer of the United States to a disbursing officer shall be by draft or warrant on the Treasury. In places, however, where there is no treasurer or depositary, the Secretary of the Treasury may, when he deems it essential to the public interest, specially authorize in writing the deposit of such public money in any other public depositary, or, in writing, authorize the same to be kept in any other manner, and under such rules and regulations as he may deem most safe and effectual to facilitate the payments to public creditors. (R. S. Sec. 3620; Feb. 27, 1877, ch. 69, Sec. 1, 19 Stat. 249; May 29, 1920, ch. 214, Sec. 1, 41 Stat. 654, 655.)

United States Code, Title 18, Section 173: (Criminal Code, section 87.) Disbursing officers unlawfully using public money.—Whoever, being a disbursing officer of the United States, or a person acting as such, shall in any manner convert to his own use, or loan with or without interest, or deposit in any place or in any manner, except as authorized by law, any public money intrusted to him; or shall, for any purpose not prescribed by law, withdraw from the Treasurer or any authorized depositary, or transfer, or apply, any portion of the public money intrusted to him, shall be deemed guilty of an embezzlement of the money so converted, loaned, deposited, withdrawn, transferred, or applied, and shall be fined not more than the amount embezzled or imprisoned not more than ten years, or both. (Mar. 4, 1909, ch. 321, Sec. 87, 35 Stat. 1105; May 29, 1920, ch. 214, Sec. 1, 41 Stat. 654.)

§ 208.1 Advances of funds. All funds advanced to Government disbursing officers for disbursement will be placed to their credit, subject to their official check, with the Treasurer of the United States in Washington (checks of certain accounts may be designated as payable only through a specified Federal Reserve Bank), except in cases where the Secretary of the Treasury specifically authorizes depositary banks located outside the forty-eight states and the District of Columbia to accept and carry official accounts of disbursing officers or such funds as the Secretary of the Treasury specially authorizes disbursing officers to keep at their own personal risk

§ 208.2 Cash held by a disbursing officer at his personal risk. A disbursing officer may obtain cash in a specific amount to be held at his personal risk under the following conditions:

(a) Any disbursing officer granted special authority by the Secretary of the Treasury may keep a specified amount of cash at his personal risk, under the provisions of section 3620 of the Revised Statutes of the United States (U.S.C., title 31, sec. 492). In the case of disbursing officers not attached to the Treasury Department, applications for such special authority shall be made by the head of the department or establishment to which the officer is attached, except as provided in paragraphs (b) and (c) of this section, and must state the reasons why the authority is necessary.

(b) Any disbursing officer of the War Department, specially authorized by the Secretary of War, who himself is stationed at a place remote from depositaries of public moneys, or who has an agent officer, duly authorized pursuant to statute, so stationed, may keep at his personal risk such money as may be intrusted to him for disbursement.

(c) Any disbursing officer of the Navy Department, or Marine Corps, specially authorized by the Secretary of the Navy, who is serving afloat or who is assigned to duty at a place remote from depositaries of public moneys, or who has an agent officer, duly authorized pursuant to statute, so stationed, may keep at his personal risk such money as may be intrusted to him for disbursement.

(d) Quarterly reports shall be made to the Secretary of the Treasury, Bureau of Accounts, Division of Bookkeeping and Warrants, by the heads of departments or establishments to which disbursing officers authorized to keep cash at their personal risk are attached, showing their names and stations, the amounts authorized and the balances on hand. The balances reported shall include all bank balances, United States and foreign currency and coin, checks, drafts, bills of exchange, and other instruments representing official funds which are available for expenditure and are kept at the risk of the disbursing officer. If foreign currencies are included in the balances reported, a separate analysis should be furnished showing the amount of each class of foreign currency and its dollar equivalent.

§ 208.3 Advances of funds in excess of penalties of official bonds. The application, approval, or recommendation from or by authority of the head of the department or establishment or office for which the disbursing officer is acting, for advances in excess of the penalty of his bond, will be regarded by the Secretary of the Treasury as a certificate to the effect that advances of funds up to the amount named may with safety be made and placed to the official credit of the officer named, having regard to the conditions under which he acts, the needs of the public business, and other circumstances bearing upon the security of public funds intrusted to his hands.

§ 208.4 Checks drawn to obtain cash for pay rolls and for other purposes. Any check drawn by a disbursing officer upon moneys deposited to his official credit must be in favor of the party, by name, to whom the payment is to be made, and payable to "order", with the following exceptions:

(a) To make payments at a distance from the depositary.

(b) To make payments of fixed salaries due at a certain date.

(c) To obtain funds necessary to make current cash payments authorized by law not included in paragraphs (a) and (b) of this section.

In cases falling within any of these three classes, the disbursing officer may draw his check in favor of himself or "order" for such amount as may be necessary for the payment. The checks drawn under paragraph (a) of this section may be cashed at such time as will enable the disbursing officer to make prompt payment for the purpose for which the check was drawn. The checks drawn under paragraph (b) of this section may be cashed in advance of the salary payment date only when such action is necessary to enable the disbursing officer to make prompt salary payments, and ordinarily a period of not to exceed four work days prior to the salary payment date will be deemed sufficient for that purpose. The checks drawn under paragraph (c) of this section must not be cashed more than three work days in advance of the date when such payments are due in cases where the disbursing officer is located at a point convenient to banking facilities, and not more than seven work days in advance of the date when payment is due when the disbursing officer is so located that it requires more than one-half day's time to reach available banking facilities and return to his station. In each of the above cases cash obtained must not be in excess of the amount estimated to cover the payments specified. In cases where the funds are to be procured by an assistant disbursing officer or a deputy disbursing officer, the check shall be drawn by the assistant or deputy to his order.

If the cash is to be obtained by an agent-cashier of the Chief Disbursing Officer, Treasury Department, or by an agent officer of a disbursing officer of the War Department or Navy Department, the check shall be drawn by the disbursing officer to the order of the agent-cashier, or the agent officer, and shall show under object for which drawn, the legend "Advance of Funds."

§ 208.5 Disposition of excess cash withdrawn for pay rolls and for other purposes. The Chief Disbursing Officer, Treasury Department, or disbursing officers of the War Department or Navy Department or other establishments who obtain cash for the purpose of paying the proper persons or employees in cash, in order to avoid carrying unnecessary balances of cash, are directed to deposit promptly, but not in any case later than ten days from and after the designated pay date, to their official credit, subject to their official check, on the books of the Treasurer of the United States or an authorized depositary, any and all balances of cash drawn to meet pay rolls and remaining in their hands: Provided, That when such excess is needed to meet other current cash disbursements such amount may be held at personal risk for disbursement to the extent that such excess together with other amounts being held at personal risk does not exceed the total amount authorized to be so carried.

§ 208.6 Checks shall show object for which drawn. And disbursing officer drawing checks against a balance to his official credit shall state on the face of each check the object or purpose for which drawn or shall give the voucher number for which the check is issued in payment. Such statement may be made in brief form, but shall clearly indicate the object of the expenditure, as, for instance, "pay," "subsistence," "supplies," "advance of funds," or, as above stated, shall give the number of the voucher (in his disbursing account) for which the particular check was issued in payment. Checks issued by disbursing officers to obtain cash to be held at their personal risk shall show under object for which drawn the legend "exchange for cash."

§ 208.7 Payee of check in certain cases. Checks issued by disbursing officers in exchange for cash may be drawn to the order of the person from whom the cash is received. Checks drawn on the Treasurer of the United States for credit of another disbursing officer should be drawn in the following form: Treasurer of the United States for credit of John Doe, symbol 62,103; checks drawn for credit to an appropriation should be drawn to the order of "Treasurer of the United States." Checks shall not be drawn to the order of "cash" or in any other form which renders them payable to bearer.

§ 208.8 Disbursing officer's advice of credit. A disbursing officer is not authorized to draw checks until he has received a signed certificate of deposit issued by the Treasurer of the United States, a Federal Reserve Bank, Federal Reserve Branch Bank, or a General Depositary Bank, or has received appropriate advice from any such depositary, showing that credit has been entered in the Treaurer's account for credit in the disbursing officer's checking account.

§ 208.9 Disposition of checks paid by drawee. Ordinarily checks will not be returned to the drawer after their payment. Checks paid by the Treasurer of the United States will be forwarded by him to the General Accounting Office. Checks drawn on and paid by depositary banks will be forwarded, when not prohibited by law of the country in which the depositary is located, to the Secretary of the Treasury, Bureau of Accounts, Division of Deposits, for transmittal to the General Accounting Office: Provided, however, That checks drawn against deposits of court funds with depositary banks by United States Courts and their officers, shall, at the intervals fixed by the applicable banking regulations or custom in the jurisdiction, be returned with a statement of the account, by the depositary, to the issuing officer.

§ 208.10 Statement of checking account. The Treasurer of the United States, or other depositary, as the case may be, will furnish each disbursing officer with a monthly statement of his account, supported by a list of credits therein and by a detailed list or lists of checks paid.

§ 208.11 Deposits of public moneys. Deposits to the credit of the Treasurer of the United States on account of repayment of disbursing officers' unexpended balances or deposits for credit in disbursing officers' checking accounts shall be made in accordance with the provisions of Part 202 of this subchapter appearing also as Treasury Department Circular No. 176, Revised December 21, 1945. No allowance shall be made hereunder to any disbursing officer for expenses charged for collection of checks, drafts, et cetera.

§ 208.12 Disbursing officer ceases to disburse. Whenever any disbursing officer of the United States shall cease to act in that capacity he shall at once so inform the Treasurer of the United States. The disbursing officer shall deposit his unexpended balances, for personal credit, to the credit of the Treasurer of the United States, or transfer them to another disbursing officer of the same department if such action is authorized by the regulations of that department.

§ 208.13 Supply of blank checks and use of symbol numbers. All disbursing officers will, upon request, be supplied by the Treasury Department with blank checks under the provisions of Treasury Department Circular No. 8, as from time to time amended and supplemented, to which reference should be made in connection with the care and custody of blank checks. Any officer not receiving a supply of such checks may use the checks of another disbursing officer by canceling the symbol appearing thereon and inserting his own number unless the symbol number has been previously changed. The absence of a proper symbol number on a check in connection with the signature of a disbursing officer will be sufficient reason for refusing payment of a check drawn on the Treasurer of the United States.

§ 208.14 Official signatures. Each disbursing officer when opening his first account, before issuing any checks, shall furnish the Treasurer of the United States or other authorized depositary (drawee) with his official signature, duly verified, in the form to be used when signing checks.

§ 208.15 Exceptions to part. This part does not apply to postal funds nor to court funds deposited under the provisions of sections 995 and 996 of the Revised Statutes of the United States, U. S. C., title 28, secs. 851 and 852, except as otherwise herein provided.

§ 208.16 Transactions by disbursing officer under act approved December 23, 1944 (Public Law No. 554, 78th Congress). Transactions of disbursing officers effected under rules and regulations authorized by the act approved December 23, 1944 (Public Law No. 554, 78th Congress) are not covered by this part.

§ 208.17 Withdrawal or amendment of part. The Secretary of the Treasury may waive, withdraw or amend at any time or from time to time any or all of the provisions of this part.

[SEAL] O. MAX GARDNER,

[Priorities Reg. 33, Direction 10]

USE OF HH RATINGS FOR BUILDING BOARD IN THE VETERANS' EMERGENCY HOUSING PROGRAM

The fulfillment of requirements for the defense of the United States has created a shortage in the supply of building materials and building supplies for defense, for private account and for export; and the following direction is deemed necessary and appropriate in the public interest and to promote the national defense:

(a) Purpose of this direction. Priorities Regulation 33 and Direction 8 to Priorities Regulation 33 provide for assignment of HH ratings to secure materials, listed on Schedule A to PR 33 and on List 1 to Direction 8 to PR 33, which are required for use in the Veterans' Emergency Housing Program. Among these is building board. This direction explains the use of the HH rating and also what the restrictions are in connection with the sale of building board by producers and dealers.

(b) Definitions. For the purpose of this direction:

(1) "Building Board" means board made from wood pulp, vegetable fibres, pressed paper stock, or multiple plies of fibred stock, produced for use in building construction and commonly referred to in the building trade as structural insulation board, sheathing, lath, tile board, plank, thin board, roof insulation, laminated fibre wall board, and laminated fibre tile board. The term does not include the product known as hardboard.

(2) "Producer" means a person owning or operating facilities in which building board is manufactured.

(3) "Dealer" means a person who buys building board from a producer or other person for resale as such.

(c) Handling of HH rated orders by producers. Producers must accept and fill rated orders (AAA, MM, CC and HH) for building board, including HH rated orders from manufacturers of prefabricated houses, in accordance with the provisions of Priorities Regulation 1, except that no producer is required to accept HH rated orders for more than 15% of all building board (calculated on a combined square footage basis) sold or delivered by him since May 10, 1946. A producer may not reject an HH rated order which he is not required to fill under the above rule, but must promptly notify his customer approximately when he expects to fill the order out of later production.

(d) HH ratings are not extendible. A dealer who receives an HH rated order for building board shall not extend the rating.

(e) Maximum amounts dealers need to sell on HH-rated orders. Dealers must accept and fill rated orders (AAA, MM, CC and HH) for building board in accordance with the provisions of Priorities Regulation 1, except that no dealer is required to accept HH-rated orders for more than 50% of all building board (calculated on a combined square footage basis) sold or delivered by him since May 10, 1946. Direct shipments from a producer to a user for a dealer's account shall be considered as deliveries by the dealer. Sales or deliveries by dealers to other dealers shall not be considered as sales or deliveries for the purpose of this paragraph. A dealer may not reject an HH-rated order which he is not required to fill under the above rule, but must promptly notify his customer approximately when he expects to fill the order out of later shipments.

[Conservation Order M-217, Suspended]

SUSPENSION OF ORDER M-217 CONTROLLING FOOTWEAR

(a) Conservation Order M-217 and all authorizations and other instruments addressed to named persons under that order are hereby suspended. This suspension is possible because of the increased production of footwear. If a change in the situation should occur, it may be necessary to reinstate the order in whole or in part.

(b) This suspension does not affect any liabilities incurred for violation of Order M-217 or of actions taken by the War Production Board or the Civilian Production Administration under the order.

PART 4700—VETERANS' EMERGENCY HOUSING PROGRAM

PORTABLE AND PREFABRICATED STRUCTURES

The following interpretation is issued with respect to Veterans' Housing Program Order 1:

(a) The erection of a "portable" or prefabricated building or other structure is construction and is restricted by Veterans' Housing Program Order 1, if the structure is placed on a foundation constructed on the site, or if the structure is connected to the ground by plumbing, wiring or other utility connection, or if the structure is placed on the ground on a spot where it is intended to remain for an undetermined time.

(b) Erection of a "portable" or prefabricated structure is not construction and is not covered by VHP-1 only if the structure is placed on a temporary site for the purpose of moving it from time to time, without any foundation or other connection with the ground. For example, the erection of a shelter to be moved around frequently for use on different parts of a farm from time to time is not construction, while the erection of a prefabricated or "portable" structure for use as a garage on a house lot is construction, and is restricted by VHP-1.

(c) If the erection of a "portable" or prefabricated building constitutes construction, as indicated above, the cost of the job must be computed in accordance with paragraph (d) (2) of VHP-1. The cost of the building (unless it has been used previously), the cost of new materials and new fixtures and mechanical equipment installed, and the cost of paid labor and contractor's fees involved must all be counted. If the cost of the job, computed in this way, exceeds the applicable allowance under paragraph (d) (1) of VHP-1, authorization for the job must be obtained before the job is started.

PART 4003—SUBSIDIES: SUPPORT PRICES

ABSORPTION OF OCEAN FREIGHT COSTS AND HANDLING CHARGES IN CONNECTION WITH PURCHASE OF 1945–46 CROP OF RAW CANE SUGAR FROM PUERTO RICO AND FROM THE VIRGIN ISLANDS

The Secretary of Agriculture has submitted certain information and recommendations to me with respect to the purchase of the 1945-46 crop of raw cane sugar from Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands. It appears that, in order to sell the sugar purchased to United States refiners at existing ceiling prices, Commodity Credit Corporation will be obliged to absorb ocean freight costs above the present charges and certain handling charges, at a loss to the Corporation of approximately $3,000,000.

After careful consideration, I hereby find that the proposed program is necessary to insure the maximum necessary distribution of sugar during the coming months.

Accordingly, pursuant to the authority vested in me by the Stabilization Act of 1942, as amended, and by Executive Order 9250 of October 3, 1942 (7 F.R. 7871), Executive Order 9328 of April 8, 1943 (8 F.R. 4681), Executive Order 9599 of August 18, 1945 (10 F.R. 10155), Executive Order 9651 of October 30, 1945 (10 F.R. 13487), Executive Order 9697 of February 14, 1946 (11 F.R. 1691), and Executive Order 9699 of February 21, 1946 (11 F.R. 1929), It is hereby ordered:

The Department of Agriculture is authorized and directed to carry out through the Commodity Credit Corporation the program as described in the Secretary of Agriculture's letter and the memorandum enclosed therewith.

This directive is in addition to, and not in substitution of, the directives of July 30, 1945 and July 31, 1945 with respect to grower and processor payments.

Issued and effective this 2d day of May 1946.

Director.

HOUSEHOLD FURNITURE

ADJUSTMENT OF MAXIMUM PRICES

For the reasons set forth in an opinion issued simultaneously herewith, filed with the Division of the Federal Register, and pursuant to § 1499.159b of Maximum Price Regulation No. 188, It is ordered:

Order No. 4800 under Maximum Price Regulation No. 188 is amended in the following respects:

1. The first sentence of section 2 (a) is amended to read as follows: "This order covers articles of wood household furniture, including upholstered furniture, and any other article listed in Appendix A, or belonging in categories listed in Appendix B or C, with the exception of any article whose maximum price was established under Order No. 4332 or Revised Order No. 4332, under Maximum Price Regulation No. 188 and certain articles listed in paragraph (b) of this section."

2. The last paragraph of section 2 (b) is amended to read as follows:

The word "you", as used in this order, means a manufacturer who makes a sale or delivery of an article covered by this order to a purchaser for resale or to another manufacturer. No adjustment of maximum prices on sales by a manufacturer to consumers is authorized.

3. Section 4 (a) is amended by adding a sentence at the end thereof to read as follows: "If you customarily sell your articles to other manufacturers, and do not have any customary or established uniform differentials to use in finding the appropriate cut-off point for sales to other manufacturers, your cut-off point to that class of purchasers is 13% less than the cut-off point listed in Appendix A."

4. The first sentence of section 4 (c) is amended by inserting the parenthetical phrase "(at least 60" in length)" after the word "buffet."

5. The last two sentences of section 5 (c) are amended to read as follows: "For this purpose 'maximum price' means the maximum price properly determined under Maximum Price Regulation No. 188 after all trade, quantity and other discounts (except cash discounts) have been deducted. If you have a customary or established dollar-and-cent differential for the same article in different finishes (not species of wood), hardwares, sizes or packing, or in the case of chairs in different types of seats (for example, all wood seats, slip seats, etc.), the 'maximum price' to which you apply the percentage permitted by this paragraph is your maximum price for the article in its lowest priced condition. Your customary or established differentials may then be added to the maximum price so adjusted. However, if you continue to adjust all of your maximum prices by no more than the 5 percent previously authorized by Order No. 1052 under Maximum Price Regulation No. 188, you may continue to compute your adjusted maximum prices in the manner provided by that order prior to its revocation, without regard to any contrary provisions contained in this section."

In figuring the amount by which you may increase your maximum price, fractions may be rounded to the nearest cent.

6. A new section 5 (d) is added to read as follows:

(d) How to find the adjusted maximum prices for certain sets or suites. You will use the rule in this paragraph to find your adjusted maximum price for a set or suite only if your maximum price for the particular set or suite is different from the total of the maximum prices of the individual pieces in the set or suite. To find your adjusted maximum price for such a set or suite, you use the following steps:

Step. 1. Find the adjusted maximum prices under paragraph (c) above for the individual pieces in the set or suite, and the total of those prices.

Step 2. Find the total of the properly established maximum prices, exclusive of all permitted increases, for the individual pieces in the set or suite.

Step 3. Find the percentage amount by which the total obtained in Step 1 exceeds the total obtained in Step 2. The resulting figure is the percentage amount of adjustment which you may apply to your properly established maximum price (exclusive of all permitted increases) for the set or suite.

7. The last sentence of "Step 2" in section 6 (a) (2) is amended to read as follows: "Your 'category fabric grade' is that last counted fabric grade or that grade of fabric in your line representing a cost bracket which includes $1.00 per yard of 54" fabric, whichever is higher."

8. The last two sentences of section 6 (c) are amended to read as follows: "For this purpose 'maximum price' means the maximum price properly determined under Maximum Price Regulation No. 188 after all trade, quantity, and other discounts (except cash discounts) have been deducted. If you have a customary or established dollar-and-cent differential for the same article in different upholstery constructions, filling materials, or tailoring extras (such as edgings, decorative nails, etc.), the 'maximum price' to which you apply the percentage permitted by this paragraph is your maximum price for the article in its lowest priced condition. Your customary or established differentials may then be added to the maximum price so adjusted. However, if you continue to adjust all of your maximum prices by no more than the 5 percent previously authorized by Order No. 1052 under Maximum Price Regulation No. 188, you may continue to compute your adjusted maximum prices in the manner provided by that order prior to its revocation, without regard to any contrary provision contained in this section."

In figuring the amount by which you may increase your maximum price, fractions may be rounded to the nearest cent.

9. A new section 6 (d) is added to read as follows:

(d) How to find the adjusted maximum prices for certain sets or suites. You will use the rule in this paragraph to find your adjusted maximum price for a set or suite only if your maximum price for the particular set or suite is different from the total of the maximum prices of the individual pieces in the set or suite. To find your adjusted maximum price for such a set or suite, you use the following steps:

Step. 1. Find the adjusted maximum prices under paragraph (c) above for the individual pieces in the set or suite, and the total of those prices.

Step 2. Find the total of the properly established maximum prices, exclusive of all permitted increases, for the individual pieces in the set or suite.

Step 3. Find the percentage amount by which the total obtained in Step 1 exceeds the total obtained in Step 2. The resulting figure is the percentage amount of adjustment which you may apply to your properly established maximum price (exclusive of all permitted increases) for the set or suite.

10. Section 9 (a) is amended to read as follows:

(a) If you adjust the maximum prices of all of your articles covered by this order by no more than the 5 percent previously authorized by Order No. 1052 under Maximum Price Regulation No. 188 you need not file any reports for those articles if you notify the Office of Price Administration, Washington, D. C., that you are not adjusting your maximum prices by more than five per cent and with respect to the particular article you had filed the report required by Order No. 1052 under Maximum Price Regulation No. 188 before its revocation. However, if you did not file a report under Order No. 1052 for the particular article, you must report items (1), (2), and (7) below, even though you do not adjust any of your maximum prices by more than 5 per cent. In any case, if you adjust any of your maximum prices by more than 5 per cent, you must comply with the reporting requirements set forth below in this section.

11. Section 10 (c) is amended by adding the following paragraphs at the end thereof:

If, in accordance with section 4 or 7 of Maximum Price Regulation No. 590 a wholesaler elects to sell an article at his "highest price charged during March 1942", instead of at the price found by applying his "category markup" to his "net cost", the "unadjusted maximum price" which must appear on the wholesaler's invoice for that article is the same as his selling price.

If, in accordance with section 3a of Maximum Price Regulation No. 590 a wholesaler adopts as his own the manufacturer's ceiling prices to a particular class of purchaser, the "unadjusted maximum price" which must appear on his invoice for the article is the same as the manufacturer's "unadjusted maximum price" for sales of that article to the same class of purchaser.

12. Section 11 is amended to read as follows:

SEC. 11. Maximum prices of wholesalers whose sales are covered by the General Maximum Price Regulation; and of persons who resell commercial and institutional articles directly to the user. A wholesaler who determines his maximum prices under the General Maximum Price Regulation, and any person who resells commercial or institutional furniture covered by this order directly to the user, finds his adjusted and unadjusted maximum price as follows:

(a) Adjusted maximum prices. (1) A seller who delivered or offered for delivery during March 1942 an article which meets the definition of "most comparable commodity" contained in § 1499.3 (a) of the General Maximum Price Regulation, except that it need not be currently offered for sale, shall find his adjusted maximum price according to the method and procedure set forth in that section by adding the same markup which he had on that comparable article to the total of:

(i) His supplier's unadjusted maximum price, as it appears on his purchase invoice, and

(ii) 80 percent of the dollar-and-cent difference between his supplier's unadjusted maximum price and the wholesaler's actual invoice cost.

A seller may make sales covered by the General Maximum Price Regulation, at prices at or below his adjusted maximum price computed in this way.

The determination of a maximum resale price in this way need not be reported to the Office of Price Administration. However, each seller must keep complete records showing all the information called for on OPA Form 620–759, with regard to how he determines his maximum resale price. These records shall be kept available for inspection by the Office of Price Administration, for so long as the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended, remains in effect.

(2) If a seller cannot determine his adjusted maximum price under (1), he shall apply to the Office of Price Administration for the establishment of his adjusted maximum price under § 1499.3 (c) of the General Maximum Price Regulation. The application shall, in addition to the information specifically required by that section, also give the following information:

(i) His supplier's unadjusted maximum price as it appears on his purchase invoice.

(ii) His actual invoice cost.

An adjusted maximum price established in this way will be in line with adjusted maximum prices established generally under this order for resellers of the same class.

(b) Unadjusted maximum prices. (1) A seller who delivered or offered for delivery during March 1942 an article which meets the definition of "most comparable commodity" contained in § 1499.3 (a) of the General Maximum Price Regulation, except that it need not be currently offered for sale, shall find his "unadjusted maximum price" according to the method and procedure set forth in that section by adding the same markup which he had on that comparable article to his supplier's unadjusted maximum price as it appears on his purchase invoice.

(2) If a seller cannot determine his unadjusted maximum price under (1), he shall, at the time he applies for an adjusted maximum price to the Office of Price Administration under paragraph (a) (2) of this section also apply for the establishment of an unadjusted maximum price. Unless such an unadjusted maximum price is established, he may not make sales of the article even though his adjusted maximum price is properly established.

13. Section 12 is amended to read as follows:

SEC. 12. Maximum prices of retailers whose sales are covered by Maximum Price Regulation No. 580. This section modifies the pricing provisions of Maximum Price Regulation No. 580 with respect to articles covered by this Order. Unless the context otherwise requires, the definitions in Maximum Price Regulation No. 580 apply to the terms used in this section.

If the retailer determines his maximum price in accordance with Maximum Price Regulation No. 580, his maximum price shall be the price which he computes in accordance with that regulation by using a "net cost" based upon his supplier's unadjusted maximum price, as it appears on his purchase invoice.

14. Section 14 (a) is amended to read as follows:

(a) A manufacturer who adjusts the maximum prices of all of his articles covered by this order by no more than the 5 per cent previously authorized by Order No. 1052 under Maximum Price Regulation No. 188 may continue to furnish invoices in the form required by Order No. 1052 under Maximum Price Regulation No. 188 before its revocation, except that his invoice must contain the notice set forth in paragraph (b) (8) of this section, instead of the notice formerly required by Order No. 1052. Where the manufacturer furnishes such an invoice, the manufacturer's "unadjusted maximum price" which wholesalers and retailers use as a basis for determining their resale prices under sections 10, 11, 12 or 13 is the price appearing on the invoice before the addition of the adjustment charges.

15. Section 14 (b) (3) is amended to read as follows:

(3) The model designation of the article and such other description as may be necessary to identify the article on his pricing records. In the case of upholstered furniture when sold by the manufacturer, the manufacturer shall show on the invoice an identification of the cover fabric, including his cover grade designation and a pattern number or name on the basis of which he can, from his records, identify his supplier and his supplier's pattern number or name for that fabric.

16. The description of the article in the listing of "Dining room furniture (suites)" in Appendix A is amended to read as follows:

Any piece of a dining-room suite or grouping having a buffet not less than 60" in length or a credenza not less than 54" in length for which the table, buffet or china closet and 6 chairs have a combined price below the cut-off point. (See sec. 4 (c))	$75.00

17. Appendix A is amended by the addition of the following article under "Bedroom furniture (odd pieces)":

Double-deck beds	$23.00

This amendment shall become effective on the 13th day of May 1946.

NOTE: The reporting and record-keeping requirements of this order have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

Issued this 7th day of May 1946.

MECHANICS HAND SERVICE TOOLS

ADJUSTMENT OF MAXIMUM PRICES

For the reasons set forth in an opinion issued simultaneously herewith and filed with the Division of the Federal Register, and pursuant to § 1499.159b of Maximum Price Regulation No. 188, It is ordered:

SECTION 1. Purpose of this order. This order, issued under Section 1499.159b specifies an interim price increase factor for manufacturers of mechanics' hand service tools and contains the specific pricing provisions which manufacturers and resellers are to follow in calculating their maximum prices for sales of the product.

SEC. 2. What this order covers. As used in this order, the term "mechanics' hand service tools" means the following manually operated tools which are covered by Maximum Price Regulation No. 188; auto mechanics tools, chisels, mechanics' hammers, pliers, punches, screw drivers, metal cutting snips and shears, wrenches and spanners including sockets and drivers, nail sets, metal tool cases and tool kits.

SEC. 3. Manufacturer's maximum prices. A manufacturer's adjusted maximum price for sales of a mechanic's hand service tool is the higher of the following amounts:

(a) His highest price in effect between October 1 and 15, 1941 for sales to each class of purchaser, increased by 5 percent.

(b) His maximum price for sales to each class of purchaser established under §§ 1499.153 through 1499.158 or § 1499.159c of Maximum Price Regulation No. 188 (exclusive of any adjustment charge heretofore granted), increased by 5 percent.

SEC. 4. Interim maximum prices of purchasers for resale. Resellers of an article which the manufacturer has sold at an adjusted maximum price determined under this order shall determine their maximum prices as follows:

(a) A reseller who had a properly established maximum price in effect before this order was issued for an article covered by this order may add to that maximum price an adjustment charge in the same dollar-and-cents amount as the adjustment authorized by this order for, and which he paid to, his supplier.

(b) A reseller who did not have a properly established maximum price in effect before this order was issued, shall first determine such a maximum price (exclusive of any adjustment charges), and to that price he may add an adjustment charge in the same dollar-and-cents amount as the adjustment authorized by this order for, and which he has paid to his supplier. To find his maximum price (exclusive of adjustment charges) for this purpose, the reseller shall add to his invoice cost, less the adjustment charge stated on that invoice, the same percentage mark-up which he has on the "most comparable article" for which he has a properly established maximum price. For this purpose, the "most comparable article" is one which meets all of the following tests:

(1) It belongs to the narrowest trade category which includes the article being priced.

(2) Both it and the article being priced were purchased from the same class of supplier.

(3) Both it and the article being priced belong to a class of articles to which, according to customary trade practices, an approximately uniform percentage mark-up is applied.

(4) Its net replacement cost is nearest to the net cost of the article being priced.

The determination of a maximum price in this way need not be reported to the Office of Price Administration; however, each seller must keep complete records showing all the information called for by OPA Form 620–759 with regard to how he determined his maximum price, for so long as the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended, remains in effect.

(c) If the maximum resale price cannot be determined under the above methods, the reseller shall apply to the Office of Price Administration for the establishment of a maximum under § 1499.3 (c) of the General Maximum Price Regulation. Maximum prices established under that section will reflect the supplier's prices as adjusted in accordance with this order.

SEC. 5. Invoices and price lists. Every manufacturer or reseller making a sale to a purchaser for resale of an article at a maximum price which has been adjusted in accordance with section 3 (a) or 3 (b) of this order in the case of a manufacturer, or in accordance with section 4 (a) or 4 (b) in the case of any other seller, shall:

(a) Furnish an invoice for each sale on which the amount of the adjustment charge authorized by those sections is separately stated, or,

(b) Furnish a price list which separately states both his unadjusted maximum prices and his adjusted maximum prices as authorized by this order.

SEC. 6. Terms of sale. Maximum prices adjusted by this order are subject to each seller's customary terms, discounts, allowances and other price differentials on sales to each class of purchaser.

SEC. 7. Notification. At the time of, or prior to, the first invoice to a purchaser for resale showing a maximum price determined in accordance with the terms of this order, the seller shall notify the purchaser in writing of the method established in section 4 for determining adjusted maximum prices for resale of mechanics' hand service tools covered by this order. This notice may be given in any convenient form.

SEC. 8. Relationship of this order to Maximum Price Regulation No. 188 and the General Maximum Price Regulation. The provisions of this order supersede the provisions of Maximum Price Regulation No. 188 and the General Maximum Price Regulation only to the extent that they are inconsistent with the provisions of those regulations.

SEC. 9. Revocation or amendment. This order may be revoked or amended by the Price Administrator at any time.

SEC. 10. Effective date. This order shall become effective on the 7th day of May 1946.

NOTE: All reporting requirements of this order have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

(b) A reseller who did not have a properly established maximum price in effect before this order was issued, shall first determine such a maximum price (exclusive of any adjustment charges), and to that price he may add an adjustment charge in the same dollar-and-cents amounts as the adjustment authorized by this order for, and which he has paid to, his supplier. To find his maximum price (exclusive of adjustment charges) for this purpose, the reseller shall add to his invoice cost, less the adjustment charge stated on that invoice, the same percentage mark-up which he has on the "most comparable article" for which he has a properly established maximum price. (c) If the maximum resale price cannot be determined under the above methods the reseller shall apply to the Office of Price Administration for the establishment of a maximum price under § 1499.3 (c) of the General Maximum Price Regulation. Maximum prices established under that section will reflect the supplier's prices as adjusted in accordance with this order.

SEC. 5. Invoices and price lists. Every manufacturer or reseller making a sale to a purchaser for resale of an article at a maximum price which has been adjusted in accordance with sections 3 (a) or 3 (b) of this order in the case of a manufacturer, or in accordance with section 4 (a) or 4 (b) in the case of any other seller, shall:

(a) Furnish an invoice for each sale on which the amount of the adjustment charge authorized by those sections is separately stated, or,

(b) Furnish a price list which separately states both his unadjusted maximum prices and his adjusted maximum prices as authorized by this order.

SEC. 6. Terms of sale. Maximum prices adjusted by this order are subject to each seller's customary terms, discounts, allowances and other price differentials on sales to each class of purchaser.

SEC. 7. Notification. At the time of, or prior to, the first invoice to a purchaser for resale showing a maximum price determined in accordance with the terms of this order, the seller shall notify the purchaser in writing of the method established in section 4 for determining adjusted maximum prices for resales of hand cutting tools covered by this order. This notice may be given in any convenient form.

SEC. 8. Relationship of this order to Maximum Price Regulation No. 188 and the General Maximum Price Regulation. The provisions of this order supersede the provisions of Maximum Price Regulation No. 188 and the General Maximum Price Regulation only to the extent that they are inconsistent with the provisions of those regulations.

PART 944—REGULATIONS APPLICABLE TO THE OPERATION OF THE PRIORITIES SYSTEM

LUMBER AND MILLWORK

The fulfilment of requirements for the defense of the United States has created a shortage in the supply of lumber and millwork for defense, for private account and for export; and the following order is deemed necessary and appropriate in the public interest and to promote the national defense.

(a) What this direction does. Priorities Regulation 33 and Direction 8 to Priorities Regulation 33 provide for the assignment to builders and prefabricators of priorities assistance to secure materials listed on Schedule A of PR 33 and List 1 of Direction 8 to PR 33 which are required for use in the Veterans' Emergency Housing Program. Among these items are lumber and millwork. This direction provides that sawmills shall produce a percentage of their total production for certified orders from distributors, millwork manufacturers, hardwood flooring manufacturers, prefabricators, and housing contractors. It applies to sawmills that produce 8,000 or more board feet of softwood lumber or 8,000 or more board feet of softwood and hardwood lumber or 4,000 or more board feet of hardwood lumber per average day, and to lumber distributors, millwork manufacturers, hardwood flooring manufacturers, prefabricators, and housing contractors, who sell or use housing construction lumber or hardwood flooring lumber. It explains how lumber distributors, millwork manufacturers, hardwood flooring manufacturers, prefabricators, and housing contractors may obtain lumber for housing construction and that such lumber, or products in which it is incorporated, must be delivered on orders rated HH.

Definitions

(b) Definitions for the purpose of this direction. (1) "Lumber" means any sawed lumber of any species, size or grade, including rough, surfaced on one or more sides or edges, dressed and matched, shiplapped, worked to pattern, or grooved for splines, except (i) shingles, slabs and round edge lumber; (ii) mine and railway cross ties nine feet or less in length; (iii) any segment of a log which has been produced so that it can be converted into veneer and which is sold and used for that purpose.

(2) "Distributor" means any person who buys and stocks lumber for resale as lumber either at wholesale or retail. A distributor who has two or more distinct and separate yards must for the purpose of this direction, consider each yard a "distributor".

(3) "Housing construction lumber" means softwood flooring, ceiling, siding, partition, casing, base, moulding, strips and boards, two-inch dimension, finish, shop and lath.

(4) "Millwork" means windows, sash, doors, window and door screens, cut stock for foregoing items, trim, mouldings, built-in kitchen cabinets and other built-in millwork items suitable for authorized housing construction under Priorities Regulation 33.

(5) "Hardwood flooring lumber" means Grades 2 and 3a, rough in all thicknesses of Oak, Pecan and Beech, in 4/4 and 8/4 thicknesses of Hard Maple and 4/4 and thinner thicknesses in Birch.

(6) "Sawmill" means: (i) any mill or plant, stationary or portable, which currently produces 8,000 or more board feet of softwood lumber or 8,000 or more board feet of softwood and hardwood lumber per average day of eight hours of continuous operation or which produced an average of 8,000 or more board feet of softwood lumber or 8,000 or more board feet of softwood and hardwood lumber per day during the days in the year 1945 on which it was in operation; (ii) any mill or plant, stationary or portable, which currently produces 4,000 or more board feet of hardwood lumber per average day of eight hours of continuous operation or which produced an average of 4,000 or more board feet of hardwood lumber during the days in the year 1945 on which it was in operation; and (iii) any concentration yard or plant which processes (by drying, resawing, edging, grading, sorting, planing, or otherwise) 25 percent or more of the total volume of logs and lumber which it receives, into an item which is defined as lumber.

(7) "Housing contractor" means a builder (applicant) who has been directly assigned an HH rating under Priorities Regulation 33. It also includes a general contractor who has been directly authorized by such a builder to use the HH rating for the whole job. It does not include a subcontractor authorized to use the HH rating for a part of the job.

(8) "Millwork manufacturer" means a person who consumes softwood lumber in the manufacture of millwork.

(9) "Hardwood flooring manufacturer" means a person who consumes hardwood flooring lumber in the manufacture of standard hardwood flooring.

(10) "Office wholesaler" means a person who buys lumber for resale but does not stock lumber.

(11) "Certified order" is any order for the delivery of lumber bearing the certificate described in paragraph (j).

(13) "Jobber" means a person who buys and stocks millwork or hardwood flooring for resale at wholesale.

(14) "Prefabricator" means a person engaged in the manufacture of prefabricated houses, panels or sections who has been directly given priorities assistance on Form CPA-4415 to build prefabricated houses, panels or sections.

Sawmills

(c) Sawmill reserve production. The following provisions will govern the amount of housing construction lumber sawmills shall produce and reserve for certified orders.

(1) Each sawmill as described in paragraph (b) (6) above shall reserve in his total over-all production of lumber in footage for the month of February, 1946, and for each calendar month thereafter, time and supplies sufficient to produce and deliver on certified orders, within such month, at least 40 per cent of his expected monthly production of softwood lumber in the form of housing construction lumber, and 100 per cent of the Grades 2 and 3a rough, in all thicknesses of Oak and Pecan; 100 percent of Grades 2 and 3a, rough, in 4/4 and 8/4 thicknesses of Hard Maple; 25 percent of Grades 2 and 3a, rough, in all thicknesses of Beech; and 25 percent of Grades 2 and 3a, rough, in 4/4 and thinner thicknesses of Birch.

The Civilian Production Administration may, from time to time, change such percentages by publication in the Federal Register prior to the first day of any month.

(2) Any sawmill lacking facilities to manufacture his production into housing construction items listed in paragraph (b) (3), may count as part of his 40 per cent reserve production requirement, such 3-inch and thicker dimension and timber as he may make for delivery on certified orders which provide for the delivery of 3" and thicker pieces to a plant operated for the purposes of manufacturing such dimension and timber into housing construction lumber.

(3) This direction does not prevent the free movement of softwood or hardwood lumber between sawmills. However, a sawmill that delivers all or any part of his lumber to another sawmill must still manufacture the percentage required under paragraph (c) (1) above of his softwood or hardwood production into housing construction lumber or hardwood flooring lumber. A sawmill receiving housing construction lumber or hardwood flooring lumber from another sawmill must hold such lumber for sale on certified orders in addition to his own reserve production. A sawmill delivering housing construction lumber or hardwood flooring lumber to another sawmill may credit against his reserve production under paragraph (c) (1) above the amount of housing construction lumber or hardwood flooring lumber so delivered.

(4) Every sawmill must hold his reserve production for certified orders as described in paragraph (c) (7) below and must accept and ship such certified orders for delivery in that month in preference to all other orders (except orders rated AAA) to the extent that such certified orders do not require more than the sawmill's monthly reserve production.

(5) When a sawmill has accepted certified orders to the extent of his monthly reserve production of housing construction lumber, he may not require any customer to furnish a certified order as a condition of filling an order for lumber.

(6) Any quantities of lumber produced which, by the 20th day of any month in which production is reserved, are not required to fill certified orders received before that time may be delivered by the sawmill as he may desire subject to all applicable regulations and orders of the Civilian Production Administration.

(7) Certified orders. The following types of certified orders placed with the sawmill will be accorded the treatment provided for in paragraph (c) (4) above, and shipments on such orders may be credited against the percentage the sawmill is required to produce and reserve each month: Certified orders from (i) distributors; (ii) millwork manufacturers; (iii) hardwood flooring manufacturers; (iv) housing contractors; (v) office wholesalers; (vi) prefabricators.

Distributors

(d) Distributors. The following provisions tell how lumber distributors may place certified orders for housing construction lumber and how lumber so obtained may be sold:

(1) Any distributor may place certified orders for delivery each month starting with the month of February, 1946 for housing construction lumber with a sawmill, a distributor who sells at wholesale or an office wholesaler for one of the following amounts whichever is greater: (i) an amount of housing construction lumber not exceeding 5 per cent of the amount in footage of his inventory of all softwood lumber as of January 1, 1942 or; (ii) an amount of housing construction lumber equal to the total amount of housing construction lumber called for by orders rated HH and certified orders from prefabricators accepted by him for delivery in the month in which delivery is requested of the sawmill; or (iii) two carloads of housing construction lumber in any calendar quarter at the rate of not more than one carload in any month of the quarter.

(2) Every distributor must hold the lumber received on certified orders for sale only on certified orders or orders rated HH or AAA. Any quantities of lumber received on certified orders which, at the end of a period of 60 days after receipt, are not required to fill certified orders or HH or AAA rated orders received before that time may be delivered by the distributor as he may desire subject to all applicable regulations and orders of the Civilian Production Administration.

(3) A distributor who has made delivery of housing construction lumber from his inventory on certified orders from another distributor may place certified orders with a sawmill to replace it in his inventory. The distributor must hold the lumber received on such orders as provided in paragraph (d) (2) above.

Millwork Manufacturers

(e) Millwork manufacturers. The following provisions tell how millwork manufacturers may place with the sawmill certified orders for housing construction lumber and how such lumber shall be used, and the millwork sold:

(1) Any millwork manufacturer may place certified orders for delivery in each month starting with the month of February 1946 for housing construction lumber with a sawmill or an office wholesaler for an amount in footage not exceeding 5 per cent of the amount in footage of softwood lumber consumed by him in the manufacture of millwork in the year 1940.

(2) A millwork manufacturer must use each month a quantity of lumber equal to all housing construction lumber received on certified orders for the manufacture of millwork; 75 per cent of the amount of the millwork so manufactured must be held for sale on certified orders from a jobber or prefabricator or on orders rated HH or AAA. Any quantities of millwork manufactured which, at the end of a period of 60 days after completion, are not required to fill certified orders or orders rated HH or AAA before that time, may be delivered by the millwork manufacturer as he may desire subject to all applicable regulations and orders of the Civilian Production Administration.

Hardwood Flooring Manufacturers

(f) Hardwood flooring manufacturers. The following provisions tell how hardwood flooring manufacturers may place with a sawmill certified orders for hardwood flooring lumber and how such lumber shall be used and the hardwood flooring sold:

(1) Hardwood flooring manufacturers may place certified orders for delivery each month starting with the month of February 1946 with a sawmill or with an office wholesaler for hardwood flooring lumber for an amount in footage not to exceed 6 percent of the amount of footage of hardwood lumber consumed in the manufacture of hardwood flooring in the year 1940.

(2) A hardwood flooring manufacturer must use each month a quantity of lumber equal to all hardwood flooring lumber received on certified orders for the manufacture of hardwood flooring. 75 percent of the amount of hardwood flooring so manufactured must be held for sale on certified orders from a jobber or prefabricator or on orders rated HH or AAA. Any quantities of hardwood flooring manufactured which at the end of a period of 60 days after completion are not required to fill certified orders or orders rated HH or AAA received before that time, may be delivered by the hardwood flooring manufacturer as he may desire subject to all applicable regulations and orders of the Civilian Production Administration.

Housing Contractors

(g) Housing contractors. The following provisions tell how a housing contractor may place with a sawmill or office wholesaler certified orders for housing construction lumber:

(1) A housing contractor who has an HH rating may apply the HH rating on orders for housing construction lumber to a distributor, or he may place certified orders for delivery each month starting with the month of February 1946 with a sawmill or with an office wholesaler for housing construction lumber for an amount in footage not in excess of the total lumber required to meet his construction schedule for housing for which he has received authorization to use the preference rating HH. Certified orders may be placed with a sawmill or with an office wholesaler for housing construction lumber only to the extent that rated orders have not been placed with distributors for authorized amounts. The housing contractor must not specify delivery dates on certified orders or HH rated orders more than 30 days before the time that the housing construction lumber is needed for incorporation into housing. Furthermore, the housing contractor must not place certified orders or HH rated orders for housing construction lumber in which is specified a delivery date later than during the third calendar month after the time when the purchase order was placed.

(2) The housing contractor must use the housing construction lumber obtained on certified orders in the construction of housing for which the HH rating was authorized.

Office Wholesalers

(h) Office wholesalers. The following provisions tell how office wholesalers may place certified orders for housing construction lumber and how lumber so obtained may be sold:

(1) An office wholesaler receiving certified orders from a distributor, millwork manufacturer, hardwood flooring manufacturer, prefabricator or housing contractor may place certified orders with the sawmill for an amount of housing construction lumber or hardwood flooring lumber not in excess of the amount called for by the certified orders which he has received.

Integrated Sawmills

(i) Sawmills that are also prefabricators, millwork or hardwood flooring manufacturers. If a person engaged in operating a sawmill is also engaged in manufacturing millwork, hardwood flooring, or prefabricated housing he may transfer housing construction lumber or hardwood flooring lumber from his sawmill to his manufacturing operation provided that as a prefabricator or millwork manufacturer or a hardwood flooring manufacturer he is permitted to place monthly certified orders for housing construction lumber or hardwood flooring lumber. The transfer from the sawmill must be treated as delivery on a certified order and he must keep records of the transfer in his sawmill files and endorse the appropriate certificate on his records.

A person making a transfer permitted in the above paragraph must use or dispose of the housing construction lumber or hardwood flooring lumber transferred to millwork or hardwood flooring manufacturing operation in conformity with the applicable paragraphs of this direction.

Certification on Orders

(j) Certification on orders. To certify an order for housing construction lumber or hardwood flooring lumber or millwork or hardwood flooring under this direction, the following certificate must be endorsed on or attached to the purchase order, sales ticket or other order calling for the delivery of housing construction lumber or hardwood flooring lumber or millwork or hardwood flooring. Certificates must be signed manually or as explained in Priorities Regulation 7. However, the standard form described in that regulation may not be used in place of the certificate described in this direction. The certification required by this direction may not be waived under paragraph (f) of Priorities Regulation 7. Orders placed verbally must be confirmed immediately and the confirmation must bear the appropriate certificate. The certificate must be substantially as follows:

The undersigned certifies to the supplier and to the Civilian Production Administration that he is a ——— (Distributor, millwork manufacturer, hardwood flooring manufacturer, prefabricator, housing contractor, office wholesaler, or jobber) and that the quantities of housing construction lumber or hardwood flooring lumber or millwork or hardwood flooring covered by this order (together with all other certified orders for the particular material for delivery in the month specified in this order) do not exceed the amount permitted under Direction 1 to Priorities Regulation 33 with the provisions of which he is familiar.

Date_____ _____

(k) Jobbers. The following provisions tell how a jobber may secure a stock of millwork or hardwood flooring by placing orders for delivery in the months of February, March and April, 1946, and how the millwork and hardwood flooring must be sold:

(1) A jobber may place certified orders for delivery in the months of February, March and April 1946 with a millwork or hardwood flooring manufacturer for millwork or hardwood flooring in a total amount not in excess of 10 per cent of the amount of his receipts of millwork in units, pieces or footage or hardwood flooring in the calendar year 1940. Certified orders placed by jobbers for delivery prior to April 30, 1946 on which shipments have not been made by that date may be filled by the millwork or hardwood flooring manufacturer by shipment during the month of May, 1946.

(2) Every jobber must hold the millwork or hardwood flooring received on certified orders for sale only on orders rated HH or AAA. Any quantities of millwork or hardwood flooring received on certified orders which at the end of a period of 60 days after receipt are not required to fill HH or AAA rated orders received before that time, may be delivered by the jobber as he may desire subject to all applicable regulations and orders of the Civilian Production Administration.

Prefabricators

(l) Prefabricators. The following provisions tell how a prefabricator may place orders for housing construction lumber, millwork or hardwood flooring:

(1) A prefabricator may place certified orders for housing construction lumber with a sawmill, distributor or office wholesaler, for millwork with a millwork manufacturer, and for hardwood flooring with a hardwood flooring manufacturer, for an amount not in excess of the total amount of housing construction lumber, millwork or hardwood flooring required to meet a quarterly production schedule for prefabricated houses, panels or sections for which he has received priorities assistance on Form CPA-4415. A prefabricator must not specify delivery dates (at plant or warehouse) on certified orders more than 30 days before the time the housing construction lumber, millwork or hardwood flooring is needed for incorporation into the prefabricated houses, panels or sections. Furthermore, a prefabricator must not place certified orders for housing construction lumber, millwork or hardwood flooring in which is specified a delivery date later than during the third calendar month after the time when his purchase order is placed.

(2) A prefabricator must use the housing construction lumber, millwork or hardwood flooring obtained on certified orders for the construction of prefabricated houses, panels or sections to be sold on orders rated HH.

(3) A prefabricator may not apply or extend an HH rating for housing construction lumber, millwork or hardwood flooring.

Newcomers

(m) Persons not established as distributors, millwork manufacturers or hardwood flooring manufacturers. (1) Any person who was not on January 1, 1942 a lumber distributor and wants permission to place monthly certified orders for an amount of housing construction lumber in excess of two carloads of housing construction lumber in any calendar quarter at the rate of not more than one carload in any month of the quarter, may apply by letter to the Civilian Production Administration.

(2) Any person who was not, in the year 1940, a jobber or a millwork or hardwood flooring manufacturer, and wants to place monthly certified orders may apply by letter to the Civilian Production Administration.

(3) Any person applying by letter under subparagraph (1) or (2) above should state how much housing construction lumber or hardwood flooring lumber or millwork or hardwood flooring he needs each month, proximity of his place of business to similar businesses, and any other information to help the Civilian Production Administration decide what amount of housing construction lumber or millwork or hardwood flooring or hardwood flooring lumber is needed by him to engage in business. Such application will be processed in an equitable manner.

Miscellaneous

(n) The following provisions generally affecting sawmills, distributors, millwork manufacturers, hardwood flooring manufacturers, prefabricators, housing contractors, jobbers and office wholesalers, should be carefully read:

(1) Validation of orders. Any distributor, millwork manufacturer, hardwood flooring manufacturer, prefabricator, or housing contractor who has placed an uncertified order with a sawmill and is later authorized to place a certified order may validate the order by giving the sawmill the certificate that he is entitled to use. Any order that is validated subsequent to January 15, 1946, should be treated as though the order was placed on the date that the certificate was received by the sawmill.

(2) Applicability of regulations. Except as otherwise required by this direction, Priorities Regulations 1 and 3 continue to govern the use of ratings and the acceptance, scheduling and filling of orders placed with distributors and sawmills. All other applicable regulations and orders of the Civilian Production Administration must be observed where not inconsistent with this direction.

(3) Violations. Any person who wilfully violates any provision of this direction or who, in connection with this direction, wilfully conceals a material fact or furnishes false information to any department or agency of the United States, is guilty of a crime and upon conviction may be punished by fine or imprisonment. In addition, any such person may be prohibited from making or obtaining further deliveries of, or from processing or using, material under priority control and may be deprived of priorities assistance.

(4) Extension of preference ratings. The rating HH may not be applied or extended to a sawmill as defined in paragraph (b)(6) above for lumber. However, where a person has received an HH rated order for the delivery of housing construction lumber, millwork or hardwood flooring, he may extend the HH rating to his suppliers, except to a sawmill as defined in paragraph (b)(6) above to get the housing construction lumber, millwork (or housing construction lumber to be incorporated in millwork) or hardwood flooring which he will deliver on that order subject to applicable inventory regulations. If a person has made delivery of housing construction lumber, millwork or hardwood flooring on an HH rated order, he may extend the HH rating to his suppliers except to a sawmill as defined in paragraph (b)(6) above to replace it in his inventory subject to applicable inventory regulations.

(5) Reports. Every person shall file with the Civilian Production Administration, or any other federal agency, through which the Civilian Production Administration may distribute housing construction lumber, such reports and questionnaires as the Civilian Production Administration or such other agency may from time to time require subject to the approval of the Bureau of the Budget pursuant to the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

(6) Appeals. Any appeal from the provisions of this direction should be made by mailing a letter in triplicate to the Civilian Production Administration, Forest Products Division, Washington 25, D. C., Ref.: Direction 1 to Priorities Regulation 33 stating the particular provision appealed from and stating fully the grounds for the appeal.

(7) Communications. All communications unless otherwise directed must be addressed as follows: Civilian Production Administration, Forest Products Division, Washington 25, D. C.

PART 944—REGULATIONS APPLICABLE TO THE OPERATION OF THE PRIORITIES SYSTEM

[Priorities Reg. 32, as Amended May 8, 1946]

INVENTORIES

(a) What this regulation does.

General Restrictions

(b) Restriction on delivery.
(c) Restrictions on receipts.
(d) Restriction on ordering more than needed.
(e) Adjusting outstanding orders when requirements change.
(f) Restriction on processing.

Exceptions

(g) In general.
(h) Receipts permitted after contract cancellations or cut-backs.

Miscellaneous Provisions

(i) Previous inventory authorizations.
(j) Separate inventories.
(k) Redistribution of excess inventories.
(l) Violations.
(m) Revisions of tables.
(n) Appeals, letters and questions.

§ 944.53 Priorities Regulation 32—(a) What this regulation does. This regulation contains the inventory rules formerly in § 944.14 of Priorities Regulation 1 and in CMP Regulation 2. Its purpose is to prevent excessive inventories by restricting ordering, deliveries, receipts and processing of materials in short supply. All kinds of materials are covered including raw or semi-fabricated materials, commodities, equipment, accessories, parts, assemblies or products of any kind, whether or not acquired with priorities assistance.

The general rule on receipts is in paragraph (c) (1), and this is controlling unless a more specific limitation or exception is indicated in Table 1 or 2 or a direction to this regulation, or unless Table 3 (formerly Order M-161) exempts the material entirely. Other exceptions to the inventory limitations are stated in paragraphs (g) and (h) and in directions to this regulation.

General Restrictions

(b) Restriction on delivery. No person may deliver any material if he knows or has reason to believe that acceptance of the delivery would be in violation of this regulation.

NOTE: For rule on making or delivering material earlier than required by customers, see Interpretation 3.

(c) Restrictions on receipts—(1) General rule. A person may not accept delivery of any material if his inventory of that material is, or will be, more than a practicable minimum working inventory reasonably necessary to meet his own deliveries or to supply his services on the basis of his current or scheduled method and rate of operation.

NOTE: For rule on when material is considered to be in inventory, see Interpretation 4; for rule as to seasonal industries, see Interpretation 1.

(2) Special rules in Tables 1 and 2. If Table 1 at the end of this regulation shows a special inventory limit on a particular material or product (either specifically or by reference to another CPA order or regulation), that limitation governs and the restrictions of paragraph (c) (1) above may be disregarded unless the applicable order or regulation (or a note in Table 1) also states that a practicable minimum working inventory may not be exceeded. The same is true with respect to particular classes of persons shown on Table 2. Where a specific period of time is shown on Table 1 or 2, no person affected may accept delivery of any material specified if his inventory of it is, or will be, more than he needs during the immediate period specified on the basis of his current or scheduled method and rate of operation. Even if an order or regulation is not listed on Table 1 or 2, any specific inventory limits imposed by it must be complied with. If an order or regulation listed on Table 1 or 2 is revoked or a listing removed from the tables all provisions of this regulation, including paragraph (c) (1), are automatically applicable.

(3) Early delivery of steel, iron products, copper and copper base alloys. Early delivery, up to 15 days before the requested delivery month, may be accepted from a producer of steel, iron products, copper or copper base alloys (in the forms listed on Table 1), but the producer may not make the early delivery if it would interfere with any rated orders. Other special rules on these materials are explained in Table 1.

(d) Restriction on ordering more than needed. (1) A person may not place any order, whether rated or unrated, for delivery of any material on earlier dates or in larger amounts than he would be permitted to receive under this regulation. Orders aggregating more than he is allowed to receive may not be placed with different suppliers even though he intends to cancel one or more of them before delivery. However, this restriction does not apply to materials listed on Table 3 of this regulation nor to purchases by ultimate consumers for personal or household use. The restriction does not forbid the placing of orders for delivery under the conditions explained in Interpretation 11 to Priorities Regulation 1, but such orders may not be scheduled for production as long as this restriction is effective.

(2) This restriction does not require immediate adjustment of orders placed before August 28, 1945. However, in view of its policy to prevent hoarding and speculative buying of materials in short supply, the CPA may direct adjustments or cancellations in individual cases where orders are in excess of reasonably anticipated needs especially where failure to do so might result in unbalanced distribution and curtail total production.

(3) If the inventory limits applying to any material are made more restrictive, whether by a change in Table 1 or otherwise, any person affected must immediately cancel, reduce or defer any order for the material to the extent that the scheduled delivery would result in an inventory greater than permitted by the new restriction and other applicable provisions of this regulation.

(e) Adjusting outstanding orders when requirements change. If because of a change in operations, slowing or stoppage of production, delayed delivery by a supplier, or any other change in requirements, a person who has ordered material for future delivery would, if he accepted delivery on the date specified, exceed the limits prescribed by this regulation, he must promptly adjust his outstanding orders, and, if necessary, postpone or cancel them. Paragraph (h) below describes what further deliveries may be accepted.

(f) Restriction on processing. No person may process, fabricate, alloy or otherwise alter the shape or form of any material if his inventory of the material in its processed, fabricated, alloyed or otherwise altered shape or form is, or will be, more than a practicable minimum working inventory. However, this does not restrict a person from altering the form of surplus materials by scrapping or reprocessing them, unless a CPA order specifically says otherwise. The CPA may issue directions to Priorities Regulation 32 or other orders that are more restrictive on processing than the general limitations of this paragraph. In such case, these more restrictive directions or orders control instead of the general restrictions of the paragraph.

Exceptions

(g) In general. This paragraph, paragraph (h) below, and certain directions to this regulation state general exceptions to the restrictions on acceptance of delivery described in paragraph (c) above, and to all other inventory restrictions on delivery and acceptance of delivery in CPA orders and regulations unless they contain specific provisions to the contrary. None of these or any other exceptions to CPA inventory restrictions on receipts permit a supplier to disregard any applicable CPA order or regulation which restricts production or delivery.

(1) Exemption of Table 3 materials. Materials listed on Table 3 at the end of this regulation may be delivered and accepted without regard to CPA inventory restrictions.

(2) Materials bought under PR-13. Priorities Regulation 13 provides a limited exemption from inventory restrictions in the case of items bought on special sales.

(3) Imported materials. A person may import any material without regard to CPA inventory restrictions, but if his inventory of it thereby becomes in excess of the amount permitted by this regulation, he may not receive further deliveries of it from domestic sources until his inventory is reduced to permitted levels. The inventory restrictions of this regulation do apply to any deliveries of the imported material he makes, and to the amount of it that any person accepting delivery from him may receive.

(4) Advance stockpiling for civilian production. A person may receive in anticipation of starting or resuming civilian production the minimum amount of material he would need during the first 30 days of such production, provided no priorities assistance is used to get the material. Records of such receipts and the basis on which they were computed must be preserved as required by § 944.15 of Priorities Regulation 1. This 30-day amount is a ceiling as far as advance stockpiling is concerned, and may not be considered as a "bonus" to be added to the amount of any material which a producer expects to have available for making his civilian product. Changes in this 30-day amount may be indicated for a particular material by a note in Table 1.

(5) Minimum sale quantities. Minimum sale quantities and production runs may be accepted to the extent permitted by Interpretation 2 to this Regulation. However, where Column 3 of Table 1 shows a specific amount of a particular material, that is considered to be the minimum sale quantity of it. Thus, if a person would be permitted under paragraph (c) to accept less than the amount shown, he may accept delivery of the full amount. In any event, after receiving a minimum sale quantity of any material, a person may not accept delivery of any additional quantities until his inventory of it is within applicable limits.

(6) Small inventory exemption for particular materials. If a note in Table 1 or 2 shows a specific amount of a particular material as a small inventory exemption, a person may accept delivery of any quantities of it as long as his total inventory of it after acceptance is no more than the specified amount.

(h) Receipts permitted after adjustment of orders. Where a person has promptly adjusted his outstanding orders with his supplier as required by paragraph (e) and the supplier is not otherwise prohibited from producing or delivering any material involved, delivery of it may be made and accepted and the inventory restrictions of paragraph (c) exceeded to the following extent only:

(1) Delivery may be made and accepted if the supplier has shipped the material or loaded it for shipment before the receipt of the instruction to adjust; or

(2) Delivery may be made and accepted of any special item which the supplier actually has in stock or in production or special components or special materials which he has acquired for the purpose of filling that contract. A special item, as used above, means one that the supplier does not usually make, stock, or sell, and which cannot readily be disposed of to others; or

(3) Even if the material is not a special item, delivery may be made by and accepted from a producer if it has already been produced or is in production before receipt of the instruction to adjust, and it cannot be used to fill other orders on the producer's books. However, in the case of steel processed beyond the slab, billet or sheet bar stage before receipt of the instruction to adjust, producers are not required to examine other orders on their books. In this case, unless otherwise ordered by the CPA, deliveries may be made and accepted if the producer cannot readily dispose of the material to others without loss of production.

NOTE: For special rules on continuing receipts of special items after contract cut backs, see Direction 3 to this regulation; and as to transfers of idle materials after cancellations or cut backs, see Direction 1. For effect of reduction in consumption rate on permitted inventories, see Interpretation 5.

Miscellaneous Provisions

(i) Previous inventory authorizations. Any specific authorizations, exceptions, or grants of appeals issued under § 944.14 of Priorities Regulation 1 or CMP Regulation 2 remain in effect according to their terms unless individually modified or revoked.

(j) Separate inventories. (1) In figuring his inventory, a person must include all material in his possession and all material held for his account by another person, but not material held by him for the account of another person.

(2) In the case of a person who on August 28, 1945, has more than one operating unit and keeps separate inventory records for them, this regulation applies to each such operating unit or division independently. A person may not make any further separation or consolidation of such operating units without special written approval of the Civilian Production Administration, unless it is purely incidental to a separation or consolidation which is made primarily for other than inventory purposes.

(k) Redistribution of excess inventories. Excess inventories of materials and products, including inventories of materials which are in such form as to be unusable by the holder, are subject to redistribution to other persons by voluntary action pursuant to Priorities Regulation 13, or if necessary for national defense, through requisitioning by the Civilian Production Administration.

(l) Violations. Any person who willfully violates any provision of this regulation, or who, in connection with this regulation, willfully conceals a material fact, or furnishes false information to any department or agency of the United States is guilty of a crime, and upon conviction may be punished by fine or imprisonment. In addition, any such person may be prohibited from making or obtaining further deliveries of, or from processing or using, material under priority control and may be deprived of priorities assistance.

(m) Revisions of tables. Tables 1, 2 and 3, attached to this regulation will be revised from time to time. As materials and products become in more ample supply, it is expected that they will be listed on Table 3. In special cases, particular materials or products may also be removed from Table 3 or added to Table 1. It is, therefore, important to be familiar with the latest revision of the tables.

(n) Appeals, letters and questions. Any appeal or other question regarding any provision of this regulation should be sent by letter in duplicate to the Inventory Control Division, Civilian Production Administration, Washington 25, D. C., Ref.: PR 32, unless Table 1 or 2 attached to this regulation indicates otherwise with respect to particular materials or classes of persons.

Issued this 8th day of May 1946.

TABLE 1—MATERIALS AND PRODUCTS SUBJECT TO SPECIFIC INVENTORY PROVISIONS

Explanation. Materials or products listed in Column 1 are subject to the specific inventory provisions shown, as explained in paragraph (c) (2) of the regulation, except to the extent that different rules may apply as to certain classes of persons under Table 2.

Column 2 shows either the CPA order or regulation which controls inventories of the material, or if no order is specified, there is shown a period of time representing the maximum inventory permitted as explained in paragraph (c) (2). An asterisk (*) indicates that the practicable minimum working inventory limit of paragraph (c) (1) also applies, that is, if it would be less than the specific limit indicated.

If Column 2 shows a specific period of time (e. g., 30 days, 60 days, etc.) for a particular material or product, this restriction applies only to "users" of that material or product, i. e., persons, including Government operated consuming establishments, who use the material or product for production, operating supplies, maintenance and repair, or for construction whether for own account or for the account of another. In addition, the restriction applies only within the 48 States and the District of Columbia. In the case of persons who are not "users", such as persons buying for resale, paragraph (c) (1) applies instead of Column 2.

A figure in Column 3 shows the minimum sale quantity, that is, the amount of the particular material which a person may receive under the conditions stated in paragraph (g) (5), even if it is more than allowed under Column 2. If no figure is shown, the rule in Interpretation 2 must be followed.

Column 4 tells the Division or Office in the Civilian Production Administration to which should be sent any appeals or questions regarding the limitations described. However, if the applicable order says appeals are to be filed somewhere else, such as the nearest CPA field office, that provision controls.

Column 5 (Remarks) gives explanations, exemptions or other special rules applicable to the particular material or limitation.

TABLE 2—CLASSES OF PERSONS SUBJECT TO SPECIFIC INVENTORY PROVISIONS

Explanation. The classes of persons listed in Column 1 are subject to the specific inventory provisions shown, as explained in paragraph (c) (2) of the regulation.

Column 2 shows either the CPA order or regulation which controls the inventories of the particular class of persons, or if no order is specified, there is shown a period of time representing the maximum inventory permitted as explained in paragraph (c) (2). An asterisk (*) indicates that the practicable minimum working inventory limit of paragraph (c) (1) also applies, that is, it would be less than the specific limit indicated.

Column 3 tells the Division or Office in the Civilian Production Administration to which should be sent any appeals or questions regarding the limitations described. However, if the applicable order says appeals are to be filed somewhere else, such as the nearest CPA field office, that provision controls.

Column 4 (Remarks) gives explanations, exemptions or other special rules applicable to the particular class of persons or limitation. Where this column specifies certain materials, the limitation or exemption for the particular class of person applies only to the materials specified.

INVENTORIES IN SEASONAL INDUSTRIES

Paragraph (c) (1) of Priorities Regulation 32 prohibits any person from accepting a delivery which will give him "more than a practicable minimum working inventory reasonably necessary to meet his own deliveries on the basis of his current or scheduled method and rate of operation". This does not prevent a person engaged in a seasonal industry who normally stocks up inventory in advance of the season from accepting delivery of his requirements of the inventory in question, provided (a) that he is not guilty of hoarding, and (b) that the deliveries accepted are no greater and no further in advance than those which he would normally accept in the ordinary course of his business to meet reasonably anticipated requirements. (Issued Aug. 28, 1945.)

MINIMUM SALE QUANTITIES AND PRODUCTION RUNS

(a) Applicable provisions of the regulations. Priorities Regulation 32 forbids the making or acceptance of a delivery which will give the customer more than the "practicable minimum working inventory reasonably necessary" for him to make his own deliveries. A similar provision in paragraph (c) (2) of Priorities Regulation No. 3 says that a customer who is applying a rating for which no specific quantities have been authorized may use it only to get the "minimum amount needed."

(b) Factors to be considered in determining how much can be ordered and delivered. In determining a customer's minimum inventory "reasonably necessary" under Priorities Regulation 32 or his "minimum amount needed" under Priorities Regulation No. 3, it is proper in some cases to consider not only the immediate needs of the customer's plant but also whether the amount which he orders will be a minimum production run for his supplier. The customer may order and receive (and the supplier may deliver) the customer's requirements for a longer period in advance than he actually needs at the time of delivery if, but only if, it is not practicable for him to get the item from any supplier in the smaller quantities which he presently needs. The supplier may reject his customer's order if it is less than the minimum which he regularly sells or less than his minimum production run of a product which is mass produced under the conditions explained in Interpretation 3 of Priorities Regulation 1.

(c) Relief in exceptional cases. If the conditions stated in paragraph (b) above cannot be satisfied but the customer wants to order or accept delivery of more than his actual needs at the time of delivery, he should apply to the Civilian Production Administration for permission, stating the facts and why it is not practicable to satisfy the condition of paragraph (b)

(d) Special provisions for certain materials. Where a specific minimum sale quantity is shown in Column 3 of Table 1 of Priorities Regulation 32 with respect to any material or product, that quantity controls instead of the rule in this interpretation.

(e) Specific limits on ratings may not be exceeded. This interpretation does not apply to the use of a rating where a specific quantity is stated in the instrument assigning the rating. If a person is assigned a rating for a specific amount of material, he may not use it to get more. If he finds that he can only get the material in larger quantities, he should apply for a modification of the rating.

(f) No effect on contractual rights. The times and amounts in which deliveries are to be made are to be determined by agreement between the supplier and the customer. Nothing in this interpretation relieves a supplier from fulfilling a contract to make deliveries at specified times in specified amounts. For example, if a customer has agreed to buy and a supplier has agreed to furnish 100 units a month for six months, this interpretation does not obligate the buyer to accept 600 units delivered during the first month, although it permits him to do so under the conditions described in paragraph (b). (Issued Oct. 1, 1945.)

MAKING OR DELIVERING MATERIAL EARLIER THAN REQUIRED BY CUSTOMERS

(a) Paragraph (b) of Priorities Regulation 32 prohibits a person from knowingly making a delivery which will give his customer more than the latter is permitted to receive under the regulation. Paragraph (f) of that regulation prohibits a person from processing or fabricating material if his inventory of the material in its processed or fabricated form will be more than a practicable minimum working inventory. These two restrictions should be borne in mind by any supplier who wants to make or deliver any material to his customer earlier or in greater quantities than required by the customer.

(b) For example: A supplier has accepted his customer's order of a product to be delivered at the rate of 100 a month for six months. The supplier would like to ship 200 a month for three months, or perhaps the entire 600 in the first month. Since the customer's requirements of 100 a month are presumably all he could accept within the inventory limitations of paragraph (c) of the regulation, the requirement that the supplier may not knowingly ship more than this would prevent him from delivering earlier than required by his customer, unless he received notice from his customer that the receipt of the larger amount would not cause him to have an excess inventory.

(c) Thus, before delivering a material or product substantially earlier or in greater quantities than is called for by his customer's order, a supplier is required to satisfy himself that the receipt by the customer of the changed quantities will be within the permissible inventory limitations applicable to the customer. The supplier may rely on any statement or notice to this effect from his customer, unless he knows or has reason to know that it is false.

(d) Similarly, assuming his customer would not be permitted to receive the larger quantities, the supplier should take this into account in his plans for processing the material or product so that he himself will not have an inventory greater than permitted by paragraph (f) of the regulation.

(e) This interpretation, of course, does not change the rule on delivery or acceptance of minimum sale quantities or production runs to the extent described in Interpretation 2 to this regulation, nor does it prevent earlier delivery of iron products, steel, copper and copper base alloys under the conditions described in paragraph (c) (3) of Priorities Regulation 32. Also, if any CPA order or regulation permits increased deliveries to the extent necessary to avoid shipping partly filled containers (such as paragraph (y) (4) of Order M-300), the rule in this interpretation does not prevent such deliveries. (Issued Oct. 1, 1945.)

INVENTORY MATERIAL

(a) Paragraph (c) of Priorities Regulation 32 prohibits a person from accepting delivery of material if his inventory of it is, or will be, greater than the maximum prescribed. For the purpose of this regulation, material is considered to be inventory until it is actually put into process or is actually installed or assembled. Putting into process does not include minor initial operations, such as painting, and does not include any shearing, cutting, trimming or other operation unless such initial operations are part of a continuous fabricating or assembling operation. Nor does it include operations such as inspection, testing and ageing nor segregation or earmarking for a specific job or operation.

(b) For example, if a manufacturer who uses wire or rod cuts a sufficient quantity of it to length at one time to maintain his operations for a considerable period of time, the cut pieces remain as inventory until processed into another form or until assembled or installed.

(c) If a manufacturer purchases and stores steel castings in the form purchased, the steel castings are not put into process when the castings are painted and stored. Consequently the inventory of castings includes those painted and stored.

(d) If a manufacturer shears steel sheet and stocks in sheared form, such stock is still part of his inventory, if the material does not continue in production. (Issued Aug. 28, 1945)

EFFECT OF REDUCTION IN CONSUMPTION RATE ON PERMITTED INVENTORIES

(a) Paragraph (c) of Priorities Regulation 32 prohibits the acceptance of delivery of material if a person's inventory of it is, or will be, more than the amount permitted by the regulation. If material is acquired within these restrictions, the regulation does not prohibit the mere possession of an inventory if a change in circumstances makes it greater than the amount permitted. For instance, if based upon current rate of production a manufacturer's permitted inventory of one item of steel is 100 tons and he has in inventory 60 tons, he may receive a further delivery of 40 tons. If after receiving the delivery of 40 tons his rate of consumption, because of contract cancellation or the like, is reduced drastically, the mere fact that he has an inventory of 100 tons, although his permitted inventory may be only 10 tons, is not a violation of the regulation. He may not, of course, accept any further deliveries of that item of steel until his inventory has been reduced below 10 tons (except as provided in paragraph (h) of Priorities Regulation 32 and Direction 3 to that regulation, relating to material already shipped, special items, etc.)

(b) Similarly, the regulation does not affect the liability of a customer for material in inventory when the customer cancels his contract. Such liability is controlled by the provisions of the contract between the customer and his supplier and by contract law. (Issued Aug. 28, 1945)

PART 944—REGULATIONS APPLICABLE TO THE OPERATION OF THE PRIORITIES SYSTEM

[Priorities Reg. 32, Direction 9, as Amended May 8, 1946]

SPECIAL INVENTORY RESTRICTIONS FOR MANUFACTURERS OF CERTAIN APPAREL

The following amended direction is issued pursuant to Priorities Regulation 32:

(a) Purpose. This direction contains special inventory rules for manufacturers of certain apparel. Its purpose is to assure prompt and continuous deliveries of such products for distribution to consumers, by preventing the accumulation by manufacturers of inventories which would be excessive, in view of the extremely urgent need for the products by purchasers. These special rules are more specific than the general rules in Priorities Regulation 32, and are controlling. They apply whether or not the materials from which the products are made are acquired with priorities assistance. However, when the products are made from materials acquired with ratings assigned under Order M-328B, the specific rules in that order are controlling. When a particular situation or action is not covered either by the rules in this direction or those in Order M-328B, the general rules in Priorities Regulation 32 still apply.

(b) Restrictions on receipts of production materials. Receipts of fabric, yarn and other materials for making products on List A of this direction are limited to the quantities permitted under Priorities Regulation 22.

(c) Restrictions on processing. (1) No manufacturer of any products on List A may cut, process, or otherwise alter any finished fabric or yarn made of cotton, synthetic fiber or wool, or their blends, for use as body fabric, body lining, or any other purpose in making any of such listed products, if his inventory of the material in its cut, processed, or otherwise altered shape or form is, or will be, more than a practicable minimum working inventory. This limitation applies whether the manufacturer does his own processing or has it done for his account by others. He may not exceed it by causing or permitting avoidable delays in transportation, storage, or processing, nor by putting or having put into process quantities of material which would exceed it, or which would give him a quantity of partly processed material or partly finished products greater than that which he can assemble and complete into finished products under the rules in this direction.

(2) In addition, no manufacturer of any products on List A may cut, process, or otherwise alter any finished fabric or yarn made of cotton, synthetic fiber, or wool, or their blends, or have any other person do so for him, for use as body fabric or body lining or any other purpose in making any of such products, if his inventory of the finished products is, or will be, more than the smaller of the following:

(i) A practicable minimum working inventory, or

(ii) The quantity of that product which he produced during the period of time indicated in List A. (Where a manufacturer has not been making a product, this limitation in (c) (2) (ii) does not apply during the 30 calendar days after his initial production of that product has begun.)

(3) "Finished product" includes all products of the kinds on List A in a manufacturer's possession and all held for his account in a public warehouse or by any other person, on which the manufacturing processes have been completed, whether or not they have been sorted, pressed, labelled or packaged.

(4) In determining what is a practicable minimum working inventory of finished products, any inventory which is larger than that which a manufacturer has been maintaining in the immediate past (even where less than that permitted under paragraph (c) (2) (ii) above) is excessive, unless there are valid reasons why this is not so. For example, withholding of products in anticipation of increases in OPA ceiling prices is not a valid reason. Also, in the case of products which can be distributed very quickly by a manufacturer, an inventory not greater than the quantity produced in the period of a week or ten days may be a practicable minimum working inventory.

(5) If in any case a product on List A is designated on that list as a seasonal one, and a particular manufacturer must produce and stock it up in advance of the season because he is unable to make sales until the seasonal demand occurs, he may have an inventory larger than that specified in (c) (2) (ii) above, provided his inventory is no greater and is accumulated no further in advance than that which he would normally have in the ordinary course of his business to meet reasonably anticipated future seasonal requirements.

(6) The rules in this paragraph (c) apply for products on List A instead of the rule in paragraph (f) of Priorities Regulation 32.

(d) Other rules and regulations. The failure of a manufacturer to schedule his production in such a way that his finished products can be disposed of in accordance with applicable regulations of the Office of Price Administration and other governmental agencies does not relieve him from the restrictions in this direction.

(e) Adjusting purchase orders, production, and sales—(1) Outstanding orders. If because of a change in operations, slowing of production, delayed delivery by a supplier, or any other change in requirements, a manufacturer who has ordered material for future delivery would, if he accepted delivery on the date specified, exceed the limits prescribed by this direction (or by Priorities Regulation 32), he must promptly adjust his outstanding orders, and, if necessary, postpone or cancel them. Paragraph (h) of Priorities Regulation 32 describes what further deliveries may be accepted after his orders have been adjusted.

(2) Finished product inventories. Whenever List A is amended and a manufacturer of any product is affected by such an amendment and has an inventory of more than the amount permitted by paragraph (c) (2) (ii) of this direction, he must promptly, and in any event within 15 days after the issuance of such amendment, either bring his inventory within the applicable limits by increasing his rate of sales or by reducing his rate of operations, or stop further production until his inventory is within the applicable limits. Similarly, manufacturers of products on List A must keep their inventories within the applicable limits by increasing rate of sales, or by reducing rate of operations.

(f) Other rules. The rules stated in Priorities Regulation 32 and other directions to it must also be observed with respect to products on List A, except as stated in this direction.

Issued this 8th day of May 1946.

CIVILIAN PRODUCTION ADMINISTRATION,
By J. JOSEPH WHELAN,
Recording Secretary.

LIST A—SPECIAL INVENTORY RESTRICTIONS ON MANUFACTURERS' INVENTORIES OF FINISHED PRODUCTS

The restrictions of this list apply to manufacturers' inventories of finished products of the types listed below.

Where a listing shows 30 days, for example, this means that his inventory of the finished product may not be greater than his production of that product during the period of 30 calendar days (either the immediate preceding 30 day period or his monthly average production of the preceding three calendar months). In no case may his inventory exceed a practicable minimum working inventory, when this is less than 30 days production.

[Priorities Reg. 33, Direction 8, as Amended May 8, 1946]

PREFABRICATED HOUSING UNDER THE VETERANS' EMERGENCY HOUSING PROGRAM

The following amended direction is issued pursuant to Priorities Regulation 33:

(a) What this direction does. This direction explains how manufacturers of prefabricated houses, sections or panels, called prefabricators in this direction, may get HH ratings for certain materials to be used in the manufacture and erection of prefabricated housing under the Veterans' Emergency Housing Program.

(b) Definitions. For the purpose of this direction:

(1) "Prefabricated house" means a house which is manufactured in a factory, is transported without being taken apart, and will be ready for occupancy when placed on a foundation and connected with required utility services. The term "prefabricated house" does not include house trailers.

(2) "Prefabricated section" means a section of a house which is manufactured in a factory, is transported without being taken apart, and will be ready for use when attached to another section or other sections of a house, or used in combination with prefabricated panels or conventionally constructed elements or both, placed on a foundation and connected with public utility services.

(3) "Prefabricated panel" means any floor wall, partition, ceiling, roof or truss panel which is manufactured in a factory in such a fashion that it may be erected, in combination with other prefabricated panels or sections of a house, or in combination with conventionally constructed elements to produce housing accommodations. Prefabricated panels may, but need not, incorporate such items as window and door frames, sash, doors, builders' hardware, wiring, piping, etc.

(4) The terms "prefabricated panel" and "prefabricated section" do not include: (i) fabricated structural steel such as columns, beams, or trusses, (ii) millwork as defined in Direction 1 to Priorities Regulation 33, (iii) items of furniture and equipment not to be permanently attached to and made part of a house or, (iv) building materials cut to size and shape for assembly at the site (unless delivered by the prefabricator as part of the prefabricated-unit package he supplies. See paragraph (f) (1) below for restrictions on materials for packages.)

(c) Prefabricators' application for priorities assistance—(1) General. A prefabricator may apply on Form CPA-4415 for priorities assistance in getting materials on List 1 to this direction for use in manufacturing prefabricated houses, sections, and panels, or for inclusion in prefabricated-unit packages (to the extent permitted by paragraph (f) (1) below). Priorities assistance will be in the form of authority to use an HH rating or to place certified orders for these materials. Such assistance will be granted, on these applications, only for quantities of materials which are likely to be fully used in prefabricated housing authorized under the Veterans' Emergency Housing Program. Authorizations are given on this form for materials for a particular quarter together with an advance authorization for a percentage of requirements for the next quarter. The advance authorization will enable the prefabricator to place purchase orders for that next quarter before the receipt of his authorization for that quarter, subject to the provisions of paragraph (d) (5) below.

(2) Third-quarter applications. Third-quarter applications must be filed with the National Housing Agency, Washington 25, D. C., by May 24, 1945. The applications are to be made on the form CPA-4415 printed for that quarter, which may be obtained from the National Housing Agency.

(3) Second-quarter applications. Second-quarter interim applications should be filed with the Civilian Production Administration, Washington 25, D. C. Unless otherwise provided, third-quarter advance authorizations issued by the Civilian Production Administration in connection with approved second-quarter applications will continue effective until superseded by authorizations issued on applications filed under paragraph (c) (2) above.

(d) Use of HH ratings and certified orders by prefabricators. (1) A prefabricator must not extend an HH rating which he receives from his customers.

(2) A prefabricator to whom an HH rating is assigned on Form CPA-4415 under this direction may use it only to get the quantities of the materials approved on the application (except that the HH rating may not be used to get materials covered by paragraph (4) below). The HH rating may be applied to a purchase order only by placing on the order the following certificate (the certificates set forth in Priorities Regulations 3 and 7 may not be substituted for this certificate).

Veterans' Emergency Housing Program
Prefabricated Housing
Serial #------

Rating: HH

I certify to the Civilian Production Administration that the materials covered by this order will be used only in prefabricated units being manufactured under the Veterans' Emergency Housing Program and that I will sell the completed units only on orders rated HH under Priorities Regulation 33.

Manufacturer

(3) A prefabricator who has been granted priorities assistance on Form CPA-4415 may use an HH rating to get his approved quantity of List 1 materials (except lumber, millwork, hardwood flooring and construction plywood, all of which are covered by paragraph (4) below) from distributors, jobbers, or dealers under applicable directions to Priorities Regulation 33 covering the particular materials. A prefabricator, however, shall not use an HH rating to get any of these materials directly from producers unless the direction applicable to that material expressly states that he may do so.

(4) A prefabricator whose application on Form CPA-4415 is approved may place certified orders for the approved quantities of lumber, millwork, hardwood flooring and construction plywood in accordance with Direction 1 and Direction 1A to Priorities Regulation 33.

(5) The prefabricator must not specify delivery dates (delivery at his plant or warehouse) on HH rated or certified purchase orders for materials more than 30 days before the time they are to be incorporated in the prefabricated house, section or panel. Furthermore, the prefabricator must not place HH rated or certified purchase orders for materials in which delivery is specified later than during the third calendar month after the time when the purchase order is placed.

(e) Extendability of HH ratings by dealers. A person (other than a prefabricator) who receives an HH rated order for a prefabricated house, section or panel, may extend the HH rating to a prefabricator to get the prefabricated house, section or panel which he will deliver on the HH order.

(f) Sales by prefabricators and use of materials. (1) Use of materials. In accordance with Priorities Regulation 1, materials obtained by a prefabricator with the use of an HH rating or a certified order must, if possible, be used by him for the following purposes only: for incorporation into prefabricated houses, sections, or panels; or (with the exception of construction plywood and gypsum lath) for shipment as a minor part of a prefabricated-unit package, if needed for assembly of the rest of the package.

(2) Sales. A prefabricator must not sell any prefabricated house, section, panel, or package, in which materials obtained with an HH rating or by means of a certified order under Direction 1 or Direction 1A to Priorities Regulation 33 have been incorporated, except on an order rated HH.

(g) Application by builders under Priorities Regulation 33. A veteran of World War II or other builder who wishes to erect a prefabricated house, section or panel (including a prefabricator who erects the building himself) to produce housing accommodations may apply for an HH rating under Priorities Regulation 33 and his application will be processed in the usual fashion. If approved, the builder will be subject to all the requirements of Priorities Regulation 33 including the restrictions on sales price, rents and preference to veterans. When the application is approved, the builder will be assigned an HH rating which he may use to get the prefabricated house, section or panel and other items from the prefabricator. This rating may be applied in accordance with, and subject to the limitations of Priorities Regulation 33. The builder may also use the HH rating to get the necessary quantities of any other items on Schedule A of Priorities Regulation 33 from a supplier.

(h) Violations. Any person who wilfully violates any provision of this direction, wilfully conceals a material fact or furnishes false information to any department or agency of the United States, is guilty of a crime and upon conviction may be punished by fine or imprisonment. In addition, any such person may be prohibited from making or obtaining further deliveries of, or from processing or using, material under priority control and may be deprived of priorities assistance.

(i) Appeals. Any appeal from the provisions of this direction should be made by letter in triplicate, stating the particular provision appealed from and stating fully the grounds for the appeal. Appeals from the provisions of paragraph (c), or from actions taken under that paragraph by the National Housing Agency, and from the provisions of paragraph (f) (2) should be mailed to the National Housing Agency, Washington 25, D. C., Ref: Direction 8 to PR 33. All other appeals should be mailed to the Civilian Production Administration, Washington 25, D. C., Ref: Direction 8 to PR 33.

Issued this 8th day of May 1946.

[Rev. SO 154]

ADJUSTED MAXIMUM PRICES FOR CERTAIN KNITTED COMMODITIES

Supplementary Order No. 154 (Adjusted Maximum Prices for Certain Knitted Garments) is redesignated Revised Supplementary Order No. 154 (Adjusted Maximum Prices For Certain Knitted Commodities) and is revised and amended to read as set forth below.

A statement of the considerations involved in the issuance of this supplementary order issued simultaneously herewith has been filed with the Division of the Federal Register.

SECTION 1. What this order does. This supplementary order provides a method for the adjustment of manufacturers' ceiling prices for specified knitted commodities subject to base period "freeze" ceiling prices by the addition of certain labor and material costs increases to such ceiling prices.

SEC. 2. Scope of this order—(a) What commodities are covered. This order applies to a commodity only if the following two conditions are met:

(1) The commodity is listed in Appendix A, and

(2) The commodity is "the same" as one of the seller's "base period commodities".

Section 6 (a) of this order explains when two commodities are "the same". A "base period commodity" is one for which the ceiling price is established under either § 1499.2 (a) (1) of the General Maximum Price Regulation[1] or § 1389.302 of Maximum Price Regulation 221.[2]

Example 1. During March 1942 a manufacturer delivered Style 476 athletic shirt at $3.25 per dozen. He now produces Style 497 athletic shirt which cannot be priced under § 1499.2 (a) (1) of the General Maximum Price Regulation but can be priced under § 1499.2 (a) (2) since it is similar to his March 1942 Style 476. Therefore, although he may establish a ceiling price of $3.25 per dozen for his Style 497 under § 1499.2 (a) (2) of the General Maximum Price Regulation, since it is similar to his Style 476 delivered during March 1942, he may not adjust his $3.25 ceiling price for Style 497 under this order, since it is not "the same" (as defined in this order) as one of his "base period commodities".

Example 2. A manufacturer delivered men's lightweight knit union suits (covered by the General Maximum Price Regulation) during March 1942, but neither delivered nor offered for delivery men's athletic shirts during that month. He now produces men's athletic shirts whose ceiling price he establishes under § 1499.2 (b) of the General Maximum Price Regulation, by reference to a similar athletic shirt delivered during March 1942 by his most closely competitive seller of the same class. He may not adjust his ceiling price for these athletic shirts under this order since they are not "the same" as one of his "base period commodities".

Example 3. A manufacturer of men's "winterweight" knitted drawers (covered by Maximum Price Regulation 221) sold Style 576 for $4.75 per dozen pursuant to a written contract on January 4, 1942. He now wishes to sell drawers identical to his Style 576. Under this order he may adjust his ceiling price of $4.75 per dozen since the drawers are "the same" as one of his "base period commodities".

(b) What sales are covered. This order covers all manufacturer's sales of the commodities described in (a).

A manufacturer's sale is any sale of a commodity covered by this order by a person who knitted the commodity (or the basic fabric from which the commodity was made) or for whom the commodity (or the basic fabric from which it was made) was knitted by a contractor or agent from yarn owned or otherwise furnished by the principal. Manufacturers' sales include sales to ultimate consumers as well as to resellers.

This order does not apply to any sale by a person of a commodity which is made from knitted fabric purchased by him.

SEC. 3. Adjustment of maximum prices. On and after May 7, 1946, any commodity covered by this order may be sold or delivered at the adjusted maximum price described in this section.

Step 1. Determine the maximum price of the commodity under the appropriate maximum price regulation.

Step 2. Determine the type of yarn ("type of yarn" is defined in section 6 (b) below) and the weight in pounds of the cotton content of the yarn consumed in the commodity being priced ("weight in pounds of the cotton content of the yarn consumed" is defined in section 6 (c) below).

Step 3. Multiply the weight in pounds of the cotton content of the yarn used as found in step 2 by the cost increase (in dollars and cents) listed in column 2 of Appendix B for the appropriate type of yarn.

Step 4. Determine the amount (in dollars and cents) by which the cost of direct labor (at legal wage rates as defined in section 6 (d) below) on the commodity has increased since January 1, 1942. "Direct labor" includes only operations performed directly on the commodity and necessary to make it into a finished product. It does not include supervisory or administrative labor or other overhead. This increase in direct labor cost may be found as follows:

(a) Where labor is paid on a "piecework" basis, subtract the piece rate paid by the seller in January 1942 for each direct labor operation on the commodity from the current legal piece rate for such operation. The sum of the amounts so found for all operations on the commodity being priced is the increase in piece rate direct labor on the commodity.

(b) Where labor is paid on a "time" basis (hourly, daily, weekly or monthly rate), find the length of time consumed in performance of each direct labor operation on the commodity and subtract the amount paid by the seller in January 1942 for such period of time from the current legal wage paid for the same period of time. The sum of the amounts found for all operations on the commodity being priced is the increase in time rate direct labor on the commodity.

Step 5. Add the amounts found in Step 3 and Step 4 to the maximum price found in Step 1. This total is the adjusted maximum price of the commodity.

NOTE: In figuring his adjusted maximum price under this section, a seller may not use, as the maximum price found under Step 1, any adjusted ceiling price established under Amendments 5 or 6 to Maximum Price Regulation 221 or SO 86[3] or SO 133[4] or SO 137[5] or SO 139[6] or SO 149[7] or SO 154[8] or Sec. 14 of SR 14E.[9]

SEC. 4. Records and reports—(a) Records. The records required by this section must be maintained for so long as the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended, remains in effect.

Every person who makes a sale covered by this order must prepare and maintain the records required by the maximum price regulation under which his ceiling prices were established prior to the effective date of this order, except that the adjusted maximum price established under this order shall be substituted for the original maximum price in all records of deliveries made or maximum prices established after the effective date of this order.

In addition, he must keep a copy of the report filed under (b) below.

(b) Reports. No person may deliver any commodity at an adjusted maximum price established under this order until he has either received written approval of his adjusted maximum price from the Office of Price Administration or until the twentieth day after he has mailed to the Apparel Price Branch, Office of Price Administration, Washington 25, D. C., the report required by this paragraph and all additional information which may be requested by the Office of Price Administration, whichever date is earlier. Under this paragraph the seller must file two copies of a report signed by an owner, officer or principal and containing the following information:

(1) Date of report.

(2) Seller's name and business address.

(3) A list of the commodities whose maximum prices he wishes to adjust under this order, showing each style of each commodity separately.

(4) A description of each commodity listed in (3), including each type of yarn, the weight in pounds of the cotton content of the yarn consumed in each style, and the finished weight of the commodity.

(5) A description, including each type of yarn, the weight in pounds of the cotton content of the yarn consumed, the finished weight of the commodity, and an identification (by style number, if possible) of the seller's base period commodity which was the same as each style listed in (3).

(6) The maximum price of each style listed in (3) in effect immediately prior to the effective date of this revised order and without adjustment of such maximum price under Amendment 5 or 6 to Maximum Price Regulation 221 or SO 86, or SO 133 or SO 137 or SO 139 or SO 149 or SO 154 or sec. 14 of SR 14E. State also the particular provision of the regulation under which such maximum price is established.

(7) The amount (in dollars and cents) by which the cost of direct labor (at legal wage rates) on each style listed in (3) has increased between January 1, 1942 and the date of the report.

(8) The amount of yarn cost increase permitted by this order for each style listed in (3) (amount shown in Column 2 of Appendix B for the appropriate type of yarn multiplied by the number of pounds of yarn listed for the style in (3)).

(9) Adjusted maximum price under this order of each style listed in (3) (the maximum price shown in (6) plus amount shown in (7) plus amount shown in (8)).

(10) A list of all legal wage increases made by the seller to his employees between January 1, 1942 and the date of the report, and, as to each such increase, the date such increase went into effect and the authority under which it was made (e. g., Order of National or Regional War Labor Board or Wage Stabilization Board, arbitration award, etc.).

(c) Form of report. The report required by this section must be made in the following form: [10]

(d) Approval or modification of reported adjusted maximum prices—(1) Approval. The adjusted maximum prices reported under this section may be expressly approved in writing by the Office of Price Administration, or, if no order disapproving or modifying such adjusted prices has been issued within 20 days after the mailing of the report required by (b), above, and all additional information which may be requested by the Office of Price Administration, adjusted maximum prices reported are deemed to have been approved until issuance of an order disapproving or modifying them.

(2) Modification or disapproval. The Office of Price Administration may, at any time, disapprove or modify the adjusted maximum prices reported under (b) above if the adjustment has not been properly made in accordance with the provisions of this order.

[10] These forms may be duplicated but will not be supplied by the Office of Price Administration.

(e) Statement of adjusted ceiling prices. On or after May 7, 1946 no person may adjust his maximum price under section 3 above for any item of hosiery covered by this order unless he sends to each purchaser to whom he ships such hosiery the statement set forth in subparagraph (1) or (2) below, whichever is appropriate. This statement, properly completed, must appear separately on, or be annexed to, the invoice, billing or other statement of price accompanying every shipment made of these items.

(1) On sale to retailers. Where the item is sold to a retailer the following statement must be sent by the manufacturer:

STATEMENT TO RETAILERS OF OPA ADJUSTMENT CHARGE AND RETAILER'S PERMITTED INCREASE

Under Revised Supplementary Order 154, the Office of Price Administration has permitted us to increase our ceiling price on items listed in the table below. The Office of Price Administration has ruled that if your ceiling price for these items is determined under Maximum Price Regulation 580, you may include the increase as part of your net cost only if and to the extent that the increase exceeds $.20 per dozen and that if your ceiling price is determined under the General Maximum Price Regulation, you may add the increase to your price likewise only if and to the extent that it exceeds $.20 per dozen.

In the table below, our old ceiling price for each item is listed in column 2; the increase in our ceiling price is listed in column 3; the amount of that increase, if any, which may be added to your price (if you price under the General Maximum Price Regulation) or to your net cost (if you price under Maximum Price Regulation 580) is listed in column 4, where it is referred to as Retailer's Permitted Increase; and the amount of the increase which may not be so added is listed in column 5, where it is referred to as "OPA Adjustment Charge".

(1) Description of article	(2) Old ceiling (per dozen)	(3) Increase in ceiling (per dozen)	(4) Retailer's permitted increase	(5) "OPA adjustment charge"

(2) On sales to wholesalers. Where the item is sold to a wholesaler the following statement must be sent by the manufacturer:

STATEMENT TO WHOLESALERS OF OPA ADJUSTED CEILING PRICE

Under Revised Supplementary Order 154 the Office of Price Administration has permitted us to increase our ceiling prices on the items listed below. In column 2 you will find our old ceiling price for each item; in column 3 the increase in our ceiling price; in column 4 the amount of that increase which you may add to your present General Maximum Price Regulation ceiling price; and in column 5 our new ceiling.

(1) Description of article	(2) Old ceiling (per dozen)	(3) Increase in ceiling (per dozen)	(4) Amount which you may add to your present GMPR ceiling price (70% of the portion of 3 that does not exceed $0.20 and all of the portion that does exceed $0.20	(5) New ceiling (2+3)

The Office of Price Administration has ruled that you may add to your properly established General Maximum Price Regulation ceiling price for any of these items 70% of that portion of the increase which does not exceed $0.20 per dozen, and all of the increase to the extent that it exceeds $0.20 per dozen: Provided, That you transmit to each retailer to whom you deliver any of the above items (annexed to the invoice covering such adjustment), the "Statement of OPA Adjustment Charge and Retailers Permitted Increase" required by section 2.7s (3) of S. R. 14E. That statement must contain a description of each article, and must show for each article your old ceiling price to the retailer; the "Retailer's Permitted Increase" (this will be the amount of our increase to you in excess of $0.20 per dozen); and the "OPA Adjustment Charge" on that article (this will be your increase to the retailer minus the Retailer's Permitted Increase).

The statement shall be in the following form:

STATEMENT OF "OPA ADJUSTMENT CHARGE" AND "RETAILER'S PERMITTED INCREASE"

The Office of Price Administration has permitted us to add the amounts set forth in Columns 3 and 4 below for the following items.

(1) Description of article	(2) Old ceiling	(3) "Retailer's permitted increase"	(4) "OPA adjustment charge"

The amount stated in Column 4 may not be added to your price when you sell under the General Maximum Price Regulation, nor included as part of your net cost when you price under Maximum Price Regulation 580. The amount stated in Column 3 may be added to your price when you sell under the General Maximum Price Regulation or included as part of your net cost when you price under Maximum Price Regulation 580.

SEC. 5. Relation to other maximum price regulations—(a) Regulations supplemented. This order supplements the provisions of the following regulations only:

(1) General Maximum Price Regulation

(2) Maximum Price Regulation 221

(b) Regulations not affected. Although the ceiling prices of commodities eligible for adjustment under Amendment 5 and 6 of Maximum Price Regulation 221 or SO 133 or SO 139 or SO 149 may be adjusted under this order, maximum prices as adjusted under those regulations or orders may not be further adjusted under this order. That is, a commodity may be sold or delivered at an adjusted maximum price established under one of those orders or under this order, whichever price is higher, but the adjustment permitted by this order may not be added to the adjusted maximum price under Amendment 5 or 6 of Maximum Price Regulation 221 or SO 133 or SO 139 or SO 149.

(c) Relation to Supplementary Order 154 as originally issued. Any person who has properly established an adjusted maximum price under Supplementary Order 154 as originally issued, which has been approved under section 4 (d) of that order may continue to sell and deliver at this adjusted maximum price. However, if a person obtains approval of an adjusted maximum price under this Revised Supplementary Order 154, such adjusted maximum price shall supersede an adjusted maximum price for the same commodity approved pursuant to Supplementary Order 154 as originally issued.

SEC. 6. Definitions. Unless the context otherwise requires or unless specifically provided herein, the definitions set forth in § 1499.20 of the General Maximum Price Regulation shall apply to the term used herein.

(a) "The same commodity". For purposes of this order a commodity currently being sold is considered "the same" as a base period commodity only if it is identical with the base period commodity in all respects except that it may differ from the base period commodity to the following extent:

(1) The current commodity may have a finished weight of not less than 97% of the finished weight of the base period.

(2) The current commodity may be made with a substantially equal number of courses and needles per inch and with trimmings of substantially equal quality and serviceability to the base period commodity.

(3) The current commodity may be of cotton yarn which varies from that of the base commodity by not more than 2 counts (plus or minus). For example, a current commodity made of 26 count cotton yarn may be considered the same as a base period commodity made of 24 or 28 count cotton yarn. Note, however, that the amount of permitted yarn cost increases must be based on the actual count of yarn used in the current commodity. However, with respect to hosiery covered by this order, the yarn count of the current commodity may exceed that of the base period commodity by 4 counts or be less than that of the base period by 2 counts.

(b) "Type of yarn". For the purposes of this order yarns are classified as follows:

(1) As to the fiber of which it is made (such as cotton or wool);

(2) As to whether it is combed or carded;

(3) As to count of yarn, such as 26's, 30's, etc.;

(4) As to whether singles or plied.

Where a commodity is knitted of yarn which is a blend of one or more different fibers, or of a combination yarn (that is yarns of different fibers plied together) each fiber is treated separately for the purpose of calculating the permitted yarn cost increase as described in (c) below.

(c) "Weight in pounds of the cotton content of the yarn consumed." For purposes of this order the "weight in pounds of the cotton content of the yarn consumed" in a commodity is the number of pounds of cotton yarn required to knit the average size of the commodity, that is the gross knitting weight. In calculating the yarn cost increase permitted for a commodity made of a blended yarn or of more than one type of yarn, the number of pounds of each type of cotton yarn consumed in the commodity must be multiplied separately by the increase factor listed for that type of yarn in Appendix B.

(d) "Legal wage rates". For purposes of this order "legal wage rates" are wage rates put into effect before September 16, 1942, or, if put into effect after that date, authorized by express order of the National or Regional War Labor Boards, or the Wage Stabilization Board, or permissible under any general order or directive issued by one of such boards, or wage rates deemed "approved" under Executive Order 9697, issued February 14, 1946.

(8) The markup applied to the cost of acquisition by the applicant on any sale or delivery of the same imported commodity or same class of imported commodity made by the applicant between January 1, 1939 and March 31, 1942, if any. (If no such sale was made, a statement to that effect.)

10. Section 23 is amended to read as follows:

SEC. 23. Maximum price determination "in line" for certain imported commodities. Maximum prices for sales of imported commodities controlled by this regulation but excepted by section 2 (a) (1) from the general pricing provisions of section 3 as listed in this Appendix A will be established as follows:

(a) When the sale is made by the importer, maximum prices will be established by the Price Aiministrator on application filed according to section 6 in one of the following ways:

(1) Where it is found that the sale under the general pricing formula in section 3 would not seriously disrupt price control of a comparable domestic commodity, a maximum price will be established according to the general pricing formula in section 3.

(2) Where it is found that the sale under the general pricing formula in section 3 would seriously disrupt price control of a comparable domestic commodity, a maximum price will be established in line with maximum prices of comparable domestic commodities, with due regard to the historical sales price differentials between the imported and the comparable domestically-produced commodities.

(b) When the sale is made by a seller other than the importer, maximum prices (except on sales of commodities of a kind or category controlled by a specific maximum price regulation or order, such as Maximum Price Regulation 580 or Order 83 under the Maximum Import Price Regulation) shall be determined automatically by the seller in one of the following ways:

(1) Where the maximum price for the sale at the importer level is established according to the general pricing formula of section 3, a maximum price shall be determined by a seller other than the importer according to the general pricing formula in section 3, provided such seller had the required pricing experience between January 1, 1939 and March 31, 1942.

(2) Where the maximum price for the sale at the importer level is established in line with that of a domestically-produced commodity a maximum price shall be determined according to the general pricing formula in section 3 except that instead of using 75% in section 3 (a) (2) (ii) 100% may be used, provided such seller had the required pricing experience between January 1, 1939 and March 31, 1942.

(c) If a seller other than the importer of an imported commodity priced in line with a domestically-produced commodity did not sell or offer for sale the same imported commodity or the same class of imported commodity to the same class of purchasers between January 1, 1939 and March 31, 1942 application under section 6 shall be made and a maximum price will be authorized by the Price Administrator according to section 5.

(d) With the first delivery to a purchaser for resale of any imported commodity the maximum price of which is established for the sale by the importer in line with the maximum price of a domestically-produced commodity, the seller shall supply such purchaser with a written notice showing that the commodity is so priced in line. No seller may use the 100% markup allowed under this section without having such a written notice in his possession.

11. Section 24 is amended to read as follows:

SEC. 24. List of commodities excepted from section 3. The following commodities are excepted from the pricing provisions of section 3 of this revised regulation. Maximum prices for them shall be determined as provided in section 5 (a) of this regulation.

[Rev. SR 11, Order 2 Under Order 1]

ADJUSTABLE PRICING

Order No. 1, issued and effective May 1, 1946, placed suppliers of towing service in New York Harbor on an adjustable pricing basis pending determination of their request for an industry-wide increase in towing rates. Included in the request for an industry-wide adjustment for services rendered in the New York Harbor are certain companies that provide a complete transportation service including barges and towing but such companies frequently supply the towing service by obtaining that service from towing companies and paying the charges out of the transportation rate. Since the suppliers of this service are on an adjustable pricing basis, request has been made that those providing transportation services be placed on the same basis pending determination of the amount of increase to which they will be entitled. It is therefore felt necessary to issue an adjustable pricing order directed to such concerns in order to promote distribution and to effectuate the purposes of the act.

Therefore, under the authority vested in the Price Administrator by the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended, and applicable Executive Orders and pursuant to subparagraph (d) of Order No. 1 under Revised Supplementary Regulation 11; It is ordered:

(a) A seller of transportation services which are subject to Order No. 1 under Revised SR 11 may perform transportation services at prices not more than the maximum price currently established under the General Maximum Price Regulation or Revised Supplementary Regulation No. 11 at the time the transportation service is performed. Such a seller may, however, after the effective date of this order, with the consent of the buyer, furnish such transportation services subject to an upward adjustment in price if an upward adjustment is later authorized by the Office of Price Administration.

(b) This order shall be automatically revoked upon the establishment by the Office of Price Administration of increased maximum prices based on the current wage proceeding or it may be revoked by order of the Administrator.

(c) This order shall become effective May 7, 1946.

JAMES G. ROGERS, Jr.,
Acting Administrator.

TRIMBLE NURSERYLAND FURNITURE, INC.

ADJUSTMENT OF MAXIMUM PRICES

For the reasons set forth in an opinion issued simultaneously herewith and filed with the Division of the Federal Register, and pursuant to Supplementary Order No. 133, It is ordered:

(a) This order establishes maximum prices for sales and deliveries of certain articles specified below, manufactured by Trimble Nurseryland Furniture, Inc., Rochester 13, N. Y.

(1) For all sales and deliveries of the following articles by the manufacturer to retailers in the quantities indicated the adjusted maximum prices are those set forth below:

Article and Model No.	Quantities	Adjusted maximum price to retailers
		Each
Kiddie-Koop:
A–50–H	25 or more	$31.50
RS–50–H	do	22.15

Kiddie baith:
37–RSSU	100 lots	8.00
37–RU	do	7.65
37–R	do	6.95
57–R	do	6.55
7–R	do	6.35
Renewal parts outfit: 30	Dozen lots	4.00
Kiddie-trainers:
820	100 lots	2.90
860	do	2.15
862	do	2.00
872	do	2.05
876	do	1.85

(2) For sales and deliveries of the above listed articles to classes of purchasers other than retailers, and in other quantities, the maximum prices are the maximum prices established under subparagraph (1) above, adjusted to reflect the manufacturer's customary differentials for those types of sales.

(b) Retailers of articles which the manufacturer has sold at an adjusted maximum price determined under this order shall determine their maximum prices as follows:

(1) A retailer who must determine his ceiling price under Maximum Price Regulation No. 580 and a wholesaler who must determine his ceiling prices under Maximum Price Regulation No. 590, shall compute their ceiling prices under those regulations as they have been modified by Order No. 4800 under § 1499.159b of Maximum Price Regulation No. 188.

(2) A reseller who determines his maximum resale price under the General Maximum Price Regulation, and whose supplier's invoice states both an "unadjusted maximum price" and a selling price, shall compute his ceiling prices under that regulation as modified by Order No. 4800 under § 1499.159b of Maximum Price Regulation No. 188.

If his supplier's invoice does not state an "unadjusted maximum price", the reseller shall calculate his ceiling prices by adding to his invoice cost the same percentage markup which he had on the "most comparable article" for which he has a properly established ceiling price. For this purpose, the "most comparable article" is the one which meets all of the following tests:

(i) It belongs to the narrowest trade category which includes the article being priced.

(ii) Both it and the article being priced were purchased from the same class of supplier.

(iii) Both it and the article being priced belong to a class of article to which, according to customary trade practices, an approximately uniform percentage markup is applied.

(iv) Its net replacement cost is nearest to the net cost of the article being priced.

The determination of a ceiling price in this way need not be reported to the Office of Price Administration: however, each seller must keep complete records showing all the information called for by OPA Form 620–759 with regard to how he determined his ceiling price, for so long as the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended, remains in effect.

If the maximum resale price cannot be determined under the above method, the reseller shall apply to the Office of Price Administration for the establishment of a ceiling price under § 1499.3 (c) of the General Maximum Price Regulation. Ceiling prices established under that section will reflect the supplier's prices as adjusted in accordance with this order.

(3) The provisions of Supplementary Order No. 153 shall not apply to the determination of ceiling prices for resales of articles covered by this order.

(c) Terms of sale. Ceiling prices adjusted by this order are subject to each seller's terms, discounts, and allowances on sales to each class of purchaser in effect during March 1942, or thereafter, properly established under OPA regulations.

(d) Notification. At the time of, or prior to the first invoice to a purchaser for resale on and after the effective date of this order, showing prices adjusted in accordance with this order, the seller shall notify the purchaser in writing of the method established in paragraph (b) of this order for determining adjusted maximum prices for resale of the articles. This notice may be given in any convenient form.

(e) The manufacturer shall file the report described in section 5 of Supplementary Order No. 133 with the Office of Price Administration, Washington 25, D. C. He shall also comply with the invoicing and reporting provisions of Order No. 4800 under Maximum Price Regulation No. 188 with respect to all articles whose prices are adjusted under this order excepting the "renewal parts outfit" referred to in paragraph (a) (1) above.

(f) This order may be revoked or amended by the Price Administrator at any time.

(g) This order shall become effective on the 7th of May 1946.

PAUL A. PORTER,
Administrator.

STEEL POWER BOILERS AND EQUIPMENT

ADJUSTMENT OF MAXIMUM PRICES

For the reasons set forth in an opinion, issued simultaneously herewith, and filed with the Division of the Federal Register, and pursuant to section 30 of Revised Maximum Price Regulation 136, It is ordered:

(a) For the purposes of this order, the phrase "steel power boilers" shall be taken to mean: Boilers, power, industrial 100 psi and higher working pressure, such as horizontal fire box boilers, Scotch type boilers, vertical tube and tubeless boilers, oil country type boilers and miniature boilers. (Accessories are not included in this phrase).

(b) For the purposes of this order "the base date" which shall be used in establishing a price under section 7 of Revised Maximum Price Regulation 136, shall be June 1, 1941.

(c) The maximum prices for the sale of steel power boilers and of repair and replacement parts which are integral and functional parts of such boilers by any manufacturer of such boilers shall be established as follows:

(1) For any steel power boilers or parts for which a price is established under the provisions of section 7 of Revised Maximum Price Regulation 136, the maximum price shall be that price plus 16% of that price.

(2) For any steel power boilers or parts for which the manufacturer can compute a price under section 8 of Revised Maximum Price Regulation 136, the maximum price shall be computed under section 8, using the price computed under the preceding subparagraph (1) as the maximum price for the product before modification.

Section 8 has reference to an establishment of a maximum price for a product which either had a published list price in effect on the base date or a list price approved by the OPA in which there has been a substantial change in design, specification or equipment. In using section 8, therefore, under the provisions of this paragraph, a manufacturer must first establish a price for the product under the preceding paragraph (a), and then establish the increase or decrease in that price on the basis of the modification in the manner provided in section 8.

(3) For any other steel power boilers or parts, the maximum price shall be computed under sections 9 and 10 of Revised Maximum Price Regulation 136, without addition of the increase permitted by this order.

(c) The maximum prices for sales of steel power boilers, repair and replacement parts by resellers shall be determined as follows: The reseller shall add to the maximum net price he had in effect to a purchaser of the same class, just prior to the issuance of this order, the amount, in dollars-and-cents, by which his net invoiced cost has been increased due to the increase in maximum prices of manufacturers provided by paragraph (a) of this order.

(d) Every manufacturer of steel power boilers and parts shall notify each person who buys such products for resale of the dollars-and-cents amount by which this order permits the reseller to increase his maximum net prices.

(e) All prices established pursuant to this order shall be subject to the same discounts, credits and allowances in effect to any purchasers and classes of purchasers just prior to the issuance of this order.

(f) Notwithstanding any of the provisions of this order, a manufacturer of steel power boilers and parts may charge and collect the maximum prices for sale of his products which he had in effect just prior to the issuance of this order.

(g) This order may be revoked or amended by the Price Administrator at any time.

This order shall become effective May 13, 1946.

BUSINESS MACHINES

ADJUSTMENT OF CEILING PRICES

For the reasons set forth in an opinion issued simultaneously herewith and filed with the Division of the Federal Register, and pursuant to § 1499.159e of Maximum Price Regulation 188, it is ordered:

SECTION 1. Purpose of this order. Business machines have been found to be a reconversion product in accordance with the standards set forth in § 1499.159e of Maximum Price Regulation 188. This order provides for increases in maximum prices and sets forth the provisions which all sellers are to follow in calculating their adjusted maximum prices for sales of the products.

SEC. 2. Articles and persons covered. This order applies only to sales of the following business machines: accounting, adding, addressing, bookkeeping, calculating, cash registers, dictating, duplicating, fare registering, recording, stenographic and typewriters, including portable typewriters, and devices in which the basic mechanism of any machine covered by this order is a component part. This order does not cover business machines for which the manufacturer's maximum prices are established under the "cost method" of Order 4332 under § 1499.159b of Maximum Price Regulation 188. Used business machines covered by Maximum Price Regulation 596, imported articles covered by the Maximum Import Price Regulation, and used typewriters coverd by Maximum Price Regulation No. RMPR 162 are also excluded from the coverage of this order.

SEC. 3. Determination of manufacturers' and resellers' maximum prices. Manufacturers and resellers shall continue to determine their maximum prices for sales of new or changed articles covered by this order under the same regulations and pricing provisions applicable before this order was issued, and as modified by this order.

SEC. 4. Adjusted maximum retail prices for business machines, except portable typewriters. The maximum retail price (exclusive of Federal excise tax) for sales of a business machine, except a portable typewriter, for which the seller had a suggested retail list price in effect prior to the effective date of this order is the higher of the following:

(a) An amount no greater than 112% of the manufacturer's suggested retail list price (exclusive of Federal excise tax and any adjustment heretofore authorized).

(b) An amount no greater than the manufacturer's suggested retail list price (exclusive of Federal Excise tax) in effect prior to any adjustment in manufacturers' maximum prices under Supplementary Orders No. 118, 133 and Revised Supplementary Order 119, plus the percentage amount of that adjustment.

The amount of Federal excise tax paid by the manufacturer and state and local taxes may also be collected on sales covered by paragraphs (a) and (b) of this section.

SEC. 5. Adjusted maximum prices to governmental agencies, dealers and distributors for business machines, except portable typewriters. (a) A manufacturer's adjusted maximum price (exclusive of Federal excise tax) for sales of a business machine, except a portable typewriter, to governmental agencies, dealers and distributors is the adjusted retail list price as determined under this order less his customary discounts to the particular class of purchaser. The amount of the Federal excise tax may also be collected.

(b) A distributor's adjusted maximum price (exclusive of Federal excise tax) for sales of a business machine, except a portable typewriter, to dealers is the adjusted maximum retail price as determined under this order less his customary discounts. The amount of Federal excise tax paid to the manufacturer may also be collected.

SEC. 6. Adjusted maximum prices established by this order for business machines except portable typewriters. In the case of a business machine except a portable typewriter for which a manufacturer did not publish a suggested retail list price prior to the effective date of this order the adjusted maximum retail price may not be determined under the preceding provisions of this order. The manufacturer shall make application under this section to the Office of Price Administration, Washington, D. C., for an order authorizing an adjusted maximum retail price in line with the level of adjusted maximum retail prices fixed by this order. The application may be made by letter, which shall state: the manufacturer's maximum prices to each class of purchaser; the amount of any adjustment in his maximum prices which have been authorized, and the provision under which the adjustment in his maximum prices was authorized.

SEC. 7. Adjusted maximum prices for portable typewriters. (a) Manufacturers' adjusted maximum price (exclusive of Federal excise tax) for sales of a portable typewriter to each class of purchaser, shall be the higher of the following:

(2) His adjusted maximum price (exclusive of Federal excise tax) to each class of purchaser, established under the provisions of Supplementary Orders No. 118, 133 and Revised Supplementary Order 119.

In no event, however, shall the manufacturer's adjusted maximum price to a user be higher than a dealer's adjusted maximum price to a user as established by paragraph (b) of this section.

(b) A dealer's adjusted maximum price (exclusive of Federal excise tax) for sales of a portable typewriter to users shall be 154% of the manufacturer's maximum price to dealers as established by paragraph (a) of this section.

(c) In addition to the adjusted maximum price authorized by the preceding provisions of this section, the amount of the Federal excise tax payable by the manufacturer and state and local taxes may also be collected.

SEC. 8. Retail price tags for portable typewriters. (a) On and after May 31, 1946, unless otherwise authorized by order of the Office of Price Administration, a manufacturer may not ship to a purchaser a portable typewriter unless there is attached to it a retail price tag or label. That tag or label shall state: the manufacturer's name or the brand name, the model designation, the maximum retail price (exclusive of Federal excise tax) and that the tag or label may not be removed before the portable typewriter is delivered to the consumer.

(b) On and after May 31, 1946, no person may display, offer for sale, sell or deliver at retail, a portable typewriter for which the maximum retail price is fixed by this order, unless there is attached to it a tag or label containing all the information required by paragraph (a) of this section.

Any dealer who receives "untagged" a portable typewriter which the manufacturer is required to tag with the maximum retail price, must tag it with the maximum retail price before it is displayed, offered for sale, sold or delivered at retail.

SEC. 9. Notification. At the time of or prior to, the first invoice to a purchaser for resale of a business machine covered by this order, each seller shall notify the purchaser of resellers' adjusted maximum prices fixed by this order. These notices may be given in any convenient form.

Section 1499.159d of Maximum Price Regulation 188 requires manufacturers to file with the Office of Price Administration three copies of each new price list or catalog which is issued to the trade. AWNINGS

MAXIMUM PRICES FOR SALES

For the reasons set forth in an opinion issued simultaneously herewith, and filed with the Division of the Federal Register; and pursuant to § 1499.159e of Maximum Price Regulation No. 188, It is ordered:

Sec.
1. Purposes of this order.
2. Articles covered by this order.
3. Manufacturers' maximum prices.
4. Maximum prices for sales at wholesale.
5. Invoices to purchasers for resale.
6. Notification to purchasers for resale.
7. Retailers' maximum prices.
8. Terms of sale.
9. Relationship of this order to other orders or regulations.
10. Revision of maximum prices.
11. Revocation or amendment.

SECTION 1. Purpose of this order. This order specifies a price increase factor to be used by manufacturers of awnings; and it sets forth the specific pricing provisions which all sellers are to follow in calculating their maximum prices for sales of the product.

SEC. 2. Articles covered by this order. This order covers all awnings made primarily of textile fabrics.

SEC. 3. Manufacturers' maximum prices—(a) Determination of maximum prices. Manufacturers shall continue to determine their maximum prices for articles covered by this order under the same regulation and pricing provisions applicable before this order was issued.

(b) Increase factor. (1) Manufacturers may increase, by 12 percent, their maximum price (exclusive of any permitted increases) properly established under Maximum Price Regulation No. 188 for sales to all persons except consumers.

(2) Manufacturers may increase by 7 percent their maximum prices exclusive of any permitted increases properly established under Maximum Price Regulation No. 188 for sales to all types of consumers.

(c) "Adjusted maximum prices". A manufacturer's "adjusted maximum price" is the highest of the following three amounts:

(1) His maximum price properly established under Maximum Price Regulation No. 188 increased by the appropriate one of the percentages specified in paragraph (b) of this section.

(2) His maximum price properly established under Maximum Price Regulation No. 188 plus any increases in that maximum price permitted by an OPA order,[1] other than this order.

(3) His maximum price properly established under section 5 of Supplementary Order No. 118 or Order No. 4332 or Revised Order No. 4332 under Maximum Price Regulation No. 188.

A manufacturer may make sales and deliveries at or below his adjusted maximum price computed under this section.

(d) "Unadjusted maximum price". (1) A manufacturer's "unadjusted maximum price" for his sale of an article whose maximum price was properly established under Maximum Price Regulation No. 188 is the maximum price so established, not including any increases in that maximum price permitted by an OPA order. However, if an OPA order,[1] permits the manufacturer to increase that maximum price by an amount greater than the appropriate one of the percentage specified in paragraph (b), the manufacturers' "unadjusted maximum price" is the amount determined by deducting an amount equal to that percentage of the maximum price in effect before that increase was made, from the price as increased in accordance with that order.

(2) A manufacturer's "unadjusted maximum price" for his sale of an article the new maximum price of which was properly established under section 5 of Supplementary Order No. 118 is the price found by taking the following steps:

Step 1: Divide the new maximum price for the article by the increase factor permitted under section 4 of Supplementary Order No. 118 for the manufacturer's most comparable 1941 article. (The increase factor on the comparable article is found by dividing the new maximum price of that comparable article by its maximum price in effect before Supplementary Order No. 118 was issued.)

Step 2: Multiply the result of Step 1 by 12 percent.

Step 3: Subtract the result of Step 2 from the new maximum price for the article. The result is the "unadjusted maximum price" for the article.

(3) A manufacturer's "unadjusted maximum price" for his sale of an article the maximum price of which was established under Order No. 4332 under Maximum Price Regulation No. 188 is 93 percent of the maximum prices established for sales to consumers and 89 percent of the maximum prices established for sales to other classes of purchasers.

SEC. 4. Maximum prices for sales at wholesale—(a) Adjusted maximum prices. (1) A wholesaler who delivered or offered for delivery during March 1942, an article which meets the definition of "most comparable commodity" contained in § 1499.3 (a) of the General Maximum Price Regulation, except that it need not be currently offered for sale, shall find his adjusted maximum price according to the method and procedure set forth in that section by adding the same markup which he had on that comparable article to his supplier's adjusted maximum price, as it appears on his purchase invoice.

The wholesaler may make sales covered by the General Maximum Price Regulation, at prices at or below his adjusted maximum price computed in this way.

[1] This refers to Supplementary Order No. 118, and to orders issued under Supplementary Orders No. 119 and 133.

The determination of a maximum resale price in this way need not be reported to the Office of Price Administration. However, each seller must keep complete records showing all the information called for on OPA Form 620-759, with regard to how he determines his maximum resale price. These records shall be kept available for inspection by the Office of Price Administration, for so long as the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended, remains in effect.

(2) If the wholesaler cannot determine his adjusted maximum price under (1), he shall apply to the Office of Price Administration for the establishment of his adjusted maximum price under § 1499.3 (c) of the General Maximum Price Regulation. An adjusted maximum price established in this way will be in line with adjusted maximum prices established generally under section 4 of this order.

(b) Unadjusted maximum prices. (1) Wholesalers who delivered or offered for delivery during March 1942 an article which meets the definition of "most comparable commodity" contained in § 1499.3 (a) of the General Maximum Price Regulation, except that it need not be currently offered for sale, shall find his "unadjusted maximum price" according to the method and procedure set forth in that section by adding the same markup which he had on that comparable article to his supplier's unadjusted maximum price as it appears on his purchase invoice.

(2) If the seller cannot determine his unadjusted maximum prices under (1), he shall, at the time he applies for an adjusted maximum price to the Office of Price Administration under paragraph (b) (2) of this section also, apply for the establishment of an unadjusted maximum price. Unless such an unadjusted maximum price is established, he may not make sales of the article even though his adjusted maximum price is properly established.

SEC. 5. Invoice to purchasers for resale. (a) Every person who delivers an article covered by this order to a purchaser for resale shall furnish to the purchaser an invoice or other written evidence of sale, containing the following:

(1) The name and address of both the seller and purchaser, and the date of sale.

(2) The name, number, or other identification of each article sold.

(3) The quantity of each article sold.

(4) The seller's unadjusted maximum price for each article sold.

(5) The actual selling price of each article sold.

(6) The nature and amount of any additional charges.

(7) The terms of sale.

(b) No article covered by this order may be sold to a retailer at a price higher than the seller's unadjusted maximum price for the particular sale, unless the information specified in items (4) and (5) of the preceding paragraph is separately stated on the invoice or other written evidence of sale, and unless the seller's unadjusted maximum price is so identified.

(c) The seller shall retain a copy of such invoice or other written evidence of sale, for inspection by the Office of Price Administration for so long as the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended, remains in effect.

SEC. 6. Notification to purchasers for resale. At the time of, or prior to, the first invoice to each purchaser for resale showing a price adjusted in accordance with this order, the seller shall notify the purchaser in writing, that:

(a) If he is a wholesaler he must determine his maximum resale prices for articles covered by this order under Section 4 of Order No. 13 under § 1499.159e of Maximum Price Regulation No. 188.

(b) If he is a retailer he must determine his maximum resale prices for articles covered by this order under section 7 of Order No. 13 under § 1499.159e of Maximum Price Regulation No. 188.

SEC. 7. Retailers' maximum prices. (a) A retailer who delivered or offered for delivery during March 1942 an article which meets the definition of "most comparable commodity" contained in § 1499.3 (a) of the General Maximum Price Regulation, except that it need not be currently offered for sale, shall determine his maximum resale price by adding to his supplier's unadjusted maximum price (as it appears on his purchase invoice) the same markup which he had on that comparable article, according to the method and procedure set forth in that section.

The determination of a maximum resale price in this way need not be reported to the Office of Price Administration. However, each seller must keep complete records showing all the information called for on OPA Form 620-759, with regard to how he determines his maximum resale price. These records shall be kept available for inspection by the Office of Price Administration, for so long as the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended, remains in effect.

(b) If a retailer cannot determine his maximum resale price under paragraph (a) of this section, he shall apply to the Office of Price Administration for the establishment of his maximum resale price under § 1499.3 (a) of the General Maximum Price Regulation. The retailer's application shall, in addition to the information specifically required by that section, also give the following information:

(i) His supplier's unadjusted maximum price.

(ii) His actual invoice cost.

A retailer's maximum price established under this subparagraph (3) will be in line with retailers' maximum prices established generally under this order.

SEC. 8. Terms of sale. Every seller of an article covered by this order must maintain all of his terms, discounts, allowances, and other price differentials in effect during March 1942, or which have been subsequently properly established under Office of Price Administration regulations or orders.

SEC. 9. Relationship of this order to other orders or regulations—(a) Maximum Price Regulation No. 188, and the General Maximum Price Regulation. The provisions of this order supersede the provisions of Maximum Price Regulation No. 188 and the General Maximum Price Regulation, only to the extent that they are inconsistent with the provisions of that regulation.

(b) Revised Supplementary Order No. 119, Supplementary Order Nos. 118 and 133. Manufacturers may continue to adjust their maximum prices in accordance with any increase permitted under Revised Supplementary Order No. 119, Supplementary Order No. 118, or Supplementary Order No. 133, instead of the increase factor specified in Section 3. If a seller's maximum prices are adjusted under one of those orders instead of under this order, he must nevertheless comply with the invoicing and notification provision of this order. These provisions supersede any contrary provisions contained in any individual order issued to any seller.

SEC. 10. Revocation or amendment. This order may be revoked or amended by the Price Administrator at any time.

Effective date: This order shall become effective on the 8th day of May 1946.

NOTE: The record keeping provisions of this order have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942, as amended.

Issued this 8th day of May 1946.

Acting Administrator.

UPHOLSTERED FURNITURE COVERED WITH CERTAIN FABRICS

ADJUSTMENT OF MAXIMUM PRICES

For the reasons set forth in an opinion issued simultaneously herewith, and filed with the Division of the Federal Register, and pursuant to § 1499.159b of Maximum Price Regulation No. 188, it is ordered:

SECTION 1. Purpose of this order. The purpose of this order is to establish a method by which manufacturers of household furniture may determine their maximum prices for articles to which they apply cover fabrics whose maximum prices have been increased under Supplementary Order No. 131.

SEC. 2. What this order covers. This covers articles of household furniture (as defined in Order No. 4800 under Maximum Price Regulation No. 188) to which the manufacturer applies cover fabrics as to which his purchase invoice contains a "prior ceiling price" as well as a selling price. (Revised Maximum Price Regulation No. 39 requires each person who sells decorative fabrics to furniture manufacturers at maximum prices which have been adjusted to show both of these figures on every invoice covering a sale to a furniture manufacturer.)

The word "you", as used in this order, means a manufacturer who makes a sale or delivery of articles covered by this order.

SEC. 3. What this order does. This order establishes two methods for determining maximum prices for articles covered by this order. If you do not have a customary or established cover grading system which is based upon the cost of your cover fabrics, you must use Method A. If you do have such a cover grading system, you may elect to determine all of your maximum prices under Method B instead of under Method A. However, you may not determine some of your maximum prices under Method A and others under Method B. All of your maximum prices must be determined under the same method.

SEC. 4. How you find your maximum price for an article covered by this order. This section tells you how to compute your maximum price for an article covered by this order. Making these computations, the "properly established maximum price" which you must use is exclusive of all permitted increases.

(a) Method A: If you do not have an established cover grading system which is based upon the cost of your cover fabrics or if you do have such a method but elect to determine all of your maximum prices under this method instead of under Method B below, your maximum price for an article covered by this order is the total of the following:

(1) Your properly established maximum price for the article, determined by using as your fabric cost the "prior ceiling price" as it appears on your purchase invoice, and

(2) The difference per yard between that "prior ceiling price" and your actual invoice cost, multiplied by the number of yards applied to the article.

EXAMPLE OF HOW A MANUFACTURER FINDS HIS MAXIMUM PRICE FOR AN ARTICLE COVERED BY THIS ORDER UNDER METHOD A

A manufacturer receives from his supplier an invoice for cover fabric, and that invoice contains a "prior ceiling price" of 50¢ per yard and a selling price of 62½¢ per yard. His properly established maximum price exclusive of all permitted increases for a sofa covered in ten yards of this fabric (before his cost of that fabric was increased) is $50.00. To that $50.00 he adds $1.25, which is the difference between the "prior ceiling price" of the fabric (50¢) and his actual invoice cost (62½¢), or 12½¢, multiplied by ten yards. His maximum price as determined under Method A is, therefore, $51.25.

(b) Method B: If you have a customary or established cover grading system which is based upon the cost of your cover fabric, you may elect to determine all of your maximum prices as follows, instead of in accordance with Method A above:

Step 1: Find the grade in which the fabric belongs, based on the "prior ceiling price" which appears on your supplier's invoice. If this grade is the highest-cost grade for which you have properly established maximum prices, do not use Steps 2 and 3, but compute your maximum price under paragraph (c) of this section.

Step 2: Find the "midpoint" of the cost grade which is next higher than the grade found in Step 1. You do this by adding the lowest cost in that grade to the highest cost in that grade and dividing the result by two.

Step 3: If your invoice cost for the fabric does not exceed the "midpoint" found in Step 2, your maximum price for the article is its properly established maximum price when covered with fabric belonging in the grade found in Step 1.

If your invoice cost for the fabric exceeds the "midpoint" found in Step 2, your maximum price for the article is its properly established maximum price when covered with fabric belonging in the cost grade which is next higher than the grade found in Step 1.

(c) If the cover grade found in Step 1 is the highest-cost cover grade for which you have a properly established maximum price for the article, you compute its maximum price as follows:

Step 1: Find the difference between the lowest cost and the highest cost in that grade and add one-half of that difference to the highest cost in the grade.

Step 2: If your invoice cost for the fabric does not exceed the amount found in Step 1 above, your maximum price for the article is its properly established maximum price when covered with fabric belonging in your highest-cost grade.

Step 3: If your invoice cost for the fabric exceeds the amount found in Step 1, your maximum price for the article is the total of the following:

(1) Your maximum price for the article when covered in your highest-cost grade of fabric, and

(2) The difference between that maximum price and your maximum price for the article when covered in that grade of fabric which is next lower than your highest-cost grade.

EXAMPLE OF HOW A MANUFACTURER FINDS HIS MAXIMUM PRICES FOR ARTICLES COVERED BY THIS ORDER UNDER METHOD B

A manufacturer has the following properly established maximum prices for a particular sofa:

Grade and cost per yard:	Properly established maximum price of sofa
A—up to $0.50	$60 00
B—$0.50 and up to $0.75	63 75
C—$0.75 and up to $1.00	67 50
D—$1.00 and up to $1.25	71 25
E—$1.25 and up to $1.50	75 00
F—$1.50 and up to $1.75	78 75
G—$1.75 and up to $2.00	82 50
H—$2.00 and up to $2.25	86 25
I—$2.25 and up to $2.50	90 00

He receives an invoice from his fabric supplier on which appears a "prior ceiling price" of 75¢ and a selling price of 94¢. Based on its "prior ceiling price," this fabric belongs in his Grade C. The "midpoint of the next highest-cost grade (Grade D) is $1.13. Since his actual invoice cost for this fabric (94¢) does not exceed that midpoint, his maximum price for the sofa is its properly established maximum price in Grade C, or $67.50.

He receives another invoice from his fabric supplier on which appears a "prior ceiling price" of $1.96 and a selling price of $2.45. Based on its "prior ceiling price" this fabric belongs in his Grade G. The "midpoint" of his next higher cost grade (Grade H) is $2.13. Since his actual invoive cost for this fabric ($2.45) exceeds that midpoint, his maximum price for the sofa is its properly established maximum price in Grade H, or $86.25. (Note that his maximum price for the article is its properly established maximum price in that cost grade which is next higher than the one in which the fabric belongs based on its "prior ceiling price," even though, based on its actual invoice cost, the fabric belongs in Grade I).

SEC. 5. Relation between this order and other orders and regulations. (a) The provisions of this order supersede the provisions of Maximum Price Regulation No. 188 to the extent that they are inconsistent with the provisions of that regulation.

(b) Order No. 4800 under Maximum Price Regulation No. 188, Order No. 8 under § 1499.159c of Maximum Price Regulation No. 188, and orders issued to individual manufacturers under other adjustment provisions. You may increase the maximum price for an article established in accordance with this order by the applicable percentage amount permitted by Order No. 4800 under Maximum Price Regulation No. 188, or by Order No. 8 under § 1499.159e of Maximum Price Regulation No. 188, or by an individual order which has been issued to you under any other adjustment provision.

SEC. 6. Reports. Before delivering or offering for delivery any article at a maximum price determined under this order, you must file a signed report with the Office of Price Administration, Washington 25, D. C. That report shall contain the following information.

(a) The date of the report

(b) Your name and address

(c) The method (i. e., Method A or Method B) which you have elected to use in determining all of your maximum prices for articles covered by this order.

You must keep available for inspection by the Office of Price Administration a copy of the report you have filed under this section, for so long as the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended, remains in effect.

Effective date. This order shall become effective May 13, 1946.

NOTE: The reporting and record-keeping requirements of this order have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

Issued this 8th day of May 1946.

Administrator.

CERTAIN RUBBER COMMODITIES

AUTHORIZATION OF MAXIMUM PRICES

Order No. 117 under § 1315.1560c of Maximum Price Regulation 220 is redesignated Revised Order No. 117 and is revised and amended to read as follows:

For the reasons set forth in an opinion issued simultaneously herewith and filed with the Division of the Federal Register, and pursuant to § 1315.1560c of Maximum Price Regulation 220, it is ordered:

(a) Applicability. This order establishes maximum prices at all levels of sales for all bathing or shower caps.

(b) Maximum prices for sales at all levels of full head-shaped molded bathing caps with or without chin straps and made of natural and/or buna-S rubber, hereinafter referred to as the basic caps.—(1) Manufacturers' maximum prices. The maximum prices for sales by manufacturers of the caps described in paragraph (b) above to all classes of purchasers shall be:

Manufacturers' maximum prices per dozen, boxed	For sales to—Wholesalers	Chain stores	All other retailers
Aviator type (with chin strap)	$3.60	$3.78	$4.20
Diver type (without chin strap)	3.20	3.38	3.75

(2) Wholesalers' maximum prices. The maximum prices for sales by wholesalers of the basic caps described in paragraph (b) above, shall be:

Wholesalers' maximum prices per dozen, boxed
Aviator type (with chin strap)	$4.60
Diver type (without chin strap)	4.10

(3) Maximum retail prices. The maximum prices for sales by retailers of the basic caps described in paragraph (b) above shall be determined as follows:

Aviator cap (with chin strap) If your net cost per dozen, boxed, is: [2]	Your maximum price per cap is—
$3.78 or below	$0.49
$3.79 to $4.20	.54
Over $4.20	.59
Diver cap (without chin strap) If your net cost per dozen, boxed, is: [2]
$3.38 or below	.43
$3.39 to $3.75	.48

[2] Net cost is invoice cost not including freight, quantity discounts, and cash discounts.

(c) Maximum prices for sales at all levels of all bathing and shower caps other than the basic caps described in paragraph (b) above—(1) Caps which the manufacturer proposes to be sold at all levels at prices lower than those specified for the basic diver style caps described in paragraph (b) above. The maximum prices for caps which the manufacturer proposes to be sold at all levels at prices lower than those specified at all levels for the basic diver style caps described in paragraph (b) above, shall be the prices proposed by the manufacturer in a report that he shall file with the Office of Price Administration. Such report shall include the manufacturers' proposed prices to all classes of purchasers and the proposed resale prices for wholesalers and retailers. He shall compute his wholesalers' proposed resale prices per dozen caps by applying the divisional factor of 0.783 to the wholesalers' net invoice cost as defined in footnote [2] to paragraph (b) above. He shall compute his proposed retailers' resale price for each cap by applying the divisional factor of 7.78 to the retailers' net invoiced cost per dozen as defined in footnote [2] to paragraph (b) above. The manufacturer shall at the same time submit a sample of the cap being priced. The maximum prices proposed by the manufacturer are not his maximum prices until the report and sample have been submitted to the OPA. The OPA may by order adjust the maximum price proposed and established for caps under subparagraph (1) which adjusted price will not apply retroactively.

(2) Caps which the manufacturer proposes to sell at prices higher than those specified for the basic caps described in paragraph (b) above.—(i) Caps which the manufacturer produced and sold or offered to sell during March 1942. The maximum prices for a cap which the manufacturer proposes to sell at prices higher than those specified for the basic caps described in paragraph (b) above, and which (except for the substitution of synthetic or substitute rubber for natural rubber) is identical to a cap which he produced and sold or offered to sell during March 1942, shall be the prices computed and reported by the manufacturer to the Office of Price Administration, Washington, D. C., and shall be computed by the manufacturer as follows:

(a) The maximum prices for sales by the manufacturer shall be the prices specified for sales to the indicated classes of purchasers for the basic cap described in paragraph (b) above, plus the dollar-and-cent difference in the manufacturer's sales prices to such purchasers between that cap and the basic cap as of March 1, 1942. For example, if the manufacturer on March 1, 1942, sold his basic cap to chain stores at $2.50 per dozen and his specialty cap to chain stores at $4.00 per dozen, his maximum prices for sales to chain stores of the specialty cap would be $1.50 plus $3.78, or $5.28.

(b) The maximum prices for sales by wholesalers shall be computed by the manufacturer by applying the divisional factor of .783 to the wholesaler's net invoice cost as defined in footnote [2] to paragraph (b) above.

(c) The maximum prices for sales by retailers, per cap, shall be computed by the manufacturer by applying the divisional factor of 7.78 to the retailer's net invoice cost, per dozen, as defined in footnote [2] to paragraph (b) above.

The maximum prices reported by the manufacturer are not his maximum prices until the report and sample of the cap being priced have been submitted to the OPA. Such report shall show the manufacturer's highest sales prices during March 1942 to his various classes of purchasers for the basic cap as well as for the cap being priced.

(ii) All other caps. The maximum prices for caps which the manufacturer proposes to sell at prices higher than those specified for the basic caps described in paragraph (b) above, and which are not identical to any cap which he produced or sold or offered to sell during March 1942, shall be a price determined by the OPA upon application therefor by the manufacturer. Such application shall include:

(a) A detailed breakdown of current raw material costs, other factory costs, and general, administrative and selling overhead.

(b) The manufacturer's proposed selling prices to all classes of purchasers and his proposed resale prices for wholesalers and retailers. He shall compute his proposed wholesalers' resale prices per dozen caps by applying the divisional factor of

.783 to the wholesalers' net invoiced cost as defined in footnote [3] to paragraph (b) above. He shall compute his proposed retailers' resale prices per cap by applying the divisional factor of 7.78 to the retailers' net invoiced cost per dozen as defined in footnote [3] to paragraph (b) above.

(c) The manufacturer shall at the same time submit a sample of the cap being priced.

The applicant may not sell or offer for sale such bathing cap to be priced under this subdivision (ii) until an order establishing the maximum price has been issued by the OPA.

(d) Revocation of previously existing maximum prices for certain caps. For a cap described in paragraph (c) of this order that was actually produced prior to May 8, 1946, the manufacturer's, wholesaler's, retailer's maximum prices shall be the manufacturer's, wholesaler's, and retailer's maximum prices, respectively, that existed immediately prior to May 8, 1946. These maximum prices for such sales are revoked for manufacturer's sales and deliveries, effective May 22, 1946, for wholesaler's sales and deliveries, effective May 29, 1946, for retailer's sales and deliveries, effective June 5, 1946. The manufacturer's, wholesaler's, and retailer's maximum prices for the cap effective after such revocation are the prices for the manufacturer's, wholesaler's, and retailer's sales, respectively, that are derived by using the method set forth in paragraph (c) of this order.

(e) Terms, discounts, and allowances. The prices established under paragraphs (b), (c), and (d) of this order shall be subject to the same cash discount and transportation allowances that were in effect to any purchasers or classes of purchasers by the seller during March 1942.

(f) Notification. With or prior to the first delivery by a seller to any reseller of the commodities covered by this order, the seller shall notify such reseller in writing of the maximum retail prices for sales of the commodities as established under paragraphs (b) or (c) of this order. If the reseller is a wholesaler, such notification shall also include a notification of the maximum wholesale prices for sales of the commodities together with a statement that the wholesaler is required to notify his purchasers of the maximum retail prices for sales of the commodities as established by paragraphs (b) or (c) of this order.

(g) Relationship of this order to MPR 220, MPR 580, and the GMPR. The prices established by this order supersede the pricing provisions of MPR 220, the GMPR, and MPR 580, with respect to sales for which ceiling prices are established by this order. All provisions of MPR 220, GMPR, and MPR 580 not inconsistent with this order apply to sales of the commodities covered by this order at the manufacturers', wholesalers', and retailers' levels, respectively.

This order may be revoked or amended at any time.

NOTE: The reporting provisions of this order have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

This revised order shall become effective May 8, 1946.

Issued this 8th day of May 1946.

For the reasons set forth in an opinion issued simultaneously herewith, and under the authority vested in the Regional Administrator of Region I of the Office of Price Administration by sections 9 and 20 of Revised Maximum Price Regulation No. 251, it is ordered:

SECTION I. What this order does. This order fixes maximum prices for the following services when sold on a customer's hourly basis, and performed in connection with premises located in the State of New Hampshire:

(1) Painting and paperhanging;
(2) Carpentry;
(3) Electrical wiring;
(4) Plumbing, heating and steamfitting;
(5) Masonry and bricklaying.

SEC. II. Relation to Revised Maximum Price Regulation 251. Except as otherwise provided in this order, this order supersedes section 6, 8 and 18 of Revised Maximum Price Regulation No. 251 with respect to sales covered by the Order. Except to the extent that they are inconsistent with the provisions of this order, however, all other sections of Revised Maximum Price Regulation No. 251, together with all amendments thereto which have been or may be issued, shall apply to sales covered by this order.

SEC. III. Maximum prices—(a) Maximum prices for the services covered by this order. 1. Maximum prices for painting and paperhanging services done on a customer's hourly basis shall be determined in accordance with the methods set forth in Appendix A attached to and made part of this order.

2. Maximum prices for carpentry services done on a customer's hourly basis shall be determined in accordance with the methods set forth in Appendix B attached to and made part of this order.

3. Maximum prices for electrical wiring services done on a customer's hourly basis shall be determined in accordance with the methods set forth in Appendix C attached to and made part of this order.

4. Maximum prices for plumbing, steamfitting, and heating services done on a customer's hourly basis shall be determined in accordance with the methods set forth in Appendix D attached to and made part of this order.

5. Maximum prices for masonry and bricklaying services done on a customer's hourly basis shall be determined in accordance with the methods set forth in Appendix E attached to and made part of this order.

(b) Materials. Maximum prices for all materials (including installed equipment) supplied by any seller in connection with a sale of services covered by this order shall be the net cost of the materials or equipment to the seller, not to exceed the maximum price of his supplier as established by applicable maximum price regulations, plus the same dollars-and-cents margin charged by the seller on sales of the same or similar materials to purchasers of the same class during the month of March 1942. A seller of services covered by this order who also is engaged regularly in the business of selling building materials and building equipment may use as his net cost of the materials supplied by him a price not to exceed the maximum price applicable on sales to purchasers of the class of which sellers covered by this order are a part. A seller who was not in business during the month of March, 1942 will use the dollars-and-cents margin in effect for his most closely competitive seller during March 1942.

SEC. IV. Subcontractors' services. The maximum price which a seller may charge for subcontracted services shall be the subcontractor's maximum price established under this order, or other applicable regulation, plus a margin of 10 percent.

SEC. V. Other maximum charges—(a) Computation of time. The number of hours to be charged against any job shall be counted from the time the workman leaves the shop or from the time he leaves the previous job (whichever is later) until he completes the job if he proceeds to another job, or until he returns to the shop, if he proceeds there directly. For any job extending into more than one day, time in transit to and from the job may be charged only once. The hours for which charges are made shall not in any event exceed those shown in the seller's payroll records nor those shown in records required to be kept by the seller under section VII of this order.

(b) Overtime. Overtime hours of work performed at the customer's request on Saturdays, Sundays or legal holidays or outside of regular working hours on any day may be charged for at the same ratio to straight time as the seller's agreement with his employees legally requires or authorizes him to pay.

(c) Mileage charge. A maximum charge of 10¢ per mile for the use of each vehicle required and actually used for the transportation of workers to or from the job may be charged for the distance actually traveled beyond a three (3) mile radius from the seller's place of business.

(d) Minimum charge. For any service or services covered by this order which require less than one hour of labor, a minimum charge equal to the maximum customer's rate for one hour may be made.

(e) Use of equipment. Charges may be made for the use of equipment required for the performance of work covered by this order or for the transportation of materials and equipment at the maximum prices established for the use or rental of such equipment by any applicable maximum price regulation. If the rental or use of such equipment is not covered by a Maximum Price Regulation charges may be made for the use thereof on the same basis as the seller charged during the month of March, 1942, or if he was not then in business, on the same basis as his most closely competitive seller of the same class charged in March, 1942.

(f) Charges for room and board. In any case in which services covered by this order are performed in connection with premises located at such a distance from the seller's place of business that the seller is required to pay room and board expenses for himself or for his employees while working on the job, the exact amount of such expense actually paid by the seller may be charged to the buyer of the services.

(g) Adjustment to the nearest nickel. When the maximum price calculated under this order is not divisible by 5¢, it may be adjusted to the nearest amount so divisible. The fraction of 2½¢ in the maximum price may be adjusted upward to the next higher multiple of 5¢.

SEC. VI. Adjustment provisions—(a) Government required or authorized wage increases. Any seller subject to this order whose hourly wages are increased after May 4, 1946 by reason of a predetermination of wage rates by the Secretary of Labor under the Davis-Bacon Act, or by an order or authorization of the Wage Adjustment Board, National Wage Stabilization Board, or the Office of Economic Stabilization, or by any other federal wage stabilization agency, may add such increased labor cost including additional payments for unemployment insurance, workmen's compensation, old age benefits, and public liability insurance to his customer's hourly rate. Every seller adding such increased labor cost to his customer's hourly rate or rates shall keep available for inspection by the Office of Price Administration the order or authorization of the federal agency requiring or permitting such increase and satisfactory evidence that the seller has actually put such increase into effect.

SEC. VII. Records and invoices. (a) Each seller subject to this order shall keep, at his place of business, available for inspection by representatives of the Office of Price Administration for so long as the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended, remains in effect, records concerning each sale covered by this order, showing the following:

1. Names and addresses of the seller and the purchaser.
2. Location of the premises.
3. Date work completed.
4. Brief description of each service rendered and a statement that the charges therefor are made on a customer's hourly basis.
5. The customer's hourly rate and the number of hours for which a charge is made.
6. Description of materials furnished and charges therefor.
7. Total charge.

Upon request of any purchaser the seller shall furnish the purchaser with an invoice containing all the above-described information.

(b) Each seller subject to this order shall, if he has productive employees, keep the records indicated below and shall make such records available for inspection by representatives of the Office of Price Administration.

"Productive employees" are employees who actually perform services covered by this order, as distinguished from clerical or administrative employees.

1. Name of each productive employee.
2. Number of hours worked each day by each productive employee.
3. Number of hours worked each pay period by each productive employee.
4. Total wages paid to each productive employee each pay period.

SEC. VIII. Definitions. (a) "Hourly wage" means the hourly straight time wage rate the seller had in effect on October 3, 1942, plus any "legal increase" since that date.

(b) The term "legal increase" means:

1. In the case of employers of eight or less, any wage increase actually put into effect prior to July 20, 1944, plus any increases since that date resulting from predetermination of wage rates by the Secretary of Labor under the Davis-Bacon Act, or authorized by any Federal wage stabilization agency.

2. In the case of employers of more than eight, any increase resulting from predetermination of wage rates by the Secretary of Labor under the Davis-Bacon Act, or authorized by any Federal wage stabilization agency.

(c) In the case of a seller who first became an employer after October, 1942, the term "hourly wage" means his legally proper straight time wage rate.

(d) A seller's "most closely competitive seller of the same class" is a seller who (1) is furnishing the same or similar services to the same class of purchasers, (2) is closely competitive in the sale of such services, and (3) is located nearest to the seller.

SEC. IX. Exclusions. This order does not apply to the following:

(a) Sales of services or installed building materials or equipment which were not covered by Revised Maximum Price Regulation 251 immediately prior to the effective date of the order.

(b) Sales of services or installed building materials or equipment when sold on a unit-price basis (other than customer's hourly basis), on a cost-plus basis, or on a lump-sum basis. Such sales are governed by RMPR 251.

(c) Sales of services or installed building materials or equipment made pursuant to a written contract executed within 30 days prior to the effective date of this order and completed within 30 days after the effective date of this order.

For the reasons set forth in the accompanying opinion and by virtue of the authority vested in me by the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended, and Executive Orders Nos. 9250, 9328, 9599, I find that the issuance of Amendment No. 6 to Regional Order No. G–23 under § 1499.18 (c) to the General Maximum Price Regulation is necessary to correct maladjustments and inequities which would interfere with the effective transition to a peacetime economy.

[Region VI Order G–3 Under MPR 376]

TOMATOES IN CHICAGO REGION

For the reasons set forth in an opinion issued simultaneously herewith and under the authority vested in the Regional Administrator by section 4 (c) of Maximum Price Regulation No. 376, it is hereby ordered:

1. Maximum prices of tomatoes. The maximum price for sales of tomatoes within Region VI of the Office of Price Administration shall be the applicable base price set forth in Table A plus the permitted transportation and protective charges, to which shall be added the applicable markup determined by reference to Table B.

2. Geographic applicability. This order applies to all sales or deliveries of tomatoes (except sales at retail) within Region VI of the Office of Price Administration, consisting of the states of Illinois, Wisconsin, South Dakota, North Dakota, Iowa, Minnesota, Nebraska, and Lake County, Indiana.

3. Definitions. (a) "Freight or transportation cost" from basing point to wholesale receiving point means the cost per package or pound for transportation by the cheapest customary and generally available means. It does not include the cost of refrigeration, other protective services, diversions, demurrage, local cartage or unloading, but it does include the transportation tax imposed by Section 6.20 of the Revenue Act of 1942.

(b) "Protective service charges" means the actual amount paid by the buyer for such services performed in connection with moving tomatoes from the point of entry for imported tomatoes, and from point of origin for domestic tomatoes, to the wholesale receiving point.

(c) "Basing point" means a selected point in an area of production designated as a basing point in this order, from which freight to the wholesale receiving point is computed for the purpose of calculating a maximum price.

(d) "Wholesale receiving point" means any place at which an intermediate seller receives fresh tomatoes.

(e) "Primary receiver" means a person, who, for his own account and profit buys the tomatoes being priced, in unbroken carloads or unbroken truckloads for resale in less-than-carlots or less-than-trucklots to persons other than ultimate consumers.

(f) "Secondary jobber" means a person, other than a service wholesaler or retailer, who, for his own account and profit, purchases the particular tomatoes being priced in less-than-carlots or less-than-trucklots and resells in any quantity.

(g) "Service wholesaler" means a person who maintains a store or warehouse at which the tomatoes being priced are received and stored or warehoused, who receives the commodity at the premises of his store or warehouse, has facilities for cold storage, ripening, trimming, sorting, washing, packing and other handling of tomatoes, who employs salesmen to call on the trade in the city or at country points which he services and who sells the tomatoes being priced to retail stores, government procurement agencies or institutional buyers.

(h) "Commission merchant" means a person who receives tomatoes on consignment from the owner of such tomatoes, and sells them for the account of such owner.

(i) "Ex-warehouse sale" means a sale in less-than-carlots or less-than-trucklots from a store or warehouse, owned or leased in whole or in part by the seller, into which the tomatoes have been unloaded.

(j) "Delivered" means delivered to the buyer's premises within the free delivery zone, and, in the case of sales to retailers, delivered to the retail store in such zone.

(k) "Free delivery zone" means the zone, as defined by an order issued by any district office of the Office of Price Administration in Region VI, within which fresh fruits and vegetables are required to be delivered to the buyer without the addition of delivery charges. If there is no order, then it is the customary area within which the seller made free deliveries during the period from February 18 to February 22, 1943, without any additions to or deductions from, the established maximum prices.

(l) "Repacked tomatoes" means tomatoes which have been removed from the original container and graded as to color, size, and degree of ripeness, and repacked in any container. All other tomatoes shall be considered original tomatoes.

(m) "Consumer type carton" means a carton, made of pasteboard or other similar material, holding not more than 1½ pounds net weight, and with or without cellophane windows or other devices for display purposes.

(n) Unless the context otherwise requires, the definitions set forth in Maximum Price Regulation 376 shall apply to all terms not specifically defined herein.

4. Repacking markups. For repacked tomatoes, the markups permitted by Table B may be added to the prices shown in Table A for such tomatoes. However, if the repacked tomatoes are a mixture of tomatoes grown east and west of the Mississippi River, the markups in Table B may be added only to the prices shown in Table A for tomatoes grown west of the Mississippi River and in Mexico.

5. Delivery charges. (a) For sales ex-warehouse by a service wholesaler or secondary jobber to a retailer, government agency or institutional buyer, the maximum price in each case is the maximum price shown in Column 5 of Table B, less 5¢ per container under 50 pounds (gross weight) and 10¢ per container over 50 pounds (gross weight), unless the district office of the Office of Price Administration having authority to establish delivery charges has or hereafter establishes other charges. If charges are established, they shall be deducted from the maximum prices in Column 5 of Table B, when sales are made ex-warehouse.

(b) Service wholesalers and secondary jobbers may add delivery charges to the maximum prices established in accordance with this order, when tomatoes are delivered to the premises of purchasers beyond the free delivery zone. Where district orders have been issued under any Maximum Price Regulation covering sales of fresh fruits or vegetables, the additional delivery charges shall be those established by the orders. In the absence of a district office order, charges for deliveries beyond the free delivery zone shall be the lowest contract or common carrier rate for available transportation from the seller's place of business to the premises of the purchaser. The amount added as a delivery charge shall not exceed 35¢ per cwt., for tomatoes delivered, for the first 25 miles beyond the free delivery zone and 5¢ per cwt. for each successive 25 miles, the total amount not to exceed 50¢ per cwt.

6. Minimum net weight. The seller who first packs or repacks tomatoes in a crate, box, lug, consumer package or other container shall place on the container, in legible printing or writing, the minimum net weight of the tomatoes contained therein. A seller shall place such statement on an original crate, box or lug which does not already carry a statement of such minimum net weight.

7. Hothouse tomatoes. Each container in which tomatoes grown in hothouses are sold, shall contain the word "hothouse" in legible printing or writing. It shall be the responsibility of each seller of such tomatoes to see that this requirement is complied with.

8. Invoices. Each invoice covering the sale of tomatoes shall indicate the origin of the tomatoes being sold, and whether they are original or repacked tomatoes. Each invoice covering the sale of hothouse tomatoes shall contain the word "hothouse" in the description of the tomatoes being sold.

9. Evasion. The price limitations which are set forth in this order shall not be evaded, whether by direct or indirect methods, in connection with any offer, solicitation, agreement, sale, delivery, purchase or receipt of or relating to fresh fruits or vegetables alone or in connection with any other commodity or by way of commission, service, transportation or any other charge or discount, premium or other privilege or by tying-agreements or other trade understanding or otherwise.

10. Relation of this order to Office of Price Administration Regulations. Except as modified by this order, the provisions of Maximum Price Regulation No. 376, or any other applicable regulation or order of the Office of Price Administration, shall remain in full force and effect and shall not be evaded by any change in business or trade practices in effect between February 18, 1943, and February 22, 1943.

11. Order G–2 under Maximum Price Regulation 376, is hereby superseded.

This order shall remain in effect so long as Maximum Price Regulation No. 376 shall remain in effect, or until revoked, amended, modified or superseded.

This order has been approved by the United States Department of Agriculture.

Effective the 29th day of April 1946.

Issued April 25, 1946.

Regional Administrator.

NOTICE OF FILING AND NOTICE OF AND ORDER FOR HEARING

At a regular session of the Securities and Exchange Commission, held at its office in the City of Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, on the 7th day of May A. D. 1946.

All interested persons are referred to said document, which is on file in the office of the Commission, for a statement of the transactions therein proposed, which may be summarized as follows:

Central Indiana proposes to issue and sell, pursuant to the competitive bidding requirements of Rule U-50, $3,250,000 principal amount of First Mortgage Bonds, due 1971, said bonds to be issued under and secured by an Indenture of Mortgage dated September 1, 1942, as amended by First and Second Supplemental Indentures the latter to be dated May 1, 1946. The new bonds will be secured by a first mortgage lien on substantially all of the properties of Central Indiana. The proceeds to be derived from the sale of such bonds will be applied toward the redemption of the $2,944,000 principal amount of First Mortgage Bonds to be outstanding at the date of the proposed financing, and the remainder of the proceeds will be set aside as a construction fund for property additions and betterments. The remaining $166,000 principal amount of First Mortgage Bonds presently outstanding will be redeemed on June 1, 1946, through the operation of the Renewal and Replacement Fund deposited with the Trustee. The redemption premium on the First Mortgage Bonds to be redeemed, aggregating $209,760, together with the accrued interest thereon and the expense in connection with the issuance of the new bonds, will be paid by Central Indiana from its general funds.

Simultaneously with or prior to the issuance and sale of the new bonds, the Certificate of Incorporation of Central Indiana will be amended to increase and reclassify the authorized Common Stock to 500,000 shares of $10 par value per share and to reclassify the presently outstanding 40,000 shares of Common Stock $100 par value per share into 400,000 shares of Common Stock, $10 par value per share. Consolidated will then surrender the 40,000 shares of $100 par value Common Stock now held by it to Central Indiana in exchange for the 400,000 shares of $10 par value Common Stock, and Central Indiana will cancel the shares of $100 par value Common Stock received in such exchange. The new Common Stock to be so acquired by Consolidated will be held for subsequent disposition and divestment pursuant to Section 11 of the Act, and will be pledged in substitution for the 40,000 shares now so pledged, under a Loan Agreement dated November 15, 1945, between Consolidated and certain banks.

The company has designated sections 6 (b), 7, 10, 12 (c) and 12 (d) of the Act and Rules U-42, U-43, U-44 and U-50 promulgated thereunder as applicable to the proposed transactions.

Notice is hereby given that an application-declaration has been filed with this Commission by Illinois Power Company, a registered holding company and a direct subsidiary of North American Light & Power Company and an indirect subsidiary of The North American Company, both registered holding companies.

All interested persons are referred to said application-declaration, which is on file in the office of this Commission for a statement of transactions therein proposed, which may be summarized as follows:

Illinois Power Company proposes (a) to pay in cash dividend arrearages of $3.11 per share as of March 1, 1946 on its presently outstanding 483,500 shares of 5% Cumulative Convertible Preferred Stock, $50 par value, which by its terms, is convertible at any time into two shares of Common Stock, and call such Preferred Stock for redemption at the redemption price of $52.50 per share, pursuant to an underwriting commitment whereby the underwriter will purchase such number of additional authorized shares of Common Stock as may be necessary to provide funds for redemption of such Preferred Stock which is not tendered for conversion into Common Stock in accordance with its rights following the call for redemption; and (b) to issue and sell 200,000 shares $50 par value of a new series of authorized preferred stock, the dividend rate to be subsequently determined, the proceeds of which, together with such treasury funds as may be necessary, will be used to pay $24 in cash in full payment to the holders thereof of each of the outstanding 483,195 Dividend Arrears Certificates, pursuant to their terms.

The application-declaration represents that additional information will be supplied by amendment.

It appearing to the Commission that it is appropriate in the public interest and in the interest of investors and consumers that a hearing be held with respect to said matters, and that said application-declaration shall not be granted or permitted to become effective except pursuant to further order of this Commission;

It is ordered, That a hearing on said application-declaration under the applicable provisions of the act and the rules of the Commission thereunder, be held on May 28, 1946 at 10:00 A. M., E. D. S. T., at the offices of the Securities and Exchange Commission, 18th and Locust Streets, Philadelphia 3, Pennsylvania. On such day the hearing room clerk in Room 318 will advise as to the room in which such hearing shall be held. Any person desiring to be heard or otherwise wishing to participate in these proceedings shall file with the Secretary of the Commission on or before May 24, 1946 his request or application therefor as provided by Rule XVII of the Commission's rules of practice.

It is further ordered, That Allen MacCullen or any other officer or officers of the Commission designated by it for that purpose, shall preside at such hearing. The officer so designated to preside at such hearing is hereby authorized to exercise all powers granted to the Commission under section 18 (c) of said act and to a trial examiner under the Commission's rules of practice.

It is further ordered, That without limiting the scope of issues presented by the application-declaration, particular attention will be directed at the hearing to the following matters and questions:

1. Whether the proposed issuances and sales of securities are exempt from the requirements of section 7 of the act pursuant to section 6 (b) thereof, and if not, whether there is compliance with the requirements of section 7;

2. Whether the Dividend Arrears Certificates may, in view of the status of the Company's earned surplus accounts, be paid from the proceeds of preferred stock financing;

3. Whether the proposed transactions require adjustments of the Company's capital accounts and, if so, what appropriate corporate action is required.

4. Whether the proposed redemption of Preferred Stock contemplates the setting of an adequate period of time for the exercise of conversion rights by Preferred Stockholders;

5. Whether the terms and conditions of the proposed issuances and sales of securities are detrimental to the public interest or the interest of investors or consumers;

6. Whether accounting entries to be recorded in connection with the proposed transactions are proper and conform to sound accounting principles and otherwise meet the requirements of the act;

7. Whether the fees, commissions or other remuneration to be paid in connection with the proposed transactions are for necessary services and are reasonable in amount;

8. Whether it is necessary in the public interest or for the protection of investors or consumers to impose terms or conditions;

9. Whether, in general, the proposed transactions are determental to the public interest or to the interest of investors or consumers or will tend to circumvent any provisions of the act or the rules, regulations or orders promulgated thereunder.

It is further ordered, That the Secretary of this Commission shall serve notice of the aforesaid hearing by mailing a copy of this order to the Illinois Power Company and to the Illinois Commerce Commission by registered mail, and that notice of said hearing be given to all other persons by publication of this order in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

It is further ordered, That Illinois Power Company shall serve notice of the aforesaid hearing by mailing a copy of this order to each of its stockholders of record as of the date of this order, and that such mailing be completed at least ten days prior to the date of hearing set herein.

NEW ENGLAND PUBLIC SERVICE CO. AND PUBLIC SERVICE COMPANY OF NEW HAMPSHIRE

SUPPLEMENTAL ORDER WITH RESPECT TO COMMON STOCK

At a regular session of the Securities and Exchange Commission held at its office in the City of Philadelphia, Pa., on the 7th day of May 1946.

New England Public Service Company, a registered holding company, and its public-utility subsidiary, Public Service Company of New Hampshire ("New Hampshire"), having filed a joint application and declaration, and amendments thereto, pursuant to sections 6 (b), 7 (e), 9 (a) (1), 10 and 12 (c) of the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 and Rules U-42, U-43 and U-50 promulgated thereunder with respect to, among other matters, (a) the issuance and sale, pursuant to the competitive bidding requirements to Rule U-50, by New Hampshire of as much additional common stock, $10 par value, as may be required to provide the company with funds of approximately $5,000,000 and (b) the issuance and sale, pursuant to the competitive bidding requirements of Rule U-50, by New Hampshire of 102,000 shares of preferred stock $100 par value; said shares to be offered first, to the extent available, to the holders of the presently outstanding preferred stock; and

The Commission having by order dated April 11, 1946 granted said application, as amended, and permitted said declaration, as amended, to become effective, subject to the conditions, among others, that the proposed issuance and sale of additional common stock and the proposed issuance, exchange or sale of preferred stock by New Hampshire shall not be consummated until the results of competitive bidding pursuant to the requirements of Rule U-50 have been made a matter of record in these proceedings and a further order shall have been entered by the Commission in the light of the record so completed, jurisdiction being reserved to impose such further terms and conditions as may then be deemed appropriate; and

New Hampshire having, on April 23, 1946, filed a further amendment to the application and declaration herein setting forth, among other matters, the action taken by it to comply with the requirements of Rule U-50 with regard to the issuance, exchange and sale of the new preferred stock, and stating that it had accepted the bid of the group headed by The First Boston Corporation; and

The Commission having, on April 23, 1946, released jurisdiction over the price, dividend rate, and the bidder's compensation with respect to the new preferred stock and having granted said application, as further amended, and permitted said declaration, as further amended, to become effective; and having continued the reservation of jurisdiction with respect to the sale of the common stock to the public and with respect to the payment of all legal fees incurred in connection with the transactions; and

New Hampshire having, on May 7, 1946, filed a further amendment to said application and declaration stating that in accordance with the permission granted in said order of the Commission, dated April 11, 1946, it publicly invited sealed written bids, pursuant to Rule U-50, for the purchase from it, at an aggregate price of $5,000,000, of shares of its common stock, $10 par value, the number of shares to be determined by each bidder or group of bidders and designated in its bid, and that it received the following bids:

Kidder, Peabody & Co., and Blyth & Co., Inc.	133,142	$39.45
The First Boston Corp.	141,945	39.22
Harriman Ripley & Co., Inc., Smith, Barney & Co., and Kuhn, Loeb & Co.	147,929	33.84

Said amendment having further stated that New Hampshire has accepted the bid of the group headed by Kidder, Peabody & Co. and Blyth & Co., Inc. for the common stock, as set out above, and that the stock will be offered for sale to the public at a price of $39 per share resulting in an underwriter's spread of approximately $1.45 per share; and

The Commission having examined said amendment and having considered the record herein and finding no reason for imposing terms or conditions with respect to the price to be paid for said common stock and the underwriter's spread and its allocation:

It is ordered, That the jurisdiction heretofore reserved with respect to the competitive bidding employed in connection with the sale of said common stock, be, and the same hereby is, released, and that said application and declaration, as further amended, be, and the same hereby is, granted and permitted to become effective, subject, however, to the terms and conditions prescribed in Rule U-24.

It is further ordered, That jurisdiction heretofore specifically reserved over all legal fees incurred in connection with the transactions proposed in the said application and declaration be, and the same hereby is, continued.

By the Commission.

§ 164.1 Qualifications. Any alien who is a lawful permanent resident of the United States and who is about to depart temporarily therefrom may make application for a permit to reenter the United States.

§ 164.2 Application; form; fee. The application for a permit to reenter the United States shall be made, under oath, on Form I–131, which may be obtained from any office of the Immigration and Naturalization Service, and should be submitted at least 30 days before the proposed date of departure, to the Commissioner of Immigration and Naturalization or to the immigration and naturalization office prescribed in § 60.30 (a) of this chapter. A separate application must be made for each applicant. A parent or guardian may file an application in behalf of a child who is under the age of 14 years. Each application shall be accompanied by the statutory fee of $3, remitted as prescribed in § 60.30 (b) of this chapter. Each application shall also be accompanied by two photographs of the applicant, which shall meet the specifications in § 364.1 of this chapter. The application shall include: (a) Name currently used; (b) time, place, and manner of last recorded arrival in the United States; (c) name used at time of entry; (d) father's name and mother's maiden name; (e) age, marital status, and occupation at time of entry; (f) place and date of birth; (g) last permanent residence and name and address of nearest relative in country whence alien came; (h) name and address of person to whom destined at time of last entry; (i) personal description as of date of filing application; (j) by whom accompanied at time of last entry; (k) address in the United States, and what temporary address abroad will be; (l) marital status at the date of filing application, and if married the name and address of husband or wife; (m) nature of business or employment and name of employer; (n) port and date of proposed departure, name of vessel on which sailing, length of proposed absence, and reasons for going abroad.

§ 164.3 Action on application. (a) An application accepted by a field office shall be examined as to execution. If the application is improperly executed, it may be returned to the applicant with instructions. If there is doubt as to the applicant's qualifications, the applicant may be interviewed. A written question-and-answer statement may be taken. The examining officer shall endorse the application to show whether any such interview or the examination of the application disclosed ground for denial. The application shall be forwarded to the Commissioner with the fee, photographs, and any statements taken. At the same time, in cases where the applicant's entry to the United States is not recorded in the Central Office, a verification of such entry shall be forwarded, or caused to be forwarded by use of Form I–423, to the Commissioner.

(b) An application accepted by the Commissioner shall be examined as to execution and as to the applicant's qualifications. Verification of the applicant's entry to the United States shall be made. If the application is improperly executed, it may be returned to the applicant with instructions. If there is doubt as to the applicant's qualifications, the application may be forwarded to the appropriate field office for interview of the applicant.

(c) Any claim made in addition to, or in substitution for, any of those contained in the original application must be made under oath and filed in the same manner as the original application and will be subject to the same interrogation and investigation as required for the original application.

§ 164.4 Issuance; effect; delivery in United States. (a) If the Commissioner of Immigration and Naturalization finds that the applicant has the qualifications specified in § 164.1 and that the application is made in good faith, he shall issue the permit and it shall be valid for the time therein specified, not to exceed one year. Such permit will, however, have no effect under the immigration laws except to show that the alien to whom it is issued is returning from a temporary visit abroad.

(b) The Commissioner shall forward the permit to reenter to the office designated by the applicant, and the applicant shall secure it in person at such office prior to departure from the United States. Permits will not be delivered to one member of a family for another member or to one person for another. Before delivery of a permit is made, an immigrant inspector shall compare the photograph appearing thereon with the person calling for the permit and shall make delivery only upon satisfactory identification and where any minor discrepancies indicated by the Commissioner are satisfactorily explained. When a permit is delivered, the applicant shall sign it. All permits shall be endorsed, partly on the photograph and partly on the permit, by the officer making delivery. If it is concluded for any reason that the permit should not be delivered, it shall be returned to the Commissioner with a report of the facts.

(c) When an application for a permit to reenter the United States is denied, the fee shall be returned to the applicant.

§ 164.5 Emergent cases; delivery outside United States. Where the examining officer is satisfied at the time an application is submitted in person that an emergency exists which necessitates departure prior to the issuance of the permit, he shall require the foreign address of the applicant to be given in the application and shall affix a notation thereto concerning the nature of the emergency. Where such a request is made subsequent to the submission of the application, it shall be in the form of a sworn statement before an immigrant inspector setting forth the nature of the emergency and the foreign address to which it is desired the permit be mailed. The officer receiving the statement shall indicate thereon whether he is satisfied that an emergency exists and shall forward the statement to the Commissioner with a photograph of the applicant and with information as to the date on which the original application was mailed. In any emergent case, the Commissioner of Immigration and Naturalization may authorize the mailing of a permit to an applicant at a foreign address.

§ 164.6 Extensions. If the holder of a permit to reenter desires an extension thereof, he shall, prior to the expiration of the validity of such permit, file with the Commissioner of Immigration and Naturalization an application in writing stating (a) his name, and address in the United States; (b) when, where, and by what means he departed from the United States; (c) port of landing and date of arrival abroad; (d) countries visited in the order visited; (e) reason for requesting extension and period for which desired; and (f) applicant's foreign address to which permit is to be returned. The application should be executed under oath before an American consular officer. The application for extension shall be accompanied by the permit to reenter and by the statutory fee of $3, which shall be remitted as prescribed in § 60.30 (b) of this chapter and shall be payable in the United States in American money. If the application for extension is granted, such action shall be endorsed on the permit and the permit mailed to the applicant at his foreign address. If the extension is denied, the permit may be returned to the applicant if the remaining period of its validity permits of its use for return to the United States. On good cause, the validity of the permit to reenter may be extended for a period or periods not exceeding 6 months each. If an application for an extension is denied, the fee for the extension should be returned to the applicant.

§ 164.7 Disposition at port of entry. (a) The action in disposing of an application for admission to the United States of an immigrant presenting a permit to reenter the United States shall be endorsed on the permit in the space provided thereon and the permit shall be transmitted to the Commissioner: Provided, That where final action results in the exclusion of the alien, a permit shall not be forwarded to the Commissioner until the deportation or return of the alien: Provided, That a permit surrendered at a subport shall be forwarded directly to the Commissioner.

(b) When an alien admitted on a permit to reenter is in possession of a passport, the passport shall be stamped and signed by the admitting officer to show the date and place of admission and the number of the permit.

This order shall become effective on the date of its publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

TITLE 20—EMPLOYEES' BENEFITS

Chapter III—Social Security Board, Federal Security Agency

[Regs. 3,[1] Further Amended]

PART 403—FEDERAL OLD-AGE AND SURVIVORS INSURANCE

TIME OF FILING APPLICATIONS FOR BENEFITS

Effective January 1, 1940, except where otherwise stated, this regulation amends § 403.701 of Regulations No. 3 (Part 403, Title 20, Code of Federal Regulations, Cum. Supp.), as follows:

1. Paragraph (f) of § 403.701, Filing of applications and other forms, is amended by changing the second undesignated paragraph thereof to read as follows:

Except as otherwise provided herein, an application is considered to have been filed as of the date the application is received at an office of the Bureau or by an employee of the Board authorized to receive it. An application shall be considered to have been received:

(1) Effective April 1, 1943, if the application is deposited in and transmitted by United States mail and the fixing of the date of delivery as the date of filing would result in a loss or impairment of benefit rights, as of the date of mailing. The date appearing on the postmark (when available and legible) shall be prima facie evidence of the date of mailing.

(2) If an applicant expressed to a representative of the Bureau an intention to file a claim and his failure to file a formal application at that time is detrimental to his benefit rights, and resulted from the failure of such Bureau representative properly to advise or inform him concerning the requirements of the act or the Board's regulations thereunder as applied to the facts furnished by the applicant, or resulted from the action of such Bureau representative in informing him that an existing ruling precluded entitlement and subsequently such ruling was reversed, as of the date the applicant first expressed his intention to file, provided a formal application is filed and the applicant consents to such date as the date of receipt.

If the application is for primary insurance benefits or for recomputation of such benefits and if it is received not more than three months before the first month for which the applicant becomes entitled, the application shall be deemed to have been filed as of whichever date within three months after the month of receipt will result in entitlement to the greatest primary insurance benefits. An application for benefits beginning with a month other than the month in which the application is filed shall for the purpose of determining whether the conditions of eligibility have been satisfied, be deemed to have been filed in such other month.

2. Paragraph (f) of § 403.701 is further amended by deleting the second paragraph of Example 3.

3. Paragraph (f) of § 403.701 is further amended by adding thereto a new example designated as Example 4, as follows:

Example 4. A's application for primary insurance benefits is received by the Bureau on March 3, 1945. He states he has worked for wages of more than $14.99 in March 1945. His primary insurance benefit computed as of March 1945 is $32.72. If April 1, 1945, is considered the filing date, the primary insurance benefit will amount to $33.48. Since the wage earner cannot become eligible for a March benefit (see § 403.503 (a)), his application will be considered to have been filed as of April 1, 1945. If the wage earner had not worked for wages of $14.99 in March, his application would have been considered filed as of March 3, 1945, so that he might obtain a benefit for March. If the wage earner also files an application for recomputation of benefits before April 1, 1945, this application will be considered to have been filed as of April 1, 1945, so that he may obtain the larger benefit for April and all succeeding months.

In pursuance of sections 205 (a) and 1102 of the Social Security Act, as amended, the foregoing regulation adopted by the Board is hereby prescribed this 3d day of May, 1946.

[SEAL] SOCIAL SECURITY BOARD,
A. J. ALTMEYER,
Chairman.

Acting Federal Security Administrator.

APPLICATION FOR APPROVAL OF WAGE OR SALARY ADJUSTMENTS

§ 802.1 Form of application. (a) An application for approval of a wage or salary increase or decrease (including the institution of new wage or salary rates) except as prescribed in paragraph (b) of this section, shall be filed on National Wage Stabilization Board Form 10.

(b) An application for approval of a wage or salary increase or decrease involving persons employed in the building and construction industry subject to the jurisdiction of the Wage Adjustment Board as defined in § 801.5 of this chapter shall be filed on forms provided by the Wage Adjustment Board, Department of Labor, Washington, D. C.

(c) Application forms may be procured at any of the regional and local offices of the Wage and Hour and Public Contracts Divisions of the Department of Labor.

§ 802.2 Who may file application. (a) An application for approval of a wage or salary increase or decrease may be signed and filed by an employer alone in any case where the increase or decrease for which approval is sought does not affect any employees who are represented by a union.

(b) If a wage or salary increase or decrease affects any employees represented by a union, the applications may be signed both by the employer and the union. If the application is signed by the employer alone, it shall state in addition to the name and address of any affected union which has not signed the application, whether the application covers a wage increase based on an agreement between the employer and such union. Before any action is taken on such an application, notice of the filing of the application shall be sent by the Wage and Hour Office to any such union unless the union has already made known in writing its position with respect to the application. The notice will request such union to state (1) whether it has any objection to action being taken on the application and (2) in the event the application states that the wage increase is based on an agreement, whether it contests the existence of such agreement. Unless the union, within seven days from the date such notice is sent, files a statement objecting to action being taken in the case of an application not based on an agreement, or files a statement in the case of an application based on an agreement contesting existence of such an agreement, the application will then be acted on.

(c) Ordinarily, action shall not be taken on any application after the National Labor Relations Board or its agent or a similar State agency has ordered the holding of any election under its procedures to determine the status of a union as the collective bargaining agent for any of the employees involved in the application and until after a decision has been rendered as a result of such an election. After such an election, the procedure for processing the application shall be as prescribed in paragraph (b) of this section.

(d) An application for approval of a wage or salary increase or decrease may be filed on behalf of more than one employer provided that the application, if not signed by all employers joining in the application, shall state the name and address of each employer on whose behalf the application is filed and shall be accompanied by a written authorization from each such employer for the filing of the application. Any such application shall contain all requisite information required by the appropriate application for each of the employers covered by the application.

§ 802.3 Where to file applications. (a) Except as provided in paragraphs (b) and (c) of this section, all applications shall be filed with the nearest local office of the Wage and Hour Division of the Department of Labor and the latter will transmit the application to the National Board or the appropriate Board agent, as determined by the rules set forth in § 802.4.

(b) Applications involving wage or salary adjustments affecting employees in the building and construction industry, regardless of where employed, shall be filed directly with the Wage Adjustment Board, Department of Labor, Washington, D. C. Requests for the revision of wage rates subject to the Wage Stabilization Agreement of May 22, 1942, which are presented by local labor organizations affiliated with the Building and Construction Trades Department of the American Federation of Labor shall be filed only with the approval of the international or national labor organization, and shall be submitted through and approved by the Building and Construction Trades Department of the American Federation of Labor.

(c) Applications involving wage or salary adjustments of employees of government-owned, privately operated facilities of the War Department shall be filed with the War Department through the contracting officers to the technical service or command concerned in accordance with procedures established by that Department. Such applications will be transmitted by the War Department to the National Board for action by the National Board.

§ 802.4 Processing of applications. (a) Applications filed with a Wage and Hour Division office in accordance with the rules stated in § 802.3 will be forwarded for processing and action by the appropriate agency, in accordance with the following subparagraphs:

(1) The National Board will act on applications affecting wage or salary adjustments of employees, wherever employed, where the wage or salary adjustment would, prior to December 31, 1945, have been within the jurisdiction of any of the following agencies of the National War Labor Board, which are no longer in existence: (i) The Trucking Commission; (ii) The Shipbuilding Commission; (iii) the Telephone Commission; (iv) The National Airframe Panel; (v) The War Shipping Panel.

NOTE: The jurisdiction of such agencies, as it existed prior to December 31, 1945, was as follows: Trucking Commission: jurisdiction over persons in the following trucking operations: over-the-road (common, contract or private carrier); local pick-up and delivery; transfer and storage; and trucking employees (drivers, checkers, warehousemen, dockmen, stowers, lumpers or helpers) of businesses located in the District of Columbia. Shipbuilding Commission: jurisdiction over persons employed within the continental limits of the United States and Alaska in the construction, conversion, outfitting and repair of floating marine structures, including floating drydocks, exclusive of persons employed in establishments owned and directly operated by the United States Government, provided the activity is carried on in the water, in drydocks, in basins, on ways for launching, or on the premises of a shipyard or boatyard and irrespective of whether the activity is carried on subject to Shipbuilding stabilization zone standards. Telephone Commission: jurisdiction over all persons employed in the telephone industry. National Airframe Panel: jurisdiction over employees of all such airframe companies as were designated by the National War Labor Board prior to December 31, 1945. War Shipping Panel: jurisdiction over all personnel, including both relief and regular crews, employed on all ships, including dry cargo, tankers, barges and boats engaged in off shore, coastwise, harbor and inland waterways activities.

(2) Each Regional Board will act on applications involving wage and salary adjustments affecting employees who work in the region served by such Regional Board and may act on applications involving employers with plants located in more than one region where the employer's principal office or place of business is in the region served by such Regional Board.

(3) The West Coast Lumber Commission will act on applications affecting employees within its jurisdiction.

(4) The Eleventh Regional Board will act on applications affecting employees formerly within the jurisdiction of the Automotive Section of the Eleventh Regional Board.

(5) Cases involving the non-ferrous metals industry will be processed as follows:

(i) The Ninth Regional Board will act on cases affecting employers in the non-ferrous metals industry in Colorado, New Mexico, Utah, Wyoming, Idaho, Montana, California, Nevada, Arizona, Oregon, Washington and Alaska.

(ii) The Seventh Regional Board will act on cases affecting employers in the non-ferrous metals industry not only in the states comprising its region (Missouri, Kansas, Arkansas, Iowa, Nebraska) but also in the State of Oklahoma.

(iii) The National Board may request any Regional Board to refer any non-ferrous case to the National Board for processing and decision.

(iv) All other non-ferrous cases will be processed by the regional Board in which the company's establishment is located.

(b) The National Board will act on all applications affecting wage and salary adjustments of employees of government-owned, privately operated facilities of the War Department.

(c) The Wage Adjustment Board for the building and construction industry will receive and act on applications involving adjustments in the wages and salaries of employees who work in the building and construction industry as defined in § 801.5 of this chapter.

(d) Any Board agent may certify to the National Board any question in any case, upon which the Board agent desires the decision of the National Board. The National Board may assume jurisdiction of any case or refer any case for decision to any Board agent irrespective of the usual rules defining the jurisdiction of various Board agents.

(e) At any stage of the processing of an application, the applicant may be requested to supply additional data or the application may be returned for correction or supplementation.

(f) The granting of an oral hearing in support of an application shall be within the sole discretion of the National Board or the Board agent.

(g) The National Board and its agents will not process an application for approval of a wage or salary increase which appears to be conditioned in whole or in part upon the granting of an increase in price or rent ceilings.

§ 802.5 Rulings by Wage Stabilization Directors. Each Regional Board may delegate authority to its Regional Wage Stabilization Director to issue rulings on Form 10 applications for wage or salary increases within such limitations as the Regional Board may determine. Any ruling issued pursuant to such delegated authority will be signed by the Wage Stabilization Director and any party to an application who receives such a ruling may, within seven days after mailing of such ruling file with the Regional Board a request for review of the ruling. Any such request for review of a Regional Wage Stabilization Director's ruling may be made informally by letter and will be granted as a matter of course. The parties will thereafter be notified of the Regional Board's ruling on the case and such ruling issued by the Regional Board shall have the same effect as in the case of any ruling issued by the Regional Board in the first instance.

§ 802.6 Stay of issuance of rulings. (a) Where a ruling is made by any Board agent on an application, any two or more members of the Board agent who dissent from the ruling may request that the issuance of the ruling or any part thereof be stayed pending review by the National Board. In such event the ruling, or any specified portion thereof, together with the request for review by the dissenting members shall immediately be transmitted by the Board Agent to the National Board, and the issuance of the ruling or a specified portion thereof will be stayed until the National Board has acted on the case and communicated its action to the Board agent. If it is requested that issuance of only a specified portion of a ruling be stayed, the Board agent may, in its discretion, issue any other portion of the ruling pending action by the National Board. After the National Board has communicated its action to the Board agent the latter shall then issue the ruling which will be subject to review as in the case of any other ruling issued by a Board agent.

(b) Simultaneously with the transmission to the National Board of any request for review of a ruling pursuant to this section, the Board agent shall send a copy of such request for review to any party to the case, together with a notice that such party may file an original and four copies of any comments with the National Board. Such comments, if any, shall be filed with the National Board within seven days after mailing to such party of the notice and request for review, and if filed within such period will be considered by the National Board.

§ 802.7 Reconsideration of rulings. Any Board agent, or the National Board where it issued a ruling in the first instance, may reconsider any ruling issued by it. Where a ruling is issued by a Board agent in the first instance, the Board agent may, in its discretion, reconsider and modify any ruling issued by it on the basis of a petition for review filed in the manner prescribed by § 802.8.

§ 802.8 Review by National Board of Rulings of Board agents. (a) Any ruling issued by a Board agent shall be final unless reviewed and modified by the National Board on its own motion, or unless a petition for review is filed seeking review by the National Board of such ruling in accordance with the provisions of this section.

(b) No petition for review will be granted by the National Board unless the procedure set forth in this section is complied with and unless the petition demonstrates that the ruling appealed from (1) contravenes established stabilization rules or policies, or (2) presents a novel question of such importance as to warrant action by the National Board.

(c) A petition for review may be filed by any party involved in the original application and must be filed within fourteen days after a Board agent mails to such party a ruling denying in whole or in part an application for approval of a wage adjustment, unless the time for filing such petition has been extended by the Board agent prior to the expiration of such fourteen days. The original and four copies of the petition and of all supporting documents shall be filed with the Board agent which issued the ruling and a copy of the petition and of all supporting documents shall be mailed by the petitioner to any other party to the application.

(d) Within seven days after a copy of any such petition for review has been mailed by the petitioner to any other party to the application such other party may mail to the Board agent which issued the ruling an original and four copies of any comments, and, at the same time, shall mail a copy of such comments to any other parties to the application.

(e) The Board agent, upon receipt of such a petition for review and comments, if any, may on its own motion reconsider the case and make any change in the ruling issued by it as it deems proper. If the ruling is changed by the Board agent, the modified ruling shall be issued to the parties and shall be subject to appeal in the same manner as in the case of the original ruling. If the Board agent does not modify its original ruling, such agent shall transmit the entire record of the case to the National Board for review by the National Board.

(f) The National Board will make its decision on a petition for review upon the basis of the record before the Board agent and on the basis of the petition for review, comments, if any, and such further evidence or data as the National Board may require. If the petition for review is denied because the grounds for review set forth therein are deemed to be insufficient, the National Board will affirm the ruling of the Board agent. If the petition for review is granted, the National Board will issue its own ruling which will supplant the ruling of the Board agent, or the National Board may remand the case to the Regional Board for such further action as it may specify.

(g) The National Board may, on its own motion, assume jurisdiction over any case either before or after the issuance of a ruling by a Board agent.

CASES ARISING UNDER SECTION 5 OF WAR LABOR DISPUTES ACT

§ 802.30 Application for changes in terms and conditions of employment. Pursuant to section 5 of the War Labor Disputes Act, whenever the government has taken possession of any plant, mine or facility under authority of section 9 of the Selective Training and Service Act of 1940, as amended, the government agency operating such plant, mine or facility, or a majority of the employees of such plant, mine or facility or their representative, may apply to the National Board for a change in wages or other terms or conditions of employment in such mine, plant or facility.

§ 802.31 Filing of applications. (a) Any such application shall be filed directly with the National Board and shall specify the precise changes in wages or other terms or conditions of employment with respect to which a change is sought. The application may be accompanied by such supporting data as the applicant desires to submit. If the application is filed by the Government agency operating the plant, a copy of the application and of any supporting data shall simultaneously be mailed to or served upon any union as collective bargaining agent for any of the employees affected by the application, and if the application is filed by any such union, a copy of the application shall simultaneously be mailed to or served upon the head of the government agency operating such plant.

(b) Subject to such rules as the National Board may prescribe in special situations, the party on whom a copy of such application is served shall have 7 days from the date when such copy is mailed to or served upon it, within which to file an original and four copies of any comments or objections with respect to such application.

§ 802.32 Issuance of order. (a) After such hearings or investigation as it deems necessary the National Board will issue an order either denying the application or providing for any changes in wages or other terms and conditions of employment as it deems to be fair and reasonable and not in conflict with any act of Congress or any Executive order issued thereunder.

(b) Any order issued by the National Board shall not become effective unless and until such order is approved by the President.

(c) Whenever any order issued by the Board has been approved by the President, the National Board will cause the order to be made public.

APPOINTMENT OF ARBITRATORS

§ 802.50 Appointment of arbitrators. Pursuant to Executive Order 9672, the National Board of any Regional Board will appoint arbitrators where necessary under a directive order issued by the National War Labor Board prior to December 31, 1945 or where parties to any dispute have jointly requested the National Board or any Regional Board to appoint an arbitrator.

§ 802.51 Expenses of arbitration. Arbitrator's fees and expenses will be paid by the Board only when the National Board or a Regional Board determines that the appointment of the arbitrator is necessary to fulfill an obligation assumed prior to December 31, 1945 by the National War Labor Board or any of its agents.

ENFORCEMENT DIVISIONS AND PANELS

§ 802.70 Composition of Enforcement Divisions and Panels. (a) Cases arising in any region involving alleged contravention of the Stabilization Act of 1942, as amended, (56 Stat. 765), and the orders and regulations promulgated thereunder (hereinafter referred to as "the act"), shall be dealt with by an Enforcement Division designated by each Regional Board. The term "Enforcement Division" shall also include any agency to whom the National Board may delegate jurisdiction over enforcement cases. Each Regional Enforcement Division shall be tripartite in character, and shall be composed of one or more representatives each of employers, employees and the public. A representative of the public shall be designated as Chairman of each Enforcement Division. Each Regional Board may appoint as members of the Enforcement Division such number of representatives of employers, employees and the public as it sees fit: Provided, That in any particular case of alleged contravention of the act, any hearing shall be held before, and findings and determinations made by not less than three nor more than six members of the Enforcement Division, consisting of equal representation of employers, employees and the public, with a public member acting as Chairman. Such members shall constitute the Enforcement Division for purposes of such case.

(b) An Enforcement Division may from time to time appoint ad hoc Panels of similar tripartite composition, consisting of non-members of the Enforcement Division, to hear any specified case or cases involving alleged contravention of the act. Any such Panel shall, after hearing a case, make its proposed findings and determinations, which shall be reviewed by the Enforcement Division, as provided in § 802.73.

§ 802.71 Jurisdiction of Enforcement Divisions. (a) In any case involving alleged contravention of the act by any employer, an Enforcement Division shall have authority, by majority vote, to make findings as to all pertinent facts and, if it finds that there has been a contravention of the act by an employer, to determine whether, in the light of all the circumstances in the case, any portion or all of the sanctions prescribed by the act shall be withheld. Unless such determination in any case provides for a withholding of all sanctions prescribed by the act, or unless the employer waives a hearing or consents to the making of a determination by the Enforcement Division, the determination shall be made only after a hearing, as prescribed by this part.

(b) The action of an Enforcement Division in any case of alleged contravention of the act, as evidenced by its findings and determinations, shall be final, subject to appeal to the National Board as provided in § 802.75. Each Enforcement Division, however, shall be subject to general policy directives of the Regional Board and shall report to the Regional Board from time to time on its activities.

(c) If the situation requires such action, any party may be called upon to show cause before the Enforcement Division, within such time as is deemed proper by the Enforcement Division, why he should not refrain from making or receiving payment of wages at rates reported to be in contravention of the act, pending a hearing and decision by the Enforcement Division.

§ 802.72 Notice and conduct of hearing. (a) In any case where the Regional Attorney believes that an employer has made wage or salary payments in contravention of the Act and that a hearing should be held in the matter, he shall report such case to the Enforcement Division. The Enforcement Division, after consideration of the report, may direct that the employer with respect to whom the report is made be notified to appear at a hearing before the Enforcement Division or before a Panel designated by it.

(b) Not less than ten days' written notice of a hearing shall be served personally or by registered mail upon the employer. Such notice shall contain (1) a concise statement of the nature of the alleged contravention of the act; (2) a statement advising the employer that at the hearing he may be represented by counsel and will be given full opportunity to present written or oral testimony and to examine and cross-examine witnesses on all matters relating to the allegations.

(c) If any party to a proceeding appears by attorney, notice of that fact shall be filed with the Enforcement Division and thereafter papers may be served upon such attorney.

(d) For good cause shown, any hearing may be adjourned from time to time by the Enforcement Division or Panel.

(e) An employer may, at his own expense, provide for the making of a stenographic transcript of the proceedings at the hearing, in which case a copy thereof shall be furnished without cost to the Enforcement Division or Panel and at the regular cost per copy to other persons.

(f) Evidence in support of the charge of alleged contravention shall be presented by the Regional Attorney. Opportunity shall be given to the employer or his counsel to present all relevant evidence and argument, written or oral.

§ 802.73 Issuance of subpoenas. The National Board, by its Chairman, may issue subpoenas requiring the attendance and testimony of any witness and the production of any books, papers, records, or other documents material to any enforcement case. Such subpoenas may be issued only upon a request by the Enforcement Division before whom the subpoena is to be returnable. The Enforcement Division may make the request on behalf of the Regional Attorney or any party to the case. Any such request by an Enforcement Division shall be transmitted in writing to the Chairman of the National Board and shall specify (a) the name and nature of the proceeding in which the subpoena is required; (b) the name of the person or persons whose testimony is required and, where material, the specific documentary evidence whose production is required; (c) the nature and materiality of the testimony or documentary evidence to be supplied by the witness; (d) a description of the efforts which have been made to obtain voluntary attendance of the witness or voluntary production of the required documentary evidence; (e) the time and place of attendance or production of the documentary evidence before the Enforcement Division. If the request for issuance of a subpoena is granted, the subpoena will be transmitted to the Enforcement Division which will arrange for personal service of a copy thereof by a United States marshal, or by some other appropriate person, not a party to the case, who is not less than 18 years of age. When the subpoena is issued on behalf of a party, the person whose attendence is required shall, at the time of service, be tendered the fees for one day's attendance and the mileage allowed by law in the same amounts as are paid witnesses in Federal Courts. Such amounts shall be paid by the party at whose instance the witness appears. When the subpoena is issued on behalf of the Regional Attorney, witness fees and mileage need not be tendered at the time of service.

§ 802.74 Findings and Determinations of Enforcement Division. (a) If a hearing is before a tripartite Panel, the Panel shall, after the conclusion of the hearing, make proposed findings and determinations which shall be mailed to the employer or his attorney and filed with the Enforcement Division. Within 14 days after mailing of the proposed findings (unless such time is extended by the Enforcement Division), the employer and the Regional Attorney may exchange and submit to the Enforcement Division written comments or objections to the proposed findings. After the expiration of such 14 days, the Enforcement Division shall, unless it directs a rehearing, make its final findings and determination in the case.

(b) If a hearing is before the Enforcement Division, the latter shall, after conclusion of the hearing, make its findings and determination in the case.

(c) The findings and determination of the Enforcement Division shall be in writing, showing the names of the members of the Division participating in such decision. If the Enforcement Division finds that the allegation of contravention of the act has been established by a preponderance of the evidence, it shall, in appropriate cases, also make findings as to the existence of any extenuating circumstances in connection therewith, and shall determine whether there shall be withheld by the Executive departments and other governmental agencies all or any portion of the sanctions prescribed by the act. Any dissent from the majority decision of the Enforcement Division shall be recorded on the findings and determination.

(d) The findings and determination shall be forwarded to the National Board, and a copy thereof shall be served, by registered mail, on the employer or upon his attorney.

§ 802.75 Appeal to National Board. (a) The findings and determination of an Enforcement Division shall be final, subject, however, to the right of the employer or the Regional Attorney to appeal to the National Board for a review of the findings and determination. Such appeal shall be taken within 14 days from the date of mailing to the employer of the findings and determination. If the employer appeals he shall within such 14 days, mail an original and five typewritten copies of petition for review which shall include any supporting memorandum, to the Regional Attorney. If the Regional Attorney appeals he shall, within such 14 days, file a petition for review and five typewritten copies, including any supporting memorandum, with the Enforcement Division and mail a copy thereof to the employer or his attorney. If timely request is made to the Enforcement Division within such 14 days, the time for filing a Petition for Review may be extended by the Enforcement Division, or agreement for such extension may be made by the Regional Attorney and the employer or his attorney.

(b) Any petition for Review shall set forth concisely the respects in which it is claimed the findings were erroneous and shall state in detail the particular ground of objection to the findings or determination or other portion of the record or transcript of proceedings upon which reliance is placed.

(c) Either the employer or the Regional Attorney may, within 14 days from the date of mailing a Petition for Review, file comments thereon. Such comments shall be mailed and filed in the same manner and be subject to the same conditions as are prescribed in paragraph (a) of this section for the Petition for Review.

(d) Upon receipt of all appeal papers filed in the case, the Enforcement Division shall cause to be sent to the National Board the entire file of the case.

(e) If no timely Petition for Review is filed and if the National Board does not review on its own motion, the findings and determination of the Enforcement Division shall, on the day following the last day for filing a Petition for Review, stand confirmed as the findings and determination of the National Board.

(f) Upon consideration of a Petition for Review, the National Board will render its decision upon the entire record of the case. In special cases, upon request duly made in the Petition for Review and upon good cause shown, the National Board may permit further oral or written argument or proof. In rendering its decision the National Board may affirm, reverse or modify the findings and determination or any part thereof, or send the case back to the Enforcement Division for appropriate action.

§ 802.76 Transmittal of determinations to appropriate Government agencies. (a) If within the 14 days stated above, a Petition for Review is not filed, or the time therefor not extended, the National Board will, in due course, forward the findings and determination in a case to the appropriate governmental agency or agencies.

(b) If a timely Petition for Review is filed, the National Board, after its consideration and decision will, in appropriate cases, likewise forward the findings and determination in the case, accompanied by its order, to the appropriate governmental agency or agencies.

PART 4500—UTILITIES

TO PROVIDE FOR THE INTEGRATION OF ELECTRIC POWER IN THE UNITED STATES

A critical shortage of coal threatens in many parts of the country to reduce electricity below the level necessary to provide for essential power requirements, and the following order is deemed necessary and appropriate in the public interest and to promote the national defense.

§ 4500.67 Utilities Order U-11—(a) Applicability of order. This order shall apply to all electric utilities located in any state east of the Mississippi River or in Minnesota, Iowa or Missouri.

(b) Electric utilities to conserve coal. Each electric utility shall so operate its reservoirs, generating plants, substations, transmission lines and other facilities, and shall so interchange power with other electric utilities as to achieve the maximum conservation of coal. Such operations shall, depending upon the supply and availability of fuels other than coal, include the following:

(1) Using water power to the fullest extent practicable to achieve conservation of coal;

(2) Using fuels other than coal to the maximum possible extent;

(3) Exchanging power with other electric utilities wherever such exchange will result in protection of low coal stock piles.

(c) Electric utilities with less than 30 days' supply of coal. Any electric utility which has on hand less than 30 days' supply of coal may apply to the Civilian Production Administration for assistance in obtaining a portion of its electric power requirements from other utilities.

Issued this 8th day of May 1946.

PART 1349—ELECTRICAL GENERATION, TRANSMISSION, CONVERSION AND DISTRIBUTION APPARATUS

[MPR 82, Amdt. 6]

WIRE AND CABLE

A statement of the considerations involved in the issuance of this amendment, issued simultaneously herewith has been filed with the Division of the Federal Register.

Maximum Price Regulation 82 is amended in the following respects:

1. Paragraph (a) of section 16 is amended to read as follows:

(a) Armored cable—(1) Manufacturers' prices. The maximum manufacturer's price for the sale of armored cable shall be determined pursuant to the pertinent portions of the schedule of prices set forth in Appendix D to this regulation, subject to the same price differentials in effect to purchasers of the same class on May 7, 1946. The manufacturer shall apply to the prices applicable to him, as set forth in Appendix D, all discounts (including the standard 5% cash discounts), and other conditions of sale which the manufacturer had in effect on that date. If the manufacturer was not selling armored cable on that date, he must determine his maximum price under section 10.

(2) Resellers' prices. The maximum resellers' price for armored cable shall be determined by adding to his maximum price in effect on May 7, 1946, to which have been applied the discounts, allowances and other deductions in effect on that date to a purchaser of the same class, the corresponding and pertinent amount listed in the column entitled "Resellers to add", in the schedule set forth in Appendix D. If the reseller was not selling armored cable on that date, he must determine his maximum price under section 11 (c).

(3) Nothing contained in this paragraph (a) shall be construed to reduce the maximum price of any seller of armored cable, where that maximum price has been approved by the Office of Price Administration.

(4) The zones set forth in Appendix D are the standard geographical shipping zones uniformly recognized in the industry. Sellers of armored cable are required to maintain the zone pricing set forth in Appendix D. Zone adjustments that increase the net delivered prices of armored cable are not permitted.

2. Appendix D is amended to read as follows:

APPENDIX D

ARMORED CABLE (BX CABLE)

Schedule of manufacturer's prices to jobbers. Net price per 1,000 feet delivered to jobbing points; one order; one destination; together with a reseller's addition factor.

[MPR 82, Amdt. 7]

WIRE AND CABLE

A statement of the considerations involved in the issuance of this amendment, issued simultaneously herewith, has been filed with the Division of the Federal Register.

Maximum Price Regulation 82 is amended in the following respects:

1. Paragraph (b) of section 16 is amended to read as follows:

(b) Copper, copper alloy and copper-clad products. The maximum prices for the following copper, copper alloy or coper-clad products shall be determined as set forth in the succeeding subparagraphs.

(1) Except for those manufacturers who meet the qualifications set forth in subparagraph (2) herein, the maximum prices for manufacturers of the following products shall be the maximum price in effect on May 7, 1946, increased by the percentage listed opposite these products:

Products	Percentages
Wire rods	2
Bare and tinned wire and strand sold to insulators	6.5
Bare and tinned wire and strand sold to others than insulators	7.5
Weatherproof wire and cable	11
Magnet wire, including litz wire	11
All other insulated wire and cable products (copper, copper alloy, copper-clad), including replacement cord sets, but excluding armored or or BX cable, type R and type RH wire, and non-metallic sheathed cable	11.5

(2) This subparagraph applies only to those manufacturers who have granted a general increase in wages on or after February 1, 1946, to those manufacturers who have at any time granted the maximum wage increase authorized by General Wage Approval No. 7 of the National Wage Stabilization Board, and to those manufacturers to whom no request for a general increase in wages has been made by, or on behalf of, a majority of their employees since February 1, 1946. Manufacturers of the following products who meet the qualifications described in this subparagraph shall determine their maximum prices by increasing by the percentage listed opposite these products, the maximum prices in effect on May 7, 1946, to a purchaser of the same class.

Products	Percentages
Wire rods	3.14
Bare and tinned wire and strand sold to insulators	10
Bare and tinned wire and strand sold to others than insulators	12
Weatherproof wire and cable	17.5
Magnet wire, including litz wire	17.5
All other insulated wire and cable products (copper, copper alloy, copper-clad), including replacement cord sets, but excluding armored or BX cable, type R and type RH wire, and non-metallic sheathed cable	18

(3) The maximum prices computed pursuant to the provisions of subparagraph (1) or (2) shall be subject to the same discounts, allowances and other deductions in effect on May 7, 1946, to a purchaser of the products covered by this paragraph (b) shall be determined by increasing their maximum prices in effect on May 7, 1946, by the percentage amount by which their net invoiced costs have been increased by virtue of the provisions of subparagraphs (1) and (2), subject to all discounts, allowances and other deductions in effect on May 7, 1946.

(5) Nothing contained in this paragraph (b) shall apply to any seller who has received an individual adjustment or adjustments under the adjustment provisions of Revised Price Schedule 82 or Maximum Price Regulation 82, or under the provisions of Supplementary Order 142, except where the present maximum price of such seller is less than what his present maximum price would be by virtue of the operations of this paragraph in the absence of such individual adjustment or adjustments. In such case, the maximum price of such sellers shall be determined by applying the pertinent provisions of this paragraph using as the maximum price to be increased, their maximum price in effect prior to the granting of any individual adjustment.

(6) Where a manufacturer computes his maximum prices pursuant to the provisions of subparagraph (2) he shall, within ten days after putting such maximum prices into effect, file with the Machinery Branch, OPA, Washington 25, D. C., a statement which would indicate under which one of or combination of the conditions outlined in section 16 (b) (2) he is eligible to charge the higher prices provided in that section, together with the terms of any wage increase put into effect since January 31, 1946.

2. Paragraph (c) of section 16 is amended to read as follows:

(c) (1) Services performed in connection with the manufacture of products listed in paragraph (b). The maximum prices for services performed in connection with the manufacture of the items listed in paragraph (b) shall be calculated as follows:

The service supplier will find the general industry price before May 7, 1946, to the class of purchaser including his customer for the product before the service is begun, and will increase that figure by the appropriate percentage. If he meets the qualifications of subparagraph (2) of paragraph (b), he will use the percentage listed in that subparagraph for the product before the service is begun. If he does not meet those qualifications, he will use the percentage listed in subparagraph (1) of paragraph (b) for the particular product before the service is begun. He will then find the general industry price before May 7, 1946, to the class of purchaser including his customer for the product as it is after the performance of the service, and will increase that figure by the appropriate percentage. This percentage will be found as described above, except that he will now use the percentage listed for the processed product. He will then subtract the figure for the unprocessed product from the figure for the processed product and the difference will be his maximum price for the service.

(2) Within ten days after the service supplier charges prices based upon the use of the percentages listed in subparagraph (2) of paragraph (b), he shall file with the Machinery Branch, OPA, Washington 25, D. C., the information described in subparagraph (6) of paragraph (b).

3. Subparagraph (1) of paragraph (d) of section 16 is amended to read as follows:

(1) (i) Except as provided in the next subdivision (ii), the maximum manufacturers' prices for the sale of rubber braided building wires, shall be determined by increasing by 11.5% the prices listed in the schedule of manufacturers' prices set forth in Appendix E, the price thus determined to be subject to any price differential in effect to any purchaser of the same class on the base date. The manufacturer shall apply to the prices so determined all discounts (including the standard cash discounts) and other conditions of sale which the manufacturer had in effect on the base date.

(ii) Where a manufacturer meets the qualifications set forth in subparagraph (2) of paragraph (b), he shall use the provisions of the preceding subdivision herein, except that he shall substitute a percentage increase factor of 18% in place of the 11.5% therein stated. In addition, he shall file a statement as required in subparagraph (6) of paragraph (b).

4. Subparagraph (1) of paragraph (f) of section 16 is amended to read as follows:

(1) (i) Except as provided in the next subdivision (ii), the maximum manufacturers' prices for the sale of nonmetallic sheathed cable shall be determined by increasing by 11.5% the prices listed in the Schedule of Manufacturers' Prices set forth in Appendix F, the price thus determined to be subject to any price differential in effect to any purchaser of the same class on the base date. The manufacturer shall apply to the prices so determined all discounts (including the standard cash discounts) and other conditions of sale which the manufacturer had in effect on the base date.

(ii) Where a manufacturer meets the qualifications set forth in subparagraph (2) of paragraph (b), he shall use the provisions of the preceding subdivision herein, except that he shall substitute a percentage increase factor of 18% in place of the 11.5% therein stated. In addition, he shall file a notice as required in subparagraph (6) of paragraph (b).

5. The general instructions in Appendix E relating to cutting charges are amended as follows: Immediately after the last line of the paragraph beginning with the words "The cutting charges as shown in Column A are as follows: . . ." (which last line reads "Sizes over 1,000,000 CM . . . . 7.00)", add the following sentence: "All Column A cutting charges may be increased by 12.5%, which increase is to be rounded out to the nearest five cents."

6. The general instructions in Appendix E relating to paralleling charges are amended as follows: The sentence immediately following the chart of paralleling charges (which sentence reads "These paralleling charges are list . . ."), is amended to read as follows: "The amounts shown may be increased by 12.5%, which increase is to be rounded out to the nearest five cents, the resulting parallel charges being at list."

This amendment shall become effective May 8, 1946.

NOTE: All reporting and record-keeping requirements of this amendment have been cleared with the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

Issued this 8th day of May 1946.

Administrator.

In Table A of Federal Register document 46-6571, appearing at page 4388 of the issue for Saturday, April 20, 1946, under the heading "Combed Yarns" the Column 3 price for Singles 90s should read "123.75".

PART 1400—TEXTILE FABRICS: COTTON, WOOL, SILK, SYNTHETICS AND ADMIXTURES

FINISHED PIECE GOODS

A statement of the considerations involved in the issuance of this amendment has been issued simultaneously herewith and filed with the Division of the Federal Register.

Maximum Price Regulation No. 127 is amended in the following respects:

1. Section 1400.86 is amended in the following respects:

a. The word "cotton" is deleted from the title of the section and wherever it appears in paragraph (a) and subparagraph (b) (2).

b. The date, "February 25, 1946", is changed to March 8, 1946 in subparagraphs (b) (1), (b) (2), and (d) (8).

c. In subparagraph (b) (1), the word "grey" is substituted for the words "the cotton".

d. Subparagraph (c) (2) is amended to read as follows:

(2) For Group B converters the adjustment will generally not exceed a reduction of 0.06 in the division factors for finished piece goods composed of 75% or more cotton by weight and/or a reduction of 0.02 in the division factor for finished piece goods containing less than 75% cotton by weight. In special cases (such as where the converter had a high ratio of finishing costs to grey goods cost in the period considered) a greater reduction in the division factors may be granted, but in no event will a reduction of more than 0.11 be made for cotton goods, or a reduction below 0.80 be made for goods composed of less than 75% cotton.

e. Subparagraph (d) (7a) is added to read as follows:

(7a) If the applicant requests a reduction in the division factors for finished piece goods containing less than 75% cotton, he shall furnish for the selected base period the following information:

(i) The applicant's total net sales of finished piece goods composed of less than 75% cotton converted by him and subject to Maximum Price Regulation No. 127.

(ii) The actual cost of the grey goods from which finished piece goods were made, the working allowance, the grey freight, the put-up charges and the finishing costs incurred in the production of such converted finished piece goods.

f. In subparagraph (d) (8), the word "cotton" is inserted between the words "of grey".

g. Subparagraph (d) (11) is added to read as follows:

(11) A statement of the number of yards of woven piece goods in inventory at the beginning and at the end of the selected base period, stated separately for grey goods and for finished piece goods.

h. Paragraph (f) is added to read as follows:

(f) Reports of operations after adjustment. Within 5 months after the effective date of any adjustment under this section, the converter obtaining the adjustment shall file with the Textile Price Branch, Office of Price Administration, Washington 25, D. C., a profit and loss statement covering 3 consecutive months of his operations under the adjusted ceilings. He shall also state the number of yards of woven piece goods in inventory at the beginning and at the end of the 3 months' period, giving this information separately for grey goods and for finished piece goods. The adjustment may be revoked or the adjusted ceilings modified if in the judgment of the Administrator such report discloses that the adjustment, as originally authorized, was erroneous. Nothing in this section, however, shall be construed to restrict the usual power of the Administrator to revoke or modify an order of adjustment at any time.

2. At the end of § 1400.82 (g) (1) (v), the following undesignated paragraph is added:

No application for adjustment filed after May 9, 1946 will be granted under this paragraph (v). All adjustments granted hereunder are revoked as of July 1, 1946.

3. Section 1400.82 (c) (7) is added to read as follows:

(7) At the converter's option, the grey freight referred to in the foregoing paragraphs of this paragraph (c) may be averaged on a per yard basis for the purpose of computing the maximum price of finished piece goods under paragraph (a) of this section. If this method is adopted its use must commence at the beginning of a calendar month and must continue for a period of four consecutive 3-month periods from the date of its adoption; grey freight for goods composed of 75% or more by weight of cotton fibre and for goods composed of less than 75% by weight of cotton fibre shall each be averaged separately; and each average shall be applied to goods of the same type. For each 3-month period in which this method is used, the grey freight shall be averaged as follows:

(i) Determine the permissible total amount of grey freight incurred during the first two calendar months of the immediately preceding 3-month period.

(ii) Determine the actual number of yards transported and upon which the permissible grey freight was incurred during the same period.

(iii) Divide the amount of grey freight by the number of yards.

4. Section 1400.82 is amended in the following respects:

a. The first sentence in paragraph (g) (1) (ii) is amended to read as follows:

Table II set forth below is to be used for finished piece goods containing less than 75% cotton by weight.

b. The first sentence in paragraph (g) (1) (iii) is amended to read as follows:

Table III set forth below is to be used for finished piece goods containing 75% or more by weight of cotton and of which 4% or more of coverage of either the warp or the filling in the finished piece goods is yarn-dyed or stock-dyed, regardless of the finish that is applied thereto.

c. In paragraph (g) (3) (i), the part thereof preceding Table II therein is amended to read as follows:

(i) General. This Table II is to be used for all finished piece goods containing less than 75% cotton by weight.

d. Footnote 1 to Table III in paragraph (g) (4) is amended to read as follows:

[1] Table III shall be used for finished piece goods containing 75% or more by weight of cotton of which 4% or more of coverage of the warps is yarn-dyed or stock-dyed, or of which 4% or more of coverage of the filling is yarn-dyed or stock-dyed.

5. Section 1400.82 is amended in the following respects:

a. Paragraph (i) (2) (vii) is added to read as follows:

(vii) On a resale of finished piece goods by an affiliate of the converter or producer of the goods.

b. Paragraph (a) (6) is amended by adding the following sentence: However, the 3% need not be deducted if the affiliate is exclusively engaged in the resale of finished piece goods in the same form (except for length and put-up) as that in which it acquires them.[2]

This amendment shall become effective May 9, 1946.

NOTE: All reporting requirements of this amendment have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

[2] Under § 1400.82 (i) (2) (vii), the affiliate's resale ceiling is limited to the same ceiling price as would be applicable to the original seller.

Issued this 9th day of May 1946.

JAMES G. ROGERS, Jr.,
Acting Administrator.

Subject to such further order as the Board may deem appropriate.

NOTE: This order is identical to Order No. 27-C (9 F.R. 4986) except that the United Nations Organization has been added to § 1722.1 (c).

ESTABLISHMENT OF COMMITTEE

1. General statement. The purpose of this order is to provide for the establishment of a Committee which will be representative of those Federal agencies concerned with the provision of adequate rehabilitation services to seriously disabled persons. Recent studies have disclosed a lack of sufficient facilities for rehabilitation of severely disabled veterans and others, and a need for better coordination of existing facilities.

2. Organization of the committee. Pursuant to Title III, section 302, War Mobilization and Reconversion Act of 1944 (Public Law 458, 78th Congress) a Committee to be known as the Inter-Agency Committee on Rehabilitation Services for Severely Disabled Persons is hereby established. This Committee will consist of a Secretary designated by the Administrator of the Retraining and Reemployment Administration and of representatives from each of the following agencies of the Federal Government:

Department of Agriculture.
Department of Labor.
Federal Security Agency.
Department of Commerce.

Representatives of the agencies named will qualify for membership on the Committee upon designation as such by the head of the respective agency and approval by the Administrator. One alternate may be named for each member, and, upon qualifying in like manner, such alternate may act in the place of his principal. The Administrator, or one designated by him for such purpose, will preside as Chairman of the Committee. The Committee will meet upon call of the Chairman.

3. Functions of the Committee. The Committee will study and evaluate all existing facilities in the United States for meeting the needs of severely handicapped persons; will propose plans and methods for the improvement and extension of such services; and will recommend to the Administrator the development of additional facilities to the extent determined essential. In the performance of its functions, the Committee may consult with representatives of state agencies and other organizations directly interested in provision of rehabilitation services to seriously disabled persons.

4. Participation of the Veterans' Administration. By copy of this order, the Administrator of Veterans' Affairs is requested to designate appropriate representatives to serve as members of this Committee.

This part shall not apply to any disposals of real property; nor to personal property appurtenant to, or severed from, or assigned for disposal in connection with, real property, and disposed of pursuant to Parts 8305 [1], 8310 [2], 8316 [3], or 8320 [4].

§ 8302.3 Applicability of regulations and directives of War Production Board, Civilian Production Administration, Office of Price Administration, and Secretary of Agriculture; and disposals which may be exempted from this part—(a) Applicability of regulations and directives of War Production Board, Civilian Production Administration, Office of Price Administration, and Secretary of Agriculture. All disposals hereunder shall be subject to applicable regulations and directives issued under the authority of any law referred to in section 34 (b) of the Surplus Property Act of 1944, including those issued by the War Production Board, the Civilian Production Administration, the Office of Price Administration, and the Secretary of Agriculture.

(b) Disposals which may be exempted from this part. Subject to the provisions of paragraph (a) of this section, disposal agencies may dispose of surplus property without regard for any provisions of this part:

(1) When property is transferred to the National Housing Administrator pursuant to the provisions of Public Law 292, 79th Congress;

(2) Until peace is concluded to supply the needs of the armed forces;

(3) When the property is of such nature or in such situation that its immediate disposal is necessary to prevent its deterioration, spoilage, or serious loss or damage, or when its disposal is necessary to relieve critical storage requirements;

(4) When upon application to the War Assets Administrator by a disposal agency, the Administrator shall find that it is impracticable or uneconomical to require the disposal of designated property according to the provisions of this part;

§ 8302.4 Set-asides for veterans. (a) Each disposal agency to which there is assigned for disposal any property of the types set forth in Exhibit A hereto shall set aside all of such property in its possession for exclusive disposal to veterans for their own personal use, or to enable them to establish and maintain their own small business, professional, or agricultural enterprises. Such property shall be held for disposal to veterans holding certificates issued pursuant to § 8302.8 for a period of not less than fifteen (15) days after public notice of its availability for such disposal, or for such longer period as the Administrator may direct, and any balance remaining undisposed of thereafter may be made available for disposal in accordance with the other provisions of this part.

(b) In disposing of property to veterans under this section disposal agencies may establish the maximum and minimum quantities which may be acquired by any one veteran at any one time during a given period of time. When the supply of any type of surplus property offered at any time will be insufficient to fill the orders of the eligible veterans, equitable distribution among such veterans may be accomplished (1) in accordance with the date of a certification or registration, or (2) on such other basis as shall be approved upon special application to the Administrator; Provided, That in any method adopted there shall be equitable distribution between veterans desiring to acquire property for their own personal use and veterans desiring to acquire it for business, professional, or agricultural use. In giving public notice of availability of any property disposal agencies shall specify the method by which distribution of such property will be made among veterans.

§ 8302.5 Order of priorities. Except as to property disposed of under § 8302.4, disposal agencies shall, subject to the provisions of § 8302.6, observe the following order of priorities:

(a) Transfers to Government agencies for their own use shall be given priority over disposals to all others.

(b) Disposals to veterans holding certificates to acquire property to enable them to establish and maintain their own small business, professional, or agricultural enterprises shall be given priority over disposals to all others except as provided in paragraph (a) of this section.

(c) Purchases by Reconstruction Finance Corporation, as successor to Smaller War Plants Corporation, for resale under section 18 (e) of the Surplus Property Act of 1944 shall be given priority over disposals to all others except as provided in paragraphs (a) and (b) of this section.

(d) Disposals to State and local governments for their own use shall be given priority over disposals to all others except as provided in paragraphs (a), (b), and (c) of this section.

§ 8302.6 Reservations for priority claimants. (a) In giving effect to the provisions of § 8302.5, disposal agencies shall observe the following requirements with respect to the periods of time during which property will be offered to priority claimants:

(1) Government agencies shall in no case be given a period in excess of twenty days after the date of public notice of availability of the property.

(2) Property offered to veterans may not be disposed of to others for a minimum period of fifteen (15) days after the date of public notice to veterans.

(b) Each disposal agency, based upon experience and demonstrated demand, may estimate the quantity of each item of surplus property which it is necessary to hold in reserve in order to provide an adequate supply thereof to satisfy the probable needs of priority claimants for such item. Such quantities shall be reviewed and adjusted periodically by the disposal agency in the light of the changing requirements of priority claimants and the areas in which such requirements exist. There need be no earmarking of specific property, but the quantities of surplus property so estimated shall be reserved for exclusive disposal to priority claimants subject to the periods specified in paragraph (a). Any property in excess of such reserved quantities may, notwithstanding the provisions of paragraph (a), be disposed of promptly to others.

(c) In order to assist the disposal agencies to reserve quantities of surplus property, pursuant to the provisions of paragraph (b), adequate to satisfy the needs of priority claimants including Reconstruction Finance Corporation as successor to Smaller War Plants Corporation for resale under Section 18 (e) of the Surplus Property Act of 1944, Reconstruction Finance Corporation may advise the disposal agencies from time to time of the quantities and kinds of surplus property which it needs or may need for such purposes to the end that any reservations established under paragraph (b) of this section may be adequate to supply such anticipated needs.

§ 8302.7 Information about available property—(a) Availability of records of surplus property; Government requirements officers. Disposal agencies shall establish procedures to insure that designated representatives or procurement officers of Government agencies and State and local governments shall have access to the information on the property records of the disposal agencies, and shall upon request from time to time inform such representatives or procurement officers about surplus property for which declarations have been received or are anticipated. Each disposal agency shall appoint in its central office and in each regional office thereof a Government requirements officer or officers, whose duties shall include (1) transmitting to Government agencies and State and local governments information concerning surplus property which is or may become available for disposal; (2) assisting in programming sales or offerings in such a manner as to afford Government agencies and State and local governments an opportunity to purchase any and all kinds of property they desire; (3) ascertaining the probable needs for all kinds of property of Government agencies and State and local governments within the region served by each regional office to the end that any reservations established under § 8302.6 (b) may be adequate to supply the probable needs of Government agencies and State and local governments within the region served by the office; (4) cooperating with such advisory committees as the Administrator may appoint; and (5) taking all other necessary or desirable steps to see that all requirements of this part are complied with. It shall be the responsibility of Government agencies, in order to avoid making purchases through commercial channels, continuously to consult the records of the disposal agencies and to determine whether their requirements for all items of property can be satisfied out of surplus property in the hands of the disposal agencies.

(b) Notice of offering. Disposal agencies shall give public notice of all offerings to priority claimants and to the extent feasible shall adopt other procedures which will allow priority claimants to receive notice of what surplus property is available or offered for sale within the area in which the offering is made. Government agencies and State and local governments shall have the right upon request to be put on mailing lists for notices in all cases where such lists are used to offer property for disposal, including mailing lists otherwise reserved to special classes of buyers, unless the disposal agency shall find that the giving of such notices to Government agencies and State and local governments shall for any particular type of property become impracticable, unduly expensive to the Government, or unreasonably burdensome on the facilities of the disposal agency. When paid advertising is used as the method of offering, no other notice need be given to priority claimants.

§ 8302.8 Issuance of certificates to veterans. (a) A veteran desiring to acquire property set aside under § 8302.4 or to exercise his priority under § 8302.5 shall apply to any certifying office of War Assets Administration and shall furnish the Administration with complete information regarding the property desired. War Assets Administration will satisfy itself through reference to the applicant's discharge papers or to other satisfactory evidence that the applicant is a veteran and that the property applied for is for his own personal use or to enable him to establish or maintain his own small business, professional, or agricultural enterprise and shall require of the applicant a supporting statement or affidavit. War Assets Administration will issue an appropriate certificate to such veteran stating that he is a veteran entitled to purchase the types and quantities of the property described therein.

(b) Whenever a disposal agency within the continental United States other than War Assets Administration receives an application from a veteran desiring to acquire property hereunder but not accompanied by a certificate, the application shall be referred to War Assets Administration for certification, together with full information regarding the availability of the property and the price, terms, and conditions of sale.

(c) In the territories and possessions where no office of War Assets Administration is established for the certification of veterans, they may act hereunder by dealing directly with the appropriate disposal agency, and in such case such disposal agency shall to the extent feasible perform the functions which would be performed by the War Assets Administration in the continental United States under this section.

(d) Each veteran shall present the certificate when acquiring property from a disposal agency, which shall rely upon the certificate that the holder is a veteran entitled to acquire the property described therein in accordance with the terms of the certificate. Veterans shall be entitled to acquire the quantity of property for which they are certified, subject to such equitable distribution among veterans as may be adopted by the disposal agency pursuant to the provisions of § 8302.4(b) or §8302.9(c), before such property may be made available to lower priority or non-priority claimants. Special effort shall be made to insure that property available to veterans may be inspected by them. Surplus property may be offered for sale to veterans on credit on terms and conditions established by the disposal agencies.

§ 8302.9 Transfers and disposals to priority claimants. (a) Subject to the provisions of § 8302.10 in the case of Government agencies, disposal agencies shall transfer or dispose of surplus property to a priority claimant in quantities not smaller than the smallest lot consistent with commercial practice and at the fair value of such property as provided in § 8302.11. Disposal agencies shall make such transfers of surplus property to a Government agency without reimbursement or transfer of funds whenever a transfer on such terms by the owning agency by which such property was declared surplus would be authorized by any law approved subsequent to June 21, 1944 to be made to the agency desiring such property. The agency desiring such property without reimbursement or transfer of funds shall pay all transportation charges but not the cost of packing and shall furnish when necessary a Government bill of lading bearing identification of the appropriation against which such transportation charges are to be charged.

(b) Except in the case of transfers to Reconstruction Finance Corporation as successor to Smaller War Plants Corporation for resale under section 18 (e) of the Surplus Property Act of 1944, and disposals to veterans of property to be resold with or without processing or fabrication in the regular course of business, transfers or disposals to priority claimants shall be for their own use only and not for transfer or disposition by them to others, and disposal agencies may require priority claimants so to certify.

(c) Disposal agencies shall adopt procedures designed to distribute surplus property equitably among claimants entitled to the same priority and shall file orders in the sequence in which they were received, or on such other equitable basis as the disposal agency may determine in any case where it has reason to believe that the quantity of any type of property available at any time will be insufficient to supply the needs of all claimants in a given priority class. In such event disposal agencies may establish the maximum quantity which may be acquired by any one priority claimant within the same class at any one time.

(d) Priority claimants may place orders with a disposal agency at any time, and such orders shall be filled from any available surplus property, subject to the provisions of §§ 8302.4, 8302.5, and 8302.6. If no property is available or likely to become available, the disposal agency shall notify the claimant and upon the dispatching of such notification the order shall lapse. Property already advertised for public competitive bids or for sale at auction or for immediate purchase at a fixed time and property specifically selected by a prospective purchaser shall not be considered available. No property shall be offered for disposal to non-priority claimants unless it has first been offered to priority claimants or necessary provision has been made for reservations for priority claimants in accordance with § 8302.6.

§ 8302.10 Transfers of surplus standard administrative and maintenance property to the Treasury Department and acquisition of such property by Government agencies. (a) In order to facilitate the transfer of surplus property from one Government agency to other Government agencies for their own use and not for transfer or disposition to others outside the Government, the Treasury Department as the central procurement agency of the Government may acquire from the disposal agencies such quantities of surplus standard administrative and maintenance property as it needs to satisfy the requirements for such property of all Government agencies within the continental United States, other than the War Department, Navy Department, and Veterans Administration, and other than each disposal agency for the types of property for which it is designated as such under Part 8301.[1] Government agencies shall cooperate with the Treasury Department in compiling estimates and shall provide the Treasury Department with such information concerning their requirements as it may need in order to promote the fullest utilization of surplus property.

(b) Disposal agencies shall transfer surplus standard administrative and maintenance property to the Treasury Department in accordance with the provisions of §8302.9 and at a fair value which reflects the estimated expenses to be incurred by the Treasury Department in making distribution to Government agencies, and the Treasury Department shall promptly upon such transfer take possession and assume responsibility for the care, handling, and disposition of such property.

(c) It shall be the responsibility of all such Government agencies, in order to avoid making purchases of such property through commercial channels when such property is available from surplus, continuously to consult the stock catalogues issued by the Procurement Division of the Treasury Department.

(d) Except in cases where transfers may be made without reimbursement or transfer of funds, no Government agency other than the War Department, Navy Department, and Veterans' Administration, and other than each disposal agency for the types of property for which it is designated as such under Part 8301, shall within the continental United States acquire by direct transfer from a disposal agency any surplus standard administrative or maintenance property which is offered for disposal by the Treasury Department and immediately available for acquisition by such Government agency: Provided, That Reconstruction Finance Corporation, as successor to Smaller War Plants Corporation, shall be entitled to acquire any such property from a disposal agency for resale under Section 18 (e) of the Surplus Property Act of 1944.

§ 8302.11 Fair value. Disposal agencies shall fix the fair value at which property shall be acquired by priority claimants. Such fair value shall not be greater than the lowest price which is offered to any trade level at the time of acquisition by the priority claimant.

§ 8302.12 Acquisitions by priority claimants without exercising priority. In addition to acquiring property under §§ 8302.5 and 8302.6, Government agencies, except as to standard administrative and maintenance property desired for their own use, and State and local governments shall be entitled to submit offers whenever surplus property is otherwise offered for sale, without regard for the location of the property, but shall not be entitled to priority. Government agencies may under this section acquire any surplus property (including standard administrative and maintenance property) for transfer or disposition to others, including transfers or dispositions to the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration. Nothing in this part shall prevent veterans from acquiring any property directly from a disposal agency without exercising priority if they are included within the class of buyers to whom the disposal agency is offering such property. Such purchases made by a priority claimant without priority shall be governed by the prices, terms, and conditions of the offering made by the disposal agency and not pursuant to any other provisions of this part.

§ 8302.13 Records and reports. Owning and disposal agencies shall prepare and maintain such records as will show full compliance with the provisions of this part and with the applicable provisions of the act. Reports shall be prepared and filed with the War Assets Administrator in such manner as may be specified by orders issued under this part subject to the approval of the Bureau of the Budget pursuant to the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

§ 8302.14 Regulations by disposal agencies to be reported to the War Assets Administrator. Each disposal agency shall file with the War Assets Administrator copies of all regulations, orders, and instructions of general applicability which it may issue in furtherance of the provisions, or any of them, of this part.

This revision of this part shall become effective May 3, 1946.

Administrator.

Communications, Inc., for renewal of license for fixed point-to-point radiotelephone station at Kahuku, T. H.; File No. P5–RH–28.

At a session of the Federal Communications Commission held at its office in Washington, D. C., on the 2d day of May 1946;

The Commission having under consideration the application of Mutual Telephone Company for construction permit for a new point-to-point radiotelephone station in the fixed public service at Honouliuli, Oahu, Territory of Hawaii, (File No. 335–PHP–A), and the application of RCA Communications, Inc. for renewal of its outstanding license for its point-to-point radiotelephone station in the fixed public service, located at Kahuku, Territory of Hawaii (File No. P5–RH–28);

It appearing that the frequencies requested by Mutual Telephone Company for its proposed station are presently assigned to the point-to-point radiotelephone station in the fixed public service at Kahuku, T. H. licensed to RCA Communications Inc. until December 1, 1946, and that a grant of the above-described application of Mutual Telephone Company would require the modification or non-renewal of license of such radiotelephone station of RCA Communications, Inc.; and

It further appearing, That the Commission, upon examination of the above-described applications, is unable to determine that public interest, convenience or necessity would be served by a grant of one, rather than the other of the aforesaid applications;

It is ordered, That the above-described applications of Mutual Telephone Company and RCA Communications Inc. be and they are hereby designated for hearing for the following reasons:

1. To determine the comparative ability of the respective applicants to provide public radiotelephone service between Hawaii and the continental United States in the public interest, in the light of all the pertinent factors relating to such determination, including, but not limited to, the following:

(a) The comparative quality and reliability of public telephone service proposed to be rendered by the respective applicants between Hawaii and the continental United States.

(c) The amount of expense and investment related to the operations and facilities involved in the respective applications.

(d) The relative ability of the respective applicants to provide reductions in rates for public telephone service between Hawaii and the continental United States and to provide expansion of radiotelephone service between Hawaii and other points in the world.

(e) The specific plans and programs of the respective applicants for providing future improvements and expansions in radiotelephone service to and from Hawaii and for providing reductions in rates for such service.

(f) The effect on quality, reliability, and cost of rendering telephone service to and from Hawaii of placing all telephone equipment and operations in Hawaii under unified control.

(g) The effect on quality, reliability and cost of rendering telephone service to and from Hawaii of maintaining under unified control and operation Hawaiian terminals for overseas radiotelegraph and radiotelephone service.

2. To determine the effect on other radio services in Hawaii of establishing radiotelephone stations at the location proposed by Mutual Telephone Company.

3. To determine any other relevant facts which would indicate that public interest, convenience or necessity would be better served by a grant of one, rather than the other of the above-mentioned applications.

It is further ordered, That Mutual Telephone Company and RCA Communications, Inc. be, and they are hereby, afforded an opportunity to obtain a hearing on the foregoing issues by filing a written appearance in accordance with the provision of §§ 1.384 and 1.10 of the Commission's rules and regulations.

METROPOLITAN TELEVISION INC.[1] (LICENSEE OF FM STATION WABF AND EXPERIMENTAL TELEVISION STATION W2XMT), NEW YORK, N. Y.

PROPOSED TRANSFER OF CONTROL

The Commission hereby gives notice that on April 26, 1946, there was filed with it an application (B1–TC–488) for its consent under section 310 (b) of the Communications Act (47 U.S.C.A. 310) to the proposed transfer of control of Metropolitan Television Inc., licensee of FM Station WABF and Experimental Television Station W2XMT, New York

[1] Section 1.364, Part I, Rules of Practice and Procedure.

City, from Abraham & Straus, Inc. and Bloomingdale Bros. Inc., New York City (transferors) to Ira A. Hirschmann (transferee), 645 Madison Avenue, New York, N. Y. The arrangements for transfer of control of the above stations are based upon a contract entered into March 22, 1946, between transferors and transferee, wherein it was agreed that transferors would sell to transferee the outstanding 14 shares of Class "A" stock of Metropolitan Television Inc. (constituting all of the issued Class "A" stock) for a consideration of $106,000, of which $10,000 was paid upon the execution of the contract and the remaining $96,000, to be paid in cash or certified check at the time of closing within 15 days after Commission consent. The agreement may be extended to July 15, 1946. The proposed stock purchase is contingent upon further contracts filed with the application and arrangements looking toward the further transfer of licensee's stock to a corporation to be formed, all of which may be inspected with the application on file at the offices of the Commission.

In the Commission's decision of September 6, 1945, granting the application for transfer of control of the Crosley Corporation (Docket No. 6767), it was announced that public hearings would be held to consider new rules and regulations for the handling of assignment and transfer applications including provision for public notice by the applicant and by the Commission of the filing of such applications and pertinent details in cases where a controlling interest is involved. Thereafter, on October 3, 1945, the Commission also gave public notice (10 PR 12926) that pending the issuance of such proposed new rules, hearing thereon, and final adoption, consideration of such applications would be deferred unless applicants desired to follow the procedure proposed in the Crosley decision and supplement their applications so as to come within the framework of the announced procedure, including the provision for public notice. Pursuant thereto, the Commission was advised April 26, 1946, that starting on April 29, 1946, notice of the filing of the application would be published in the New York Post, a newspaper of general circulation in New York City, in conformity with the provisions of the proposed rules.

In accordance with the procedure proposed in the Crosley decision and that announced in the Commission's release, no action will be had on the instant application for a period of 60 days from April 29, 1946, within which time other persons desiring to apply for the facilities involved may do so upon the same terms and conditions as set forth in the above-described contract.

WINDOW SHADES AND WINDOW SHADE ROLLERS

MAXIMUM PRICES FOR SALES

For the reasons set forth in an opinion issued simultaneously herewith, and filed with the Division of the Federal Register; and pursuant to § 1499.159b of Maximum Price Regulation No. 188; It is ordered:

Sec.
1. Purposes of this order.
2. Articles covered by this order.
3. Manufacturers' maximum prices.
4. Wholesalers' maximum prices.
5. Retailers' maximum prices.
6. Manufacturers' invoices.
7. Notification to purchasers for resale.
8. Terms of sale.
9. Relationship of this order to other orders or regulations.
10. Revocation or amendment.

Appendix A—Maximum prices for sales by retailers of paper and fibre shades.

SECTION 1. Purpose of this order. This order specifies the adjustment charges to be used by manufacturers of window shades and window shade rollers; and it sets forth the specific pricing provisions which all sellers are to follow in calculating their maximum prices for sales of these products.

SEC. 2. Articles covered by this order. The articles covered by this order are window shades made of paper, fibre and cloth; and window shade rollers.

SEC. 3. Manufacturers' maximum prices—(a) Determination of maximum prices. Manufacturers shall continue to determine their maximum prices for articles covered by this order under the same regulation and pricing provisions applicable before this order was issued.

Type of article:	Percentage increase
Cloth shades	15
Paper and fibre shades	20
Window shade rollers	15

(2) Manufacturers may increase by 9% their maximum prices (exclusive of any permitted increases) properly established under Maximum Price Regulation No. 188 for sales to household consumers.

(c) "Adjusted maximum price". A manufacturer's "adjusted maximum price" is the higher of the following two amounts:

(1) His maximum price properly established under Maximum Price Regulation No. 188 increased by the appropriate one of the percentages specified in paragraph (b) of this section; or

(2) His maximum price properly established under Maximum Price Regulation No. 188 plus any increases in that maximum price permitted by an OPA order,[1] other than this order.

(d) "Unadjusted maximum price." (1) A manufacturer's "unadjusted maximum price" for his sale of an article whose maximum price is properly established under Maximum Price Regulation No. 188 is the maximum price so established not including any increases in that maximum price permitted by an OPA order. However, if an OPA order [1] permits the manufacturer to increase that maximum price by an amount greater than the appropriate one of the percentages specified in paragraph (b), the manufacturer's "unadjusted maximum price" is the amount determined by deducting an amount equal to that percentage of the maximum price in effect before that increase was made, from the price as increased in accordance with that order.

SEC. 4. Wholesalers' maximum prices—(a) Determinations of maximum prices. Wholesalers shall continue to determine their maximum prices for articles covered by this order under the General Maximum Price Regulation.

If a wholesaler determines his maximum price under § 1499.3 (a) of the General Maximum Price Regulation, he shall determine his markup over his net unit cost by using the "unadjusted maximum price" of the comparable article. The markup, so determined, shall be added to the amount specified on the wholesaler's purchase invoice as his supplier's "unadjusted maximum price". If the wholesaler's maximum price must be established under § 1499.3 (c) of the General Maximum Price Regulation, his application must state and identify his supplier's "unadjusted maximum price".

(b) Increase in maximum prices. A wholesaler may increase his properly established maximum prices for articles covered by this order by the same percentage that the manufacturer has increased his maximum prices under this order.

SEC. 5. Retailers' maximum prices—(a) Paper and fibre shades. Retailers' maximum prices for sales of paper and fibre shades are listed in Appendix A of this order.

(b) Cloth shades—(1) Definitions. When used in this order, the following terms have the following meanings:

(i) "A custom shade" is one that is not carried in stock in the form of a finished shade, but instead is made on order to suit the special requirements of each individual buyer. The buyer usually selects the type of roller, shade cloth and accessories and the manufacturer assembles these and makes the finished shade to the measurements specified or desired by the buyer.

(ii) A "stock shade" is one that is carried in stock by the retailer as a finished shade. Retailers usually carry a large number of such stock (ready-made) shades in various standard widths and lengths.

(2) Maximum prices. Each retailer of cloth shades shall determine his maximum prices as follows:

(i) For sales of stock shades, he shall multiply his invoice cost (less all discounts except cash discounts, and not including freight costs), by 150 percent.

(ii) For sales of custom shades he shall multiply his invoice cost (less all discounts except cash discounts, and not including freight costs), by 159 percent.

(c) Window shade rollers. Each retailer shall determine his maximum prices for sales of window shade rollers by multiplying his invoice cost (less all discounts except cash discounts, and not including freight costs), by 150 percent.

SEC. 6. Manufacturers' invoices. (a) Every manufacturer shall furnish to each purchaser for resale to whom he sells, an invoice or other written evidence of sale, containing the following:

(1) The name and address of both the seller and purchaser, and the date of sale.

(2) The name, number, or other identification of each article sold.

(3) The quantity of each article sold.

(4) The seller's "unadjusted maximum price" for each article sold. (This amount shall be stated only on invoices which are furnished to wholesalers. It shall not be stated on invoices furnished to retailers.)

(5) The actual selling price of each article sold.

(6) The nature and amount of any additional charges.

(7) The terms of sale.

(b) No manufacturer may sell an article covered by this order to a wholesaler at a price higher than such seller's "unadjusted maximum price" for the particular sale unless the "unadjusted maximum price" and the actual selling price are so identified.

(c) The seller shall retain a copy of such invoice or other written evidence of sale, for inspection of the Office of Price Administration for so long as the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended, remains in effect.

SEC. 7. Notification to purchasers for resale. At the time of, or prior to, the first invoice to each purchaser for resale showing a maximum price adjusted in accordance with this order, the seller shall notify the purchaser in writing, that:

(a) If he is a wholesaler, he must determine his maximum resale price under section 4 of Order No. 5000 under § 1499.159b of Maximum Price Regulation No. 188.

(b) If he is a retailer he must determine his maximum resale prices for articles covered by this order under section 5 of Order No. 5000 under § 1499.159b of Maximum Price Regulation No. 188.

SEC. 8. Terms of sale. Every seller of an article covered by this order must maintain all terms, discounts, allowances, and other price differentials, in effect during March 1942, or which have been subsequently properly established under Office of Price Administration regulations or order.

SEC. 9. Relationship of this order to other orders or regulations—(a) Maximum Price Regulation No. 188 and the General Maximum Price Regulation. The provisions of this order supersede the provisions of Maximum Price Regulation No. 188 and the General Maximum Price Regulation only to the extent that they are inconsistent with the provisions of that regulation.

(b) Supplementary Order No. 133. Manufacturers may continue to adjust their maximum prices in accordance with any increase permitted under Supplementary Order No. 133 instead of the increase factor specified in section 3.

SEC. 10. Revocation or amendment. This order may be revoked or amended by the Price Administrator at any time.

APPENDIX A—MAXIMUM PRICES FOR SALES BY RETAILERS OF PAPER AND FIBRE SHADES

To use the table below, the retailer determines the price range in column 1 (if he buys from the manufacturer), or the price range in column 2, (if he buys from a wholesaler), in which his actual invoice cost lies. The actual invoice cost for this purpose is less all discounts except cash discounts, and not including any freight costs. The retail ceiling price stated on the same line as that price range is the retailer's maximum price.

Column 1		Column 2		Column 3
Invoice price when purchased from manufacturer		Invoice price when purchased from wholesaler		Retail ceiling price (per unit)

RENTAL OF DUMP TRUCKS ON CONSTRUCTION, ROAD MAINTENANCE, AND HOUSING PROJECTS IN THE UNITED STATES

An opinion accompanying this Order No. 4 under Maximum Price Regulation No. 571 has been issued simultaneously herewith and has been filed with the Division of the Federal Register.

(a) Applicability of this order. This order applies to all rentals of dump truck and combination truck and trailer mounted equipment for use on or in connection with construction, road maintenance, or housing projects (hereinafter referred to as "construction") in any of the forty-eight states of the United States or in the District of Columbia.

(b) Relation of this order to other regulations. This order supersedes section 16 (a), (b) and (c) of Maximum Price Regulation No. 134, the provisions of which are substantially contained herein.

(c) Maximum rates for dump truck rentals—(1) "Fully maintained and operated" basis. The maximum hourly rates for the rental of dump trucks on a "fully maintained and operated" basis, less driver, for use on construction work (including other uses to which such trucks may be assigned in the course of rentals which are primarily for construction or road maintenance work) are set forth in Schedule "I".

(2) "Bare" basis. The maximum rates for the rental of dump trucks on a "bare" basis for use on construction projects (including other uses to which such trucks may be assigned in the course of rentals which are primarily for construction or road maintenance work) are set forth in Schedule II.

(3) Combination charges prohibited. In no event may any charge for a particular rental of a dump truck be based on a combination of Schedule "I" and Schedule "II" rates.

(d) Less than maximum rates. Nothing in this order prevents the charging or offering, or paying of rates lower than the maximum rates permitted in Schedules "I" and "II".

(e) Modification of rates. The Office of Price Administration may at any time by order authorize maximum rental rates for dump trucks other than those provided herein, applicable to any group of lessors, or all lessors, for (i) a designated geographical area, or (ii) a specified type of work where it is demonstrated that due to conditions peculiar to the area or project, that the rates herein established are either higher or lower than would be generally fair and equitable to either lessee or lessor.

(f) Truck and trailer mounted equipment. (1) The maximum rental rate for any combination machine consisting of any construction or road maintenance equipment mounted on an automotive truck or trailer and rented on a bare basis shall be a price calculated on the basis of a monthly rate which shall be equal to the sum of the following: (i) the maximum monthly rate for such equipment in accordance with section 15, Appendix A of Maximum Price Regulation 134, or under Maximum Price Regulation 136, where applicable, and (ii) a maximum monthly rental rate for the truck or trailer equal, for trucks to 7 percent and for trailers to 5½ percent, of the highest maximum price established by any regulation issued by the Office of Price Administration for the sale to any domestic class of purchaser, of the nearest equivalent new truck or trailer, or the nearest equivalent new truck or trailer chassis and the nearest equivalent new extra, special, or optional equipment which may have been added to complete the rented truck or trailer.

(2) Maximum charges for operating and maintenance services supplied by lessors in connection with rental of truck or trailer mounted equipment, whether amounting to a fully, or partially, operated service shall be charges established by filing an application for approval of such rate pursuant to section 5 (a) of Maximum Price Regulation 571.

Over 12 cubic yards, add for each cubic yard		.30	.20	.25
On all 3 axle, 10 tire trucks with drive on two rear axles, add		.40	.40	.40

PART II

(1) Where a driver is provided by the lessor in connection with a fully maintained rental of a dump truck, there may be added to the above hourly rate, 135% of the hourly wage for the operator of such truck at the wage prevailing on March 31, 1942, in the area of the job site.

(2) The capacity of any dump truck shall be the water level capacity as determined by the height of the tail gate or front end, whichever is lower, of the permanent body of the truck: Provided, That when necessary to attain such water-level the sides of the truck are brought up to this height, whether by temporary or permanent additions. It shall be a violation of this regulation for any lessor to refuse to supply sideboards, on any type of work where he has customarily supplied the same, in order to obtain greater aggregate rental for his trucks. The capacity of the Boulder type dump truck shall be determined by the manufacturer's rating.

(3) Column A rates apply where the loading is performed by power loading devices except where the material is processed sand, gravel, crushed stone, or other processed materials in stock piles at a commercial producing plant, at point of construction or at intermediate point of transfer. A hopper, chute, bunker, or conveyor shall not be deemed to be a power loading device.

Column B rates apply where the loading is performed by hand and where the average mileage of the vehicle does not exceed 8 miles per hour for the period of time the vehicle is in use each day.

Column C rates apply where transportation or loading is performed under conditions other than those described for application of Column A or B rates. Column C rates apply where the loading is by hopper, chute, bunker, or conveyor.

(4) On any job where the lessee finds it impossible or impracticable, because of the shifting of trucks from one type of loading to another, to calculate the rental according to the several services rendered by each truck, the lessee may pay, as a maximum rental price for the job, a price calculated on the basis of any rate, or combination of rates, which does not exceed the applicable rates set forth in Column A above.

(5) Irrespective of the basis of contract, in no event shall any rental paid or received for dump trucks exceed the maximum rental permitted by application of the foregoing hourly rates.

(6) In every instance, the foregoing maximum hourly rates shall apply irrespective of the length of time that a truck is on the job, except that where the lessor is required to pay his truck operator overtime wages on any job because of overtime operation of the truck, there may be added to the maximum rental the dollar amount, determined according to wage rates in effect on 3-31-42, of so much of the excess of overtime wages over straight time wages as is actually paid the operator plus payroll taxes and insurance for such overtime operation of the truck.

(7) In every instance, rental for any dump truck rented on a fully operated basis shall be calculated, in accordance with this paragraph, as beginning not sooner than the time the truck arrives on the job ready for use and as ending when the truck is finally released on the job for return to the lessor, except that where the truck must be moved daily to and from the job, the lessor may charge the lessee an additional hour's rent at the applicable maximum rate for each day that the truck is moved to and from the job.

(8) The Office of Price Administration, or any Regional Office of the Office of Price Administration, or any District Office duly authorized by a Regional Office, may authorize for a particular job, an increase in the rental provided by the foregoing hourly rates, not exceeding 10 percent of the applicable maximum, where the lessor, prior to charging the higher rental, has satisfactorily shown that his equipment is to be used on such job more than 25 miles from his yard and that his costs will be materially increased by reason of such use.

PART III—APPLICATION OF RATES

(a) All repairs and replacements, including tire replacements shall be made by and at the cost and expense of the lessor. Payment will not be made for use of equipment during the time when repairs are being made.

(b) These rates may be applied only to the hours of actual use, but do not contemplate lessee unreasonably retaining equipment in his possession when not in actual use.

Fully Maintained and Operated Basis Rental

(c) All fuel and lubricants used in the operation of motor vehicles shall be furnished (or paid for) by the lessor.

(d) Drivers' wages are excluded from all rates indicated hereon.

PART IV—DEFINITION AND GENERAL PROVISIONS

Fully maintained and operated basis refers to any lease, contract, or understanding, regardless of whether the same is denominated a rental agreement, or forms a part of another agreement, whereby one party undertakes to furnish another party with any of this equipment, and supply all services required therewith. (Excluding driver).

Rental rates set forth in this table are for fully maintained and operated vehicles (less drivers), and includes charges for mechanics, greasers, gasoline, fuel oil, lubricants, repairs, tire maintenance or any other charge which is properly a part of "maintenance and operating service." The rental rates set forth in this table include an allowance for the cost of all repairs and overhauling.

SCHEDULE II—RENTALS OF DUMP TRUCKS ON A "BARE" BASIS

PART I

Maximum price of truck, chassis, and equipment	A	B	C
	Percent	Percent	Percent
Up to and including $4,500	9	7	8
Over $4,500 to $8,500	8	6½	7
Over $8,500	7	5½	6½
Half-track dump trucks	9	8	7

PART II

Determination of truck capacities and application of the foregoing rates shall be governed by the provisions of subparagraphs (2), (3) and (4) of Schedule I, Part II.

In every instance, rental for dump trucks leased on a bare basis shall be calculated as beginning at the time trucks are delivered into possession of the lessee, and as terminating at the time when trucks are delivered back into the possession of the lessor.

PART III—APPLICATION OF RATES

(a) The monthly rates established herein are based upon a usage of 240 hours per month. For actual use for more than 240 hours during one monthly period, the maximum additional rental price for each additional hour, or part of an hour, for such actual use shall be calculated upon the basis of 1/480 of the applicable rate per month shown in the foregoing schedule.

(2) If used for a part of a monthly period, the maximum rental rate for such part of the monthly period shall be calculated upon the basis of the higher of: (1) 1/30 of the applicable monthly rate for each daily period, or part thereof, of possession or (2) 1/240 of the applicable monthly rate for each hour, or part thereof, of actual use.

(c) All fuel and lubricants used in the operation of motor vehicles shall be furnished (or paid for) by the lessee.

(d) Drivers' wages are excluded from all rates indicated herein.

PART IV—DEFINITION AND GENERAL PROVISIONS

"Bare" basis refers to any lease, contract, or understanding, regardless of whether the same is denominated a rental agreement, or forms a part of another agreement, whereby one party undertakes to furnish another party with any of this equipment, without supplying any operating and maintenance services required therewith.

Rental rates set forth in this table are for "bare" dump trucks and do not include charges for drivers, mechanics, greasers, gasoline, fuel oil, lubricants, repairs, or maintenance (except that due to normal wear and tear), or any other charge which is properly a part of operating and maintenance service. The rental rates set forth in this table include an allowance for the cost of all repairs and overhauling required as a result of normal wear and tear of vehicles. This means that:

(a) When vehicles are on bare rental and break down as a result of normal wear and tear, lessor cannot charge lessee with the cost of repairs, or any rental for the time lost while repairs are being made.

(b) Where vehicles are bare rental breakdown as a result of any cause other than normal wear and tear, lessor can charge lessee with the cost of repairs and with rental for possession of vehicles during the time while repairs are being made.

(c) However, where vehicles are on bare rental, the lessee may at his own expense always make minor repairs, regardless of the cause of breakdown, where such repairs are necessary to keep the job going, but he may not charge the cost of such repairs to the lessor or deduct the time lost for making repairs from the rental period, without the lessor's consent.

(d) In any instance where there is a breakdown of vehicles on bare rental, the cause of such breakdown is a question of fact that must be determined between the lessor and the lessee.

(e) A bare rental contract may provide for the assumption by the lessee of the duty to make all repairs and replacements at his own cost and expense, including those resulting from normal wear and tear and including tire repair or replacement, provided that in such event the rental shall not exceed 85% of the applicable maximum rental rate set forth in this table. By way of illustration but not limitation, such a lessee may be required to pay the entire cost of a repair or replacement necessitated by climatic conditions, fire, flood, tornado, etc., while the vehicle is or was in his possession, and the normal wear and tear resulting from his use and may be required to pay rental during the repair period. He may be required to pay a proportion of the cost of tires; for example, based upon his mileage use as compared with the normal mileage life of the tires. However, he shall not be required to pay for repair or replacement due to pre-existing or hidden defects, or to defective material, nor would he be required to pay rental during the repair period.

This order shall become effective on the 14th day of May 1946.

Issued this 9th day of May 1946.

For the purpose of this section, the term "reseller" shall not include a person who purchases a commodity covered by this section for incorporation into or assembly with another product (such as refrigerator), with which it is customarily sold as a single unit at a single price.

(e) Notification. On sales of any commodity covered by this section to a customer purchasing for resale, any seller subject to this section shall give notice, in writing, at or before the issuance of the first invoice after May 9, 1946, of the actual dollars-and-cents increase for each size compressor and condensing unit and repair or service part therefor over his maximum price to that class of purchaser in effect on May 8, 1946, and the method by which such customer is authorized to determine his maximum price pursuant to the provisions of this section.

(f) Reporting provisions; manufacturers. Any manufacturer who increases his maximum price as permitted under this section shall within 5 days after such a maximum price has been increased submit to the Prefabrication and Building Equipment Price Branch, Office of Price Administration, Washington 25, D. C., a report stating the following:

(i) Plate number or other identification for each commodity whose price has been increased.

(ii) Its maximum price in effect just prior to the increase authorized by this order.

This amendment shall become effective May 9, 1946.

Any request should be addressed: Secretary, Securities and Exchange Commission, 18th and Locust Streets, Philadelphia 3, Pennsylvania. All interested persons are referred to the application which is on file in this Commission for a statement of the transaction therein proposed which is summarized as follows:

Mississippi, pursuant to a loan agreement dated March 27, 1946, will borrow from Central Hanover Bank and Trust Company of New York, N. Y., not later than September 1, 1946, $3,450,000, and will issue to such bank ten serial notes in like aggregate principal amount. The serial notes will be uniformly dated as of the date of their delivery, will mature in aggregate principal amounts of $345,000 in ten semi-annual installments, commencing 66 months from their date and continuing consecutively, semi-annually thereafter, and will bear interest from that date at the rate of 2% per annum, payable semi-annually.

This transaction is part of a program designed to raise $5,700,000. The issuance and sale by Mississippi to Electric of 200,000 shares of no par value Common Stock for a cash consideration of $2,250,000 has been approved by order of this Commission entered on April 23, 1946.

Mississippi proposes to use the proceeds of this loan together with the proceeds from the said sale of its Common Stock (1) to pay all of the Company's 2¼% serial notes presently outstanding in the aggregate principal amount of $1,700,000, and (2) to finance, in part, Mississippi's program for the construction of new facilities and extension and improvement of its present facilities.

STANDARD POWER AND LIGHT CORP. ET AL.

ORDER MAKING CERTAIN RECITATIONS WITH RESPECT TO PROPOSED SALE OF SECURITIES

At a regular session of the Securities and Exchange Commission held at its office in the City of Philadelphia, Pa., on the 7th day of May 1946.

In the matter of Standard Power and Light Corporation, and Standard Gas and Electric Company and subsidiary companies thereof, Respondents, File No. 59-9; Standard Gas and Electric Company, File No. 70-1283.

The Commission having on August 8, 1941, issued its order, pursuant to section 11 (b) (1) of the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935, directing that Standard Gas and Electric Company sever its relationship with various companies therein designated, by disposing or causing the disposition of its direct and indirect ownership, control and holding of securities issued by said companies, including among others Pacific Gas and Electric Company; and

Standard Gas and Electric Company having on April 17, 1946, filed a Notice pursuant to Rule U-44 (c) (File No. 70-1283), declaring its intention to sell 177,000 shares of common stock, par value $25 per share of Pacific Gas and Electric Company, a California corporation, subject to the provisions of said rule, and the Commission not having required within said ten-day period that a declaration be filed with respect to said proposed sale, and having thereby permitted said sale to be effected; and

Standard Gas and Electric Company having requested that the Commission enter an order finding and reciting that the proposed sale of said 177,000 shares of common stock, par value $25 per share, of Pacific Gas and Electric Company is necessary or appropriate to effectuate the provisions of section 11 (b) (1) of said act, and making the specifications and itemizations necessary in order that sections 371 (b), 371 (f) and 1808 (f) of the Internal Revenue Code shall be applicable; and it appearing appropriate to the Commission that an order should be entered as hereinafter set forth;

It is ordered, And the Commission finds, that the proposed sale and transfer of 177,000 shares of common stock, par value $25 per share, of Pacific Gas and Electric Company, a California corporation, now held by Standard Gas and Electric Company, is in accordance with and in obedience to the aforesaid order of the Commission dated August 8, 1941, which order found that the divestment by Standard Gas and Electric Company of its interest in Pacific Gas and Electric Company was necessary and appropriate for the purpose of bringing about compliance by Standard Gas and Electric Company with section 11 (b) (1) of said act; and the said 177,000 shares of common stock of Pacific Gas and Electric Company are hereby specified and itemized as being included in the holdings of securities named in said order dated August 8, 1941.

By the Commission.

NORTH AMERICAN CO.

NOTICE REGARDING FILING

At a regular session of the Securities and Exchange Commission, held at its office in the City of Philadelphia, Pa., on the 7th day of May 1946.

Notice is hereby given that a declaration or application (or both) has been filed with this Commission pursuant to the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 by The North American Company.

Notice is further given that any interested person may not later than May 17, 1946, at 5:30 p. m., e. d. s. t., request the Commission in writing that a hearing be held on such matter stating the reasons for such request and the nature of his interest, or may request that he be notified if the Commission should order a hearing thereon. At any time thereafter said declaration or application as filed or as amended may be granted or permitted to become effective as provided in Rule U-23 of the Rules and Regulations promulgated pursuant to said act. Any such request should be addressed: Securities and Exchange Commission, 18th and Locust Streets, Philadelphia 3, Pennsylvania.

All interested persons are referred to said declaration or application which is on file in the office of the said Commission for a statement of the transactions therein proposed which are summarized below:

The North American Company proposes to pay on July 1, 1946, a dividend to its holders of common stock of record on June 3, 1946. Such dividend will be payable in the common stock of Pacific Gas and Electric Company having a par value of $25 per share, owned by The North American Company, at the rate of one share of common stock of Pacific Gas and Electric Company on each 100 shares of the common stock of The North American Company outstanding. No certificates will be issued for fractions of shares of stock of Pacific Gas and Electric Company, but, in lieu thereof, cash will be paid at the rate of forty-five cents for each 1/100 of a share of stock of Pacific Gas and Electric Company, this rate being based on the approximate market price of $45 per share as of April 25, 1946, the date on which the proposed dividend was declared. The North American Company estimates that the payment of the above-mentioned dividends will involve the distribution of not more than 75,000 shares of the 429,596 shares of common stock of Pacific Gas and Electric Company owned by it and use of not more than $600,000 of cash, and that the payment of such dividend will result in a charge of approximately $2,925,000 to earned surplus.

The North American Company has requested that the Commission enter an order permitting said declaration to become effective or granting said application on or before May 20, 1946, and that such order conform to the requirements of section 1808 (f) of the Internal Revenue Code, as amended.

By the Commission.

Secretary.

Chapter IX—Production and Marketing Administration (Marketing Agreements and Orders)

PART 946—MILK IN THE LOUISVILLE, KENTUCKY, MARKETING AREA

AMENDMENT TO ORDER, AS AMENDED, REGULATING HANDLING OF MILK IN LOUISVILLE, KY., MARKETING AREA

§ 946.0 Findings and determinations—(a) Findings upon the basis of the hearing record. Pursuant to the act and the rules of practice and procedure governing the formulation of marketing agreements and marketing orders (7 CFR, Cum. Supp., 900.1, et seq.; 10 F.R. 11791), a public hearing was held February 13-16, 1946, inclusive, upon certain proposed amendments to the tentatively approved marketing agreement and to the order, as amended, regulating the handling of milk in the Louisville, Kentucky, marketing area. It is hereby found upon the basis of the evidence introduced at such hearing, in addition to the other findings made prior to or at the time of the original issuance of said order (which findings are hereby ratified and affirmed, save only as such findings are in conflict with the findings hereinafter set forth), that:

(1) The order regulating the handling of milk in the said marketing area, as amended and as hereby amended, and all of the terms and conditions thereof, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act;

(2) The prices calculated to give milk produced for sale in the Louisville, Kentucky, marketing area a purchasing power equivalent to the purchasing power of such milk, as determined pursuant to sections 2 and 8 (e) of the act, are not reasonable in view of the price of feeds, available supplies of feeds, and other economic conditions which affect market supplies of and demand for such milk, and the minimum prices set forth in the said order, as amended and as hereby amended, are such prices as will reflect the aforesaid factors, insure a sufficient quantity of pure and wholesome milk, and be in the public interest; and

(3) The said order, as amended and as hereby amended, regulates the handling of milk in the same manner, and is applicable only to persons in the respective classes of industrial and commercial activity, specified in a marketing agreement upon which a hearing has been held.

(b) Determinations. It is hereby determined that handlers (excluding cooperative associations of producers who are not engaged in processing, distributing, or shipping the milk covered by this order, as amended) of at least 50 percent of the volume of milk covered by this order, which is marketed within the Louisville, Kentucky, marketing area, refused or failed to sign the tentatively approved marketing agreement regulating the handling of milk in the said marketing area; and it is hereby further determined that:

(1) The refusal or failure of such handlers to sign said tentatively approved marketing agreement tends to prevent

CONSERVATION OF COAL BY MANUFACTURED AND MIXED GAS UTILITIES

A critical shortage of coal threatens in many parts of the country to reduce manufactured gas supplies below the level necessary to provide for essential requirements and the following order is deemed necessary and appropriate in the public interest and to promote the national defense.

§ 4500.68 Utilities Order U-12—(a) Definitions. For the purposes of this order:

(1) "Utility" means any person in the United States engaged in producing, transmitting or supplying, in whole or in part, manufactured or mixed gas directly or indirectly for general use by the public.

(2) "Consumer" means any ultimate user of manufactured or mixed gas produced, transmitted or distributed by any utility.

(3) "Manufactured gas" means any combustible gas produced by any manufacturing process consuming coal or coke.

(4) "Mixed gas" means a mixture of manufactured gas and hydrocarbon gases such as natural gas, refinery oil gas, liquefied petroleum gas.

(b) When gas shortages will be deemed to exist. A gas shortage will be deemed to exist whenever a utility's stock or assured supply of coal or coke is equal to or less than a three weeks' supply required for the production of an amount of manufactured gas, which, combined with the utility's anticipated supply of other gas, is essential to provide normal gas service.

(c) Limitations on deliveries of manufactured and mixed gas. In the event of a gas shortage in any area, the utility supplying such area shall reduce deliveries to consumers where such reductions will substantially prolong its ability to deliver gas. Such reductions shall be made in accordance with the following provisions of this paragraph (c) and with such further directives as the Civilian Production Administration may from time to time issue: Provided, That to the extent, if any, required by the emergency nature of the shortage, such utility may, in the first instance, reduce deliveries without regard to such provisions but shall, as soon as possible thereafter, readjust its operations and deliveries to conform in all respects to the requirements of this paragraph (c) during the continuance of the gas shortage.

(1) First, the utility shall, within the limits of its contractual rights, reduce or discontinue deliveries to all consumers purchasing manufactured or mixed gas under contracts permitting the supplier to interrupt deliveries: Provided, That such deliveries of gas necessary for the maintenance of the essential services listed in Schedule I to this order shall be reduced or discontinued only to the extent that the fuel requirements for such production and services can be supplied from the consumer's stand-by facilities.

(2) Second, the utility shall reduce or discontinue deliveries to all commercial and industrial consumers, except to the extent that such deliveries are necessary for the maintenance of the essential services listed in Schedule I or to prevent permanent damage to the production facilities of such consumers. Such reductions or discontinuance shall be made, insofar as practicable, on a uniform proportionate basis.

(3) Third, the utility shall reduce or discontinue deliveries to the essential services listed in Schedule I except hospitals and power, gas, communications, water, sewage and sanitation systems. Such reductions or discontinuance shall be made on a uniform proportionate basis insofar as practicable.

(4) Finally, after effectuating the reductions in deliveries required by the foregoing provisions of this paragraph (c), the utility shall reduce deliveries to all remaining consumers to the extent and in the manner it deems necessary and practicable.

(d) Special directives. The Civilian Production Administration may issue such further directives with respect to reductions in deliveries as may be necessary.

(e) Reports. Whenever any utility reduces or discontinues service to consumers pursuant to this order, it shall immediately notify the Office for Emergency Control, Civilian Production Administration, Washington 25, D. C., by telephone or telegraph, describing the nature and extent of such reductions. This reporting requirement has been approved by the Bureau of the Budget pursuant to the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

Issued this 9th day of May 1946.

EASTERN FENCE POSTS

A statement of the considerations involved in the issuance of this amendment, issued simultaneously herewith, has been filed with the Division of the Federal Register.

Revised Maximum Price Regulation 324 is amended in the following respects:

1. Sections 2 (a), 2 (c) (4), 2 (d) and 2 (e) are amended to read as follows:

SEC. 2. Purpose and coverage of this regulation. (a) This regulation establishes specific maximum prices for all sales of Eastern fence posts of the species listed in paragraph (c) below when produced in the limited area specified in that paragraph for each "species" and in the heading to the tables in section 4A. Species not listed and species listed in paragraph (c) but produced in any other part of the general territory covered by this regulation remain subject to the General Maximum Price Regulation except on sales by retail yards which are covered in section 3.

(c) (4) Tennessee Red Cedar (Juniperus virginiana) produced in Tennessee, Alabama, Kentucky, Virginia, Georgia, North Carolina, South Carolina, West Virginia, Indiana, Ohio and Mississippi.

(d) The term "fence posts" as used in this regulation includes fence posts and stakes, round or split, peeled or unpeeled, treated or untreated.

(e) All posts priced in this regulation must be of sound live timber free of decay, splits, large or numerous knots or knot holes, etc., that would impair strength or durability, except other grades specifically priced in the tables of section 4A.

2. Section 3 is amended to read as follows:

SEC. 3. How to figure maximum prices. (a) The maximum prices for posts of the listed species for all sales except distributor and retail sales and sales to industrial users, are shown in the tables in section 4A.

(b) Maximum prices for distributor sales to retailers. On sales by a distributor of less than carload quantities to a retailer the maximum prices for untreated posts shown in section 4A may be increased 15 percent.

NOTE: Retailers buying posts under this provision and reselling to consumers are limited to resale prices determined according to paragraph (c) below.

(c) Maximum prices for retail sales. The maximum prices for retail sales of eastern fence posts, treated or untreated, shall be determined as follows:

(1) Listed species; untreated or treated by nonpressure methods. (i) The maximum price from section 4A for the same size and species of post, plus

(ii) An addition for inbound freight computed by multiplying the appropriate estimated weight given in section 4A by the carload freight rate from the basing point given for that species which produces the lowest rate to the seller's yard, plus

(iii) Where the total of (i) and (ii) equals or exceeds $10.00 per retail sale, a mark-up to such total of 25 percent for Yellow Pine posts and of 33⅓ percent for other species; but, where the total of (i) and (ii) is less than $10.00 per sale, a mark-up of 50 percent of Yellow Pine posts and of 60 percent for other species.

(2) Listed species; pressure treated. (i) The maximum price from section 4A for the same size and species of post, plus

(ii) The appropriate addition for pressure treatment shown in Maximum Price Regulation 491, section 19 (c), Table 3,[1] plus

(iii) An addition for freight computed by multiplying the appropriate estimated weight given in section 4A by the carload freight rate from the basing point given for that species which produces the lowest rate to the seller's yard, plus

(iv) Where the total of (i), (ii) and (iii) equals or exceeds $10.000 per retail sale, a mark-up to such total of 25 percent; but, where the total of (i), (ii) and (iii) is less than $10.00 per sale, a mark-up of 50 percent.

(iii) Where the total of (i) and (ii) equals or exceeds $10.00 per retail sale, a mark-up to such total of 33⅓ percent; but, where the total of (i) and (ii) is less than $10.00 per sale, a mark-up of 60 percent.

(4) Delivery charges. The maximum prices for retail sales established under this paragraph (c) include free delivery within the mileage limits and to those classes of customers to whom free delivery was extended in March 1942. On retail sales to those classes of customers to whom free delivery was not included in March 1942, an additional charge for delivery may be made, according to (i) or (ii) below.

(i) Private truck. When delivery is by truck owned or controlled by the seller, the amount added for delivery may not be more than the actual cost to the seller of delivery by truck. This "actual cost" may not be higher than the over-all average trucking cost for a similar delivery arrived at as of the 12-month period ending December 31, 1942.

(ii) Common or contract carrier. When delivery is made by common or contract carrier only the actual amount paid to the carrier for transportation of the eastern fence posts may be added.

NOTE: These treating additions are per piece and include preservative required to obtain a final retention of six pounds per cubic foot with grade one creosote oil. On any other specification of treatment the original seller must have secured approval of an addition under Section 8 of Maximum Price Regulation 491. The addition so authorized for his supplier must be used by the retailer in figuring the maximum price. If this cannot be ascertained, the retailer must apply for approval of an addition according to Section 6 of Revised Maximum Price Regulation 324.

(d) Maximum prices for sales to industrial users. The maximum prices for sales of eastern fence posts to an industrial user shall be determined as follows:

(1) Listed species; untreated or treated by nonpressure methods. (i) The maximum price from section 4A, plus

(ii) An addition for freight computed by multiplying the appropriate estimated weight given in section 4A by the carload freight rate from the basing point given for that species which is nearest the seller's shipping point, plus

(iii) A mark-up of 15 percent to the total of (i) and (ii).

(2) Listed species; pressure treated. (i) The maximum price from section 4A for the same size and species of post, plus

(ii) The appropriate additions for pressure treatment shown in Maximum Price Regulation 491, section 19 (c), Table 3,

(iii) An addition for freight computed by multiplying the appropriate estimated weight given in section 4A by the carload freight rate from the basing point given for that species which is nearest the seller's shipping point.

(3) Species not listed; treated or untreated. The seller's General Maximum Price Regulation price including delivery to destination shall apply.

(e) Sales by distributors or retailers of posts priced in Maximum Price Regulation 536. The price and basing point to be used in computing prices under paragraphs (b) and (c) above for all species priced in Maximum Price Regulation 536 are set forth in section 4 of that regulation.

3. Section 4 is redesignated section 4a and a new section 4 is added to read as follows:

SEC. 4. Definitions of terms used in this regulation—(1) Normal production area. A normal production area for any species is any area in which posts of that species may be obtained in quantity by truck haul of less than 60 miles from the producing mill.

(2) Retail sale. A retail sale is a sale by a retail or wholesale lumber yard or other retail business made to an ultimate consumer out of the regular yard stock. The retail seller must regularly maintain a stock of other merchandise in addition to fence posts, sell generally for local delivery by truck; and his yard must be located on its particular site in order to be near a consuming area.

(3) Distributor's sale. A distributor's sale is a sale to retail sellers in less than carload quantities made out of the regular stock of a yard located outside of the normal production area at which yard a stock of fence posts and other merchandise is maintained, and the posts are sorted, graded and assembled for resale or distribution to retail sellers as defined in subdivision (2). Such distributor's yard must be located on its particular site in order to be near a consuming area and the distributor must generally purchase posts in carload shipments and generally resell them in less than carload quantities. If a distributor makes a sale in carload quantities, he uses the table prices set forth in section 4a.

(4) Industrial users. Industrial users for the purpose of this regulation are federal, state, and municipal governments, industrial plants, and transportation systems, which use eastern fence posts for the protection and maintenance of their properties.

4. In the section which prior to this amendment was section 4 but is redesignated section 4a by this amendment, Table 1, and the paragraph immediately preceding Table 1 are amended to read as follows:

SEC. 4a. Table of maximum prices. Maximum prices on sales to retailers and other nonconsumers are set out in the tables below, for the listed species. The prices in the tables are f. o. b. cars at concentration yard or other loading-out point in the producing area. (If a delivered price is to be quoted, see section 5 for the permitted transportation addition.)

7. Section 9 is amended to read as follows:

SEC. 9. Prohibited practices—(a) General practices. Any practice which gets the effect of a higher-than-ceiling price without actually raising the price is as much a violation of this regulation as an outright over-ceiling price. This applies to devices making use of commissions, services, transportation arrangements, premiums, special privileges, tying-agreements, trade understandings and the like.

(b) Specific practices. (1) The practice of breaking up a retail order which would normally be a single order into a series of smaller orders to secure the additional mark-up allowed for small quantity sales of less than $10.00 is specifically prohibited.

(2) Breaking up a carload quantity into less than carload quantities to secure the distributor's mark-up of 15 percent is prohibited.

(3) It is a direct violation to buy or sell material as eastern fence posts under and according to the provisions of Table 4 of Section 4A of this regulation for use as saw logs or for any other purpose than as support for fencing.

(4) Sellers must maintain cash discounts and credit terms no less favorable to buyers than the cash discounts and credit terms they allowed on October 1, 1941; except that a discount need not be larger than 2 percent.

This amendment shall become effective May 14, 1946.

Issued this 9th day of May 1946.

PAUL A. PORTER,
Administrator.

PART 1389—APPAREL

[RMPR 287,[1] Amdt. 6]

MANUFACTURERS' PRICES FOR WOMEN'S, GIRLS', CHILDREN'S AND TODDLERS' OUTERWEAR GARMENTS

A statement of the considerations involved in the issuance of this amendment, issued simultaneously herewith, has been filed with the Division of the Federal Register.

Revised Maximum Price Regulation 287 is amended in the following respects:

1. Section 12 is revoked.

2. Section 10a is added to read as follows:

SEC. 10a. Manufacturers who cannot price by Rule 1, 2 and 3.—(a) Manufacturers who made no deliveries during March 1942 and who have not received orders of authorization. Except in the case of transfers of business as provided in section 18, a manufacturer who did not deliver garments covered by this regulation during March 1942 and who has not received an order of authorization under section 12 of this regulation or under Rule 6 or Rule 9 of Maximum Price Regulation 287, may not sell or deliver garments at a maximum allowable margin higher than 15%, or at a selling price line higher than that listed in Appendix G (section 33) for each category number, until he has received authorization from the Office of Price Administration to establish maximum prices.

(1) Application. Two signed copies of an application for authorization to establish maximum prices shall be filed with the appropriate District Office[2] of the OPA, setting forth the following:

(i) Applicant's name and address;

(ii) Date of commencement of business;

(iii) Names of all owners, officers and principals of applicant (any owner holding less than 10% of the capital stock of corporate applicants need not be listed);

(iv) Experience during 1942 of all owners, officers and principals of applicant in the manufacturing of garments covered by this regulation, including, if then employed, name of employer, inclusive dates of employment, and duties performed;

(v) Category numbers of garments desired to be sold;

(vi) Highest selling price lines requested for each category number of garments desired to be sold;

(vii) Maximum margins requested for each category number;

(viii) Forms of sale requested for each category number for each class of purchaser.

(2) Authorization of maximum prices. If authorization is given, it will be accompanied by instructions as to the method for establishing maximum prices of the garments to be sold. These instructions may be revised by the Office of Price Administration at any time.

(i) Highest price lines. No price line will be authorized, to any manufacturer, in any category, which is higher than the highest price line listed for that category in Appendix E (sec. 31).

(ii) Maximum margins. No maximum allowable margin will be authorized to any manufacturer, which is higher than the maximum allowable margins listed in Appendix F (sec. 32).

(iii) Price line authorization. Price lines higher than those listed in Appendix G (sec. 33) will be not authorized, unless the applicant satisfactorily establishes in his application under subparagraph (1) above, that he had responsible manufacturing experience (as defined in (iv) below) in price lines higher than those listed in Appendix G (sec. 33). In that event, price lines and margins will be authorized in line with the applicant's experience, not to exceed, however, the limitations set forth in (i) and (ii) above. Where the applicant is composed of more than one owner or principal, price lines and margins will be authorized in line with the experience of that principal or owner (unless his interest is insubstantial) who, were he to apply by himself, would be authorized the lowest maximum selling price.

(iv) "Responsible manufacturing experience" shall be considered to be any one of the following:

(a) Sole ownership of a manufacturer of garments covered by this regulation.

(b) Ownership of a substantial interest in a manufacturer of garments covered by this regulation, with actual participation in the management and operation.

(c) Ownership of a contractor, fabricating garments covered by this regulation.

(d) Employment as a production manager or full time designer for a manufacturer of garments covered by this regulation.

(v) For the purpose of this section, no other experience of an applicant shall be considered, except his responsible manufacturing experience in March 1942, or if he had no responsible manufacturing experience in March 1942, then his responsible manufacturing experience in 1942, nearest in time to March.

(b) All other manufacturers who cannot establish their maximum prices and who have not received orders of authorization. (1) A manufacturer who cannot determine his maximum price under any of the previous provisions of this regulation shall not sell or deliver any garments at a maximum allowable margin higher than 15%, or at a selling price line higher than that listed in Appendix G (section 33) for each category number, until he has received specific authorization from the OPA.

(i) Contents of application. Such manufacturer must file with the appropriate District Office of the OPA two signed copies of an application setting forth in detail the following:

(a) Applicant's name and address;

(b) The reasons why he cannot price under any of the rules set forth in this regulation;

(c) The most accurate pricing chart which the applicant can prepare on the basis of his records;

(d) An explanation of the manner in which the applicant can substantiate the information reported in accordance with subdivision (c);

(e) The highest selling price line and maximum margin he requests for each category number he desires to sell;

(f) The terms of sale he requests for each category number for each class of purchaser.

(2) Authorization of maximum prices. (1) To the extent that the information submitted by the applicant makes it possible, selling price lines and allowable margins will be authorized based on his base period experience as demonstrated. To the extent that such reconstruction of base period experience is not possible, maximum prices will be authorized in accordance with the standards set forth in paragraph (a) (2) of this section.

(ii) Authorizations which may be issued under this paragraph will be accompanied by instructions as to the method of establishing maximum prices. These instructions may be revised at any time by the OPA.

(c) Rules pertaining to manufacturers who have received orders of authorization—(1) To whom these rules apply. These rules apply to all sellers who have received an order authorizing the establishment of maximum prices, pursuant to section 10A or 12 of this regulation or under Rules 6 or 9 of Maximum Price Regulation 287.

(2) Changes in ownership. Orders authorizing the establishment of maximum prices are based upon the 1942 experience of the owners or principals of the applicant. If there is any change in the owners or principals, the order of authorization is revoked from the date of the change and the manufacturer shall be considered a new seller from that date. However, until he receives a new order, such manufacturer may continue to sell at maximum prices no higher than the maximum prices established by such order for a period of 90 days from the date on which the change of ownership takes place: Provided, That he files an application for authorization to establish maximum prices pursuant to section 10a (a) (1) above. (In the case of corporate applicants, any transfer of less than 10% of the capital stock is not considered a change in ownership under the provision.)

(3) Differentials for various classes of purchasers. (i) If, prior to May 18, 1945, the OPA issued an order under this regulation, authorizing a manufacturer to establish maximum prices, and such order does not specify the classes of purchasers to whom he may sell garments at the authorized ceiling prices, he may sell garments at those prices to all classes of purchasers: Provided, That, he has customarily done so since the issuance of the order. However, if the order specified that the manufacturer might sell garments at the authorized ceiling prices, or if the manufacturer sold garments at those prices, only to certain classes of purchasers prior to May 18, 1945, he may not offer or sell garments to any other class of purchasers unless the OPA has modified his order of authorization to provide a method of establishing his ceiling prices to those classes of purchasers.

(ii) To obtain such modification of his order of authorization, a manufacturer must file with the office of the OPA which issued the original order two signed copies of an application stating his name and address, the date and file number of his original order of authorization and the rule or section under which it was issued, a description of the classes of purchasers for sales to whom he wishes to establish maximum prices, and the terms and differentials at which he wishes to sell to each of those classes of purchasers.

(iii) The method of establishing ceiling prices for such sales will be based upon the customary practices of the applicant's closest competitors or upon the practice in the industry generally.

(4) Calculation of costs. (i) Direct costs shall be calculated in accordance with instructions contained in section 30 (Appendix D).

(ii) Direct labor costs shall be calculated in accordance with the instructions contained in section 30 (a) (10), except that for the purpose of the calculation, the phrase "wage rates paid by you" shall be interpreted to mean wage rates paid on March 31, 1942 by manufacturers of the same category of garments in the same area, plus any subsequent increase thereto pursuant to a collective bargaining contract or other wage agreement, which contract was entered into by such manufacturers on or before July 1, 1942, and provided for an unconditional increase of wage rate of a fixed amount or percent.

(d) Authorization of maximum prices for new categories. (1) A manufacturer who has received an order authorizing the establishment of ceiling prices may sell garments in any category different from those for which maximum prices were authorized in the order at price lines no higher than those set forth in Appendix G (sec. 33) for that category, and at maximum allowable margins no higher than those set forth in Appendix F (sec. 32) for that category and price line.

(2) If a manufacturer who has received an order authorizing the establishment of ceiling prices, desires to sell garments in a category different from that previously authorized in the order at higher prices than those permitted by subparagraph (1) of this paragraph, he shall file two signed copies of an application with the office of the OPA which issued the original order and set forth the following:

(i) Applicant's name and address;

(ii) Date and file number of his original order of authorization and rule or section under which it was issued;

(iii) Additional category numbers of garments now desired to be sold at price lines higher than those permitted by subparagraph (1) above;

(iv) Highest selling price line desired for each category number listed in (iii);

(v) Maximum margin desired for each category number listed in (iii);

(vi) Terms of sale desired for each category number listed in (iii) for each class of purchaser.

Highest price lines and maximum allowable margins will be authorized in line with those previously authorized or based upon those set forth in Appendix E (section 31) and Appendix F (section 32).

3. Section 18 (a) is amended to read as follows:

(a) If a substantial part of the business, assets or stock in trade of any business, shall be or shall have been sold or otherwise transferred after April 28, 1942, and the transferee carries on the business, or continues to deal in the same type of commodities or services, in an establishment separate from any other establishment previously owned or operated by him, the maximum prices of the transferee shall be the same as those to which his transferor would have been subject if no such transfer had taken place, except as provided in paragraphs (b) and (c) of this section, and his obligation to keep records sufficient to verify such prices shall be the same. The transferor shall either preserve and make available, or turn over, to the transferee all records of transactions prior to the transfer, which are necessary to enable the transferee to comply with the provisions of this regulation. The provisions of this section, however, shall not apply to any transfer of a business whose transferor has received an order of authorization under section 10A or section 12 of this regulation or under Rule 6 of Maximum Price Regulation 287.

4. Section 31 Appendix E is amended by deleting from the table in paragraph (b) the material relating to category numbers 36–39 and substituting the following:

5. Section 32 Appendix F is amended to read as follows:

SEC. 32. Appendix F: Maximum allowable margins for new manufacturers. (a) The maximum allowable margins which may be authorized for any manufacturers under section 12 (a) or 10 (a) shall be as follows:

If you did not deliver any garments covered by this regulation during March 1942 and you have not received an order of authorization under section 10A or section 12 of this regulation or Rules 6 or 9 of Maximum Price Regulation 287, you must not make sales or deliveries at a maximum allowable margin higher than 15% or at a selling price line higher than that set forth in Appendix G for each category number, until you have received authorization from the Office of Price Administration to establish your ceiling prices. Section 10A tells you how to apply for this authorization.

NOTE: All reporting and record-keeping requirements of this amendment have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Acts of 1942.

This amendment shall become effective May 15, 1946.

PART 1407—RATIONING OF FOOD AND FOOD PRODUCTS

[3d Rev. RO 3,[1] Amdt. 12]

SUGAR

A rationale for this amendment has been issued simultaneously herewith and has been filed with the Division of the Federal Register.

Third Revised Ration Order is amended as follows:

Section 19.10 (c) (2) is amended to read as follows:

(2) The amount of the provisional allowance of sugar for use in canning or bottling fruit, for each kind of fruit, shall be computed in the following way:

(i) The number of cases of 24 No. 2½ cans (or equivalent) of that kind of fruit which the applicant expects to pack from the date of application (or for use in the period from March 15, 1946, to April 1, 1946) to the end of the quarter is multiplied by 90 percent of the average number of pounds of sugar which he used per 24 No. 2½ cans (or equivalent) for that kind of fruit during 1941.

(ii) However, an industrial user who, prior to March 15, 1946, was granted a provisional allowance for a packing season which was not ended by that date, shall be granted a provisional allowance to complete such packing season based on the computation used for determining his allowance prior to March 15, 1946, or 90 percent of the average amount of sugar he used per case for that kind of fruit in 1941, as specified in subdivision (i) of this paragraph, whichever is higher.

The resulting figures for each kind of fruit are added together and the result is his provisional allowance for canning and bottling fruit. The District Office shall issue to him a check for the amount of his provisional allowance less any unused balance of his last provisional allowance of sugar issued for canning and bottling fruit.

This amendment shall become effective May 14, 1946.

PAUL A. PORTER,
Administrator.

PART 8306—SALE OF GOVERNMENT-OWNED PLANT EQUIPMENT IN CONTRACTORS' PLANTS

FORMS FOR REPORTING INVENTORIES AND SALES

Surplus Property Administration Regulation 6, Order 2, November 16, 1945, entitled "Forms for Reporting Inventories and Sales" (10 F.R. 14707), is hereby revised and amended as herein set forth.

Pursuant to the authority of the Surplus Property Act of 1944 (58 Stat. 765; 50 U.S.C. App. Sup. 1611), Public Law 181, 79th Congress, 1st Session (59 Stat. 533), Executive Order 9689 (11 F.R. 1265), and Public Law 375, 79th Congress, 2nd Session, It is hereby ordered, That:

1. The owning agencies (War Department, Navy Department, U. S. Maritime Commission, Reconstruction Finance Corporation) shall report their inventories and monthly sales of Government-owned plant equipment to the War Assets Administrator on WAA Form 1008, "Government-Owned Plant Equipment: Report of Inventory of Owning Agency" (formerly Form SPB-8), and WAA Form 1009, "Government-Owned Plant Equipment: Report of Sales by Owning Agency" (formerly Form SPB-9).

2. Government-owned plant equipment to be reported on inventory and sales reports under this order shall include all Government-owned plant equipment in privately-owned plants and Government-owned plants including emergency plant facilities, excluding only (a) plant equipment in permanent industrial installations of the Army and Navy, such as arsenals, proving grounds, shore establishments, and similar permanent installations, (b) plant equipment in Army and Navy installations used or useful for activities of the Army and Navy other than the production of matériel, munitions, and supplies, (c) plant equipment declared surplus, (d) plant equipment outside the continental limits of the United States, and (e) plant equipment classified as scrap or salvage. It should be noted from the foregoing that the term "plant equipment" is used in this order in a broader sense than in § 8306.1 (b) (3), since it is not confined to Government-owned plant equipment in privately-owned plants.

3. Owning agencies may continue to use Forms SPB-8 and SPB-9 until their stocks of these forms are depleted.

NOTE: All reporting requirements of this part have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

Forms printed in the FEDERAL REGISTER are for information only and do not follow the exact format prescribed by the issuing agency.

This order shall become effective May 1, 1946.

INSTRUCTIONS FOR WAA FORM-1069

GENERAL INSTRUCTIONS

WAA Form-1069 will be used by the owning agencies (the War Department, Navy Department, United States Maritime Commission, and Reconstruction Finance Corporation) to submit monthly reports of sales of Government-owned plant equipment. The report shall be submitted, in triplicate (3), by the owning agencies to the War Assets Administration on or before the 20th of the month following the month for which the report is made. Sales of Items of Government-owned plant equipment, costing $500 or more, falling in the classes in Exhibit A of Order 2 to SPA Reg. 6, shall be reported individually for each such class. In addition, a line entry shall be made for each sale of other Government-owned plant equipment, including Exhibit A items costing less than $500. These sales will be identified as "other sales" and will be totaled by classification of equipment. For this class of sale, therefore, fill in only columns (a), (b), (c), (d), (h), and (i) on WAA Form-1069.

These forms may be reproduced by the owning agencies provided that the format is identical with that prescribed by the War Assets Administration. If machine tabulating methods are used, columnar arrangement shall comply with that in WAA Form-1069.

If additional sheets are necessary for the listing of inventory items, continuation sheets may be used, provided columnar arrangement follows that in WAA Form-1069, and that the continuation sheets are properly identified by page numbering.

ROCKABYE INFANTS TOGS

CONSENT ORDER

Jack Ezon, doing business as Rockabye Infants Togs at 325 Fifth Avenue, New York, New York, is engaged in the manufacture of infant's wear. On February 7, 1946, a temporary suspension order was issued against Jack Ezon directing him to cancel outstanding CC rated textile orders for fabrics in excess of his authorized amount, and to place no CC rated orders for such textiles during the 1st quarter of 1946. Jack Ezon was charged by the Civilian Production Administration on March 14, 1946, with having violated section 944.18 of Priorities Regulation No. 1 by furnishing false information on July 13, 1945, to the War Production Board with respect to his base period use of textiles, and with having violated § 944.18 of Priorities Regulation No. 1 by having furnished false information again on August 21, 1945, to the War Production Board with respect to his base period use of textiles. Jack Ezon admits the violations as charged, does not desire to contest the charge, and has consented to the issuance of this order.

Wherefore, upon the agreement and consent of Jack Ezon, the Regional Compliance Manager, the Regional Attorney, and upon the approval of the Compliance Commissioner; It is hereby ordered, That:

FEDERAL POWER COMMISSION.

NEW YORK STATE NATURAL GAS CORP.

NOTICE OF APPLICATION

MAY 8, 1946.

Notice is hereby given that on May 6, 1946, New York State Natural Gas Corporation ("Applicant"), a New York Corporation having its principal office at 30 Rockefeller Plaza, Borough of Manhattan, City, County and State of New York, filed with the Federal Power Commission an application for a certificate of public convenience and necessity pursuant to section 7 of the Natural Gas Act, as amended, authorizing the sale of natural gas to Hanley and Bird, a partnership of Bradford, Pennsylvania, and the construction and operation of the facilities required to effect the delivery of the gas.

From the application and exhibits submitted therewith it appears that on May 2, 1946, Applicant entered into an agreement with Hanley and Bird, a partnership, providing for the sale of natural gas at wholesale to said partnership. The agreement provides for the delivery of 1,000 Mcf. of natural gas daily at connections to be made in Limestone Township, Clarion County and near Richardsville, Jefferson County, Pennsylvania.

The connection and measuring station at the point of delivery in Limestone Township, Clarion County, Pennsylvania, which Applicant proposes to install will cost approximately $2,500.

Applicant has been advised by Hanley and Bird, the application states, that the gas which it has contracted to buy from applicant is for resale to its customers and is required because of decline in supply of gas available from other sources.

Any interested State commission is requested to notify the Federal Power Commission whether the application should be considered under the cooperative provisions of Part 67 of the provisional rules of practice and regulations under the Natural Gas Act, and, if so, to advise the Federal Power Commission as to the nature of its interest in the matter and whether it desires a conference, the creation of a board, or a joint or concurrent hearing, together with the reasons for such request.

Any person desiring to be heard or to make any protest with reference to the application of New York State Natural Gas Corporation should, on or before the 24th day of May, 1946, file with the Federal Power Commission, Washington 25, D. C., a petition or protest in accordance with the Commission's Provisional rules of practice and regulations under the Natural Gas Act.

ALLEN MANUFACTURING CO., INC.

ADJUSTMENT OF MAXIMUM PRICES

For the reasons set forth in an opinion issued simultaneously herewith and filed with the Division of the Federal Register, and pursuant to sections 15 and 16 of Revised Supplementary Order No. 119, It is ordered:

(a) Manufacturer's maximum prices. Allen Manufacturing Co., Inc., of 300 Tenth Avenue North, Nashville 1, Tennessee, may compute its adjusted maximum prices for all articles of gas combination stoves which it manufactures, as follows:

(1) For an article in its line during October 1941, the adjusted maximum price is the highest price charged during that month to each class of purchaser increased by 9 percent.

(2) For an article not in its line during October 1941, but which has a properly established maximum price, in effect before the effective date of this order, the adjusted maximum price is the article's properly established maximum price for the particular sale (exclusive of all permitted increases or adjustment charges) increased by the percentage determined in accordance with "Note 3" in section 8 of Revised Supplementary Order No. 119.

(3) For an article which is first offered for sale after the effective date of this order, the adjusted maximum price is the maximum price hereafter properly determined or established in accordance with Maximum Price Regulation No. 64 (using the adjusted maximum price of the comparable article); and prices so fixed may not be increased under this order.

(4) The manufacturer's adjusted maximum price fixed in accordance with this order is its new maximum price if it is higher than its previously established maximum price including all increases and adjustments otherwise authorized for it individually or for its industry.

(b) Reseller's maximum prices. This paragraph establishes reseller's maximum prices for sales of the Model 4000 BC gas combination stove manufactured by Allen Manufacturing Co., Inc. as follows:

(1) For sales in each zone by wholesale distributors to retail dealers, the maximum prices, including the Federal excise tax, are those set forth below:

Article	Model	Maximum prices for sales by wholesale distributors to retail dealers
		Zone 1	Zone 2	Zone 3	Zone 4
Gas combination stove.	4000 BC	$111.35	$115.10	$119.65	$123.65

These maximum prices are f. o. b. the seller's city; and they are subject to each seller's customary terms, discounts, allowances, and other price differentials in effect on sales of similar articles.

(2) For sales in each zone by retail dealers to ultimate consumers, the maximum prices, including the Federal excise tax, but not including any state or local taxes imposed at the point of sale, are those set forth below:

Article	Model	Maximum prices for sales by retail dealers to ultimate consumers
		Zone 1	Zone 2	Zone 3	Zone 4
Gas combination stove.	4000 BC	$173.25	$179.25	$186.50	$192.95

These maximum prices include delivery and installation. If the retail dealer does not provide installation he shall compute his maximum price for sales of the article covered by this order by subtracting $9.00 from his maximum price as shown for sales on an installed basis.

In all other respects these maximum prices are subject to each seller's customary terms, discounts, allowances (other than trade-in allowances) and other price differentials in effect on sales of similar articles.

(c) Tagging. Before delivering any stoves covered by this order, after the effective date thereof, the manufacturer shall attach securely to the inside oven door panel a label which plainly states the OPA retail maximum prices established by this order for sales of the stove to ultimate consumers in each zone together with a list of the states included in each zone. The label shall also state that the retail maximum prices shown thereon include the Federal excise tax, delivery and installation, and that if the seller does not provide installation, the maximum price of the stove is $9.00 less than the price shown on the label.

(d) Zones. For the purposes of this order, Zones 1, 2, 3 and 4 comprise the following states:

Zone 1: Tennessee.

Zone 2: Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Maryland, District of Columbia, Virginia, West Virginia, Delaware, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Alabama, Mississippi, Ohio, Indiana, Kentucky, Illinois, Michigan, Missouri, Arkansas, and Louisiana.

Zone 3: Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts, Connecticut, Rhode Island, New York, Florida, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Iowa, North Dakota, South Dakota, Nebraska, Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas.

Zone 4: Montana, Wyoming, Colorado, New Mexico, Idaho, Utah, Arizona, Nevada, Washington, Oregon, and California.

(e) Notification. At the time of, or prior to the first invoice to a purchaser for resale at wholesale of an article covered by this order, the manufacturer shall notify the purchaser in writing of the maximum prices and conditions, established by this order for resales by the purchaser. This notice may be given in any convenient form.

(f) Relationship of this order to Maximum Price Regulation No. 64. Except insofar as the provisions of this order are inconsistent herewith, the provisons of Maximum Price Regulaton No. 64 apply to all sales of articles covered by this order.

(g) Revocation or amendment. This order may be revoked or amended by the Price Administrator at any time.

ADJUSTMENT OF MAXIMUM PRICES

Order No. 194 under Revised Supplementary Order 119; Docket No. 6075-SO 119-10. Adjustment of maximum prices for sale of electric, gas and booster water heaters manufactured by the Hotstream Heater Company, Cleveland, Ohio.

For the reasons set forth in an opinion issued simultaneously herewith and filed with the Division of the Federal Register and pursuant to section 13 of Revised Supplementary Order No. 119, it is ordered:

(a) Maximum prices for the Hotstream Heater Company of Cleveland, Ohio. (1) The above manufacturer may determine his maximum prices for his line of electric automatic water heaters, gas automatic water heaters, and booster water heaters by increasing by 11 percent his prices on these items in effect on October 1, 1941 to each class of purchaser.

(2) Since the provisions of this order are not intended to reduce properly established maximum prices, the manufacturer may continue to use as his maximum prices to each class of purchaser his properly established prices under Maximum Price Regulation No. 591 in the event that such prices exceed the prices in effect to each class of purchaser on October 1, 1941 plus the increase provided for in (1) above.

(3) The maximum prices set forth above shall be subject to discounts and allowances including transportation allowances and price differentials which are at least as favorable as those the manufacturer extended or rendered or would have extended or rendered to each class of purchaser on commodities in the same general category during March 1942.

(b) Resellers' maximum prices. All resellers of the commodities covered by this order (but not manufacturers who purchase such items for use in the manufacture of other products) may add to their presently established maximum prices the actual dollars-and-cents increase in cost resulting from the adjustment granted the manufacturer by this order.

(c) Notification to all purchasers. The manufacturer shall send the following notice to every purchaser of the commodities covered by this order at or before the time of the first invoice after the adjustment granted by this Order is put into effect:

Order No. 194 under Revised Supplementary Order No. 119 authorizes an 11 percent increase in October 1, 1941, net prices for sales of electric automatic water heaters, gas automatic water heaters and booster water heaters, manufactured by this company.

Resellers (but not manufacturers who purchase such items for use in the manufacture of other products) may add to their existing maximum prices the actual dollars-and-cents increase in cost resulting from the adjustment granted by Order No. 194.

(d) All prayers for relief not granted herein are denied.

(e) This order may be amended or revoked by the Price Administrator at any time.

This order shall become effective May 10, 1946.

COLUMBUS WASHBOARD CO.

ADJUSTMENT OF CEILING PRICES

For the reasons set forth in an opinion issued simultaneously herewith and filed with the Division of the Federal Register, and pursuant to sections 15 and 16 of Revised Supplementary Order No. 119; it is ordered:

(a) Manufacturer's ceiling prices. Columbus Washboard Company, 1372 Oxly Road, Columbus, Ohio, may compute its adjusted ceiling prices for all articles in its line of washboards which it manufactures, as follows:

(1) For an article in its line during October 1941, the adjusted ceiling price is the highest price charged during that month to each class of purchaser increased by 10.4 percent.

(2) For an article not in its line during October 1941, but which has a properly established ceiling price, in effect before the effective date of this order, the adjusted ceiling price is the article's properly established ceiling price for the particular sale (exclusive of all permitted increases or adjustment charges) increased by the percentage determined in accordance with "Note 3" in section 8 of Revised Supplementary Order No. 119.

(3) For an article which is first offered for sale after the effective date of this order, the adjusted ceiling price is the maximum price hereafter properly determined or established in accordance with Maximum Price Regulation No. 188; and prices so fixed may not be increased under this order.

(4) The manufacturer's adjusted ceiling price fixed in accordance with this order is his new ceiling price if it is higher than his previously established ceiling price including all increases and adjustments otherwise authorized for him individually or for his industry.

(b) Resellers' ceiling prices. A reseller shall calculate his ceiling prices by adding to his invoice cost the same percentage mark-up which he has on the "most comparable article" for which he has a properly established ceiling price. For this purpose, the "most comparable article" is the one which meets all of the following tests:

(i) It belongs to the narrowest trade category which includes the article being priced.

(ii) Both it and the article being priced were purchased from the same class of supplier.

(iii) Both it and the article being priced belong to a class of articles to which, according to customary trade practices, an approximately uniform percentage mark-up is applied.

(iv) Its net replacement cost is nearest to the net cost of the article being priced.

The determination of a ceiling price in this way need not be reported to the Office of Price Administration; however, each seller must keep complete records showing all the information called for by OPA Form 620–759 with regard to how he determined his ceiling price, for so long as the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended, remains in effect.

If the maximum resale price cannot be determined under the above method, the reseller shall apply to the Office of Price Administration for the establishment of a ceiling price under § 1499.3 (c) of the General Maximum Price Regulation. Ceiling prices established under that section will reflect the supplier's prices as adjusted in accordance with this order.

(c) Terms of sale. Maximum prices adjusted by this order are subject to each seller's terms, discounts, allowances and other price differentials on sales to each class of purchaser in effect during March 1942, or thereafter properly established under OPA regulation.

(d) Notification. At the time of, or prior to, the first invoice to a purchaser for resale showing a price adjusted in accordance with the terms of this order, the seller shall notify such purchaser in writing of the methods established in section (b) for determining adjusted maximum prices for resales of its articles covered by this order. This notice may be given in any convenient form.

(e) Relation between this order and Supplementary Order No. 153. The provisions of Supplementary Order No. 153 shall not apply to the maximum prices for sales of any of the articles mentioned hereinabove in this order, and this order shall supersede the provisions of the said Supplementary Order No. 153.

(f) This order may be revoked or amended by the Price Administrator at any time.

(g) Effective date. This order shall become effective on the 10th day of May 1946.

(2) If a prime contractor was not in business during such period, he may add the margin which his most closely competitive seller of the same class added for the same or comparable subcontractor's service (other than the services covered by this order) during the period January 1, 1939 to March 31, 1942.

The fraction of 2½¢ in the maximum price may be adjusted upward to the next higher multiple of 5 cents. Thus, if a seller's maximum price when calculated hereunder amounts to $1.12½, it may be adjusted upward to $1.15.

(h) Travel time. A maximum charge of six cents per mile may be charged for the distance actually traveled in the most direct route outside the geographical limits of any city or town, to the job and return to said limits.

(i) Measurement of hours. The number of hours to be charged against any job shall be counted from the time the workman starts the job or from the time he leaves the previous job (whichever is later) until he completes the job or proceeds to another job; or until he returns to the shop, if he proceeds there directly. For any job extending into more than one day, time in transit to and from the job may be charged only once. The hours for which charges are made shall not in any event exceed those shown in the seller's payroll records (nor those shown in records required to be kept by the seller under section 9).

SEC. 4. Sales of plumbing, steamfitting and heating services in excess of $500.00. For all sales of plumbing, steamfitting and heating services in excess of $500.00, the maximum price may be calculated either under section 3 of this order or

SEC. 5. Guaranteed price. A seller may offer to sell plumbing, steamfitting and heating services covered by this order on the basis of a guaranteed price, but such guaranteed price must not be higher than the maximum price figured in accordance with the pricing methods and requirements of this order. (See sections 3 and 4)

SEC. 6. Price adjustments—(a) Government required or authorized wage increases. Any seller subject to this order whose hourly wages are increased after December 15, 1945, by reason of a predetermination of wage rates by the Secretary of Labor under the Davis-Bacon Act, or by an order or authorization of the Wage Adjustment Board, National War Labor Board, or the Office of the Stabilization Administrator, or by any other Federal wage stabilization agency, may apply to the Vermont District Office of the Office of Price Administration for permission to add such increase in hourly wages to his customer's hourly rate. He shall submit with his request the authorization of the federal agency permitting the increase and satisfactory evidence that he has actually put the increase into effect. If the application and all the required information is in proper form, the Vermont District Director shall thereupon issue a letter order authorizing the applicant to recalculate his customer's hourly rate under section 3 by using the new approved hourly wage.

SEC. 7. Filing. Each seller subject to this order shall prepare a statement showing his customer's hourly rate as established by this order and shall keep it for examination by any person during ordinary business hours. A copy of such statement shall be filed with the Vermont District Office of the Office of Price Administration within thirty days after the effective date of this order. Suggested forms are available upon request. In case a seller subject to this order omits or fails to file within the prescribed period of time a statement showing the customer's hourly rate as established by this order, the maximum customer's hourly rate for such seller shall be the lowest customer's hourly rate on file with the Vermont District Office of Price Administration.

SEC. 8. Records and notification—(a) Invoices. Each seller subject to this order shall upon request furnish each purchaser with an invoice containing all of the following information, and in any event shall keep a copy thereof in his files for inspection by the Office of Price Administration:

(1) Seller's name and address.
(2) Date.
(3) Brief description of each service for which a charge is made.
(4) The customer's hourly rate and the number of hours for which a charge is made.
(5) Total labor charge.
(6) Materials furnished and charges therefor.
(7) Total charge.

(b) Notification of compliance. In the case of any sale subject to this order, the seller shall, where demand is made by the buyer, file a statement with the buyer that the selling price is not in excess of the maximum price determined in accordance with this order.

(c) Records. Each seller subject to this order shall, if he has productive employees, keep the records indicated below and shall make such records available for inspection by representatives of the Office of Price Administration.

"Productive employees" are employees who actually do plumbing, steamfitting and heating work, as distinguished from clerical or administrative employees.

(1) Name of each productive employee.
(2) Number of hours worked each day by each productive employee.
(3) Number of hours worked each pay period by each productive employee.
(4) Total wages paid to each productive employee each pay period.

(1) In the case of employers of eight or less, any wage increase actually put into effect prior to July 20, 1944, plus any increases since that date resulting from predetermination of wage rates by the Secretary of Labor under the Davis-Bacon Act, or authorized by any Federal wage stabilization agency.

(2) In the case of employers of more than eight, any increase resulting from predetermination of wage rates by the Secretary of Labor under the Davis-Bacon Act, or authorized by any Federal wage stabilization agency. In the case of a seller who first became an employer after October 3, 1942, but before December 17, 1945, the term "hourly wage" means his legally proper straight-time wage rate.

(b) "Most closely competitive seller of the same class." "Seller of the same class" means a seller performing the same function, of similar type, and furnishing the same type of services to the same class of purchaser.

A seller's "most closely competitive seller of the same class" shall be a seller of the same class who (1) is furnishing the same or similar services, (2) is closely competitive in the sale of such services, and (3) is located nearest to the seller.

SEC. 11. Exclusion. This order does not cover any sale of plumbing, steamfitting, and heating services made pursuant to a written contract executed within thirty days prior to the effective date of this order, nor deliveries thereunder, nor the record-keeping requirements in connection therewith, if all of the work under such a contract is completed within thirty days after the effective date of this order and if the price for the sale under such contract and the record-keeping in connection therewith is in compliance with the provisions of Revised Maximum Price Regulation No. 251.

[Region V Rev. Order G-12 Under RMPR 251]

INSTALLED MINERAL WOOL AND INSULWOOL INSULATION IN KANSAS, AND CLAY AND JACKSON COUNTIES, MO.

For the reasons set forth in an opinion issued simultaneously herewith and pursuant to the authority vested in the Regional Administrator of the Office of Price Administration by section 9 of Revised Maximum Price Regulation No. 251; It is hereby ordered: That Order No. G-12 issued on the 7th day of December 1945, under Revised Maximum Price Regulation No. 251 establishing maximum prices for the sale of installed mineral wool when sold in the area comprising the counties of Clay and Jackson in Missouri, and the Counties of Wyandotte and Johnson in Kansas, and Amendment No. 1 to Order No. G-12 issued on the 25th day of February 1946, are consolidated and redesignated Revised Order No. G-12 under Revised Maximum Price Regulation No. 251 establishing maximum prices for sale of installed mineral wool and insul-wool insulation when sold in the area comprising the State of Kansas and the Counties of Clay and Jackson in Missouri, and are revised and amended to read as follows:

(a) Transactions covered by this order. This order covers sales of mineral wool and insul-wool insulation on an installed basis in existing structures. All items of incidental construction work as defined below remain covered by Revised Maximum Price Regulation 251.

"Mineral wool" means rock wool, slag wool and glass wool blown from molten materials and used to retain or exclude heat.

"Insul-wool" means that type of insulation commonly known and sold in the area covered by this order by the trade name "insul-wool" and used to retain or exclude heat.

"On an installed basis" means a transaction in which the seller furnishes mineral wool or insul-wool insulation, together with the labor, services and material required to incorporate such insulation into an existing structure. Installation may be performed by the pneumatic or blowing method, by the hand-packing method, or by the use of the batts and blankets.

"Incidental construction work" means work performed or services rendered with respect to a building or structure apart from the installation of mineral wool or insul-wool insulation. It also includes those materials and operations the cost of which are expressly described as not included in the prices of certain items listed in Table I of section (d) of this order.

(b) Relationship of this order to Revised Maximum Price Regulation No. 251. The provisions of this order supersede sections 6, 7, and 8 of Revised Maximum Price Regulation No. 251, except as otherwise provided in this order, with respect to sales of mineral wool and insul-wool insulation on an installed basis and incidental construction work. Except as otherwise provided herein, all transactions subject to this order shall remain subject to all provisions of Revised Maximum Price Regulation No. 251, together with all amendments that have been or hereafter may be issued.

On and after the effective date of this order, regardless of any contract or other obligations, no person shall sell, offer to sell, or deliver mineral wool or insul-wool insulation on an installed basis or incidental construction work as herein defined, at prices higher than the maximum prices established by this order.

(c) Geographical applicability. This order shall apply to all sales of installed mineral wool and insul-wool in structures located in the State of Kansas and the Counties of Clay and Jackson in Missouri.

(d) Maximum prices. The maximum prices for sales of mineral wool and insul-wool insulation on an installed basis shall be those shown in Table I of this section. Prices apply to all types and thicknesses of blown mineral wool and insul-wool and to all types and thicknesses of hand packed loose mineral wool and insul-wool and to batts and blankets. The prices listed in Table I are based upon an insulation thickness of 4 inches. For each inch or fraction of inch of insulation over 4 inches, when ordered by the buyer, the seller may make an additional charge of 2¢ per inch per square foot. For each inch of thickness under 4 inches the seller shall deduct 2¢ per square foot. A 3/8-inch tolerance may be allowed for thicknesses of 4 inches or over, but no tolerance shall be allowed for thicknesses under 4 inches.

The drawings referred to in Table I are on file with the Division of the Federal Register, and are hereby made a part of this order. For the convenience of sellers and buyers, and in the interest of simplification and clarity of description, copies of these drawings are attached to this order and distributed by the Office of Price Administration.

Where a machine or a crew of two or more workers is used on mineral wool or insul-wool insulation jobs and the total charge as determined in accordance with the maximum prices listed in Table I is $40 or less, the seller may add $10 to such charge.

In cases where the seller must transport the mineral wool or insul-wool to an insulation job site outside the county wherein the insulation is kept or stored, the seller may add 1¢ per square foot of insulation for each 25 miles or fraction thereof it is transported beyond the county line, to the total charge computed under the provisions of Table I of Section (d) of this order. This transportation charge within the meaning of this paragraph must be computed by using the distance of the most direct and practical route from the county line to the insulation job site.

Openings and closings. A separate additional charge may be made for openings and closings only in those cases where opening and closing are not specifically included in the price applicable to the category. The charge includes payment for all labor and material including that used for replacement of material where necessary. This charge applies only to work performed by the installer in connection with installation of mineral wool and insul-wool insulation.

The above prices shall be cash prices. They shall not be increased even though the seller may elect to extend credit for 30 days. If credit is provided according to F. H. A. plans, the prices set forth in the Table I above shall not be increased but a charge for credit may be made in accordance with F. H. A. rules where credit is provided in accordance with such rules.

(e) Measurements. It shall be the seller's responsibility to ascertain that all measurements are accurate. Measurements for exterior walls are to be taken overall, with no deduction for openings, except for sun porch walls, store fronts or similar areas where windows and door areas must be deducted. In the case of elevator wells, ventilators, skylights, monitors and pent houses on flat roofs the entire such area must be deducted where they are more than 16 square feet in area and extend through the flat ceiling area to be insulated. For attic floors outside gross dimensions may be taken. In measuring the height of knee walls, to the height between floors, joists and rafters add one foot for floor seal piling of granulated insulation. For slopes add six inches to length of clear span for capping intersecting surfaces. For flat ceilings which intersect slopes add one foot to length of span taken at right angles to intersecting slopes. For stairwell walls measurement may be taken as a rectangle from floor to ceiling and not as triangles.

In determining the total of the square foot area for each category of insulation installed a tolerance of 5 percent will be recognized.

(f) Maximum prices for special insulation and related work and incidental construction. The maximum prices that may be charged by sellers for special insulation and related work and incidental construction work for which no separate dollars-and-cents price has been set out in Table I of this order shall be the maximum prices established in accordance with Revised Maximum Price Regulation No. 251.

(g) Quoting a "guaranteed price". The seller may offer to sell an insulation job covered by this order on the basis of a "guaranteed price" wherein the seller agrees to charge a fixed amount: Provided, however, That the so-called "guaranteed price" must not be higher than the maximum price figured in accordance with the pricing methods and requirements of this order. The seller shall stamp or otherwise mark conspicuously on each invoice or statement a statement in substantially the following form: "Prices are at or below ceiling prices set by OPA Regional Revised Order G–12 under RMPR No. 251:

(h) Records, invoicing and notification requirements—(1) Record keeping requirements. Every seller of mineral wool or insul-wool insulation sold on an installed basis, whether the sale is made as a part of a general contract calling for installation of other commodities or not, shall preserve records showing the following information:

[Region VIII Order G–8 Under Gen. Order 68]

BUILDING MATERIALS IN NEVADA

For the reasons set forth in an opinion issued simultaneously herewith and under the authority vested in the Regional Administrator of the Office of Price Administration by section (a) of General Order No. 68, it is hereby ordered:

(a) What this order does. This order establishes maximum prices for every retail sale in Nevada (except Clark and Lincoln Counties) of the building materials specified in Appendix A attached to this order.

(b) Maximum prices. The maximum price for a retail sale of any item listed in Appendix A shall be the price therein stated. In the case of such a sale, no person shall sell or deliver, offer to sell or deliver, and no person in the course of trade or business shall buy or receive any such item at a price higher than the maximum price therefor. Prices lower than the maximum prices may, of course, be charged or demanded.

(c) Relation to other regulations. The maximum prices fixed by this order supersede any maximum price or pricing method previously fixed by any other regulation or order.

(d) Posting of maximum prices. Every person making sales subject to this order shall post a copy of the list of maximum prices fixed by this order in each of his places of business in the area covered by this order in a manner plainly visible to all purchasers.

(e) Records and invoices. Every person making sales subject to this order must keep a record showing in respect to each sale the identity of each item sold (sufficiently specific to permit the maximum price to be determined, and including the quantity and size), the unit price, the date of sale, the names and addresses of the buyer and the seller, and the total price. Delivery and freight charges, if any shall be shown separately and, if not so shown, may not be made. Each seller shall also furnish each customer at the time of sale or delivery an invoice or sales slip on which he has itemized the same information. These records and duplicates of such invoices or sales slips shall be kept by each seller at his place of business for so long as the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended, shall remain in effect, and shall be available for inspection by the Office of Price Administration.

(f) Definitions. (1) "Retail sale" means a sale to an ultimate user or to any person (such as a contractor) for resale on an installed basis.

(g) This order may be modified or revoked at any time.

This order shall become effective May 12, 1946.

BEN C. DUNIWAY,
Regional Administrator.

APPENDIX A

Nevada (except Clark and Lincoln Counties). The following are maximum prices for retail sales of the building materials named below. For sellers whose place of business nearest to the buyer's delivery point is located elsewhere than in the city limits of Reno or Sparks, Nevada, such prices may be increased by the amount of the seller's actual costs for incoming freight but not by more than the lowest available common carrier freight rate from either of those cities to such place of business for the type of shipment used. These maximum prices are subject to discount and delivery allowances as follows:

Discounts. Customary discounts, allowances, and other price differentials shall be applied to these prices. In the case of sales to contractors and subcontractors for resale on an installed basis (except on sales of plaster, cement, terra cotta and vitrified products, and metal and gypsum lath) the discounts shall be not less than 5 percent.

Deliveries. No charge may be made for a delivery to a point within five miles of a seller's nearest place of business. For deliveries to more distant points a seller may charge the actual cost of delivery not exceeding the lowest applicable common carrier rate for a similar type of delivery.

[Region VIII Rev. Order G-10 Under RMPR 251]

PLUMBING SERVICES IN CENTRAL AND NORTHERN CALIFORNIA

For the reasons set forth in an opinion issued simultaneously herewith, and under the authority vested in the Regional Administrator of the Office of Price Administration by Sections 9 and 20 of Revised Maximum Price Regulation No. 251, Order No. G-10 under that regulation is revised in its entirety to read as follows:

(a) What this order does. This order fixes maximum prices for all plumbing services for jobs selling for less than $1,000 and performed in that portion of Northern California lying north of and including Monterey, Kings, Tulare, Fresno, and Mono Counties, and this order applies to all of such services whether supplied under a lump-sum or cost-plus contract or otherwise. The maximum prices established by this order include all expenses, and no additional charge may be made for any other cost or incidental service, except as permitted by this order.

(b) Relation to Revised Maximum Price Regulation No. 251. Except as otherwise provided in this order, this order supersedes sections 6, 7, and 8 of Revised Maximum Price Regulation No. 251 with respect to sales covered by this order, including orders issued to individual sellers pursuant to section 6 (b) thereof. Except to the extent that they are inconsistent with the provisions of this order, however, all other sections of Revised Maximum Price Regulation No. 251, together with all amendments thereto that have been or may be issued, shall apply to sales covered by this order.

(c) Maximum prices. The maximum price for plumbing services in the areas described above shall be the sum of a charge for labor, a charge for the materials used, and such other charges as may be permitted by this order. The maximum charge for labor shall be the sum of separate charges determined by multiplying the number of hours of labor performed in the labor classifications set forth in subparagraph (c) (1) multiplied by the applicable maximum hourly rate. The maximum price of the materials supplied shall be determined under the provisions of subparagraph (c) (2).

(1) Maximum labor charge. (i) The maximum hourly rate for sellers employing one or more journeyman plumbers, apprentices, or semi-skilled or common laborers shall be as follows:

Location of place of business	Column A	Column B
		Percent
Alameda, Contra Costa, Marin, Napa, San Francisco, San Mateo, and Solano Counties	$3.00	160
Remainder of the counties covered by this order	2.75	150

Apprentices and laborers. 150% of the labor cost.

(ii) The maximum hourly rate for sellers who employ no journeyman plumbers, apprentices, or semi-skilled or common laborers shall be as follows:

Location of place of business:	Maximum hourly rate
Alameda, Marin, Sacramento, and San Mateo Counties	$2.75
San Francisco County	3.00
Sellers located in remaining counties covered by this order	2.25

The Director of the San Francisco District Office, in response to any application therefor, may issue an order increasing the maximum hourly rate provided by this subparagraph (c) (1) (ii) for any seller who demonstrates that his maximum hourly rate, as determined under Revised Maximum Price Regulation No. 251, exceeds that provided herein; but no such order may increase a maximum hourly rate above the level of such rates prevailing under this order among other sellers in the locality of the applicant.

(iii) Overtime. If overtime work is performed during hours for which the labor cost in the area in which the seller has his business address is 1½ or 2 times the straight time labor cost, and if the employee is actually paid 1½ or 2 times such straight time labor cost, the maximum hourly rate provided above may be increased by 1½ or 2 times, as the case may be. In no event may any charge be made for overtime work in excess of the straight time hourly rate unless such overtime work is performed at the customer's request.

(iv) Measurement of hours. The number of hours to be charged against any job is to be counted from the time the workman leaves the shop or the previous job (whichever is later) until he completes the job if he proceeds to another job, or until he returns to the shop if he proceeds there directly. The hours for which charges are made shall not exceed those shown on the seller's payroll records nor those shown on any records or invoices which this order may require the seller to prepare or keep.

(2) Materials—(i) New materials. The maximum price that may be charged for any new material supplied shall be the lower of the following:

(a) The highest price charged for such material by the seller during March 1942, plus any increases which the Office of Price Administration may have authorized in sales to the class of buyer in question, or

(b) The price published as of the date of issuance of this Revised Order No. G-10 in "A Price Guide on Plumbing Materials" published by Current Price Bureau, 55 New Montgomery Street, San Francisco, California, or a price subsequently approved by the Office of Price Administration and published in such guide for sales to the class of buyer in question. In the case of sellers located in Mono County the "Merchants Plumbers Guide" issued by John B. Reeves and Son, 3665 South Vermont Avenue, Los Angeles 7, California, shall be substituted for "A Price Guide on Plumbing Materials".

(ii) Used materials. The maximum price for used materials supplied shall be the ceiling price established by Maximum Price Regulation No. 465 (Used pressure tanks), or Maximum Price Regulation No. 546 (Used plumbing equipment), where such regulations are applicable.

(iii) The maximum price for any new or used materials for which a maximum price cannot be established as hereinabove provided shall be the seller's cost thereof (including any freight or cartage paid by him for transportation of such material to his place of business) not to exceed the maximum price thereof applicable to sales by his supplier to him, plus 35%.

(3) Other charges. The following additional charges may be made:

(i) Rental of special equipment. The maximum hourly rate for the use of special equipment shall be that provided by Maximum Price Regulation No. 134; or, when no rate is there provided, the seller's highest hourly rental in effect during March 1942: Provided, however, That the seller has written records kept in the regular course of business to substantiate such rates and charges. If he has no substantiating records, he must apply in writing to the San Francisco District Office of the Office of Price Administration for maximum rates, and may not charge for the use of such equipment until his maximum rates have been set by the District Office pursuant to such application. "Special equipment" does not include ordinary hand tools.

(ii) Minimum charge. If a job requires less than one man-hour, there may be collected a minimum charge equal to the maximum charge for one hour or, in the case of outside sewer stoppage removal, $5.00.

(iii) Out of town travel expenses. When work necessitates employees being away from their homes overnight, there may be made a subsistence charge not exceeding the daily rate for subsistence established by a contract between union and seller and a travel charge not exceeding five cents per mile each way, or the public carrier rate from the employer's place of business to the job, whichever is lower. No such charges may be made unless authorized in writing by the customer prior to commencement of the work and unless invoiced as a separate item, and they may not be made in an amount greater than the expenses incurred.

(iv) Building permits, inspection fees, and freight. A seller may charge the exact amount paid by him for building permits, inspection fees, and freight on materials supplied; but the charge for freight may not exceed the common carrier rate from the nearest wholesale receiving point nor may it be made unless it was the seller's practice to make such charge during March 1942 or, if he had no practice at that time, it was that of his closest competitors.

(v) Mileage. For necessary travel to and from a job more than five miles from the seller's nearest place of business, as measured along the most direct customary route, mileage may be charged at the rate of five cents per mile both ways, but only for the excess over such distance.

(vi) Sub-contractor. A charge may be made for sub-contracts incidental or supplemental to the main contract, equal to cost plus 10%.

(d) Definitions. (1) "Plumbing services" means plumbing installation, repair, and maintenance services, the sale of installed plumbing materials, and the installation of oil burners, feed lines, and automatic sprinklers. "Plumbing" means gas, water, fuel, and oil, and steam distribution, or waste removal systems.

(2) "Labor cost" means the wage rate in effect on October 3, 1942, or the wage rate which has been established by proper governmental agencies for the particular classification of labor and in the area in which the seller has his busines address, but not more than the wage rate actually paid. In the case of a seller performing some of the direct work on a job himself, his "labor cost" therefor shall be deemed to be the wage rate prevailing in the area for journeyman plumbers.

(3) Unless the context otherwise requires, the definitions set forth in Revised Maximum Price Regulation No. 251 and in Section 302 of the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended, shall apply to any other terms not specifically defined herein.

(e) Notification to purchasers. Every person making sales subject to this order, excepting lump-sum contracts, shall furnish to the customer upon request an invoice or sales slip on which he has itemized charges for materials and labor (including wage rates and hours of labor) and any other additional charges permitted by this order, and on which he has certified that the price charged does not exceed the prices permitted by this Revised Order No. G-10 under Revised Maximum Price Regulation No. 251.

(f) Records. Every person making sales subject to this order shall keep a record of all employees' time and in addition shall maintain itemized records of the charges made for each job for labor (including wage rates and hours of labor) and materials used for as long as the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended, remains in effect. The materials used on a job shall be properly identified, including a description of the amount, size, number, and grade. The job cards showing both the time and material consumed shall be signed by the employee responsible for the use of labor and materials on the job in question. Travel time or other additional charges permitted by this order shall be clearly listed on the record as such. All such records shall be available for inspection at any time by the Office of Price Administration.

(g) This order may be revoked, amended, or corrected at any time.

This Revised Order No. G-10 shall become effective April 28, 1946.

Issued this 23d day of April 1946.

Regional Administrator.

The Commission having, by order dated April 22, 1946, granted said application, as amended, and permitted said declaration, as amended, to become effective, subject to the condition, among others, that the proposed issuance and sale of bonds, the proposed issuance, exchange and sale of preferred stock and the proposed issuance and sale of additional common stock by Central Maine shall not be consummated until the results of competitive bidding pursuant to Rule U-50 have been made a matter of record in these proceedings and a further order shall have been entered by the Commission in the light of the record so completed, jurisdiction being reserved to impose further terms and conditions as may then be deemed appropriate; and

Central Maine having on May 9, 1946 filed a further amendment to said application and declaration herein in which it is stated that in accordance with the permission granted by the order of the Commission dated April 22, 1946, it offered said bonds for sale pursuant to the competitive bidding requirements of Rule U-50 and received the following bids:

Blyth & Co., Inc., and Kidder, Peabody & Co	100.28	2¾
Halsey, Stuart & Co., Inc	100.1599	2¾

The amendment further stating that Central Maine has accepted the bid of the group headed by Harriman Ripley & Co., Incorporated, as set out above, which results in a net cost to the company of approximately 2.69%, and that said bonds will be offered for sale to the public at an initial price of 102, resulting in an underwriter's spread of 0.739%; and

Said amendment having further set forth the action taken by Central Maine to comply with the requirements of Rule U-50 with respect to the exchange and sale of the new preferred stock and having stated that, pursuant to the invitation for competitive bids, bids were received on the preferred stock as follows:

Bidding group headed by	Dividend rate	Price per share to Central Maine before bidder's compensation	Bidder's compensation
	Pct.
The First Boston Corp	3.50	$101.50	$312,400
Blyth & Co., Inc., Harriman, Ripley & Co., Incorporated, and Kidder, Peabody & Co	3.50	101.50	374,600

The amendment further stating that Central Maine has accepted the bid of the group headed by The First Boston Corporation for services in soliciting the exchanges and underwriting the unexchanged shares, which results in a net cost to the company of approximately 3.497%, and that, upon the termination of the exchange offer, the unexchanged shares of the new preferred stock will be offered to the public at a price of $101.50 per share and that the successful bidder's compensation for services in effecting exchanges and underwriting the balance of the shares of new preferred stock not required for exchange is $312,400, representing compensation of $1.42 per share; and

Said amendment having further set forth that Central Maine publicly invited sealed written bids, pursuant to Rule U-50, for the purchase from it, at an aggregate price of approximately $10,000,000, of shares of its common stock, $10 par value, the number of shares to be determined by each bidder or group of bidders and designated in its bid, and that it received the following bids:

Blyth & Co., Inc., Harriman Ripley & Co., Inc., and Kidder, Peabody & Co	383,141	26.11

The amendment further stating that Central Maine has accepted the bid of the group headed by The First Boston Corporation for the common stock, as set out above, and that the stock will be offered for sale to the public (subject to the preemptive offer) at a price of $28 per share resulting in an underwriter's spread of $1.25 per share; and

The Commission having examined said amendment and having considered the record herein, and finding no basis for imposing terms and conditions with respect to the price to be paid for said bonds, preferred stock and common stock, the redemption prices and interest rate of said bonds, the dividend rate of said preferred stock, and the underwriter's compensation with respect to said bonds, preferred stock and common stock:

It is ordered, That jurisdiction heretofore reserved with respect to the competitive bidding employed in connection with the sale of said bonds, the exchange and sale of said preferred stock and the sale of said common stock be, and the same hereby is, released, and that said application and declaration, as further amended, be, and the same hereby is, granted and permitted to become effective, subject, however to the terms and conditions prescribed in Rule U-24.

(b) A periodic inspection within each 100 hours of flight time. The annual inspection required in paragraph (a) of this section will be accepted as one such periodic inspection.

§ 42.2 Pilot rules.

§ 42.20 First pilot.—(a) Pilot in command. The first pilot is in command of the aircraft at all times during flight and is responsible for the safety of persons and goods carried, and for the conduct and safety of members of the crew.

(b) Preflight action. Prior to commencing a flight the pilot shall familiarize himself with the latest weather reports issued by the United States Weather Bureau pertinent to the flight and with the information necessary for the safe operation of the aircraft en route and on the airports or other landing areas to be used, and determine that the flight can be completed with safety.

(c) Maps and flight equipment. The pilot shall have in his possession in the cockpit proper flight and navigational facility maps, including instrument approach procedures when instrument flight is authorized, and such other flight equipment as may be necessary to properly conduct the particular flight proposed.

(d) Check and control test. Immediately prior to take-off the pilot shall check the items specified in the check-off list and in addition shall test the flight controls to the full limit of travel, each engine individually, at run-up r. p. m., check the engine instruments and as many as possible of the flight instruments.

He may, in such situations, deviate from prescribed methods, procedures, or minimums to the extent required by considerations of safety and shall, when practicable, keep the proper traffic control station fully informed regarding the progress of the flight. When such emergency authority is exercised the pilot shall file a report of such deviation with the Administrator.

(2) In an emergency requiring either the dumping of fuel or a landing at a weight in excess of the authorized landing weight, the first pilot may elect to follow whichever procedure he considers safer.

§ 42.21 Flight time limitations. A pilot may not fly more than 10 hours in any 24 consecutive hours without an intervening period of at least 8 hours during which he is relieved of all duty with the carrier.

§ 42.22 Certification and experience.—(a) First pilot. Any pilot serving as first pilot must hold a valid commercial pilot rating with an aircraft type and class rating for the aircraft in which he is to serve, and for:

(1) Day flight CFR, he must have had at least 50 hours of cross-country flight time as pilot or copilot,

(2) Day flight IFR, he must possess a currently effective instrument rating and have had a total of at least 500 hours of flight time as pilot or copilot including 100 hours of cross-country flight.

(3) Night flight CFR or IFR, he must possess a currently effective instrument rating and have had a total of at least 500 hours of flight time as pilot or copilot, including 100 hours of cross-country flight of which 25 hours shall have been during the hours of darkness.

(b) Second pilot. Any pilot serving as second pilot in an aircraft requiring more than one pilot must hold for:

(1) CFR flights, a valid commercial pilot rating with the appropriate type and class ratings,

(2) IFR flights, in addition to (1), a currently effective instrument rating.

§ 42.23 Recent flight experience.—(a) General. No pilot shall serve as first pilot in nonscheduled air transportation unless within the preceding 90 days he has made at least 5 take-offs and landings to a full stop in the same type and class of aircraft, 2 of which must have been in the same make and model. He shall not serve during the hours of darkness unless he has made at least 5 take-offs and landings to a full stop during the hours of darkness within the preceding 90 days.

(b) Instrument flight. A first pilot shall not pilot an aircraft under instrument flight rules unless within the preceding 6 months he has had a minimum of 6 hours of instrument flight time, at least 2 hours of which shall have been acquired by actual flight in the overcast while on an instrument flight plan filed with the appropriate traffic control center.

§ 42.24 Logging flight time. (a) A first pilot may log the total flight time elapsing during his command of the aircraft.

(b) A second pilot may log 50 percent of the total flight time, or he may log all the flight time during which he is the sole manipulator of the controls.

§ 42.240 Logging instrument flight time. Instrument flight time may be logged as such by the pilot actually manipulating the controls only when the aircraft is flown solely by reference to instruments either under actual or properly simulated instrument conditions.

§ 42.30 Manifest. The Administrator may require a flight manifest form for each flight if he finds it necessary for the safe operation of a type and class of aircraft or a particular type of operation. This form shall show the distribution in the aircraft of the total payload carried, and must be signed by the pilot or other authorized person charged with the duty of loading the aircraft. The pilot shall retain the original manifest until he has completed the flight and the air carrier must keep a copy available for inspection for at least 90 days at the principal operations office.

§ 42.31 Flight record. A flight record for each flight beyond 25 miles from the airport or landing area of origin shall be kept for a period of 12 months at the principal operations office, and shall contain the following information:

(a) Date and type of flight—CFR (day or night), IFR, or combination,

(b) Aircraft make, model, and NC number,

(c) Names of pilot and crew,

(d) Point of departure,

(e) Point of destination,

(f) Route to be followed and intended stops en route,

(g) Estimated time of arrival at destination,

(h) Amount of fuel on board (in hours of cruising consumption).

(i) Names and addresses of passengers carried. Such flight record is in addition to the flight plan required by § 60.250 of this chapter for IFR flight in control areas.

§ 42.32 Instruments and equipment serviceability. Prior to starting any flight, all instruments and equipment must be in operative condition. If any instrument or equipment becomes inoperative in flight it shall be repaired or replaced at the first airport where repairs or replacements are readily available, or the flight may continue to its destination if the pilot determines that with the remaining serviceable instruments and equipment the flight can be continued with safety.

§ 42.33 Fuel supply.—(a) Flight under contact flight rules (CFR). A flight shall not be started unless the aircraft carries sufficient fuel and oil, considering the wind and other weather conditions forecast, to fly to the next point of intended landing and thereafter for a period of at least 30 minutes at normal cruising consumption.

(b) Flight under instrument flight rules (IFR). Sufficient fuel and oil, considering the wind and other weather conditions forecast, shall be carried to:

(1) Complete the flight to the point of first landing, and thereafter.

(2) Fly to the alternate airport, and thereafter,

(3) Fly at normal cruising consumption for a period of 45 minutes.

(b) Destination. No flight may be started unless the current weather reports and forecasts show a trend indicating that the ceiling and visibilities at the place of intended landing are, and will remain, at or above the following minimums:

(1) Contact flight operations (CFR).

(i) Ceiling—1,000 feet.

(2) Instrument flight operations (IFR).

(i) Ceiling—500 feet.
(ii) Visibility—1 mile.
(iii) Alternate airport: If airport is served by a radio directional facility, ceiling—1,000 feet, visibility—3 miles; if airport is not served by a radio directional facility, visibility 3 miles and a ceiling of 1,500 feet with broken clouds or better.

§ 42.35 Flight altitude rules.—(a) Day (CFR) operation. Except during take-off and landing, aircraft shall not be flown less than 500 feet from any obstacle in flight, except in such cases as may be specifically authorized by the Administrator.

(b) Night (CFR) or instrument (IFR) operation. Except during take-off and landing, no aircraft shall be flown at an altitude of less than 1,000 feet above the highest obstacle located within 5 miles of the aircraft in flight.

§ 42.36 Icing conditions. Aircraft must not be flown into known or probable heavy icing conditions and may be flown into light or medium icing conditions only if the aircraft is equipped with an approved means for de-icing the wings, propellers, and such other parts of the aircraft as are essential to safety.

§ 42.40 Pilots at controls. In the case of aircraft requiring two or more pilots, two pilots must remain at the controls at all times while landing and taking off, and while the aircraft is en route except when the absence of one is necessary in connection with his regular duties or when he is replaced by a person authorized under the provisions of § 42.41.

§ 42.41 Admission to pilot compartment. In aircraft having a separate pilot compartment, no person other than a crew member, a check pilot, an inspector of the Administrator or a representative of the Board in pursuance of official duty, or a person whose admission is approved by the first pilot, may be admitted to the pilot compartment. In the latter case, the first pilot must remain at the controls.

§ 42.42 Manual. When the Administrator finds that the operation and type of aircraft used so requires, the air carrier shall prepare and maintain a manual for the use and guidance of operations and maintenance personnel which contains full information necessary to guide flight and ground personnel in the conduct of flight operations, and to inform such personnel regarding their duties and responsibilities. The manual must be in a form and content approved by the Administrator, and be furnished to all persons designated by the Administrator or Board. All copies must be kept up-to-date.

§ 42.43 Records. Each carrier shall keep at the operating base the following current records with respect to all aircraft, aircraft engines, propellers, and, where practicable, appliances used in air transportation:

(a) Total time and service,
(b) Time since last overhaul,
(c) Time since last inspection, and
(d) Mechanical failures.

§ 42.44 Emergency flights. In the case of emergencies necessitating the transportation of persons or medical supplies for the protection of life or property, the rules contained herein regarding type of aircraft, equipment, and weather minimums to be observed will not be applicable: Provided, That within 48 hours after any such flight returns to its base the air carrier shall file a report with the Administrator setting forth the conditions under which the flight was made, the necessity therefor, and giving the names and addresses of the crew and passengers.

§ 42.45 Exemptions. An air carrier engaged in nonscheduled air carrier operations on or before August 1, 1946, may continue to engage in such nonscheduled air carrier operations without an air carrier operating certificate until such time as the Administrator shall pass upon the application for such certificate if prior to August 1, 1946, he has filed with the Administrator an application for such certificate.

§ 42.46 Exceptions. Whenever upon investigation the Administrator finds that the general standards of safety required for air carrier operations require or permit a deviation from any specific requirement of this part for a particular operation or a class of operations for which an application for an air carrier operating certificate has been made, he may issue an air carrier operating certificate with appropriate changes. The Administrator shall promptly notify the Board of any deviations included in the air carrier operating certificate and the reasons therefor.

§ 42.9 Definitions. "Air carrier" means any citizen of the United States who undertakes, whether directly or indirectly, or by a lease, or by any other arrangement the carriage by aircraft of persons or property as a common carrier for compensation or hire or the carriage of mail by aircraft, in commerce whether such commerce moves wholly by aircraft or partly by aircraft and partly by other forms of transportation, between any of the following places: a place in any State of the United States, or the District of Columbia, and a place in any other State of the United States, or the District of Columbia; places in the same State of the United States through the air space over any place outside thereof; places in the same Territory or possession (except the Philippine Islands) of the United States, or the District of Columbia; a place in any State of the United States, or the District of Columbia, and any place in a Territory or possession of the United States; a place in a Territory or possession of the United States, and a place in any other Territory or possession of the United States; a place in the United States and any place outside thereof.

PART 3290—TEXTILE, CLOTHING AND LEATHER

HIDES, SKINS AND LEATHER

The fulfillment of requirements for the defense of the United States has created shortages in hides, skins and leather for defense, for private account, and for export; and the following order is deemed necessary and appropriate in the public interest and to promote the national defense:

(a) General definitions.
(b) Provisions applying to all hides, skins and leather.
(c) Untanned cattlehides, calfskins and kips.
(d) Effect on prior orders.
(e) Reports.
(f) Appeals.

(g) Communications to the Civilian Production Administration.

(h) Violations.

§ 3290.196 Conservation Order M-310—(a) General definitions. (1) "Tanner" means a person in the business of tanning, dressing, or similarly processing hides or skins, who in any calendar month after April 1, 1940, processed or processes more than 500 hides or skins.

(2) "Contractor" or "converter" means a person in the business of causing hides or skins to be tanned or dressed for his account in any tannery not owned or controlled by him.

(3) "Collector" means a person, including a dealer or importer, engaged in the business of acquiring from others untanned hides or skins for resale, or removing hides or skins from animals not slaughtered by him.

(4) "Producer" means a person in the business of slaughtering animals.

(5) "Military order" means an order for hides, skins or leather for delivery against a specific contract placed by any of the following, or for incorporation in any product to be delivered against such a contract:

The Army or Navy of the United States, the United States Maritime Commission, the War Shipping Administration.

(6) "Military specifications" or "military quality" means, except as herein otherwise specifically provided, the specifications applicable to military orders or the quality of material meeting such specifications.

(7) "Sole leather" means vegetable tanned sole leather unless otherwise specified.

(8) "Whole stock" means sides, crops, backs, bends, shoulders with heads on, shoulders with heads off, bellies and belly centers.

(b) Provisions applying to all hides, skins and leather. (1) No person shall process any hides, skins or leather contrary to any specific direction issued from time to time by the Civilian Production Administration relating to the processing or production of specific types of leather to meet military or designated civilian requirements.

(2) No producer, collector, tanner, contractor, converter or cutter shall sell, deliver, accept delivery of, cut, use or incorporate in any product any hides skins or leather contrary to any specific direction issued from time to time by the Civilian Production Administration deemed necessary in order to fill military or designated civilian requirements.

(3) Notwithstanding the provisions of any regulation or order of the Civilian Production Administration, no preference rating shall be applied or extended for the delivery of hides, skins or leather, except:

(i) Leather for military orders (excluding sole leather whole stock and cattlehide splits in the blue, pickled, or lime state); or

(ii) When specifically authorized in writing by the Civilian Production Administration pursuant to this paragraph (b) (3) (ii).

(4) [Deleted May 13, 1946.]

(c) Untanned cattlehides, calfskins and kips—(1) Definition. "Cattlehide", "calfskin" and "kip" mean the hide or skin of a bull, steer, cow or buffalo, foreign or domestic (excluding slunks).

(2) No producer or collector shall put into process or cause to be put into process any untanned cattlehide, calfskin or kip, or portion thereof, other than splits and gluestock, except to the extent specifically authorized in writing by the Civilian Production Administration. Applications for such authorization may be made by letter setting forth the quantity of each kind of cattlehide, calfskin or kip, or portion thereof, which the applicant desires to put into process or cause to be put into process.

(3) No person shall sell, deliver, purchase or accept delivery of any untanned cattlehide, calfskin or kip, or portion thereof, other than splits and glue stock, except to the extent that the purchaser is specifically authorized by the Civilian Production Administration on Form WPB or CPA-1323 or Form WPB or CPA-3507. Applications may be made on Form WPB or CPA-1325 for the purchase of domestic cattlehides, and on Form WPB or CPA-1322 for the purchase of domestic calfskins and kips: Provided, That the following may be made without such authorization:

(i) Transactions between collectors and between producers and collectors for purposes of resale or delivery within the continental United States.

(ii) The sale and delivery to and the purchase and acceptance of delivery by any person other than a tanner of less than 500 hides or skins in any calendar month.

(4) In acting under paragraph (c) (3), it will be the policy of the Civilian Production Administration, so far as is practicable, to grant authorizations so that contractors or tanners will obtain cattlehides, calfskins or kips in the proportions that their respective wettings of such skins computed separately during the calendar year 1942, bore to all wettings thereof during that year by all contractors and tanners producing the same type of leather, except that authorizations to tanners or contractors having more than a practicable minimum working inventory may be reduced or omitted.

(d) Pickled sheepskins and slats—(1) Definitions. (i) "Pickled sheepskin" means a de-wooled, untanned, unsplit skin which has been removed from a sheep or lamb, except a skin from a hair sheep or a South African coarsewool sheep. The term includes any slat which has been pickled or immersed in a chemical solution to condition it for tanning, but does not include any slat as defined in the next paragraph.

(ii) "Slat" means a dried, untanned sheepskin which has no wool or has wool less than ¼ inch in length of no commercial value, and which has not been pickled or immersed in a chemical solution to condition it for tanning.

(2) Restrictions on withdrawal from Customs. On and after February 16, 1946, no person shall withdraw any pickled sheepskins or slats from United States Customs within the continental United States except as specifically authorized in writing by the Civilian Production Administration under this paragraph. Before arrival of the sheepskins or slats in the United States the importer shall notify the Civilian Production Administration, Hide & Leather Branch, Washington 25, D. C., Ref.: M-310, by letter specifying the quantity, type, country of origin, probable date of arrival, and, if available, name of ship. This provision does not relieve the importer from complying with applicable provisions of General Imports Order M-63.

(3) Restrictions on purchase and acceptance of delivery by a tanner or converter. (i) On and after February 16, 1946, no tanner or converter shall purchase or accept delivery of pickled sheepskins or slats for any purpose, or have them purchased or accepted for his account for any purpose, except in quantities specifically authorized in writing by the Civilian Production Administration (upon application on Form CPA-4404), and no person shall make any sale or delivery which he knows or has reason to believe would be accepted in violation of this paragraph. In the case of a tanner or converter who performs the de-wooling operation or has it done for his account, the movement of the pickled sheepskins or slats after de-wooling to be tanned by him or for his account shall constitute an acceptance of delivery by him subject to this paragraph.

(ii) However, this paragraph (d) (3) does not apply to any pickled sheepskins or slats before they are imported into the continental United States. Also, a tanner or converter who has been designated in an authorization under paragraph (d) (2) to receive imported pickled sheepskins or slats, may receive them without restriction under this paragraph (d) (3) and without counting them against the total quantities specifically authorized under this paragraph (d) (3).

(iii) Moreover, this paragraph (d) (3) does not apply to the acceptance by any tanner or converter of pickled sheepskins or slats which were consigned to him and were in transit within the Continental United States on February 16, 1946.

(4) Policy. In acting under paragraphs (d) (2) and (3), it will be the policy of the Civilian Production Administration, so far as is practicable, to grant authorizations so that:

(i) Each tanner and converter will obtain pickled sheepskins in the proportion that wettings for his own account of such skins during any calendar year 1941 to 1945, inclusive, bears to the total computed by adding together the wettings of such skins for his own account by each tanner and converter during the calendar year from 1941 to 1945 which he selects.

(ii) Each tanner and converter will obtain heavy foreign pickled sheepskins (averaging 45 pounds per dozen or heavier) in the proportion that his wettings of such skins during calendar year 1941 bore to the total thereof by all tanners and converters during the same period.

Authorizations to tanners or converters having more than a practicable minimum working inventory may be withheld or may be granted in reduced quantities.

(5) Base period report. Each tanner or converter seeking to qualify under pargaraph (d) (4) for authorizations under paragraphs (d) (2) or (3) shall file as soon as possible a one-time base period report on Form CPA-4405.

(e) Regular reports. Every person described below shall, on or before the 10th day of each month execute and file reports with the Civilian Production Administration, as directed on the respective forms mentioned below:

Tanners and converters of cattlehides	WPB or CPA-1325
Tanners and converters of calfskins and kips	WPB or CPA-1322
Tanners and converters of pickled sheepskins and slats	CPA-4404

Failure to file any of the reports mentioned above or any other reports requested pursuant to approval by the Bureau of the Budget shall constitute a violation of this order.

(f) Plants without quotas. Any person who owns a plant equipped to process hides or skins but whose past operations do not qualify him under paragraphs (c) (4) or (d) (4), may apply for authorization under paragraphs (c) or (d) by letter. The letter should be addressed to the Civilian Production Administration, Hide and Leather Branch, Washington 25, D. C., and should indicate the name and address of the plant, type and quantity of leather raw material which the applicant wishes to process per month, and the quantity of each type which he has processed during the preceding four calendar months. Authorizations may be granted on an equitable basis to applicants who did not process a monthly average of more than 500 hides and skins of all kinds during the preceding four calendar months.

(g) Appeals. Any appeal from the provisions of this order shall be made by filing a letter in triplicate referring to the particular provision appealed from and stating fully the grounds of the appeal.

(h) Communications to the Civilian Production Administration. All reports, applications, forms, or communications required under or referred to in this order, and all communications concerning this order, shall, unless otherwise directed, be addressed to the Civilian Production Administration, Textile Division, Washington 25, D. C., Ref: M-310.

(i) Violations. Any person who willfully violates any provision of this order, or who, in connection with this order, willfully conceals a material fact or who furnishes false information to any department or agency of the United States is guilty of a crime, and, upon conviction, may be punished by fine or imprisonment. In addition, any such person may be prohibited from making or obtaining further deliveries of, or from processing or using material under priority control and may be deprived of priorities assistance.

NOTE: The reporting requirements of this order have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget pursuant to the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

PART 1361—FARM EQUIPMENT

INCREASES IN PRICES

A statement of the considerations involved in the issuance of this amendment, has been issued simultaneously herewith, and filed with the Division of the Federal Register.

Maximum Price Regulation 133 is amended in the following respects:

1. Section 1361.3 (c) (2) (i) is amended to read as follows:

(i) Where the cost to the dealer has not increased prior to May 10, 1946. The maximum price shall be the highest price at which the dealer sold or offered to sell the item on April 1, 1942 increased by 5%.

2. Section 1361.3 (c) (2) (ii) is amended to read as follows:

(ii) Where the cost to the dealer has increased. If when the dealer established the price he was charged on April 1, 1942, his cost was lower than it was on May 9, 1946, or if the price he was charged on April 1, 1942, has after May 10, 1946 been increased by more than 10%, the maximum price shall be determined by adding a percentage markup to his current cost (not in excess of the applicable maximum price). The percentage markup to be added shall be ¾ of the percentage markup that the dealer realized on his last sale of the item before May 10, 1946.

3. Section 1361.3 (c) (3) is amended to read as follows:

(3) Where the item was not dealt in on April 1, 1942. If the dealer did not sell or offer to sell the item on April 1, 1942, its maximum price shall be determined as follows: The maximum price shall be the net cost of the item to the dealer plus a certain percentage of that price. The percentage markup used shall be the first of the following percentages that the dealer can determine;

(i) ¾ of the percentage markup over net invoiced cost that the dealer realized on his last sale of the item before April 1, 1942.

(ii) ¾ of the percentage markup over net invoiced cost that the dealer realized on his last sale of the most comparable item during the period January 1, 1941, to April 1, 1942, inclusive.

(iii) ¾ of the average percentage markup over net invoiced cost that the dealer realized on sales of all farm equipment and parts during March 1942.

4. Section 1361.3 (d) is amended by adding the following sentence:

The provisions of this paragraph, however, do not apply to sales by mail order houses.

5. Section 1361.3 is amended by adding the following paragraph (e):

(e) Sales by mail order houses at retail. The provisions of this paragraph apply to all sales by mail order houses at retail, whether direct or through retail stores.

(1) Where the cost to the seller has not increased prior to May 10, 1946. The maximum price shall be the highest price at which the seller sold or offered to sell the item to the same class of purchaser on April 1, 1942 increased by 5%.

(2) Where the cost to the seller has increased prior to May 10, 1946, or where after May 10, 1946, the cost to the seller is increased more than 10%, or where the item was not dealt in on April 1, 1942. The maximum price for any such product shall be determined as follows:

First step. The seller shall ascertain its present net invoice cost for the item not in excess of the applicable maximum price. For the purpose of this paragraph the net invoice cost shall mean the amount exclusive of freight or handling charges paid to an independent manufacturer or charged in any manner by a manufacturing division or subsidiary of the seller.

Second step. The seller shall add to the amount found in step one, the first of the following percentages that the seller can determine.

(i) ¾ of the percentage markup over net invoiced cost that the seller realized on his last sale of the item before April 1, 1942.

(ii) ¾ of the percentage markup over net invoiced cost that the seller realized on his last sale of the most comparable item during the period January 1, 1941 to April 1, 1942 inclusive.

(iii) ¾ of the average percentage markup over net invoiced cost that the seller realized on sales of all farm equipment and parts during March 1942.

Third step. The seller shall add to the amount found in step two, all charges for transportation and handling charged by the seller to a purchaser of the same class on April 1, 1942, except that actual transportation costs paid by the seller less any allowances or rebates received by the seller may be used. If it was the seller's custom on April 1, 1942, he may use average instead of actual transportation costs and if such average transportation costs are used, they must be applied to all sales and must be computed on the basis of the average of transportation costs, less any allowances or rebates, for complete items of farm equipment during the completed calendar year immediately preceding the date of the sale.

Fourth step. The seller shall apply to the amount found in step three, all discounts and allowances in effect to the purchaser of the same class on May 9, 1946.

6. Section 1361.9 (a) (8) is amended by striking out the phrase "as a result, maximum prices applicable to the sale of new equipment by mail order houses, whether direct or through retail stores, shall be calculated in accordance with paragraph (c) of § 1341.3."

7. Section 1361.9 (a) is amended by adding the following subparagraph (9).

(9) Purchaser of the same class. Purchaser of the same class shall mean a purchaser belonging to the same price class: That is a group of purchasers to whom it was the sellers practice on the base date to sell or lease the same (or comparable) product at a particular price or discount off of the list price. The class of purchaser may be determined on a basis of standards such as the nature of the buyer, or the nature of the sale (large, small, cash, credit, etc.), the place to which delivery of the product may be made without consideration of transportation charges), or other pertinent factors. Any new purchaser must be placed in the proper price class in accordance with the standards of the seller previously established.

This amendment shall become effective May 10, 1946.

PAUL A. PORTER,
Administrator.

PART 1361—FARM EQUIPMENT

MANUFACTURERS' AND WHOLESALE PRICE FOR FARM EQUIPMENT

A statement of the considerations involved in the issuance of this amendment, issued simultaneously herewith, has been filed with the Division of the Federal Register.

Maximum Price Regulation 246 is amended in the following respects:

1. Section 1361.52 is stricken out and the following section is substituted:

§ 1361.52 Maximum prices; general provisions—(a) Suggested retail price—(1) Machinery and equipment. This paragraph is applicable to any product, except parts, for which the manufacturer has filed with the OPA a suggested retail price in effect on March 31, 1942, or a suggested retail price computed under the provisions of §§ 1361.53, 1561.54 or 1361.54a. For every product to which this paragraph is applicable, the manufacturer shall increase the suggested retail price by 5%. If, however, prior to May 10, 1946, the manufacturer has received an adjustment of the maximum prices of any of his products covered by this regulation (under the provisions of § 1361.64a or in accordance with the provisions of Supplementary Order No. 142), he may not apply the percentage increase provided by this paragraph to the suggested retail price as adjusted by reason of his individual adjustment. In such case, the manufacturer shall proceed as follows:

Step 1. He shall compute the net realized price on sales to dealers for the product as established by his individual adjustment (whether such price is established by him or the wholesale distributor).

Step 2. He shall compute what the net realized price would be on sales to dealers if the price of the product to dealers which was established before the application of his individual adjustment were increased by 10%.

Step 3. If the price found in Step 1 is lower than the price found in Step 2, he shall establish his new suggested retail price for the product by increasing by 5% his suggested retail price of the product which was established before the application of his individual adjustment.

Step 4. If the price found in Step 1 is greater than the price found in Step 2, he shall multiply the price found in Step 1 by 100 and divide this figure by 100 less the applicable new discount provided in the following paragraph (b). If the manufacturer does not sell to dealers, the discount shall be 4/5 of the wholesale distributors' discount to dealers in effect on May 9, 1946. The resulting figure will be his new suggested retail price.

(2) Parts. This paragraph is applicable to parts for which the manufacturer has filed with the OPA a suggested retail price in effect on March 31, 1942, or a suggested retail price computed under the provisions of §§ 1361.53, 1361.54 or 1361.54a. The manufacturer of such parts shall establish, as the suggested retail price, the suggested retail price in effect on March 31, 1942 or the price filed with the OPA under the provisions of §§ 1361.53, 1361.54 or 1361.54a. If the manufacturer has received an individual adjustment under the provisions of § 1361.64a, or in accordance with the provisions of Supplementary Order No. 142, which has resulted in an increase of his suggested retail price of any part less than 10% of the price filed with the OPA under the provisions of §§ 1361.53, 1361.54, 1361.54a or the price in effect on March 31, 1942, he must, nevertheless, establish the new suggested retail price of that part as provided by this paragraph. If, however, such increase established by an individual adjustment has been in excess of 10%, then the manufacturer shall establish the new suggested retail price of that part as follows: he shall multiply the net realized price for the part (including the increase allowed by his individual adjustment) by 100 and divide this figure by 100 less the applicable new discount provided in the following paragraph (b). If the manufacturer does not sell to dealers, the discount shall be 4/5 of the wholesale distributors' discount to dealers in effect on May 9, 1946. The resulting figure shall be the new suggested retail price.

(3) Reports. Every manufacturer establishing a new suggested retail price for any part, machinery or equipment under the provisions of this paragraph shall file with the OPA a report of such price within ninety days after the date when he establishes such price.

(b) Manufacturers price (except for products with a suggested retail price). This paragraph is applicable to all products covered by this regulation for which the manufacturer has filed a suggested retail price with the OPA. The maximum price for the sale by a manufacturer of any product covered by this paragraph, except sales to wholesale distributors, shall be the suggested retail price (either established under the preceding paragraph (a) or hereafter filed with the OPA under the provisions of this regulation including a suggested retail price established by an individual adjustment under § 1361.64a of Supplementary Order No. 142) less the discount provided by this paragraph to a purchaser of the same class on May 9, 1946. To this price, the manufacturer may add any extra charges in effect to a purchaser of the same class on May 9, 1946. The discount which shall be applicable to the sales of products covered by this paragraph shall be ⅘ of the percentage discount in effect to a purchaser of the same class on May 10, 1946.

(c) Manufacturers sales to wholesalers of products with suggested retail price. This paragraph is applicable to sales by manufacturers to wholesalers of any product for which the manufacturer has a suggested retail price. (1) If the manufacturer had a price in effect on March 31, 1942, the maximum price shall be computed by adding to the highest net price, which the manufacturer would have received on March 31, 1942, for the item from a purchaser of the same class, 10% of that price. The seller shall then adjust that price for all applicable extra charges, discounts or other allowances in effect on March 31, 1942 to a purchaser of the same class.

(2) If the manufacturer had no price in effect on March 31, 1942, but did have a price in effect on March 31, 1941, the maximum price for the sale of the product shall be computed as follows: The manufacturer shall ascertain the highest price which he would have charged a purchaser of the same class for the item on the last date prior to March 31, 1942 when a price for the item was in effect. The seller shall then add to that price 10% of that price. The seller shall then adjust the total price so computed for all applicable extra charges, discounts or other allowances in effect to a purchaser of the same class on the date when the price was last established prior to March 31, 1942.

(3) In the case of any sale by a manufacturer to a wholesale distributor of a product for which a manufacturer has a suggested retail price, the manufacturer shall state to the wholesale distributor the maximum price to all classes of purchasers established under the provisions of paragraph (b) of this section.

(d) Manufacturers sales of products without a suggested retail price. This paragraph is applicable to sales by manufacturers of a product for which the manufacturer has no suggested retail price.

(1) If the manufacturer had a price in effect on March 31, 1942, the maximum price shall be computed by adding to the highest net price, which the manufacturer would have received on March 31, 1942, for the item from a purchaser of the same class, 10% of that price. The seller shall then adjust that price for all applicable extra charges, discounts or other allowances in effect on March 31, 1942 to a purchaser of the same class.

(2) If the manufacturer had no price in effect on March 31, 1942, but did have a price in effect on March 31, 1941, the maximum price for the sale of the product shall be computed as follows: The manufacturer shall ascertain the highest price which he would have charged a purchaser of the same class for the item on the last date prior to March 31, 1942 when a price for the item was in effect. The seller shall then add to that price 10% of that price. The seller shall then adjust the total price so computed for all applicable extra charges, discounts or other allowances in effect to a purchaser of the same class on that date when the price was last established prior to March 31, 1942.

(e) Wholesalers sales of products without a manufacturer's suggested retail price. This paragraph is applicable to sales by wholesale distributors of products for which the manufacturer has no suggested retail price. For such product, the maximum price shall be computed by adding to the highest net price which the seller would have received on March 31, 1942 for the item from a purchaser of the same class, 10% of that price. The seller shall then adjust that price for all applicable extra charges, discounts or other allowances in effect on March 31, 1942 to a purchaser of the same class.

(f) Wholesale distributors sales of products for which the manufacturer has a suggested retail price. This paragraph is applicable to sales by wholesale distributors of products for which a manufacturer has a suggested retail price. The maximum price for sales by wholesale distributors of the products covered by this paragraph shall be the suggested retail price of the manufacturer filed with OPA less ⅘ of the percentage trade discount which the distributor had in effect to a purchaser of the same class on May 9, 1946. No addition may be made for transfer, handling or other extra charges.

2. Section 1361.54 (a) (1) is amended to read as follows:

(1) The manufacturer shall use the price determining method which was in use on October 1, 1941, or during the selling season last prior to that date, applying the overhead rate or rates, machine-hour rate or rates, if any, or other bases of computation which were in use for the most comparable item on October 1, 1941, or during the selling season last prior to that date.

3. Section 1361.54 (a) (5) is amended to read as follows:

(5) In the case of products for which the manufacturer does not establish a suggested retail price, he shall increase the formula price to each class of purchaser by 10%. He shall then apply all extra charges, discounts or other allowances in effect on May 9, 1946, to a purchaser of the same class.

4. Section 1361.54 (a) is amended by adding a new paragraph (6) to read as follows:

(6) In the case of products for which the manufacturer established a suggested retail price, he shall apply to the price to the purchaser commanding the lowest price the mark-up to that class of purchaser in effect on May 9, 1946. If the product is a part, the resulting figure shall be his suggested retail price. If the product is a complete item of farm equipment, other than parts, the resulting figure, increased by 5% shall be his suggested retail price.

5. Section 1361.55 (a) is amended to read as follows:

(a) The maximum price shall be computed as follows: The manufacturer shall ascertain the last contract price for the item to the same customer agreed upon prior to March 31, 1942. He shall add to this price a percentage increase equal to the percentage increase, if any, in the manufacturer's price to distributors for the same item made since such last contract was entered into, but before March 31, 1942. To the sum of those, the manufacturer shall add 10% of that sum. If, however, the item has been modified and is priced to distributors, under the provisions of § 1361.53, the manufacturer shall select the last contract price for the item to the same customer agreed upon prior to March 31, 1942, and shall increase that price by 10%. He shall then add or subtract (as the case may be) a percentage equal to the percentage by which the maximum price for the modified item, computed under the provisions of § 1361.53, exceeds or is less than the maximum price of the item before modification; or

6. Section 1361.57 (b) is amended to read as follows:

(b) Limit beyond which a maximum price determined in accordance with this section may not go. The wholesale distributor's maximum price determined in accordance with this section shall not exceed the manufacturer's suggested retail price filed with OPA less ⅓ of the percentage trade discount which the distributor had in effect to a purchaser of the same class on May 9, 1946 and plus the actual cost of freight to the distributor. No addition may be made for handling, transfer or other extra charges.

7. Section 1361.57 (e) is amended by adding the following subparagraph (3):

(3) To the price computed under the provisions of subparagraph (1) of this paragraph (2), the wholesaler shall add 10% of that price.

8. Section 1361.57 (f) (1) is amended to read as follows:

(1) The maximum price for the sale by a wholesale distributor of any item of farm equipment whose price to him has been increased in accordance with the provisions of Supplementary Order No. 142, or in accordance with the provisions of this regulation after March 31, 1942, shall be determined as follows:

9. Section 1361.57a is amended by adding a new paragraph (d) to read as follows:

(d) The maximum prices established under this section shall be increased by 10%.

10. Section 1361.64a is amended by deleting therefrom subparagraph (a) (3).

11. Section 1361.66a is amended by adding the following subparagraph (8):

(8) Suggested retail price. Suggested retail price means the price stated by the manufacturer in a list of suggested or recommended retail prices, f. o. b. factory, which is furnished to or available to dealers in farm equipment. Prices issued by mail order houses are not suggested retail prices as used in this regulation.

12. Section 1361.67 (b) is amended by adding the following subparagraph (9):

(9) Engines, internal combustion, which are not sold as an integral part of or attached to a piece of complete farm equipment covered by this regulation.

13. Section 1361.67 is amended by adding the following paragraph (c):

(c) This regulation does not apply to retail sales by mail-order houses. It does establish the price or transfer cost for deliveries of any item of farm equipment manufactured by a division or subsidiary of a mail-order house to the retail or mail-order division.

14. Section 1361.57a is amended by adding the following paragraph (d):

The maximum prices computed under this section shall be increased by 10%.

OATS

A statement of the considerations involved in the issuance of this amendment, issued simultaneously herewith, has been filed with the Division of the Federal Register.

Revised Supplement 2 to Food Products Regulation 2 is amended in the following respects:

1. Section 5 (a) (3) is amended to read as follows:

(3) "Oats" means oats, feed oats and mixed feed oats as defined in the Official Grain Standards of the United States.

2. The second undesignated paragraph of section 6 is amended to read as follows:

In order to provide a base price for domestic oats at every point in the United States for every grade and quality, it is necessary to establish base prices by location for a "standard grade" of oats and provide premiums and discounts from that "standard grade" for other grades and qualities and for feed oats and mixed feed oats. The "standard grade" is No. 3 oats having a test weight of 27 pounds per bushel and a moisture content of not more than 14½ percent. Base prices for other grades and qualities and for feed oats and mixed feed oats are determined by adding or subtracting the premiums and discounts provided in Table I of Appendix A to or from the corresponding price for the "standard grade" except that oats grown in California, Nevada and in Lake and Klamath counties, Oregon are not required to be sold on grade and the base prices in paragraph (a) shall apply on all sales of such oats without discount or premium.

3. Section 11 (b) (2) is amended to read as follows:

(2) The following are the base prices in United States dollars, bulk, per bushel of 32 pounds for Canadian oats at the base points listed below:

Base points:	Cents per bushel
Buffalo, N. Y.	87
Minneapolis, Minn.	80
Portland, Oreg.	79
Boston, Mass.	94

Whenever it becomes necessary in order to complete a contract of sale for Canadian oats which do not grade feed oats or mixed feed oats under the Official Grain Standards of the United States to adjust the price of such oats according to the premiums and discounts provided in Table I (a) of Appendix A, the foregoing base prices shall be deemed to be for No. 3 oats with a test weight of 38 pounds per bushel and with a moisture content not exceeding 14½ percent. Canadian oats which do not grade feed oats or mixed feed oats under the Official Grain Standards of the United States may be resold on the basis of their Canadian inspection without application of the schedule of premiums and discounts in Table I of Appendix A, Provided, That they are not commingled or averaged with domestic oats, but if commingled they will not be subject to the provisions of Section 2.3 of Food Products Regulation 2 relating to use of standard grade and quality, and all Canadian oats so commingled or averaged shall be considered to be of the same grade and quality. If commingled or averaged with oats grown in the United States, all provisions of section 2.3 of Food Products Regulation 2 shall apply.

Base prices for Canadian oats which grade feed oats and mixed feed oats under the Official Grain Standards of the United States must be adjusted according to the premiums and discounts provided in Table I (a) of Appendix A. For such purpose, the base prices specified in this section shall be deemed to be for No. 3 oats with a test weight of 38 pounds per bushel and with a moisture content not exceeding 14½ percent.

This amendment shall become effective May 18, 1946.

Chapter XVIII—Office of Economic Stabilization

[Directive 110]

GRAIN, FEED AND RELATED PRICES

SECTION 1. It is hereby found that the increases in the prices of grains and feeds and the other actions authorized and directed by this Directive are necessary to encourage the sale of grain for shipment abroad to alleviate the famine emergency, for human consumption in this country, and for essential livestock feeding in deficit grain producing areas. These actions will remove the existing uncertainty concerning maximum grain and feed prices between now and June 30, 1947, and will bring about a more proper balance between livestock numbers and grain supplies available for feeding purposes.

SEC. 2. Accordingly, pursuant to the authority vested in me by the Stabilization Act of 1942, as amended, and by Executive Order 9250 of October 3, 1942 (7 F.R. 7871), Executive Order 9328 of April 8, 1943 (8 F.R. 4681), Executive Order 9599 of August 18, 1945 (10 F.R. 10155), Executive Order 9651 of August 30, 1945 (10 F.R. 13487), Executive Order 9697 of February 14, 1946 (11 F.R. 1691), and Executive Order 9699 of February 21, 1946 (11 F.R. 1929), It is hereby ordered:

SEC. 3. SEC. 5. Directive 55 as amended, originally issued by this office on May 19, 1945, and relating to the cattle feeder subsidy program is hereby revoked as of July 1, 1946.

SEC. 6. The Secretary of Agriculture is authorized and directed to institute a program, effective as of May 13, 1946, for making payments to wet and dry corn millers out of funds available to the Commodity Credit Corporation so that such millers will be compensated for the net increases in their costs resulting from the increases in prices herein authorized and directed, to the extent that the Price Administrator determines, under the standards followed by the Office of Price Administration, that such millers will not be required to absorb such net cost increases. The Price Administrator is accordingly authorized and directed to certify to the Secretary of Agriculture the appropriate rates of payment to be made under this section.

SEC. 7. The Price Administrator is authorized and directed to take no action, and the Secretary of Agriculture is authorized and directed to approve no action, which will increase the maximum prices of cattle, hogs, meat, meat products, poultry or eggs, on the basis of the increases in costs resulting from the price increases herein authorized and directed, except to the minimum extent required by law.

SEC. 8. The Price Administrator is authorized and directed to take such action, and the Secretary of Agriculture is authorized and directed to approve such action, as will reduce, effective September 1, 1946, the maximum prices presently established for heavy hogs, if such action is determined to be necessary to discourage the feeding of hogs to heavy weights and is permitted by law.

[Order 132]

MISCELLANEOUS AMENDMENTS

At a session of the Federal Communications Commission held at its offices in Washington, D. C., on the 10th day of April 1946:

Whereas, the large number of new and renewal amateur station and operator license applications recently filed with the Commission has made their prompt processing difficult; and

Whereas, many amateur station licensees have changed their station locations since the issuance of their station licenses and now operate from new fixed locations, making it difficult for the Commission to communicate with them; and

Whereas, the provisions of § 12.92 of the Commission's Rules exempt all amateurs who operate portable stations on frequencies above 25 Mc. from the requirements of notice concerning their intended operations; and

Whereas, the provisions of § 12.93 (a) of the Commission's rules are not presently adequate to regulate the operation of non-portable amateur radio stations at permanent locations other than those specified in the station licenses; It is ordered, That:

1. The provision in § 12.92 of the Commission's rules exempting amateur radio station licensees who operate portable stations on frequencies above 25 Mc. from the requirements of prior notice to the district inspector where operation is intended is suspended until further order of the Commission. On and after the date of this order, the operation of portable stations on frequencies above 25 Mc. shall be subject to the same requirements of prior notice as are specified for the operation of portable stations on frequencies below 25 Mc. in § 12.92.

2. The provisions of § 12.93 (a) of the Commission's rules regarding the operation of non-portable stations which have been moved from one permanent location to another not specified in the station license, are suspended until further order of the Commission.

3. The licensee of an amateur radio station may, on and after the date of this order, commence operation at a permanent location other than that specified in the station license if advance written notice is given to the inspector in charge of the district for which the station license was issued, and to the inspector in charge of the district in which the operation (on frequencies below or above 25 Mc.) is intended of the following particulars: the station call, the name of the licensee, and the proposed station location.

4. The licensee of an amateur radio station who is now operating at a permanent location other than that specified in the station license may continue such operation if, within thirty days of the date of this order, written notice is given to the inspector in charge of the district for which the station license was issued, and to the inspector in charge of the district in which the station is being operated (on frequencies below or above 25 Mc.) of the following particulars: the station call, the name of the licensee, and the station location.

5. The operator of an amateur station located at a permanent location other than that specified in the station license shall follow the calling procedure referred to in § 12.93 (c).

This order shall become effective immediately.

[Order 91-D]

REVOCATION OF DESIGNATED ORDERS

At a session of the Federal Communications Commission held at its offices at Washington, D. C., on the 26th day of April 1946;

Whereas, pursuant to the successive recommendations of the Defense Communications Board and the Board of War Communications, the Federal Communications Commission has previously adopted its Orders Nos. 91, dated February 17, 1942; 91-A, dated April 21, 1942; 91-B, dated May 28, 1942; and 91-C, dated January 19, 1943; and

Whereas, the purpose of those orders was to meet the critical and growing nation-wide shortage of operators resulting from the wartime demand of the armed services for radiotelephone and radiotelegraph operators; and

Whereas, to accomplish the foregoing purpose, those orders by progressive stages temporarily relaxed, under the specific conditions stated therein, the requirements for operators of radio broadcast stations as established by section 13.61 of the Commission's rules and regulations; and

Whereas, by its own terms Order No. 91-C superseded Orders Nos. 91, 91-A and 91-B; and

Whereas, it now appears that, following the cessation of the wartime demand of the armed services for radiotelephone and radiotelegraph operators and the release of very large numbers of such operators from those services, the shortage of operators which required the adoption of Orders 91, 91-A, 91-B and 91-C has now been, or will shortly be, entirely alleviated;

Now, therefore, It is hereby ordered, That on and after August 1, 1946, Order No. 91-C, dated January 19, 1943, shall be cancelled, and thereafter no person shall operate a broadcast station of any class except in accordance with the provisions of Part 13 of the Commission's rules and regulations governing commercial operators.

By the Commission.

[Docket No. FDC 33 (b)]

ALIMENTARY PASTES

USE OF GLUTEN

In the matter of amending the definitions and standards of identity for macaroni products, milk macaroni products, whole wheat macaroni products, wheat and soy macaroni products, vegetable macaroni products, noodle products, wheat and soy noodle products, and vegetable noodle products so as to permit the use of gluten in such products as an optional ingredient, and fixing and establishing a definition and standard of identity for gluten macaroni products.

Proposed order. It is proposed that, by virtue of the authority vested in the Federal Security Administrator by the provisions of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetics Act (§§ 401, 701, 52 Stat. 1046, 1055; 21 U.S.C. 341, 371, 1940 ed.); the Reorganization Act of 1939 (53 Stat. 561, 5 U.S.C. 133) and Reorganization Plans No. 1 (53 Stat. 1423, 4 F.R. 2727) and No. IV (54 Stat. 1234, 5 F.R. 2421); and upon the basis of evidence of record at the hearing duly held pursuant to the notice issued on September 15, 1945 (10 F.R. 11818, the following order be made:

Findings of fact.[1] 1. Wheat gluten is composed of two proteins, gliadin and glutenin. The commercially prepared gluten product used in the United States for increasing the gluten content of alimentary pastes is made by washing the starch from flour and drying the remaining sticky mass at a low temperature. The resulting product contains approximately 80% protein and is commonly known as "gum gluten". (R. 10-12, 16-18, 75, 220, 467, 469, 478.)

2. Alimentary pastes to which gum gluten is added, with resulting increase in the protein content for which representations are made, fall into two general groups, one in which the gluten content of the finished product is increased to 18 or 20 percent, the other in which the gluten content is increased to approximately 40%. (R. 479, 480; Ex. 24.)

3. Alimentary pastes containing sufficient added gum gluten to raise their gluten content to approximately 40% are known as "gluten macaroni", "gluten spaghetti", etc., and are sold almost entirely in stores of the type usually referred to as "health food stores". These pastes are consumed principally by persons suffering from diabetes or persons on so-called reducing diets. When thoroughly cooked such alimentary pastes are not unpalatable but their taste, appearance, and other physical properties differ considerably from those of ordinary macaroni products, and more time is required for their cooking. Recently, soy flour has been used in some of these foods in lieu of a part of the gum gluten ordinarily added. (R. 473-474, 479, 488-492, 494-495; Ex. 24)

4. Alimentary pastes containing added gum gluten in amounts sufficient to bring the total gluten content of the finished product to around 18 or 20 percent are also generally known as "gluten macaroni", "gluten spaghetti", etc. Recently, such designations as "18% gluten macaroni" and "20% gluten macroni" have been used. These pastes, when manufactured primarily for persons of Italian antecedents, are sometimes sold under the Italian name of "pastina glutinata". This type of alimentary paste does not differ to a marked degree in taste or appearance from ordinary macaroni products manufactured from semolina, although it requires slightly more cooking time. The sale of such foods has been largely promoted by representations that they are low in starch, are nonfattening, that they can replace other foods as sources of protein in the diet, or that they serve some other special purpose in the diet. (R. 72-76, 92, 93, 100-102, 115, 132, 174-176, 268, 280, 455, 473, 480-485, 491-494; Ex. 6, 12, 17-24.)

5. The addition of gum gluten to alimentary pastes in amounts sufficient to raise the total gluten content to 18 or 20 percent, or to approximately 40%, results in a substantial increase in the cost of these pastes. Such increased cost is passed on to the consumer. The sale of such pastes is quite small in comparison with ordinary macaroni products containing no added gluten. (R. 23, 73, 257, 259, 416, 474, 480, 494-496, 502, 688, 689; Ex. 3.)

6. Notwithstanding the lower starch content of alimentary pastes containing 18 to 20 percent or even 40% of gluten, their dietary effect is but little different from that of ordinary macaroni products, since the body converts 50 to 60 percent of the gluten to carbohydrates. Persons suffering from diabetes derive little if any benefit from the use of these foods; representations concerning the reduced carbohydrate content may lead such persons to the mistaken belief that such foods may be freely eaten without exceeding their tolerances for carbohydrates. Persons on so-called reducing diets who consume these lower starch products in the belief that they are less fattening than ordinary macaroni products are also deceived since gluten has the same energy and fat producing value as starch. (R. 33-44, 475, 476)

7. The protein content of flour is mainly gluten. Gluten alone will not adequately meet the protein needs of the body. To meet such needs gluten must be supplemented by proteins of animal origin or derived from oil-bearing seeds. The average diet of persons in the United States is not deficient in protein, and due to the wide consumption of products made from flour, a large part of such protein is gluten. Thus, no need exists for a specially prepared protein food where the increase of protein is accomplished by the addition of gum gluten, and from a dietary standpoint, little benefit will result from its consumption. The use of alimentary pastes containing added gum gluten for supplementing the protein content of the diet is irrational and uneconomical. (R. 52, 75, 196, 288, 289, 290, 351, 374, 475, 496, 548, 551, 582, 583, 617, 645-659; Ex. 25, 26, 27)

8. The preparation of alimentary pastes of various shapes is made possible by the peculiar sticky, gummy physical properties of gluten in flour, durum flour, farina, and semolina. In order to manufacture certain shapes without excessive breakage in drying, packing, and shipping it is necessary that the gluten content of the finished product be approximately 13%. In the last few years the protein content of many wheats grown in the United States has been decreasing so that much raw material used in alimentary pastes has contained less than 13% gluten, thereby causing an increase in manufacturing difficulties. Some manufacturers of alimentary pastes have found that by adding small amounts of gluten to the dough some of these difficulties are overcome and loss by breakage in manufacturing and shipping is so reduced as to offset the cost of the added gum gluten. (R. 13, 381-386, 389, 390, 410, 413-415, 419-421, 668, 670-673, 690; Ex. 4, 14.)

Conclusions. On the basis of the foregoing findings of fact it is concluded that:

(a) It will not promote honesty and fair dealing in the interest of consumers to adopt a definition and standard of identity for gluten macaroni products.

(b) It will not promote honesty and fair dealing in the interest of consumers to amend the definitions and standards of identity for macaroni products, milk macaroni products, whole wheat macaroni products, wheat and soy macaroni products, vegetable macaroni products, noodle products, wheat and soy noodle products, and vegetable noodle products to provide for the use of gluten as an optional ingredient so as to raise the gluten content of these products to 18% or more.

(c) Amending the definitions and standards of identity for macaroni products, milk macaroni products, wheat and soy macaroni products, vegetable macaroni products, noodle products, wheat and soy noodle products, and vegetable noodle products for the optional use of gluten in amounts sufficient to supplement deficiencies of gluten in the raw materials so as to permit their more efficient manufacture into alimentary pastes will promote honesty and fair dealing in the interest of the consumer.

Therefore, It is ordered, That no definition and standard of identity for gluten macaroni products be promulgated.

It is further ordered, That the definition and standard of identity for whole wheat macaroni products be not amended to provide for gluten as an optional ingredient of this food, and that the definitions and standards of identity for macaroni products, milk macaroni products, wheat and soy macaroni products, vegetable macaroni products, noodle products, wheat and soy noodle products and vegetable noodle products, be amended as follows:

Section 16.1 (a), last line of first paragraph, strike "(4)" and insert "(5)" therefor. Add the following new subparagraph after subparagraph (4):

(5) Gum gluten, in such quantity that the protein content of the finished food is not more than 13% by weight.

Section 16.2 (a) (2), add the following sentence at the end thereof: "When the optional ingredient gum gluten (§ 16.1 (a) (5)) is added, the quantity is such that the protein derived therefrom, together with the protein derived from semolina, durum flour, farina, flour, or any combination of these used, does not exceed 13% of the weight of the finished food."

Section 16.3 (a) (2) is amended to read:

(2) None of the optional ingredients permitted by § 16.1 (a) (1), (2), and (5) is used.

Section 16.4 (a) (2), add the folowing new sentence at the end thereof: "When the optional ingredient gum gluten (§ 16.1 (a) (5)) is added, the quantity is such that the protein derived therefrom, together with the protein derived from semolina, durum flour, farina, flour or any combination of these used, does not exceed 13% of the weight of the finished food."

Section 16.5 (a) (2), add the following new sentence at the end thereof: "When the optional ingredient gum gluten (§ 16.1 (a) (5) is added, the quantity is such that the protein derived therefrom, together with the protein derived from the semolina, durum flour, farina, flour or any combination of these used, does not exceed 13% of the weight of the finished food."

Section 16.6 (a), last line of first paragraph, strike "(2)" and substitute "to (3), inclusive." Add the following new subparagraph after subparagraph (2):

(3) Gum gluten, in such quantity that the protein derived therefrom, together with the protein derived from semolina, durum flour, farina, flour or any combination of these used, does not exceed 13% of the weight of the finished food.

Any interested person whose appearance was filed at the hearing may, within 20 days from the date of publication of this proposed order in the FEDERAL REGISTER, filed with the Hearing Clerk of the Federal Security Agency, Office of the General Counsel, Room 3257 Social Security Building, 4th Street and Independence Avenue, SW, Washington, D. C., written exceptions thereto. Exceptions shall point out with particularity the alleged errors in the proposed order, and shall contain specific references to the pages of the transcript of the testimony or to the exhibits on which each exception is based. ALIMENTARY PASTES

USE OF VITAMINS, ETC.

In the matter of fixing and establishing a definition and standard of identity for each of the following foods; enriched macaroni, enriched spaghetti, enriched vermicelli, enriched noodles; and of the amendment of the definitions and standards of identity for macaroni, spaghetti, vermicelli, macaroni products, noodles, egg noodles, noodle products, egg macaroni, and related foods, named in Alimentary Pastes Order (9 F.R. 14881), to permit use of vitamins, minerals, wheat germ, and dehydrated yeast, as optional ingredients.

Proposed order. It is proposed that, by virtue of the authority vested in the Federal Security Administrator by provisions of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (§§ 401, 701, 52 Stat. 1046, 1055; 21 U.S.C. 341, 371, 1940 ed.); the Reorganization Act of 1939 (53 Stat. 561; 5 U.S.C. 133); and Reorganization Plans No. I (53 Stat. 1423, 4 F.R. 2727) and No. IV (54 Stat. 1234, 5 F.R. 2421); and upon the basis of evidence of record of the hearing duly held pursuant to the notice issued on December 27, 1944 (9 F.R. 15008), the following order be made:

Findings of fact.[1] 1. The average per capita consumption of macaroni and noodle products in the United States is small, although these foods are widely distributed. However, persons of Italian antecedents consume such foods in much greater quantities than the national average. Macaroni and noodle products constitute a staple food for these persons.
